TRAFFIC DEATH TOLL REACHES NEAR RECORD

Accident Toll Nearing 500 Mark Over Three-Day Period

By The Associated Press

The toll of deaths in holiday accidents neared 500 Saturday, and the number of traffic fatalities edged tragically close to a record for a four-day Christmas week end.

With nearly a day and a half remaining in the extended holiday, traffic accidents had claimed 476 lives. Fifty-one persons died in fires and 59 in miscellaneous accidents. The total of accidental deaths was 487.

Heavy highway traffic Saturday night and Sunday, with many travelers homeward bound, could push the traffic toll past the previous record slaughter—555 during the four-day Christmas holiday in 1936.

Ned H. Dearborn, president of the National Safety Council, said Saturday in a statement:

"It looks now as if the holiday traffic death toll may reach an all-time high for any holiday by going to 700 or more."

He attributed the "wholesale slaughter" to good weather, "open roads, and closed minds."

The National Safety Council had estimated 580 highway deaths for the 1952 Christmas week end — which extends from 6 p.m. Wednesday to midnight Sunday.

Motorists were urged by the council to use "common sense, courtesy and a practical application of the Christmas spirit" in an effort to prevent "the biggest, ugliest traffic death toll ever piled up on any holiday in the history of our country."

Last year's Christmas holiday brought the nation its highest accidental death toll—780 including 535 traffic.

The deaths by states, traffic, fires, miscellaneous:

Alabama 4 0 1, Arizona 4 2 0, Arkansas 3 1 1, California 22 4 0, Colorado 3 0 0, Connecticut 1 2 0, Delaware 1 0 0, Florida 3 0 0, Georgia 10 2 1, Idaho 1 0 0, Illinois 19 1 1, Indiana 18 0 0, Iowa 4 1 3, Kansas 2 1 0, Kentucky 7 1 2, Louisiana 12 2 0, Maryland 8 4 0, Massachusetts 7 1 2, Michigan 15 0 3, Minnesota 5 0 1, Mississippi 5 0 0, Missouri 10 1 1, Montana 1 2 0, Nebraska 2 0 0, Nevada 1 0 0, New Hampshire 2 0 3, New Jersey 3 3 2, New Mexico 3 0 0, New York 31 4 6, North Carolina 11 1 11, North Dakota 2 0 0, Ohio 35 2 2, Oklahoma 11 0 0, Oregon 1 0 0, Pennsylvania 21 2 2, South Carolina 12 0 3, South Dakota 1 0 0, Tennessee 10 2 3, Texas 20 8 4, Utah 2 0 1, Vermont 0 0 1, Virginia 16 4 0, Washington 6 0 2, West Virginia 6 0 0, Wisconsin 5 0 4.

Brodie Twins' Condition Described As 'Unchanged'

CHICAGO, Dec. 27—UP—Doctors reported "no change" Saturday in the condition of the infant Brodie twins.

The 15-month-old twins, joined at the top of the skull, were separated by surgeons at university of Illinois Research and Educational Hospital Dec. 17.

Doctors said Saturday that Roger Lee, the weaker of the two, still is in a coma and in "very precarious condition." Rodney Dee still was described as "critical."

Red Minister Says UN Korean Aid May Lead To World War

PARIS, Dec. 27—UP—Chinese Communists Foreign Minister and Premier Chou En-Lai said Saturday increased military pressure by the United Nations in Korea might lead to a new world war.

An interview with Chou by correspondent Pierre Courtade was published Saturday in the Communist party newspaper L'Humanite. It was notable in that it came so soon after Soviet Premier Josef Stalin's interview with the New York times.

Stalin declared he was favorable to negotiations with President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower and that the Soviet Union wanted a Korean peace.

Chou En-Lai dashed ice water on hopes of an early Korean peace when he repeated the familiar Communist declaration that only western acceptance of Communist proposals could bring an end to the fighting.

"Two paths are clearly traced concerning the armistice negotiations of Panmunjom without prior conditions, to conclude immediately a complete armistice on the basis of what has already been accepted by the two sides, and then to convoke a conference of the commission of 11 nations for the peaceful settlement of the Korean question.

"This conference would be the 'political conference' for the settlement of the question of total repatriation of prisoners of war as well as for the peaceful settlement of the Korean question on the basis of giving the Korean people the right to settle themselves their internal problems, and on the basis of the withdrawal from Korea of all foreign troops, including Chinese volunteers. That's precisely the position of the Korean and Chinese negotiators at Panmunjom."

PICKETS DEMAND TRUMAN SPARE ATOMIC SPIES

'Clemency Vigil' Asks President To Save Rosenbergs From Chair

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27 (AP) — Pickets, shivering in near-freezing weather, began what they called "a clemency vigil" outside the White House tonight, demanding that the President save Ethel and Julius Rosenberg, convicted atomic spies, from the electric chair.

A spokesman, David Allman, said the sign - carrying pickets would continue to march beside the executive mansion until the husband - wife spy team is granted clemency.

The Rosenbergs are scheduled to die the week of Jan. 11 in New York's Sing Sing death house, where they have been imprisoned since shortly after they were convicted March 29, 1951, of conspiring to transmit atomic secrets to the Soviet Union.

Repeated appeals to the courts, including two to the Supreme Court, have been rejected. Only presidential action can save them from death now.

Seventeen pickets—12 women and five men-began the march on East Executive Avenue, which runs beside the White House. They were unable to picket on Pennsylvania Avenue because of stands being erected for the inauguration of Dwight D. Eisenhower.

The group complied with a police request to move to the sidewalk across the street rather than on the sidewalk next to the White House lawn.

The pickets, taking turns carrying six signs demanding clemency for the Rosenbergs, would not answer questions of a reporter.

But Allman, reached by telephone, said the pickets were from New Jersey, New York and Maryland — none from Washington itself.

RITES HELD FOR PENNILESS MAN

Wife Only Survivor Of One-Legged, Partly-Paralyzed Ex-Machinist

Funeral services were held at 3 p. m. Saturday for John Howard Hoffman, 62, one-legged and partly-paralyzed former machinist, who was found dead in bed Christmas morning by his wife, Mrs. Olive S. Hoffman. Mrs. Hoffman is Mr. Hoffman's only survivor and she has no known relatives, it was stated. Interment was in Smith cemetery, under the direction of Hall Funeral home. Rev. Johnson, pastor of the church of Christ, officiated.

When Mrs. Hoffman awakened on Christmas morning in their trailer home on the river bank, opposite 4300 south Grand street, she was unable to arouse her husband. She ran to the home of a neighbor and reported her husband was unconsious. When neighbors arrived at the trailer, they found Hoffman had been dead some time. His death was said by Dr. J. T. French, parish coroner, to have been caused by a heart attack.

Mrs. Hoffman said her husband had asked her to leave the light on Christmas eve night, saying he did not feel well. She woke up about midnight and asked him if he would like to have the light turned off but he said he wanted it to remain on. Mrs. Hoffman went to sleep again and noticed nothing more until she awoke after daylight.

Mr. and Mrs. Hoffman lived in Tallulah about a year and came to Monroe about a year ago, having formely lived in California. Because they had not been in the state long enough, they were not eligible for relief funds.

Mr. Hoffman was given a $204 burial, one of the cheapest burials available except for a pauper burial. The funeral home allowed a $54 reduction and neighbors raised $40, leaving a balance of $161, for which the neighbors contributed as liberally as they could afford, the neighbors are asking that contributions be made to cover the remainder of the burial expense.

DULLES REFUSES TO TESTIFY AT HOUSE HEARING

Declines Invitation To Tell Of Part In Naming His To Foundation

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27 (AP) — John Foster Dulles, secretary of state-designate, has declined an invitation to testify before a House committee on his part in naming Alger Hiss as president of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace.

This was reported today by Howard W. Keele, counsel for the House group which has completed an investigation of tax-free educational and philanthropic foundations to determine whether their funds are being used for subversive purposes.

Hiss is now serving a prison sentence for perjury in denying that he gave State Department secrets to a Communist spy ring.

After he left the State Department, Hiss became president of the Carnegie Endowment in 1946. The House committee received testimony recently that Dulles, who was board chairman of the endowment, suggested Hiss for the job.

Keele told a reporter today he invited Dulles, by telephone and telegram, to present his side of the story early next week. Keele said Dulles replied by telegram that he "greatly appreciated the courtesy of the committee but my time is sharply limited between now and Jan. 1." The committee is preparing a report which is scheduled to be submitted to Congress by that date.

Dulles said he was forwarding to the committee a transcript of his testimony at Hiss' trial and said he could not add anything by appearing before the committee.

Dulles testified at the trial that he wanted Hiss to resign his endowment post after Communist charges against him were aired in the summer of 1948.

Dulles thus contradicted Hiss, who had testified earlier that Dulles did not ask him to resign.

Hiss left the endowment post early in 1949 after his indictment. He was convicted in January, 1950. A star witness against him was Whittaker Chambers, who described himself as a former Communist courier and said Hiss passed him State Department secrets.

Alfred Kohlberg, a New York importer, told the committee last week that upon learning of Hiss' election to the Carnegie post he went to see Dulles to warn him against Hiss.

Kohlberg quoted Dulles as saying that several persons had described Hiss as "a sort of fellow traveler" but there was no concrete proof and that a man should not be condemned without proof.

John W. Davis, former Democratic presidential candidate, testified before the House committee that Dulles was one of several persons recommending that a three-man nominating committee looked Hiss over to determine if he should get the Carnegie post. Davis was chairman of the committee.

RITES TODAY FOR SLAYING VICTIM

Joe Woods Accused Of Murder After Jack Cabaniss Dies

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. today for Jack Cabaniss, 44-year - old Monroe cab driver, who died Friday afternoon as the result of injuries received in a fight in a local hotel lobby.

Held in parish jail on a charge of murder as a result of the death is Joe Woods, 46, alias Joe Whitten, of 406 Grammont St.

Woods was arrested by city police headquarters Friday afternoon, where he was booked for aggravated battery. He was later transferred to the parish jail and the charge changed to murder after Cabaniss died.

Ouachita Parish Coroner Dr. J. T. French said yesterday that Cabaniss' death was caused by a basal skull fracture with intracranial hemorrhages. Dr. French performed an autopsy on Cabaniss Friday night.

J. M. Harkness, clerk at the Majestic Hotel where the fight occurred, said Woods had walked into the hotel and said something in an undertone to Cabaniss.

Harkness said when Cabaniss began cursing, Woods grabbed him by the collar and began shaking the man.

The clerk said Cabaniss then struck Woods in the face with a half pint whisky bottle and Woods reached for an ash-tray and struck Cabaniss in the face.

Cabaniss' funeral will be held at the Mulhearn Chapel with the Rev. I. L. Yeager officiating. Burial will be in the Hasley Cemetery.

He is survived by a half-brother, Robert Cabaniss, El Dorado, Ark., two aunts, Mrs. F. H. Moore, El Dorado and Mrs. Ellen Sturdivant, Lawson, Ark.

House Probe Is Asked Of Justice Department

WASHINGTON, Dec.27 (AP)—Rep. Hillings R-Calif. today called for a "full inquiry" into the administration of the Justice Department during the 12 years Supreme Court Justice Tom Clark was in it.

Hillings said Clark should be summoned before a House subcommittee which issued a report today criticizing Clark for what it called an apparent "gross departure from the usual channels of authority" while he was attorney general.

"Many people in Washington regard Mr. Clark as some type of sacred cow because he is a justice of the Supreme Court," Hillings said in a statement. "I do not share this opinion.

"A Supreme Court justice should not cling to the sanctity of his ivory tower and deprive congressional committee of the opportunity to obtain necessary information."

Hillings is a lawyer. He also is one of the three Republican members of the seven-man judiciary subcommittee which has been investigating the Justice Department for months.

In a report released a few hours before Hillings' statement, the subcommittee said Clark "interfered with routine functioning" of the department in the Kansas City vote fraud case.

The subcommittee also chided Clark, as well as former Atty. Gen. J. Howard McGrath and Peyton Ford, who was Clark's deputy, for what it called an "indifferent attitude."

Billings declared the subcommittee's report "shows the need for a full inquiry into the administration of the Department of Justice during his (Clark's) tenure as attorney general and during the time he occupied subordinate positions."

WEST MONROE MERCHANT DIES

Henry W. Colbert, Sr., Prominent Resident, Expires At Residence

Henry W. Colbert, Sr., 74, prominent West Monroe hardware and furniture merchant for many years, died at his residence at 503 Park Avenue in West Monroe yesterday afternoon.

Colbert, a resident of West Monroe for 57 years, operated the Colbert Hardware and Furniture store at the corner of Natchitoches and Cotton streets in West Monroe. He was a member of the Grace Episcopal church. He was born in Mt. Lebanon, La.

Mr. Colbert is survived by his wife; three daughters, Mrs. Maryem Colbert Folkes, Handsboro, Miss., Mrs. Jane Colbert Jones, Pittsburg Pa., Mrs. Eleanor Colbert Steward, Baytown, Tex.; one son, Henry W. Colbert, Jr., of Monroe; one brother, Richard Colbert of Shreveport, five grandchildren, and seven nieces and nephews.

Mulhearn funeral home is in charge of funeral arrangements, which are incomplete, pending arrival of relatives.

FIRST BABY TO GET BIG TREAT

Many Gifts Are Lined Up For Earliest Arrival Of New Year

Sometime after midnight on Jan. 1 a new-born baby will let out a lusty bawl. If he or she knew the treat in store, the bawl would be one of sheer delight. For the first baby born in Monroe or West Monroe after the first bell announcing the New Year will be declared winner of the First Baby of 1953 contest, which assures the lucky little winner of a substantial start in life.

Here are some of the gifts which will pour in to welcome the honored arrival:

For the first nestling place at home, a beautiful basinette from Durretts'; for the first thrill of sitting up, a handsome high chair from York Children's Department Store; for the first public debut, a lovely dress from Kelso's Youth Shop.

For the warmth every baby craves, a Kozee Komfort baby blanket from Spencer's Children Shop, West Monroe, and a pair of imported doeskin gloves from Li-Lo Youth Shop.

To prove he or she is already somebody in the world, a $5 savings account at the Central Savings Bank & Trust Company and a $5 savings account at the Ouachita National Bank.

To further his or her claim to worldly goods, the first cup and spoon in sterling silver from Howard Bros. Jewelers; and to stake his or her claim to the modern conveniences, a fine electric bottle warmer from Morgan & Lindsey.

With a salute to the baby's con-

MANY OFFICERS BELIEVED REDS, SAYS SENATOR

Ferguson Claims No Fear Of War Necessary If Subversives Rooted Out

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27 (AP)—Sen. Ferguson R-Mich. today urged the armed forces to "purge their ranks" of known and suspected Communists.

Ferguson, a member of the Senate internal security subcommittee, said subcommittee members "are of the opinion and have some knowledge that there are many Communists among the commissioned grades in active service and in the reserve."

He mentioned no names in the prepared statement, designed originally as a series of six articles plugging for extension of the Red-hunting subcommittee.

Ferguson is its senior Republican member and presumably will head the group if it is continued. Its authority now is scheduled to expire Jan. 1, when it would have to return to the Treasury unexpended balances of more than $300,000 Congress put up to finance its work.

A serialized news "handout" is a device new to Capitol Hill, and in response to newsmen's urging, Ferguson's office finally released all six chapters in a batch, for immediate publication in Sunday editions, instead of the originally planned one-a-day schedule.

The lead-off article argued that "if subversive elements in the United States can be discovered and controlled, there need be no fear of a shooting war in America."

"From everything I can learn," it said, "I believe that the Red Army will never go to war with any nation until the Kremlin is satisfied that nation is sufficiently penetrated with Communists and other subversives who will function as an effective fifth column in the target country to weaken its internal strength and assure the success of the Red military forces."

It is obvious that further inquiry will be necessary, he said.

"During the next two years we should like to show how the Communist menace can be destroyed, how and why some Communist penetration efforts have failed, and what success has attended efforts of some organizations to break away from Communist domination."

He listed these as some of the fields needing more study:

The United Nations, the armed forces, labor unions, the schools, radio and television, and youth organizations, all of which he said the Communists have tried to use for their own ends.

Ferguson said the recent dismissals of a number of U. S. citizens from United Nations posts after they had refused to tell the subcommittee whether they were Communists should be followed by "a complete housecleaning."

He also called for stricter enforcement of federal laws permitting the United States to restrict the movements of aliens on the U. N. staff. "The United Nations plant must not be a spy center," he added.

Condon Called Weak Link In A-Bomb Security Chain

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27 (AP)—The house committee on Un-American Activities asserted today that Dr. Edward U. Condon was not qualified for any position involving national security because of his "propensity" for associating with persons of questionable loyalty.

Dr. Condon, who heard about the committee's report in advance of its release, told reporters in St. Louis today that the committee's "lying dishonesty" toward him was based on "political spite work."

Dr. Condon, former director of the National Bureau of Standards, was accused by the committee in 1948 of being the "weakest link" in the chain of security protecting atom bomb secrets.

He said at that time:

"If I am one of the weakest links in the nation's atomic security, this is gratifying information, because I am absolutely reliable and therefore we have nothing to worry about. The country can relax."

A number of officials and Congress members upheld Condon's loyalty.

House subversive hunters continued their feud with the former government scientist in their yearend annual report.

In response to charges by Condon that the committee had long refused him a hearing, the committee earlier this year first invited and then subpoenaed him for an appearance.

Testifying last Sept. 5, Dr. Condon—now research director for the Corning Glass Works, Corning, N. Y.,—reiterated previous denials that he knew about espionage and subversive activities charged to a number of his associates.

In its report, the committee noted that Dr. Condon denied ever having been a Communist and said:

"Dr. Condon's appearance, however, served to confirm the committee's belief that because of his propensity for associating with persons disloyal or of questionable loyalty and his contempt for necessary security regulations, that he is not qualified for ap-

'Seventy-Six Valley' Is Now Just A Lonely Piece Of Korean Real Estate

By FRDERICK C. PAINTON

WESTERN FRONT, Korea, Dec. 27—UP—The quiet danger of "Seventy-Six Valley" has grown into a symbol of the Korean war during the year 1952.

As last year ended this 150 yard wide strip was as safe as the sidewalks in your own hometown. Both sides held their fire and waited for the truce that never came from Panmunjom.

Now it has been named for the 76-millimeter shells the enemy uses to kill Americans moving through it. The enemy can see every American move, and the valley is pocketed with shell holes.

A few riflemen crossed it Saturday on the double. Most of them walked quickly, their heads bent to pick up the sudden whisper of an enemy shell.

The men were returning to wait or sleep in the blackness of their bunkers. An hour ago they had scurried across the same strip to eat chow standing up in the 20-degree cold.

On each side of the valley men huddled against the protection of the hillsides, waiting their turn to make the trip, aware that Chinese observers 2,000 yards away saw their every move.

"You can tell which guys are going home," said Pfc. Woddle Hausermann of Sayeville, N. J. "They're the ones that are running. I guess I'll run, too, though, when the time comes."

Hausermann laughted but he knew that scurrying across the dangerous strip was no joke.

There is little hope now for an early end to the war. A year ago men expected an armistice at any moment. The most pessimistic believed they might have to wait until summer—last summer.

Most of the fighting men here believe almost anything would be better in the New Year than the war that is going on now.

"Oh, yeah," said Pfc. Milton Hallmark of Corpus Christi, Tex., "New Year's coming up. Well, it's one more day closer to getting out of here; that's all I can say."

There will be no New Year's Day celebration for these men. They will stand guard in their fighting holes outside their bunkers, relieving each other during the night with sleepy mutters.

Others will patrol the valley below the main line. Someone will die, perhaps, and after a while the men will talk about his death.

What do they think about the coming year?

"Listen," Hallmark said. "They keep us too busy around here to think. Ask a general what's going to happen. In six months I'll be gone. That's enough for me."

TRAFFIC DEATH TOLL REACHES NEAR RECORD

Accident Toll Nearing 500 Mark Over Three-Day Period

By The Associated Press

The toll of deaths in holiday accidents neared 500 Saturday, and the number of traffic fatalities edged tragically close to a record for a four-day Christmas week end.

With nearly a day and a half remaining in the extended holiday, traffic accidents had claimed 476 lives. Fifty-one persons died in fires and 59 in miscellaneous accidents. The total of accidental deaths was 487.

Heavy highway traffic Saturday night and Sunday, with many travelers homeward bound, could push the traffic toll past the previous record slaughter—555 during the four-day Christmas holiday in 1936.

Ned H. Dearborn, president of the National Safety Council, said Saturday in a statement:

"It looks now as if the holiday traffic death toll may reach an all-time high for any holiday by going to 700 or more."

He attributed the "wholesale slaughter" to good weather, "open roads, and closed minds."

The National Safety Council had estimated 590 highway deaths for the 1952 Christmas week end — which extends from 6 p.m. Wednesday to midnight Sunday.

Motorists were urged by the council to use "common sense, courtesy and a practical application of the Christmas spirit" in an effort to prevent "the biggest, ugliest traffic death toll ever piled up on any holiday in the history of our country."

Last year's Christmas holiday brought the nation its highest accidental death toll—789 including 535 traffic.

Red Minister Says UN Korean Aid May Lead To World War

PARIS, Dec. 27—UP—Chinese Communists Foreign Minister and Premier Chou En-Lai said Saturday increased military pressure by the United Nations in Korea might lead to a new world war.

An interview with Chou by correspondent Pierre Courtade was published Saturday in the Communist party newspaper L'Humanite. It was notable in that it came so soon after Soviet Premier Josef Stalin's interview with the New York times.

Stalin declared he was favorable to negotiations with President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower and that the Soviet Union wanted a Korean peace.

Chou En-Lai dashed ice water on hopes of an early Korean peace when he repeated the familiar Communist declaration that only western acceptance of Communist proposals could bring an end to the fighting.

"Two paths are clearly traced concerning the armistice negotiations of Panmunjom without prior conditions, to conclude immediately a complete armistice on the basis of what has already been accepted by the two sides, and then to convoke a conference of the commission of 11 nations for the peaceful settlement of the Korean question.

"This conference would be the 'political conference' for the settlement of the question of total repatriation of prisoners of war as well as for the peaceful settlement of the Korean question on the basis of giving the Korean people the right to settle themselves their internal problems, and on the basis of the withdrawal from Korea of all foreign troops, including Chinese volunteers. That's precisely the position of the Korean and Chinese negotiators at Panmunjom."

PICKETS DEMAND TRUMAN SPARE ATOMIC SPIES

'Clemency Vigil' Asks President To Save Rosenbergs From Chair

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27 (AP) — Pickets, shivering in near-freezing weather, began what they called "a clemency vigil" outside the White House tonight, demanding that the President save Ethel and Julius Rosenberg, convicted atomic spies, from the electric chair.

A spokesman, David Allman, said the sign - carrying pickets would continue to march beside the executive mansion until the husband - wife spy team is granted clemency.

The Rosenbergs are scheduled to die the week of Jan. 11 in New York's Sing Sing death house, where they have been imprisoned since shortly after they were convicted March 29, 1951, of conspiring to transmit atomic secrets to the Soviet Union.

Repeated appeals to the courts, including two to the Supreme Court, have been rejected. Only presidential action can save them from death now.

Seventeen pickets—12 women and five men-began the march on East Executive Avenue, which runs beside the White House. They were unable to picket on Pennsylvania Avenue because of stands being erected for the inauguration of Dwight D. Eisenhower.

The group complied with a police request to move to the sidewalk across the street rather than on the sidewalk next to the White House lawn.

The pickets, taking turns carrying six signs demanding clemency for the Rosenbergs, would not answer questions of a reporter.

But Allman, reached by telephone, said the pickets were from New Jersey, New York and Maryland — none from Washington itself.

RITES HELD FOR PENNILESS MAN

Wife Only Survivor Of One-Legged, Partly-Paralyzed Ex-Machinist

Funeral services were held at 3 p. m. Saturday for John Howard Hoffman, 62, one-legged and partly-paralyzed former machinist, who was found dead in bed Christmas morning by his wife, Mrs. Olive S. Hoffman. Mrs. Hoffman is Mr. Hoffman's only survivor and she has no known relatives, it was stated. Interment was in Smith cemetery, under the direction of Hall Funeral home. Rev. Johnson, pastor of the church of Christ, officiated.

When Mrs. Hoffman awakened on Christmas morning in their trailer home on the river bank, opposite 4300 south Grand street, she was unable to arouse her husband. She ran to the home of a neighbor and reported her husband was unconsious. When neighbors arrived at the trailer, they found Hoffman had been dead some time. His death was said by Dr. J. T. French, parish coroner, to have been caused by a heart attack.

Mrs. Hoffman said her husband had asked her to leave the light on Christmas eve night, saying he did not feel well. She woke up about midnight and asked him if he would like to have the light turned off but he said he wanted it to remain on. Mrs. Hoffman went to sleep again and noticed nothing more until she awoke after daylight.

Mr. and Mrs. Hoffman lived in Tallulah about a year and came to Monroe about a year ago, having formely lived in California. Because they had not been in the state long enough, they were not eligible for relief funds.

Mr. Hoffman was given a $204 burial, one of the cheapest burials available except for a pauper burial. The funeral home allowed a $54 reduction and neighbors raised $49, leaving a balance of $101, for which the neighbors tributed as liberally as they could afford, the neighbors are asking that contributions be made to cover the remainder of the burial expense.

DULLES REFUSES TO TESTIFY AT HOUSE HEARING

Declines Invitation To Tell Of Part In Naming His To Foundation

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27 (AP) — John Foster Dulles, secretary of state-designate, has declined an invitation to testify before a House committee on his part in naming Alger Hiss as president of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace.

This was reported today by Howard W. Keele, counsel for the House group which has completed an investigation of tax-free educational and philanthropic foundations to determine whether their funds are being used for subversive purposes.

Hiss is now serving a prison sentence for perjury in denying that he gave State Department secrets to a Communist spy ring.

After he left the State Department, Hiss became president of the Carnegie Endowment in 1946. The House committee received testimony recently that Dulles, who was board chairman of the endowment, suggested Hiss for the job.

Keele told a reporter today he invited Dulles, by telephone and telegram, to present his side of the story early next week. Keele said Dulles replied by telegram that he "greatly appreciated the courtesy of the committee but my time is sharply limited between now and Jan. 1." The committee is preparing a report which is scheduled to be subhitted to Congress by that date.

Dulles said he was forwarding to the committee a transcript of his testimony at Hiss' trial and said he could not add anything by appearing before the committee.

Dulles testified at the trial that he wanted Hiss to resign his endowment post after Communist charges against him were aired in the summer of 1948.

Dulles thus contradicted Hiss, who had testified earlier that Dulles did not ask him to resign.

Hiss left the endowment post early in 1949 after his indictment. He was convicted in January, 1950. A star witness against him was Whittaker Chambers, who described himself as a former Communist courier and said Hiss passed him State Department secrets.

Alfred Kohlberg, a New York importer, told the committee last week that upon learning of Hiss' election to the Carnegie post he went to see Dulles to warn him against Hiss.

Kohlberg quoted Dulles as saying that several persons had described Hiss as "a sort of fellow traveler" but there was no concrete proof and that a man should not be condemned without proof.

John W. Davis, former Democratic presidential candidate, testified before the House committee that Dulles was one of several persons recommending that a three-man nominating committee looked Hiss over to determine if he should get the Carnegie post. Davis was chairman of the committee.

RITES TODAY FOR SLAYING VICTIM

Joe Woods Accused Of Murder After Jack Cabaniss Dies

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. today for Jack Cabaniss, 44-year - old Monroe cab driver, who died Friday afternoon as the result of injuries received in a fight in a local hotel lobby.

Held in parish jail on a charge of murder as a result of the death is Joe Woods, 46, alias Joe Whitten, of 406 Grammont St.

Woods was arrested by city police headquarters Friday afternoon, where he was booked for aggravated battery. He was later transferred to the parish jail and the charge changed to murder after Cabaniss died.

Ouachita Parish Coroner Dr. J. T. French said yesterday that Cabaniss' death was caused by a basal skull fracture with intracranial hemorrhages. Dr. French performed an autopsy on Cabaniss Friday night.

J. M. Harkness, clerk at the Majestic Hotel where the fight occurred, said Woods had walked into the hotel and said something in an undertone to Cabaniss.

Harkness said when Cabaniss began cursing, Woods grabbed him by the collar and began shaking the man.

The clerk said Cabaniss then struck Woods in the face with a half pint whisky bottle and Woods reached for an ash-tray and struck Cabaniss in the face.

Cabaniss' funeral will be held at the Mulhearn Chapel with the Rev. I. L. Yeager officiating. Burial will be in the Hasley Cemetery.

He is survived by a half-brother, Robert Cabaniss, El Dorado, Ark., two aunts, Mrs. F. H. Moore, El Dorado and Mrs. Ellen Sturdivant, Lawson, Ark.

Condon Called Weak Link In A-Bomb Security Chain

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27 (AP)—The house committee on Un-American Activities asserted today that Dr. Edward U. Condon was not qualified for any position involving national security because of his "propensity" for associating with persons of questionable loyalty.

Dr. Condon, who heard about the committee's report in advance of its release, told reporters in St. Louis today that the committee's "lying dishonesty" toward him was based on "political spite work."

Dr. Condon, former director of the National Bureau of Standards, was accused by the committee in 1948 of being the "weakest link" in the chain of security protecting atom bomb secrets.

He said at that time:

"If I am one of the weakest links in the nation's atomic security, this is gratifying information, because I am absolutely reliable and therefore we have nothing to worry about. The country can relax."

A number of officials and Congress members upheld Condon's loyalty.

House subversive hunters continued their feud with the former government scientist in their year-end annual report.

In response to charges by Condon that the committee had long refused him a hearing, the committee earlier this year first invited and then subpoenaed him for an appearance.

Testifying last Sept. 5, Dr. Condon—now research director for the Corning Glass Works, Corning, N. Y.,—reiterated previous denials that he knew about espionage and subversive activities charged to a number of his associates.

In its report, the committee noted that Dr. Condon denied ever having been a Communist and said:

"Dr. Condon's appearance, however, served to confirm the committee's belief that because of his propensity for associating with persons disloyal or of questionable loyalty and his contempt for necessary security regulations, that he is not qualified for ac-

House Probe Is Asked Of Justice Department

WASHINGTON, Dec.27 (AP)—Rep. Hillings R-Calif. today called for a "full inquiry" into the administration of the Justice Department during the 12 years Supreme Court Justice Tom Clark was in it.

Hillings said Clark should be summoned before a House subcommittee which issued a report today criticizing Clark for what it called an apparent "gross departure from the usual channels of authority" while he was attorney general.

"Many people in Washington regard Mr. Clark as some type of sacred cow because he is a justice of the Supreme Court," Hillings said in a statement. "I do not share this opinion.

"A Supreme Court justice should not cling to the sanctity of his ivory tower and deprive congressional committee of the opportunity to obtain necessary information."

Hillings is a lawyer. He also is one of the three Republican members of the seven-man judiciary subcommittee which has been investigating the Justice Department for months.

In a report released a few hours before Hillings' statement, the subcommittee said Clark "interfered with routine functioning" of the department in the Kansas City vote fraud case.

The subcommittee also chided Clark, as well as former Atty. Gen. J. Howard McGrath and Peyton Ford, who was Clark's deputy, for what it called an "indifferent attitude."

Billings declared the subcommittee's report "shows the need for a full inquiry into the administration of the Department of Justice during his (Clark's) tenure as attorney general and during the time he occupied subordinate positions."

WEST MONROE MERCHANT DIES

Henry W. Colbert, Sr., Prominent Resident, Expires At Residence

Henry W. Colbert, Sr., 74, prominent West Monroe hardware and furniture merchant for many years, died at his residence at 503 Park Avenue in West Monroe yesterday afternoon.

Colbert, a resident of West Monroe for 57 years, operated the Colbert Hardware and Furniture store at the corner of Natchitoches and Cotton streets in West Monroe. He was a member of the Grace Episcopal church. He was born in Mt. Lebanon, La.

Mr. Colbert is survived by his wife; three daughters, Mrs. Maryem Colbert Folkes, Handsboro, Miss., Mrs. Jane Colbert Jones, Pittsburg Pa., Mrs. Eleanor Colbert Steward, Baytown, Tex.; one son, Henry W. Colbert, Jr., of Monroe; one brother, Richard Colbert of Shreveport, five grandchildren, and seven nieces and nephews.

Mulhearn funeral home is in charge of funeral arrangements, which are incomplete, pending arrival of relatives.

FIRST BABY TO GET BIG TREAT

Many Gifts Are Lined Up For Earliest Arrival Of New Year

Sometime after midnight on Jan. 1 a new-born baby will let out a lusty bawl. If he or she knew the treat in store, the bawl would be one of sheer delight. For the first baby born in Monroe or West Monroe after the first bell announcing the New Year will be declared winner of the First Baby of 1953 contest, which assures the lucky little winner of a substantial start in life.

Here are some of the gifts which will pour in to welcome the honored arrival:

For the first nestling place at home, a beautiful basinette from Durretts'; for the first thrill of sitting up, a handsome high chair from York Children's Department Store; for the first public debut, a lovely dress from Kelso's Youth Shop.

For the warmth every baby craves, a Kozee Komfort baby blanket from Spencer's Children Shop, West Monroe, and a pair of imported doeskin gloves from Li-Lo Youth Shop.

To prove he or she is already somebody in the world, a $5 savings account at the Central Savings Bank & Trust Company and a $5 savings account at the Ouachita National Bank.

To further his or her claim to worldly goods, the first cup and spoon in sterling silver from Howard Bros. Jewelers; and to stake his or her claim to the modern conveniences, a fine electric bottle warmer from Morgan & Lindsey.

With a salute to the baby's con-

'Seventy-Six Valley' Is Now Just A Lonely Piece Of Korean Real Estate

By FRDERICK C. PAINTON

WESTERN FRONT, Korea, Dec. 27—UP—The quiet danger of "Seventy-Six Valley" has grown into a symbol of the Korean war during the year 1952.

As last year ended this 150 yard wide strip was as safe as the sidewalks in your own hometown. Both sides held their fire and waited for the truce that never came from Panmunjom.

Now it has been named for the 76-millimeter shells the enemy uses to kill Americans moving through it. The enemy can see every American move, and the valley is pocketed with shell holes.

A few riflemen crossed it Saturday on the double. Most of then walked quickly, their heads bent to pick up the sudden whisper of an enemy shell.

The men were returning to wait or sleep in the blackness of their bunkers. An hour ago they had scurried across the same strip to eat chow standing up in the 20-degree cold.

On each side of the valley men huddled against the protection of the hillsides, waiting their turn to make the trip, aware that Chinese observers 2,000 yards away saw their every move.

"You can tell which guys are going home," said Pfc. Woddie Hausermann of Sayeville, N. J. "They're the ones that are running. I guess I'll run, too, though, when the time comes."

Hausermann laughted but he knew that scurrying across the dangerous strip was no joke.

There is little hope now for an early end to the war. A year ago men expected an armistice at any moment. The most pessimistic belived they might have to wait until summer—last summer.

Most of the fighting men here believe almost anything would be better in the New Year than the war that is going on now.

"Oh, yeah," said Pfc. Milton Hallmark of Corpus Christi, Tex., "New Year's coming up. Well, it's one more day closer to getting out of here; that's all I can say."

There will be no New Year's Day celebration for these men. They will stand guard in their fighting holes outside their bunkers, relieving each other during the night with sleepy mutters.

Others will patrol the valley below the main line. Soneone will die, perhaps, and after a while the men will talk about his death.

What do they think about the coming year?

"Listen," Hallmark said. "They keep us too busy around here to think. Ask a general what's going to happen. In six months I'll be gone. That's enough for me."

HARRISON WILL HEAD DELEGATES

Monroe Man To Take Governor's Place At Eisenhower Inauguration

Claude Harrison, Monroe business man, will head a Louisiana delegation of some 100 persons to the inauguration of President-elect Dwight Eisenhower, it was announced in New Orleans yesterday.

George R. Blue, chairman of the Louisiana inaugural committee, said Gov. Robert F. Kennon would be unable to attend because of a serious illness in his family.

Blue said the Louisiana group will be represented in the parade and in events which precede the formal ceremonies in which Eisenhower takes office.

Harrison was in Meridian, Miss., yesterday and could not be contacted for further details on the inaugural trip.

Welfare Rolls Open To Public January 1

Statute Enacted Because Of Lack Of Faith In Program

By JAMES MCLEAN

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — Louisiana's $100 million welfare rolls will be opened wide to public view for the first time when the New Year arrives.

A new state law, act 410, goes into effect Jan. 1. It kindled flames of controversy before it was adopted by the legislature last summer.

Actually, the rolls won't be made available in local welfare offices until Monday, Jan. 5, because of the holiday weekend.

The legislation, bitterly attacked as it rumbled through to final passage, won majority support after sponsors insisted the public had lost confidence in the costly program.

Opponents, including many social welfare leaders and workers, hurled criticism against the measure as a weapon of shame directed at the needy and poor.

Lawmakers backing the bill declared the public had the right to know where the tax money was going. Opening the rolls, it was emphasized, would help force ineligibles to get out.

The public assistance program was nearly quadrupled in 1948 under the administration of former Gov. Earl Long. A two-cent sales tax was adopted to pay to help pay its way.

The state department of public welfare, in an October release, commented "the effects of this bill will be most interesting to record. Certainly, the act has every prospect of being a political issue in the future."

Welfare officials say they expect the public will find little to get excited about when the rosters are opened.

Undoubtedly, some fraud cases will be brought to light, they believe. The department itself is continually uncovering such cases. A special field unit was formed in October to search for fraud.

The new act says name of welfare recipients cannot be used for commercial or political purposes.

The rosters are opened in each parish, they will list names of recipients and amounts they receive in public aid.

To start, each local office will have rosters open to the public naming welfare recipients for the months of November, December and January.

After January, a new roster will be made available in each parish every month, giving only the names of those currently on the rolls. Back rosters will be after that for a period of six years.

Names of people on welfare rolls will be listed in groups according to the type of public aid they receive. Records and proceedings relating to adoption and foster care will not be made public.

There will be no report about recipients on welfare rosters before November this year.

One provision of the act enabled those who didn't want their names to be made public to get off the rolls by Oct. 31. About 86 persons took advantage.

Has the new law brought about any decline in new applicants? The welfare board recently was told there had been some dropping off in number of applications, but the reason had not been determined.

THINKS ASSAULT DEVIL INSPIRED

Baptist Preacher Thinks Member Of His Church Beat Him Up

MEMPHIS, Dec. 27 (AP)—A Baptist preacher said today he believes a "devil-possessed" member of his church inspired a beating the minister claims he received in his Mississippi home Christmas Eve.

The Rev. Sammy Crawford, pastor of the Pilgrim Rest Baptist Church near Batesville, Miss., was in "satisfactory" condition at a Memphis hospital. His right knee, fractured in an automobile accident last October, was rebroken in the scuffle.

Two men, Crawford told newsmen, knocked him to his living room floor in front of his wife and four daughters, kicked him and then told him to leave the community within a month.

"I think someone in the church hired the two men to beat me up," the 43-year-old clergyman said from his hospital bed. He added, however, that he knew of no reason for the attack.

Crawford said he planned to stay on with the church because "I feel the Lord wants me to stay."

The minister said his attackers at first tried to get him to step outside his home but that he refused and invited them inside.

"Each grabbed me by an arm, and during the scuffle, one kicked me in the knee breaking it."

Sheriff Ross E. Darby said at Batesville that Crawford had reported the beating to him. The sheriff said he was investigating but had made little progress.

ON LEAVE— Radioman Seaman Robert E. Tyler, above, is spending a Christmas leave with his family here. Tyler has just completed a two weeks special class for radio telephone talkers. He will sail for the Far East when he returns to San Diego.

US Airman Burns To Death In London Fire

LONDON, Dec. 27 (AP)—Pvt. Jack Silvester Mahaney, 22, of Clio, Mich., an airman stationed at suburban West Drayton, burned to death today as his British bride fought to rescue him.

He was the third American in Britain to lose his life in Christmas season fires.

Jeannette, 6, and Patricia, 19 months — daughters of U. S. Army Warrant Office Robert Feeney — died after a fire in their home in Oxfordshire on Christmas Day.

Feeney's home is Providence, R. I., and his wife, Ruth, is from Baxterville, Miss. An inquiry into the death of his daughters was adjourned until a date to be announced later.

Mrs. Feeney received severe burns but hospital authorities said she was progressing well. Feeney also was taken to the hospital suffering from shock. His condition also was reported to be improving. A third child, Robert, 8, gave the alarm and escaped unhurt.

Cause of both fires were undetermined.

ARCTIC TEST

BIRMINGHAM, England (AP) — The British Dunlop Rubber Co. has produced a mock arctic in one of its test laboratories here in an effort to make a more efficient rubber for use in polar regions.

Both natural and synthetic rubbers harden at low temperatures. Below minus 56 degrees centigrade, current grades of rubber are virtually useless as shock-absorbers, the report said.

GI Finds Wife In Love With Killer Of Father

WINSTON SALEM, N. C., Dec. 27—UP—A Korean veteran return for Christmas to find his pretty young wife in love with someone else and the girl's father was killed by her boy friend, police reported Saturday.

Pleas Garrett Griffin Jr., 28, a service station attendant in love with the soldier's wife, admitted to Yadkin County Sheriff A. F. Moxley that he killed Jess Clark Gough, 44, with three shots from a .25 caliber pistol.

But Griffin claimed self-defense. He said Gough advanced on him with a shotgun and said "something like 'I've come to get you.'"

Griffin was bound over to Superior court under $10,000 bond on a murder charge after a hearing before Justice of the Peace J. A. Swain.

The shooting occurred near Gough's farm house near East Bend, N. C., as Griffin waited for Gough's daughter, brunette Kaye Gough Smitherman, 19.

Trouble between Gough and Griffin began when Gough learned of his daughter's romance with Griffin while her husband, James Edward Smitherman, 24, served in Korea, Moxley said.

It came to a head Christmas night when Smitherman returned on Christmas leave and heard his wife tell him, in Griffin's presence, that she no longer loved him and was "helplessly in love" with Griffin.

Griffin had parked his car some distance from the house and was waiting for the girl, Moxley said.

Yugoslav Parliament Backs Tito Decision On Vatican Relations

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, Dec. 27 (AP) — With Marshal Tito looking on, the Yugoslav Parliament today unanimously ratified the government's decision to break diplomatic relations with the Vatican.

Before the vote, Petar Stambolic, premier of Serbia and a power in the Central Communist government, denounced the recent designation of Archbishop Alojzije Stepinac of Zagreb as a cardinal. He said Pope Pius' appointment of the Yugoslav churchman was a propaganda move designed to serve the purposes of "Italian imperialism."

Parliament then recessed until Jan. 10 when it will take up, and almost certainly approve a new constitution which is expected to make Premier Tito the country's first president.

Besides acting on relations with the Vatican, Parliament approved a budget of 763 million dollars, of which 80 per cent is marked for defense, and adopted a new cradle-to-the-grave social security program. Employers will pay the entire cost of the social services.

The government announced the severance of relations with the Vatican Dec. 17, charging the Holy See was hostile toward Yugoslavia and interfering in her internal affairs.

Italy's Soothsayers Say No War In 1953

ROME, Dec. 27 (AP)—Italy's top soothsayers agreed today there will be no big war in 1953, but most of them look for World War III to start in 1954. In the words of Naples' Giuseppe la Tarzia, America will win."

Far what these traditional new Year's forecasts are worth, most also predicted the Korean War will end sometime in the next 12 months after fierce fighting.

Italian weeklies published the predictions of more than a score of leaders in the stargazing and crystal ball fields. The publications did not emphasize the lack of unanimity on some points, or disclose the batting average of the group in past years.

The white-haired "Sorcerer of Naples," Achille d'Angelo, said "two men upon whom the lot of the world and humanity depends, Eisenhower and Stalin, will meet in 1953."

The Home Shift With Mildred Swift

That KNOE crowd is just like one big family. Annie Gray and James A. were the charming hosts to the entire group last Saturday night. Yours truly was flattered to be considered a part of that family. Ann Bernhardt and I hold seniority at the station. We're the only ones who were there when the station started eight years ago. But — back to the party. We celebrated Mr. Noe's birthday, Christmas, New Years, television and grieved together over Jack Smith leaving us. Uncle Irv was his happiest and merriest as he is ever morning on the "Happiness Exchange." I forgot to say the party was given at "Fink's Hide-a-way.' Aline was responsible for the food and my! what food that was. We had a wholesome evening and a good time "was had by all."

GARDEN SUMMARY . . . .

Here is that garden summary I promised you. These are the shrubs and trees I've talked about during the past year that can be planted now. Of course, this isn't a complete list of all the plants suited to Ouachita Parish.

First lets talk about large and small trees.

Remember the tulip tree in the J. Q. Graves and V. S. Garnett yards? It grows about fifty feet high and blooms in April. The blooms are tulip shaped, chartreuse color with a speck of red orange in the center. They make beautiful corsages. The purple magnolia, often incorrectly called tulip tree, blooms in February. I called your attention to the one in the Scott Hamilton yard. You can buy the plants from local nurseries in pale lavender, deep purple, pink, white with pink tipped petals and magenta.

The gingko is one of our most beautiful fall trees because of the gold coloring of the leaves. There's one at the Robert Layton's and one at Mrs. Jewel McQuiller's. The tallow tree is another pretty fall colored plant. Some people object to it because its a little messy like the pecan, which can also be planted now.

The mimosa with it's rose bloom is a must in every yard. Mrs. Gordon Wright has such beautiful ones blooming every year.

Another small tree you'll want is the American holly. I enjoy my two so much because I always have holly for my friends at Christmas time. Remember to snip every leaf if you want it to live.

The star magnolia is the first of that family to bloom each year. The John Breards have a large tree. The blooms are small and star shaped, and Mrs. B. V. Evans says it needs lots of moisture. Mr. Carey Holmes says to give it semi-shade too. This plant can be bought at the local nurseries, now.

In summer when we have so little bloom the crape myrtles come to our rescue. There's a new pale pink one that looks like pink ice cream. Mrs. Alan Sholars was the first to plant this new variety in Monroe.

The pearl bush blooms in February, the dogwoods just a little later. The pink and white crabapples are so beautiful and so little trouble! A white mist of blooms is the fringe tree (Grandaddy gray beard ited buds are rewarding for the small amount of care they take. They have a short life, though.

Remember the wisteria can be a vine or tree. Just keep it pruned for tree effect. The black locust is an attractive tree is you have a large area to plant. They rather take over the place though. You remember there were so many in bloom on the Ruston highway last spring.

SHRUBS

The youpon is one of our best native shrubs that berries at Christmas time. Unless you're going to move it with a ball of dirt it's best to buy from the nursery. One of the nurseries has the dwarf youpon, now. I do believe that is the prettiest small evergreen I have ever seen.

The wild myrtle is one of our best shrubs for screen planting. Mr. George Forman and Mr. L. L. Price have a number of these plants in their yards.

You can plant camellias, azaleas and susanquas now. They all like an acid soil and the first two named do better in semi-shade. Azaleas do well planted under pines and oaks.

Both inkberry and burfodi hollys can be planted now through February. The burfordi gives you decoration for Christmas. The inkberry is one of our fine dwarf shrubs for low-roof houses. The two dwarf gardenias, Radicans and Stricta Nana, are also good where you need low growing shrubs.

The banana plant, hydrangea, and our evergreen vines such as clematis and confederate jasmine do well planted now.

Our extension department recommends planting roses the last of January or in February. When planting these don't forget the Lady Banksia which is an evergreen thornless climbing rose with a profusion of pale yellow blooms. The flora-bunda family is so rich in bloom giving us flowers from March until frost. Some are still blooming. They're dwarf and look so well in beds with evergreens back of them.

I believe that gives you a review of the Shift for the past year.

New Year's Resolutions

Remember our grandmother's advice — it's better to make a good resolution and try to keep it than not to make one at all — Happy New Year.

I'll see you next Sunday in this same column.

'WHITE HATERS' SEARCH PRESSED BY ARK. POLICE

Three Negroes Wanted For Kidnaping And Robbery In Little Rock

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Dec. 27—UP— A general alarm was out in this city Saturday for a trio of Negro "white haters" who have abducted and robbed two white persons and held up a liquor store.

The Negroes Friday night kidnaped Charles L. Rayburn as he parked his car on a downtown street. They forced Rayburn to lie down between the seats of the car and drove out to a liquor store south of town.

One of the men was armed and the owners of the store, Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Grant, were forced to hand over $200 in cash. They were told Rayburn would be killed if they notified police.

Rayburn then was taken east of town and released after being relieved of $42 in cash and his wrist watch. The keys to his car were returned to him by the Negroes.

Rayburn notified police although warned not to do so by his abductors.

The police department also revealed that a young doctor was kidnaped by three Negroes several nights ago. The doctor obtained his release by promising not to notify police and he kept his pledge. The incident finally was reported by relatives who requested police to keep the victim's name a secret.

Police said the doctor climbed into his car Tuesday night to find three Negroes sitting in it. They ordered him to "start driving." Later, they bound and blindfolded their victim and stuffed him into the trunk of his car after robbing him of $80 and a watch and ring.

The physician was released near the spot where Rayburn was given his liberty.

The doctor quoted the Negroes as saying they were "fed up with the way white folks have been treating Negroes."

His abductors constantly threatened him and boasted about how "they liked to beat up people," the doctor said.

Child Accidentally Shoots, Kills Mother

LEBAU, La., Dec. 27 —UP—The St. Landry parish sheriff's office disclosed Saturday that a four-year old boy accidentally shot and killed his 23-year old mother Friday night.

The victim was Mrs. Cleveland Chautin. She was fatally shot as she sat playing cards with some friends, the sheriff's office said.

The four-year old boy was Al[illegible] Chautin. Shortly before the shooting, the father had removed the shells from the 16-gauge gun and had thought that was all.

Investigators said the small boy got the gun and playfully pointed it at the group playing cards. The gun discharged and the load struck Mrs. Chautin in the back.

Welfare Rolls Open To Public January 1

Statute Enacted Because Of Lack Of Faith In Program

By JAMES MCLEAN

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — Louisiana's $100 million welfare rolls will be opened wide to public view for the first time when the New Year arrives.

A new state law, act 410, goes into effect Jan. 1. It kindled flames of controversy before it was adopted by the legislature last summer.

Actually, the rolls won't be made available in local welfare offices until Monday, Jan. 5, because of the holiday weekend.

The legislation, bitterly attacked as it rumbled through to final passage, won majority support after sponsors insisted the public had lost confidence in the costly program.

Opponents, including many social welfare leaders and workers, hurled criticism against the measure as a weapon of shame directed at the needy and poor.

Lawmakers backing the bill declared the public had the right to know where the tax money was going. Opening the rolls, it was emphasized, would help force ineligibles to get out.

The public assistance program was nearly quadrupled in 1948 under the administration of former Gov. Earl Long. A two-cent sales tax was adopted to pay to help pay its way.

The state department of public welfare, in an October release, commented "the effects of this bill will be most interesting to record. Certainly, the act has every prospect of being a political issue in the future."

Welfare officials say they expect the public will find little to get excited about when the rosters are opened.

Undoubtedly, some fraud cases will be brought to light, they believe. The department itself is continually uncovering such cases. A special field unit was formed in October to search for fraud.

The new act says name of welfare recipients cannot be used for commercial or political purposes.

The rosters are opened in each parish, they will list names of recipients and amounts they receive in public aid.

To start, each local office will have rosters open to the public naming welfare recipients for the months of November, December and January.

After January, a new roster will be made available in each parish every month, giving only the names of those currently on the rolls. Back rosters will be after that for a period of six years.

Names of people on welfare rolls will be listed in groups according to the type of public aid they receive. Records and proceedings relating to adoption and foster care will not be made public.

There will be no report about recipients on welfare rosters before November this year.

One provision of the act enabled those who didn't want their names to be made public to get off the rolls by Oct. 31. About 86 persons took advantage.

Has the new law brought about any decline in new applicants? The welfare board recently was told there had been some dropping off in number of applications, but the reason had not been determined.

THINKS ASSAULT DEVIL INSPIRED

Baptist Preacher Thinks Member Of His Church Beat Him Up

MEMPHIS, Dec. 27 (AP)—A Baptist preacher said today he believes a "devil-possessed" member of his church inspired a beating the minister claims he received in his Mississippi home Christmas Eve.

The Rev. Sammy Crawford, pastor of the Pilgrim Rest Baptist Church near Batesville, Miss., was in "satisfactory" condition at a Memphis hospital. His right knee, fractured in an automobile accident last October, was rebroken in the scuffle.

Two men, Crawford told newsmen, knocked him to his living room floor in front of his wife and four daughters, kicked him and then told him to leave the community within a month.

"I think someone in the church hired the two men to beat me up," the 43-year-old clergyman said from his hospital bed. He added, however, that he knew of no reason for the attack.

Crawford said he planned to stay on with the church because "I feel the Lord wants me to stay."

The minister said his attackers at first tried to get him to step outside his home but that he refused and invited them inside.

"Each grabbed me by an arm, and during the scuffle, one kicked me in the knee breaking it."

Sheriff Ross E. Darby said at Batesville that Crawford had reported the beating to him. The sheriff said he was investigating but had made little progress.

ON LEAVE— Radioman Seaman Robert E. Tyler, above, is spending a Christmas leave with his family here. Tyler has just completed a two weeks special class for radio telephone talkers. He will sail for the Far East when he returns to San Diego.

US Airman Burns To Death In London Fire

LONDON, Dec. 27 (AP)—Pvt. Jack Silvester Mahaney, 22, of Clio, Mich., an airman stationed at suburban West Drayton, burned to death today as his British bride fought to rescue him.

He was the third American in Britain to lose his life in Christmas season fires.

Jeannette, 6, and Patricia, 19 months — daughters of U. S. Army Warrant Office Robert Feeney — died after a fire in their home in Oxfordshire on Christmas Day.

Feeney's home is Providence, R. I., and his wife, Ruth, is from Baxterville, Miss. An inquiry into the death of his daughters was adjourned until a date to be announced later.

Mrs. Feeney received severe burns but hospital authorities said she was progressing well. Feeney also was taken to the hospital suffering from shock. His condition also was reported to be improving. A third child, Robert, 8, gave the alarm and escaped unhurt.

Cause of both fires were undetermined.

ARCTIC TEST

BIRMINGHAM, England (AP) — The British Dunlop Rubber Co. has produced a mock arctic in one of its test laboratories here in an effort to make a more efficient rubber for use in polar regions.

Both natural and synthetic rubbers harden at low temperatures. Below minus 56 degrees centigrade, current grades of rubber are virtually useless as shock-absorbers, the report said.

GI Finds Wife In Love With Killer Of Father

WINSTON SALEM, N. C., Dec. 27—UP—A Korean veteran return for Christmas to find his pretty young wife in love with someone else and the girl's father was killed by her boy friend, police reported Saturday.

Pleas Garrett Griffin Jr., 28, a service station attendant in love with the soldier's wife, admitted to Yadkin County Sheriff A. F. Moxley that he killed Jess Clark Gough, 44, with three shots from a .25 caliber pistol.

But Griffin claimed self-defense. He said Gough advanced on him with a shotgun and said "something like 'I've come to get you.'"

Griffin was bound over to Superior court under $10,000 bond on a murder charge after a hearing before Justice of the Peace J. A. Swain.

The shooting occurred near Gough's farm house near East Bend, N. C., as Griffin waited for Gough's daughter, brunette Kaye Gough Smitherman, 19.

Trouble between Gough and Griffin began when Gough learned of his daughter's romance with Griffin while her husband, James Edward Smitherman, 24, served in Korea, Moxley said.

It came to a head Christmas night when Smitherman returned on Christmas leave and heard his wife tell him, in Griffin's presence, that she no longer loved him and was "helplessly in love" with Griffin.

Griffin had parked his car some distance from the house and was waiting for the girl, Moxley said.

Yugoslav Parliament Backs Tito Decision On Vatican Relations

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, Dec. 27 (AP) — With Marshal Tito looking on, the Yugoslav Parliament today unanimously ratified the government's decision to break diplomatic relations with the Vatican.

Before the vote, Petar Stambolic, premier of Serbia and a power in the Central Communist government, denounced the recent designation of Archbishop Alojzijc Stepinac of Zagreb as a cardinal. He said Pope Pius' appointment of the Yugoslav churchman was a propaganda move designed to serve the purposes of "Italian imperalism."

Parliament then recessed until Jan. 10 when it will take up, and almost certainly approve a new constitution which is expected to make Premier Tito the country's first president.

Besides acting on relations with the Vatican, Parliament approved a budget of 763 million dollars, of which 80 per cent is marked for defense, and adopted a new cradle-to-the-grave social security program. Employers will pay the entire cost of the social services.

The government announced the severance of relations with the Vatican Dec. 17, charging the Holy See was hostile toward Yugoslavia and interfering in her internal affairs.

Italy's Soothsayers Say No War In 1953

ROME, Dec. 27 (AP)—Italy's top soothsayers agreed today there will be no big war in 1953, but most of them look for World War III to start in 1954. In the words of Naples' Giuseppe la Tarzia, America will win."

Far what these traditional new Year's forecasts are worth, most also predicted the Korean War will end sometime in the next 12 months after fierce fighting.

Italian weeklies published the predictions of more than a score of leaders in the stargazing and crystal ball fields. The publications did not emphasize the lack of unanimity on some points, or disclose the batting average of the group in past years.

The white-haired "Sorcerer of Naples," Achille d'Angelo, said "two men upon whom the lot of the world and humanity depends, Eisenhower and Stalin, will meet in 1953."

GARDEN SUMMARY . . . .

Here is that garden summary I promised you. These are the shrubs and trees I've talked about during the past year that can be planted now. Of course, this isn't a complete list of all the plants suited to Ouachita Parish.

First lets talk about large and small trees.

Remember the tulip tree in the J. Q. Graves and V. S. Garnett yards? It grows about fifty feet high and blooms in April. The blooms are tulip shaped, chartreuse color with a speck of red orange in the center. They make beautiful corsages. The purple magnolia, often incorrectly called tulip tree, blooms in February. I called your attention to the one in the Scott Hamilton yard. You can buy the plants from local nurseries in pale lavender, deep purple, pink, white with pink tipped petals and magenta.

The gingko is one of our most beautiful fall trees because of the gold coloring of the leaves. There's one at the Robert Layton's and one at Mrs. Jewel McQuiller's. The tallow tree is another pretty fall colored plant. Some people object to it because its a little messy like the pecan, which can also be planted now.

The mimosa with it's rose bloom is a must in every yard. Mrs. Gordon Wright has such beautiful ones blooming every year.

Another small tree you'll want is the American holly. I enjoy my two so much because I always have holly for my friends at Christmas time. Remember to snip every leaf if you want it to live.

The star magnolia is the first of that family to bloom each year. The John Breards have a large tree. The blooms are small and star shaped, and Mrs. B. V. Evans says it needs lots of moisture. Mr. Carey Holmes says to give it semi-shade too. This plant can be bought at the local nurseries, now.

In summer when we have so little bloom the crape myrtles come to our rescue. There's a new pale pink one that looks like pink ice cream. Mrs. Alan Sholars was the first to plant this new variety in Monroe.

The pearl bush blooms in February, the dogwoods just a little later. The pink and white crabapples are so beautiful and so little trouble! A white mist of blooms is the fringe tree (Grandaddy gray beard lted buds are rewarding for the small amount of care they take. They have a short life, though.

Remember the wisteria can be a vine or tree. Just keep it pruned for tree effect. The black locust is an attractive tree is you have a large area to plant. They rather take over the place though. You remember there were so many in bloom on the Ruston highway last spring.

SHRUBS

The youpon is one of our best native shrubs that berries at Christmas time. Unless you're going to move it with a ball of dirt it's best to buy from the nursery. One of the nurseries has the dwarf youpon, now. I do believe that is the prettiest small evergreen I have ever seen.

The wild myrtle is one of our best shrubs for screen planting. Mr. George Forman and Mr. L. L. Price have a number of these plants in their yards.

You can plant camellias, azaleas and susanquas now. They all like an acid soil and the first two named do better in semi-shade. Azaleas do well planted under pines and oaks.

Both inkberry and burfodi hollys can be planted now through February. The burfordi gives you decoration for Christmas. The inkberry is one of our fine dwarf shrubs for low-roof houses. The two dwarf gardenias, Radicans and Stricta Nana, are also good where you need low growing shrubs.

The banana plant, hydrangea, and our evergreen vines such as clematis and confederate jasmine do well planted now.

Our extension department recommends planting roses the last of January or in February. When planting these don't forget the Lady Banksia which is an evergreen thornless climbing rose with a profusion of pale yellow blooms. The flora-bunda family is so rich in bloom giving us flowers from March until frost. Some are still blooming. They're dwarf and look so well in beds with evergreens back of them.

I believe that gives you a review of the Shift for the past year.

New Year's Resolutions

Remember our grandmother's advice — it's better to make a good resolution and try to keep it than not to make one at all — Happy New Year.

I'll see you next Sunday in this same column.

US Believes Egypt's Naguib Is Hope Of Peace In Seething Middle East

By the World Staff
of The Associated Press

WASHINGTON—U. S. officials see Egypt's reform Premier Mohammed Naguib as a bright hope for progress in the Middle East and would like very much to find some way to give him a helping hand.

They fear he is coming into his most critical period.

The difficulty is that about 90 per cent of Egypt's exports is cotton, and the cotton market for some months has been depressed. Egypt has had to sell at relatively low prices.

This has discouraged Egyptian farmers and large elements of Egyptian business. Information here is that they are blaming the Naguib government.

State Department authorities and others in the American government are worried about this tendency. They believe Naguib, who ousted King Farouk six months ago, is the man most likely to reach a fair settlement of the Sudan problem with Britain and come to terms with the Western nations on a Middle East defense organization.

Naguib's representatives have asked the U. S. to buy Egyptian cotton. Best bet here is that the government will try to find some funds which may be used to stockpile it for defense purposes.

U. S. diplomats have been pressuring the British to buy it also, so far without much luck.

There is a fairly strong feeling in the State Department that, although Britain's need for cotton has declined, Britain has been carrying on what amounts to a boycott of Egyptian cotton.

Meanwhile U. S. diplomats and military men are trying to figure out some way to give increased military assistance to Egypt. They hope that such a move, probably combined with cotton pur- Naguib's position.

350 COMMIES ARRESTED IN PHILIPPINES

Surprise Raids Bag Prominent Business Men, Teachers

MANILA (P)—A spokesman for the National Defense Department said several ranking Chinese Communist leaders in the Philippines and almost 200 members of their underground organization were arrested today in sweeping raids throughout the islands.

The Manila Times said a check of its correspondents throughout the islands showed nearly 350 persons had been arrested so far. The newspaper said they were being brought to Philippine Army headquarters at Camp Murphy outside Manila.

They included prominent business men, teachers and professional men.

The surprise raids climaxed almost two years of preparation, the defense spokesman said. They were made simultaneously in Manila and in several provinces by representatives of the Military Intelligence Agency and local police.

The spokesman said another 100 persons may be taken into custody before the raids are completed.

The spokesman for Defense Secretary Ramon Magsaysay said information by William J. Pomeroy, Rochester, N. Y., an American veteran of World War II who served with the Communist Huks in the Philippines recently and was captured earlier this year, aided the preparatory work for the drive. Pomeroy is under sentence to life imprisonment.

Leaders reported captured included Chin Sang, secretary general of an organization called the Philippine Chinese Communist Board.

It had been operating directly under Luis Taruc, leader of the Communist Party in the Philippines, Magsaysay's spokesman said, and giving money and supplies to the Red Huk guerrillas.

Weather Bureau To Start 'Rain-Making' Operation

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27—UP—The Weather Bureau, skeptical for years of "rain-making" operations announced Saturday it will start experiments early next year to find out scientifically if weather can be changed by "seeding" clouds.

The bureau revealed plans for "carefully controlled" tests in Washington state, with special equipment including radar and a gadget to detect changes in the size of raindrops.

The tests will be held from late Janurary to about May and again in the early fall and winter of 1953.

They will be run in all kinds of weather.

The bureau said the Pacific Northwest was chosen because it gets many winter storms moving in from the Pacific. The exact area over which clouds will be "seeded" will vary according to weather conditions.

Both dry ice and silver iodide will be used as "seeding" agents in the "artificial cloud nucleation" tests. Two cloud-seeding airplanes, borrowed from the Navy, will work on small numbers of the available clouds to contrast their reaction with unseeded clouds.

Private rain-making outfits have been functioning for years, mostly in the West. But the Weather Bureau has been officially skeptical of their results and has carefully avoided endorsing them.

The announcement Saturday apparently means that the bureau has decided to find out officially, once and for all, what can be done to vary rainfall by doctoring clouds.

The bureau said the cloud-seeding planes will carry special instruments to record changes in cloud structure caused by seeding.

Other special devices for detecting changes in raindrop size are being installed over the area. Radar will be used to spot changes in cloud formations and rain areas, and to steer pilots to the particular clouds to be seeded.

The bureau cautiously said "there is fairly general agreement that clouds can sometimes be altered, but how much (man-made) precipitation actually reaches the ground has been the important question."

HEAVY FRENCH ATTACK HITTING VIETMINH TROOPS

Parachute Troops Join Land Forces In Attempt To Smash Rebel Forces

HANOI, Indochina, Dec. 27 (P)—French and Viet Namese parachute troopers leaped from planes tday and joined powerful land forces attempting to smash a Vietminh troop concentration near Na San, 117 miles west of Hanoi.

A French high command spokesman said the aim of the drive is to regain the initiative from the Communist-led enemy, who withdrew from Na San after three violent, unsuccessful assaults against that French bastion four weeks ago.

The drop today was in the area north of the village of Conoi, 10 miles southeast of Na San. First reports said no important contacts were made with the Vietminh.

From Na San itself, several battalions of French Union troops struck southeastward two days ago after having conducted a number of large scale reconnaissance patrols all around the heavily fortified stronghold.

As a result of these operations, French officers believed the enemy had concentrated in a large pocket in the Conoi area.

The French built up the Na Saa troop base and airstrip as the strong point from which to attempt to defeat a Vietminh winter offensive aimed at conquering all the Thai tribal country of Northwest Indochina.

STATE'S X-RAY UNIT TO TOUR

Generator - Powered Unit Expected To Continue On Endless Journey

First stop on what promises to be an endless tour for the new generator - powered mobile X-ray unit of the Louisiana State Health Department was Moisant airport. Dr. S. J. Phillips, president of the Louisiana state board of health, said that the first group surveyed were employes of TACA International Airways who lined up for a chest X-ray.

Previous to this present portable power supply, the state health department's mobile X-ray units had to utilize electrical lines to secure proper voltage for the X-ray machines. This meant that the units could only be located where high voltage outlets were available. In rural areas, for example, this power is seldom available in all areas where the unit might be working and hence a limitation was placed upon range.

With the new source of power the units will have an almost unlimited use, since high voltage lines are no longer required. Whether in an isolated rural community, on a farm or at a busy metropolitan intersection the large white bus with the X-ray equipment will click off pictures under its own "steam."

Two mobile units will be equipped with the Onan type electric power generator mounted on a tow trailer. These units can deliver 25,000 watts in the form of 115- [illegible] 60 cycle alternating current.

Eskimos Aid In Finding New Iron Ore Deposits

QUEBEC, Canada, Dec. 27—UP—Geologists aided by 100 Eskimos have discovered vast new iron ore deposits in Ungava 750 miles north of here, industrial Cyrus S. Eaton announced Saturday.

Eaton, Canadian - born Clevelander, said multi-million ton deposits of medium grade concentrates of iron ore had been found and staked during six months of prospecting in the northern wilderness.

"The province of Quebec is on the threshhold of tremendous iron ore developments and Quebec can become a world supplier of iron ore," Eaton said.

Suicide usually is more common in hot weather than in cold.

The beautiful Taj Mahal, a royal tomb in India, has had trouble with a leaky roof almost since the time it was built in the 17th Century, says the National Geographic Society.

When the first ocean cable was laid between England and France in 1850, it was unsuccessful because the cable broke too easily, but in 1851 a cable strong enough to carry the load was successful.

Fight For Senate Labor Post Is Ended By Aiken

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27 (P)—Sen. George D. Aiken of Vermont today killed off one possibility for a family fight among Republican senators over key committee chairmanships in the new Congress.

Aiken told a reporter by long-distance telephone from Putney, Vt., that he wants to head the Senate Agriculture Committee and so will not bid for chairmanship of the labor committee.

Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio—slated to be Senate majority leader—is expected to pass up his right to head the labor committee. Taft favors Sen. H. Alexander Smith of New Jersey for labor chairman but Aiken ranks next to Taft and ahead of Smith on that group.

"I can get into trouble enough on Agriculture," Aiken, gray-haired veteran, explained with a laugh when asked about rumors that he might kick up a fight by seeking the labor chairmanship.

Taft probably could retain that chairmanship as well as directing the Senate as majority leader. But this would be against Senate tradition.

The new Cofigress is scheduled to organize next week under its narrow Republican majorities in both Senate and House. It is pretty well known in advance who will be chosen to head the 15 standing Senate committees.

Normally a senator or House member becomes chairman of a committee by patiently serving until he has seniority and his party is in power. In addition to the prestige and publicity, the chairmanship carries the right to name staff and clerks.

Sen. Styles Bridges of New Hampshire, who served as Republican leader when his party was in the minority, will be chairman of the potent appropriations committee which passes upon the billions of dollars of government spending. He also is slated to be Senate president pro tem, or presiding officer of the Senate when the vice president is away.

Sen. Alexander Wiley of Wisconsin will head the foreign relations committee.

Sen. Eugene D. Millikin of Colorado will be chairman of the tax-writing finance committee, a post he also held when Republicans controlled the 80th Congress. Millikin also is chairman of the GOP Conference, which includes all Republican senators.

Wiley also is senior Republican on the judiciary committee but that post is expected to go to Sen. William Langer of North Dakota. Normally a senator heads only one major standing committee.

Bridges also holds seniority on armed services but Sen. Leverett Saltonstall of Massachusetts will be chairman.

Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy of Wisconsin will head a committee for the first time as chairman of the Committee on Expenditures in the Executive Department.

This committee normally conducts most investigations for the Senate and is expected to provide McCarthy with a base for his campaign against alleged Communists.

Other Republicans who will move into chairmanships include:

Sen. Charles W. Tobey of New Hampshire, interstate and foreign commerce.

Sen. Homer E. Capehart of Indiana, banking and currency.

Sen. Hugh Butler of Nebraska, interior and insular affairs.

Sen. Edward Martin of Pennsylvania, public works.

Sen. William E. Jenner of Indiana, rules and administration.

Sen. Frank Carlson of Kansas, postoffice and civil service.

Sen. Francis Case of South Dakota, the District of Clumbia.

US Believes Egypt's Naguib Is Hope Of Peace In Seething Middle East

By the World Staff
of The Associated Press

WASHINGTON—U. S. officials see Egypt's reform Premier Mohammed Naguib as a bright hope for progress in the Middle East and would like very much to find some way to give him a helping hand.

They fear he is coming into his most critical period.

The difficulty is that about 90 per cent of Egypt's exports is cotton, and the cotton market for some months has been depressed. Egypt has had to sell at relatively low prices.

This has discouraged Egyptian farmers and large elements of Egyptian business. Information here is that they are blaming the Naguib government.

State Department authorities and others in the American government are worried about this tendency. They believe Naguib, who ousted King Farouk six months ago, is the man most likely to reach a fair settlement of the Sudan problem with Britain and come to terms with the Western nations on a Middle East defense organization.

Naguib's representatives have asked the U. S. to buy Egyptian cotton. Best bet here is that the government will try to find some funds which may be used to stockpile it for defense purposes.

U. S. diplomats have been pressuring the British to buy it also, so far without much luck.

There is a fairly strong feeling in the State Department that, although Britain's need for cotton has declined, Britain has been carrying on what amounts to a boycott of Egyptian cotton.

Meanwhile U. S. diplomats and military men are trying to figure out some way to give increased military assistance to Egypt. They hope that such a move, probably combined with cotton pur- Naguib's position.

Weather Bureau To Start 'Rain-Making' Operation

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27—UP—The Weather Bureau, skeptical for years of "rain-making" operations announced Saturday it will start experiments early next year to find out scientifically if weather can be changed by "seeding" clouds.

The bureau revealed plans for "carefully controlled" tests in Washington state, with special equipment including radar and a gadget to detect changes in the size of raindrops.

The tests will be held from late Janurary to about May and again in the early fall and winter of 1953. They will be run in all kinds of weather.

The bureau said the Pacific Northwest was chosen because it gets many winter storms moving in from the Pacific. The exact area over which clouds will be "seeded" will vary according to weather conditions.

Both dry ice and silver iodide will be used as "seeding" agents in the "artificial cloud nucleation" tests Two cloud-seeding airplanes, borrowed from the Navy, will work on small numbers of the available clouds to contrast their reaction with unseeded clouds.

Private rain-making outfits have been functioning for years, mostly in the West. But the Weather Bureau has been officially skeptical of their results and has carefully avoided endorsing them.

The announcement Saturday apparently means that the bureau has decided to find out officially, once and for all, what can be done to vary rainfall by doctoring clouds.

The bureau said the cloud-seeding planes will carry special instruments to record changes in cloud structure caused by seeding.

Other special devices for detecting changes in raindrop size are being installed over the area. Radar will be used to spot changes in cloud formations and rain areas, and to steer pilots to the particular clouds to be seeded.

The bureau cautiously said "there is fairly general agreement that clouds can sometimes be altered, but how much (man-made) precipitation actually reaches the ground has been the important question."

350 COMMIES ARRESTED IN PHILIPPINES

Surprise Raids Bag Prominent Business Men, Teachers

MANILA (AP)—A spokesman for the National Defense Department said several ranking Chinese Communist leaders in the Philippines and almost 200 members of their underground organization were arrested today in sweeping raids throughout the islands.

The Manila Times said a check of its correspondents throughout the islands showed nearly 350 persons had been arrested so far. The newspaper said they were being brought to Philippine Army headquarters at Camp Murphy outside Manila.

They included prominent business men, teachers and professional men.

The surprise raids climaxed almost two years of preparation, the defense spokesman said. They were made simultaneously in Manila and in several provinces by representatives of the Military Intelligence Agency and local police.

The spokesman said another 100 persons may be taken into custody before the raids are completed.

The spokesman for Defense Secretary Ramon Magasaysay said information by William J. Pomeroy, Rochester N. Y., an American veteran of World War II who served with the Communist Huks in the Philippines recently and was captured earlier this year, aided the preparatory work for the drive. Pomeroy is under sentence to life imprisonment.

Leaders reported captured included Chin Sang, secretary general of an organization called the Philippine Chinese Communist Board.

It had been operating directly under Luis Taruc, leader of the Communist Party in the Philippines, Magasaysay's spokesman said, and giving money and supplies to the Red Huk guerrillas.

HEAVY FRENCH ATTACK HITTING VIETMINH TROOPS

Parachute Troops Join Land Forces In Attempt To Smash Rebel Forces

HANOI, Indochina, Dec. 27 (AP) — French and Viet Namese parachute troopers leaped from planes tday and joined powerful land forces attempting to smash a Vietminh troop concentration near Na San, 117 miles west of Hanoi.

A French high command spokesman said the aim of the drive is to regain the initiative from the Communist-led enemy, who withdrew from Na San after three violent, unsuccessful assaults against that French bastion four weeks ago.

The drop today was in the area north of the village of Conoi, 10 miles southeast of Na San. First reports said no important contacts were made with the Vietminh.

From Na San itself, several battalions of French Union troops struck southeastward two days ago after having conducted a number of large scale reconnaissance patrols all around the heavily fortified stronghold.

As a result of these operations, French officers believed the enemy had concentrated in a large pocket in the Conoi area.

The French built up the Na San troop base and airstrip as the strong point from which to attempt to defeat a Vietminh winter offensive aimed at conquering all the Thai tribal country of Northwest Indochina.

Fight For Senate Labor Post Is Ended By Aiken

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27 (AP)—Sen. George D. Aiken of Vermont today killed off one possibility for a family fight among Republican senators over key committee chairmanships in the new Congress.

Aiken told a reporter by long-distance telephone from Putney, Vt., that he wants to head the Senate Agriculture Committee and so will not bid for chairmanship of the labor committee.

Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio — slated to be Senate majority leader —is expected to pass up his right to head the labor committee. Taft favors Sen. H. Alexander Smith of New Jersey for labor chairman but Aiken ranks next to Taft and ahead of Smith on that group.

"I can get into trouble enough on Agriculture," Aiken, gray - haired veteran, explained with a laugh when asked about rumors that he might kick up a fight by seeking the labor chairmanship.

Taft probably could retain that chairmanship as well as directing the Senate as majority leader. But this would be against Senate tradition.

The new Congress is scheduled to organize next week under its narrow Republican majorities in both Senate and House. It is pretty well known in advance who will be chosen to head the 15 standing Senate committees.

Normally a senator or House member becomes chairman of a committee by patiently serving until he has seniority and his party is in power. In addition to the prestige and publicity, the chairmanship carries the right to name staff and clerks.

Sen. Styles Bridges of New Hampshire, who served as Republican leader when his party was in the minority, will be chairman of the potent appropriations committee which passes upon the billions of dollars of government spending. He also is slated to be Senate president pro tem, or presiding officer of the Senate when the vice president is away.

Sen. Alexander Wiley of Wisconsin will head the foreign relations committee.

Sen. Eugene D. Millikin of Colorado will be chairman of the tax-writing finance committee, a post he also held when Republicans controlled the 80th Congress. Millikin also is chairman of the GOP Conference, which includes all Republican senators.

Wiley also is senior Republican on the judiciary committee but that post is expected to go to Sen. William Langer of North Dakota. Normally a senator heads only one major standing committee.

Bridges also holds seniority on armed services but Sen. Leverett Saltonstall of Massachusetts will be chairman.

Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy of Wisconsin will head a committee for the first time as chairman of the Committee on Expenditures in the Executive Department.

This committee normally conducts most investigations for the Senate and is expected to provide McCarthy with a base for his campaign against alleged Communists.

Other Republicans who will move into chairmanships include:

Sen. Charles W. Tobey of New Hampshire, interstate and foreign commerce.

Sen. Homer E. Capehart of Indiana, banking and currency.

Sen. Hugh Butler of Nebraska, interior and insular affairs.

Sen. Edward Martin of Pennsylvania, public works.

Sen. William E. Jenner of Indiana, rules and administration.

Sen. Frank Carlson of Kansas, postoffice and civil service.

Sen. Francis Case of South Dakota, the District of Clumbia.

'He Ain't Heavy, Father—'

"He ain't heavy father, he's M' brother", the words of one lad who entered a virtual paradise for those boys who otherwise would have no home, have been heard and recognized everywhere. They were spoken by a boy some 20 odd years ago upon entering Father Flanagan's home for boys at what is now known as "Boy's Town," not too far from Omaha, Nebraska. The lad, cold and hungry, having no home, was carrying his sick, sleepy little brother and was asked by the late, Father Edward J. Flanagan if his brother was not too great a load for the youngster to bear. The answer will probably go down in history as never equaled words of a boy's love for his little brother and have become the motto for one of the greatest endeavors ever attempted for homeless boys by any single man in history.

Father Flanagan established his first home for boys in the city of Omaha in December of the year, 1917. He borrowed 90 dollars to pay the rent on the first building which housed five boys, three from a juvenile court and two homeless newsboys. Eventually, the building became crowded, and Father Flanagan moved to the German-American Club which was at that time vacant due to the first world war. This building could accomodate 150 boys, but proved not large enough and the good father decided to move for the last time. He bought a 160 acre farm ten miles west of the city of Omaha where he had decided that the boys would receive a more healthful environment and which could spread as necessity and finances permitted. From these meagre beginnings, has evolved the present, wonderous Boy's Town which occupies 1200 acres of which, 650 are under cultivation.

Boy's Town does not restrict its citizens as to any race, color or creed and it is actually, an incorporated village with its own United States Post Office. At present, there are accomodations for 1000 boys, 500 in the grade school age and five hundred in high school. Both schools are accredited Nebraska schools and are naturally compulsory to the citizens of Boy's Town. Church attendance is compulsory with several denominations represented. Boy's Town biannually elects its own mayor and city officials.

When the boys graduate from the high school, they leave for jobs in the world at large, which have been procured for them during their senior year in school. There are 15 practical trades taught, besides farming and music. Many leave to serve the nation in the armed forces and during the last war, over a thousand former citizens of Boy's Town saw service with 40 of them giving their lives for America.

The lads publish their own newspaper, "The Boy's Town Times" and that journal is a mirror of all that goes on at the village. The Boy Scouts of America and the 4-H Club is represented at the village and Boy's Town has a concert orchestra and a huge choir.

There are many more facts which could be brought to light, but here is an experiment by a man who believed fervently that there is no such thing as a bad boy. Father Flanagan believed that boys are the products of environment and what they see. Boy's Town is a great experience in practical democracy and more than 6000 useful citizens have gone through its portals since it opened. The village is entirely supported by gifts from people all over the nation who become honorary citizens of Boy's Town upon their assistance. The boys themselves help their own support by their farm and by their handicrafts.

Father Flanagan was widely known through the world as a tireless worker and after the war, was commissioned by the government to go overseas and study the conditions of the boys of the war torn nations in Europe. He unexpectedly died in Berlin in 1948 while on a survey. His place was taken by Father Nicholas Wegner who has since headed the village and been its chief advisor. Father Flanagan was returned to Boy's Town and was laid to final rest on the grounds he gave his life to make come true.

It is unfortunate that the United States has not been blessed with more Father Flanagans who want to see the priceless youth of this nation come into maturity as good, useful citizens especially, when the lads themselves have so little part in the matter of their environment. Boy's Town goes into history as a shining example as an experiment in democracy and the belief of love for one's fellow man.

Six thousand good American citizens have proved this theory correct.

How Big Is A Billion?

Today most of us talk about billions as casually as people used to talk about thousands. And that's largely a result of the trend of government in recent years. Our national debt is around $260,000,000,000, and annual spending has been rolling merrily along at an $80,000,000,000 rate. So figures large enough to tax the imagination of a first-class mathematician are commonplace in public discussion.

In view of this, a Reader's Digest item on just what a single, solitary billion amounts to should be of wide interest.

Suppose that your family started a business with a billion dollar surplus in the year A.D. One. And suppose it had been so badly and extravagantly managed that it had lost $1,000 every day of the 1952 years that have gone by since then.

You wouldn't have to worry about it—you'd be a long, long way from broke. For you and your descendents could go right on losing that $1,000 a day until the year 2739 before you'd run out of money!

That's how big a billion is—a solitary billion, not five or ten or fifty of them. It indicates the incredible extent of today's government spending. It shows how much every [illegible] economy and efficiency. [illegible] surveys say that Federal [illegible] could be cut as much as $16,000,000 a year [illegible] activity. It's your money [illegible] throwing away in Washington.

Inside Hollywood

By Jimmy Fiddler

HOLLYWOOD, December 27. — There is no valid or authentic record in Hollywood as to how many beauty queens and princesses come to the film capital every year, after they have been chosen at home-coming events or state and county fairs, or for any other reason. This number is high, but the number of those remaining to make good in pictures — if ever they have been given a trial — is almost as low as zero.

Only a few with the high title of Miss America, or state queens, have climbed the ladder. Some have been invited to Hollywood by the film companies, thousands have trekked here on their own.

And so this low success figure, in spite of the talent schools maintained for the training of lovelies looking starward. The moviegoing public will not accept amateurs. It demands the finished product. An alarming few of the thousands who are queens in their respective communities are talented in the way the screen demands. Their beauty may be wonderful. They may be pleasing camera subjects. But if they cannot act — and do it well enough to center attention upon themselves in all scenes in which they appear — they are not star material.

And so the trek homeward, or a detour into some other work. There are today in Universal-International Talent School these young ladies: Ruth Hampton, Miss New Jersey in 1952, who was a candidate for Miss Universe; Jackie Loughery, who was runner-up in the Miss Universe contest; Valerie Jackson, Miss Montana; Renate Huy, Miss Germany. These girls have been studio-selected, and the studio is endeavoring to coach them towards their coveted goal.

But it is a long, long road, unless candidates for stardom have had a fundamental dramatic training under competent techers. I will say, at this point, that there have been exceptions to the general rule. Some girls, because of their sheer beauty, physical attractiveness, and sex predominance, have struck gold with their audiences, and have gone forward in a big way. But the road to Hollywood has been traveled by thousands since the movies became big entertainment thirty years ago, and a comparatively few have clicked before the camera.

It isn't a rosy picture, girls. Before you queens strike out for Hollywood, look around a bit, take stock of yourself, and make sure you have dramatic ability and training — otherwise you may go the way of the big majority, and that isn't towards stardom.

Certain Hollywood columnists have been making insinuations that the only reason Mickey Rooney's new wife married him, was to get herself started on a movie career. I must say that's a fine way for the Hollywood press to wish for the newlyweds a happy launching of their marriage ship. I'll admit there hasn't been much evidence of "undying love" in Mickey's past three encounters with marriage. But that doesn't give columnists the right to put obstacles in the way of this new marriage, by stirring up a feeling of mistrust.

Some of the Hollywood stars now making movies in England have become so annoyed by the shortage of food, they are having their own steaks flown over each day from New York restaurants. When they go out dining, they take their steaks with them, and they pay the chefs to prepare them by special order. What vulgar manners! With the average Englishman restricted to less than half a pound of meat per week, it must annoy them to a point of anger, to watch Hollywood actors flaunt their good fortune. The motion picture industry might brief its stars who are going abroad with a few lessons in good public relations.

The editor of a movie trade paper has launched a big campaign aimed at persuading movie stars that they are wrecking their motion picture careers by appearing on television. The editor argues that the public will not pay to see a star in a theater if he can be seen on television for free. The editor also claims that no matter how good a performer is, audiences can get too much of him. To my way of thinking, neither argument makes sense. If a star does a good job, no matter whether on television, in a movie, or in a traveling medicine show, he'll build fans, rather than lose them. For instance, I'll guarantee that a motion picture starring Lucille Ball, would bring people back to the theater who haven't been there in months. And considering that Miss Ball is being offered more movie jobs at higher salaries than ever before, apparently a lot of Hollywood producers agree with me.

Regardless of whether Charlie Chaplin wants to live in England or whether he wishes to return to America — if he is innocent of the charges hurled at him by our government — it seems to me that he would fight those charges to the bitter end.

Spotlight On Hollywood

By Erskine Johnson

HOLLYWOOD — (NEA)—Closeups and Longshots: Frances Bergen, who's making her film debut in "Nearer My God to Thee" (she was a New York model before her marriage to Edgar Bergen seven years ago, is giggling about the message Bergen relayed to her through an electrician when he came on the set and wasn't noticed by her.

"He told the electrician to tell me that he didn't come to make trouble, but just to get lunch money," Frances howled.

Ricardo Montalban's career blueprints?

"I let other people decide about me. I do what I'm told. Actors have all kinds of conceptions about themselves. Most of the time the conceptions are wrong."

Mala Powers, who was afraid of being stamped as an all-sweetness-and-light girl after "Cyrano de Bergerac," plays a baby-faced burlesque stripper in her new picture, "The City That Never Sleeps."

The censors won't let her take off so much as a glove, but "I'm very pleased about it," Mala tells it. "It's a change of pace for me. I'm not fond of sweet-girl parts."

It will be the fall of 1953 before Bob Hope starts his next Paramount movie, "Road to the Moon," a science-fiction lampoon with Bing Crosby and Dorothy Lamour. He's had no word of the studio purchasing "Guys and Dolls" for him, but "There's talk about it all the time. I'd love to do it."

One Never Knows

Dick Powell made his directorial debut on RKO's suspense thriller, "Split Second," but he's not retiring as an actor. He told me, "An actor is a fool to give up what name he has as an actor. Besides, I'm not rich enough to just direct. Why, I still go home and practice my saxophone just in case."

Piper Laurie, the shapely redhead, is bristling at a fan magazine article titled "Piper Fears to Wed." The story alleges that only her concern with losing her fan following is preventing her from marrying Fox Producer Leonard Goldstein.

"I'll marry any man I fall in love with," Piper snapped. "I'm not in love with Leonard. He's the best friend I've ever had. But I'm NOT going to marry him."

Vic Mature on his new, swanky home after living in a tiny tract house for years: "I can't get over having three bathrooms instead of one."

Barbara Stanwyck, the ex-Mrs. Robert Taylor, about romance rumors:

"I have no social life. I just dare somebody to say that they saw me with so-and-so at such-and-such a place."

One Girl's Opinion

Marie Windsor is Hollywood's No. 1 bachelor girl but she doesn't worry about it one bit.

"I live alone and like it," she bragged. "I've developed so many hobbies and become so self-sufficient, that I'd probably make some man a very disagreeable wife."

Marie Blanchard's getting the glamor-girl buildup at U-I, but two years ago she was dropped by Paramount and admits that she's in a daze over the upswing in her luck chart.

"I couldn't have been lower when Paramount let me go," she tells it. "I'm grateful to the studio for training me, but every role that came up was either too big or too small for me to do. I'd have gone back to New York and modeling if it hadn't been for my agent, Bob Schwartz. He wouldn't let me get discouraged. I figure that a girl has until 35 to use her face and figure. I wanted to use up those years left to me constructively."

Barbara Whiting, sister of Margaret, on the darkness that came before the dawn of her being cast in MGM's "Dangerous When Wet":

"For the last year I haven't cared about my career. I've been depressed. All of a sudden this picture came up with a part as Esther Williams' sister. Me, I'm the best sister actress in the country."

THOUGHTS

Thou shalt rise up before the hoary head, and honour the face of the old man, and fear thy God: I am the Lord.—Leviticus 19:32.

An aged Christian, with the snow of time upon his head, may remind us that those points of earth are whitest which are nearest to heaven.—E. Chapin.

But one in a certain place testified, saying, What is man, that thou art mindful of him? or the son of man, that thou visitest him?—Hebrews 2:6.

Now therefore give me this mountain, whereof the Lord spake in that day; for thou heardest in that day how the Anakims were there, and that the cities were great and fenced: if so be the Lord will be with me, then I shall be able to drive them out, as the Lord said.—Joshua 14:12.

The Washington Parade

By Peter Edson

WASHINGTON — NEA — When British Movie Actor Charlie Chaplin tries to come back to the United States, he will have to satisfy the new U.S. immigration procedures under the McCarran-Walter bill which went into effect Dec. 24.

His first test will be before the U.S. consul in whatever city Chaplin chooses to make formal application for re-entry to the U. S. If Chaplin is ruled admissible there, his next test will come at whatever U.S. port he chooses to land. Instead of having to appear before a three-man Special Board of Inquiry, as under the old law, he will appear before a single special inquiry officer who has the power to admit or reject immigrants.

Chaplin may choose to make application for U.S. entry under the section of the law which sets aside one half of each country's quota for immigrants of special skills who can contribute to the social or cultural needs of the U. S. Petitions must be filed by others now in the U.S. for admission of these preferred immigrants.

But Chaplin's company or other movie producers could claim that he possesses special talents needed in this country, and that there is a job awaiting him.

If, however, the U.S. Immigration Service Special Inquiry officer should reject the Chaplin application, he could appeal to the five-member Board of Immigration Appeals, to be set up in the office of the U.S. attorney general.

If this board of appeals should rule against his admission, Chaplin's only recourse would be to have his attorneys start habeas corpus proceedings. This would enable him to ask the courts to override the previous findings on exclusion.

Ordinarily the courts do not override the findings of government officials on points of fact, unless the judges believe there was capricious or prejudicial action.

The grounds on which an immigrant may be excluded from the U.S. include criminal or subversive activities, use or traffic in narcotics or the intent to perform immoral sexual acts.

Mexico Sets Fast Pesos

In connection with the recent inauguration of Adolfo Ruiz Cortines as president of Mexico, an American businessman, long a resident of that country, was explaining the differences between U. S. and Mexican philosophies of government.

"In the U.S.," he said, "85 per cent of the federal government's budget goes for national defense. That's wasted money. It doesn't produce anything useful and it doesn't do any permanent good. That leaves only 15 per cent on which to run the government.

"In Mexico, 25 per cent of the federal government budget in the last adminisrtation may have gone for graft. But that still left 75 per cent of the budget for schools and roads and public works. Which system gives the people the most for their money?"

Summerfield Has Doubts

The new postmaster general in the Eisenhower cabinet, Arthur E. Summerfield of Michigan, says, "All I know about my new job is how to lick a stamp."

He adds: "Maybe the easy part of this business was just winning the election."

Mr. Summerfield says that since being named for the postmaster generalship, he has had no time to weigh in on Post Office affairs. All his time has been taken up as Republican national chairman, preparing to turn over that job to a successor who will be chosen by the Republican National Committee, meeting in Washington during or shortly after the inauguration ceremonies.

It's Up To Ike

While Wes Roberts of Kansas, who was Summerfield's assistant during the campaign, has been mentioned as a likely choice for the GOP chairmanship, there is no assurance he will be chosen. Roberts was an Eisenhower headquarters man, working with Herbert Brownell before the Chicago convention.

Roberts' past connections with the Dewey campaigns make him unacceptable to some of the Taft supporters who would still like to see the GOP Old Guard keep control of the national committee. But it's the head of the party—President Eisenhower now—who always gets to approve the national chairman.

Meany Sees A Plot

In arguing for retention of price controls, AFL President George Meany points to reports from federation unions that many firms have built up big inventories of scarce metals. Meany charges these companies have been holding these supplies in the hope that price controls will be lifted.

If the controls do come off, these supplies will be dumped on the market at high prices, says Meany. This will mean increased government expense and continued high taxes.

If controls come off, the AFL president declares, "organized labor will not be hurt to the extent of other segments of the population, because the unions are strong enough to take care of themselves."

Less Show—More Work

U.S. Air Force military assistance advisers in Turkey have been changed following a discovery that the Turkish air force was not using the American-furnished equipment for enough night and instrument flying.

Most of the emphasis in Turkish training had been in putting on good air reviews for visiting American VIP's. The results of this training had been what might be expected. American officials have all come back praising the Turkish defense effort.

But hereafter more emphasis will be put on using the American equipment under any and all weather and tactical conditions.

Those Rolling Stones

One of the fundamental faults found in U.S. airbase construction in North Africa is that round stones were used instead of crushed rock for the foundation bed under the concrete runways. Impact of the heavy bombers on the runway caused the stones to "roll," and the runways broke up. It may cost millions of dollars to repair the damage.

Can't Make Everybody Happy

One of the biggest morale problems which the U.S. armed services face is providing adequate recreation for U.S. troops stationed at out-of-the-way places like North Africa and Greenland.

The French don't want the Moroccan air bases built near native towns, as they fear the higher pay of the Americans would upset native living standards.

Denmark doesn't want U.S. air bases built near Eskimo settlements because of the low native resistance to white man's diseases like the common cold. It's difficult to keep Americans contented under this kind of forced isolation.

Timmons In Washington

By Boscom N. Timmons
And His Washington Staff

The new Republican Congress will have its own hot potatoes to juggle when it scrutinizes American military costs in Europe, most of which have had the tacit approval of the President-elect during his service as Supreme Commander there.

What, for example, will President-elect Eisenhower have to say concerning "Operation Mom," about which both the heads of the Armed Forces and the congressional appropriations committees have their doubts from the beginning?

"Operation Mom" covers the free transportation overseas of wives and children of service men in Europe and part of their living there. It now costs the Army, as the bookkeeping branch of the Armed Forces, about 700 million dollars a year.

A member of the Appropriations Committee recently told friends when he went to Europe recently on the new luxury liner "United States," there were 350 wives and children aboard, and "they were traveling first class." He was told that "its like this" on every voyage.

The fact that the congressman himself was traveling first class didn't strike this individual as affecting the merit of his criticism, because he was traveling as "a representative of the people" on an official mission. Some congressmen are like that.

In addition to transportation, the dependents of service men overseas have good housing and good schools, some built with "counterpart funds" from Marshall plan countries— which those countries put up to match or supplement our foreign aid grants— as well as recreational buildings. Congressmen of both parties, when they say anything about this at all grumble under their breaths. But most of them would rather talk about the weather, for they all have constituents who believe that a service man in Europe is entitled to have his family with him, no matter how much it costs, or what the risk.

There has been some concern among top military brass that if the Communist armies should make a sudden westward thrust, the United States army would be so confused about the reverse "Operation Mom" — getting the women and children to safety— that military commands might be disregarded.

That sounds rather hysterical to other observers, including newspaper reporters, who have been in Europe, aside from the satisfaction derived by the families in being together, opinion here is that something will have to be done about "Operation Mom" and that in view of all the circumstances, President — elect Eisenhower will be very well satisfied to have Congress make the decision.

But, for the moment, the question of overall psychology makes the problem more baffling. Top Europe, who seem to thing of almost everything which will make matters more confusing, have pointed out that to bring American families back from Europe in shiploads lots would not only upset the morale of married U. S. soldiers in Europe, but would cause panic among the civilian population through spread of rumors that World War III was imminent.

On the other hand, present American policy with respect to dependents seems to be playing into Communist hands. Americans are able to enjoy a much better scale of living than their European neighbors. The difference is sharp and is bound to excite envy and jealousy.

The Communists not only play on this, but tell the French, German and others that the U. S. is moving in bag and baggage to garrison troops in their countries backed by U. S. dollars. Europeans are willing, returning visitors report, to welcome Americans forces on a temporary emergency basis, but the "colonization" appearance of present U. S. policy greatly disturbs them.

And, they say, in an aside, that the situation isn't helped any by that small but vocal minority of American wives and teenagers who look down their noses at the natives" and comment on how much better things are in America.

The only solution of the anonymous critics of "Operation Mom" can think up is to send only single men to Europe and rotate married officers and men frequently. The chief objection to that would be that the single men now go to the Korean front where things are not so good, and wives aren't permitted. There are many married men in Korea, too.

He borrowed 90 dollars to pay the rent on the first building which housed five boys, three from a juvenile court and two homeless newsboys. Eventually, the building became crowded, and Father Flanagan moved to the German-American Club which was at that time vacant due to the first world war. This building could accomodate 150 boys, but proved not large enough and the good father decided to move for the last time. He bought a 160 acre farm ten miles west of the city of Omaha where he had decided that the boys would receive a more healthful environment and which could spread as necessity and finances permitted. From these meagre beginnings, has evolved the present, wonderous Boy's Town which occupies 1200 acres of which, 650 are under cultivation.

Boy's Town does not restrict its citizens as to any race, color or creed and it is actually, an incorporated village with its own United States Post Office. At present, there are accomodations for 1000 boys, 500 in the grade school age and five hundred in high school. Both schools are accredited Nebraska schools and are naturally compulsory to the citizens of Boy's Town. Church attendance is compulsory with several denominations represented. Boy's Town biannually elects its own mayor and city officials.

When the boys graduate from the high school, they leave for jobs in the world at large, which have been procured for them during their senior year in school. There are 15 practical trades taught, besides farming and music. Many leave to serve the nation in the armed forces and during the last war, over a thousand former citizens of Boy's Town saw service with 40 of them giving their lives for America.

The lads publish their own newspaper, "The Boy's Town Times" and that journal is a mirror of all that goes on at the village. The Boy Scouts of America and the 4-H Club is represented at the village and Boy's Town has a concert orchestra and a huge choir.

There are many more facts which could be brought to light, but here is an experiment by a man who believed fervently that there is no such thing as a bad boy. Father Flanagan believed that boys are the products of environment and what they see. Boy's Town is a great experience in practical democracy and more than 6000 useful citizens have gone through its portals since it opened. The village is entirely supported by gifts from people all over the nation who become honorary citizens of Boy's Town upon their assistance. The boys themselves help their own support by their farm and by their handicrafts.

Father Flanagan was widely known through the world as a tireless worker and after the war, was commissioned by the government to go overseas and study the conditions of the boys of the war torn nations in Europe. He unexpectedly died in Berlin in 1948 while on a survey. His place was taken by Father Nicholas Wegner who has since headed the village and been its chief advisor. Father Flanagan was returned to Boy's Town and was laid to final rest on the grounds he gave his life to make come true.

It is unfortunate that the United States has not been blessed with more Father Flanagans who want to see the priceless youth of this nation come into maturity as good, useful citizens especially, when the lads themselves have so little part in the matter of their environment. Boy's Town goes into history as a shining example as an experiment in democracy and the belief of love for one's fellow man.

Six thousand good American citizens have proved this theory correct.

How Big Is A Billion?

Today most of us talk about billions as casually as people used to talk about thousands. And that's largely a result of the trend of government in recent years. Our national debt is around $260,000,000,000, and annual spending has been rolling merrily along at an $80,000,000,000 rate. So figures large enough to tax the imagination of a first-class mathematician are commonplace in public discussion.

In view of this, a Reader's Digest item on just what a single, solitary billion amounts to should be of wide interest.

Suppose that your family started a business with a billion dollar surplus in the year A.D. One. And suppose it had been so badly and extravagantly managed that it had lost $1,000 every day of the 1952 years that have gone by since then.

You wouldn't have to worry about it—you'd be a long, long way from broke. For you and your descendents could go right on losing that $1,000 a day until the year 2739 before you'd run out of money!

That's how big a billion is—a solitary billion, not five or ten or fifty of them. It indicates the incredible extent of today's government spending. It shows how much every taxpayer has to gain from government economy and efficiency. Thoroughly documented surveys say that Federal spending alone could be cut as much as $10,000,000 a year without hurting any necessary activity. It's your money they've been so busily throwing away in Washington.

Inside Hollywood

By Jimmy Fiddler

HOLLYWOOD, December 27. — There is no valid or authentic record in Hollywood as to how many beauty queens and princesses come to the film capital every year, after they have been chosen at home-coming events or state and county fairs, or for any other reason. This number is high, but the number of those remaining to make good in pictures — if ever they have been given a trial — is almost as low as zero.

Only a few with the high title of Miss America, or state queens, have climbed the ladder. Some have been invited to Hollywood by the film companies, thousands have trekked here on their own.

And so this low success figure, in spite of the talent schools maintained for the training of lovelies looking starward. The moviegoing public will not accept amateurs. It demands the finished product. An alarming few of the thousands who are queens in their respective communities are talented in the way the screen demands. Their beauty may be wonderful. They may be pleasing camera subjects. But if they cannot act — and do it well enough to center attention upon themselves in all scenes in which they appear — they are not star material.

And so the trek homeward, or a detour into some other work. There are today in Universal-International Talent School these young ladies: Ruth Hampton, Miss New Jersey in 1952, who was a candidate for Miss Universe; Jackie Loughery, who was runner-up in the Miss Universe contest; Valerie Jackson, Miss Montana; Renate Huy, Miss Germany. These girls have been studio-selected, and the studio is endeavoring to coach them towards their coveted goal.

But it is a long, long road, unless candidates for stardom have had a fundamental dramatic training under competent techers. I will say, at this point, that there have been exceptions to the general rule. Some girls, because of their sheer beauty, physical attractiveness, and sex predominance, have struck gold with their audiences, and have gone forward in a big way. But the road to Hollywood has been traveled by thousands since the movies became big entertainment thirty years ago, and a comparatively few have clicked before the camera.

It isn't a rosy picture, girls. Before you queens strike out for Hollywood, look around a bit, take stock of yourself, and make sure you have dramatic ability and training — otherwise you may go the way of the big majority, and that isn't towards stardom.

Certain Hollywood columnists have been making insinuations that the only reason Mickey Rooney's new wife married him, was to get herself started on a movie career. I must say that's a fine way for the Hollywood press to wish for the newlyweds a happy launching of their marriage ship. I'll admit there hasn't been much evidence of "undying love" in Mickey's past three encounters with marriage. But that doesn't give columnists the right to put obstacles in the way of this new marriage, by stirring up a feeling of mistrust.

Some of the Hollywood stars now making movies in England have become so annoyed by the shortage of food, they are having their own steaks flown over each day from New York restaurants. When they go out dining, they take their steaks with them, and they pay the chefs to prepare them by special order. What vulgar manners! With the average Englishman restricted to less than half a pound of meat per week, it must annoy them to a point of anger, to watch Hollywood actors flaunt their good fortune. The motion picture industry might brief its stars who are going abroad with a few lessons in good public relations.

The editor of a movie trade paper has launched a big campaign aimed at persuading movie stars that they are wrecking their motion picture careers by appearing on television. The editor argues that the public will not pay to see a star in a theater if he can be seen on television for free. The editor also claims that no matter how good a performer is, audiences can get too much of him. To my way of thinking, neither argument makes sense. If a star does a good job, no matter whether on television, in a movie, or in a traveling medicine show, he'll build fans, rather than lose them. For instance, I'll guarantee that a motion picture starring Lucille Ball, would bring people back to the theater who haven't been there in months. And considering that Miss Ball is being offered more movie jobs at higher salaries than ever before, apparently a lot of Hollywood producers agree with me.

Regardless of whether Charlie Chaplin wants to live in England or whether he wishes to return to America — if he is innocent of the charges hurled at him by our government — it seems to me that he would fight those charges to the bitter end.

Spotlight On Hollywood

By Erskine Johnson

HOLLYWOOD — (NEA)—Closeups and Longshots: Frances Bergen, who's making her film debut in "Nearer My God to Thee" (she was a New York model before her marriage to Edgar Bergen seven years ago, is giggling about the message Bergen relayed to her through an electrician when he came on the set and wasn't noticed by her.

"He told the electrician to tell me that he didn't come to make trouble, but just to get lunch money," Frances howled.

Ricardo Montalban's career blueprints?

"I let other people decide about me. I do what I'm told. Actors have all kinds of conceptions about themselves. Most of the time the conceptions are wrong."

Mala Powers, who was afraid of being stamped as an all-sweetness-and-light girl after "Cyrano de Bergerac," plays a baby-faced burlesque stripper in her new picture, "The City That Never Sleeps."

The censors won't let her take off so much as a glove, but "I'm very pleased about it," Mala tells it. "It's a change of pace for me. I'm not fond of sweet-girl parts."

It will be the fall of 1953 before Bob Hope starts his next Paramount movie, "Road to the Moon," a science-fiction lampoon with Bing Crosby and Dorothy Lamour. He's had no word of the studio purchasing "Guys and Dolls" for him, but "There's talk about it all the time. I'd love to do it."

One Never Knows

Dick Powell made his directorial debut on RKO's suspense thriller, "Split Second," but he's not retiring as an actor. He told me, "An actor is a fool to give up what name he has as an actor. Besides, I'm not rich enough to just direct. Why, I still go home and practice my saxophone just in case."

Piper Laurie, the shapely redhead, is bristling at a fan magazine article titled "Piper Fears to Wed." The story alleges that only her concern with losing her fan following is preventing her from marrying Fox Producer Leonard Goldstein.

"I'll marry any man I fall in love with," Piper snapped. "I'm not in love with Leonard. He's the best friend I've ever had. But I'm NOT going to marry him."

Vic Mature on his new, swanky home after living in a tiny tract house for years: "I can't get over having three bathrooms instead of one."

Barbara Stanwyck, the ex-Mrs. Robert Taylor, about romance rumors:

"I have no social life. I just dare somebody to say that they saw me with so-and-so at such-and-such a place."

One Girl's Opinion

Marie Windsor is Hollywood's No. 1 bachelor girl but she doesn't worry about it one bit.

"I live alone and like it," she bragged. "I've developed so many hobbies and become so self-sufficient, that I'd probably make some man a very disagreeable wife."

Marie Blanchard's getting the glamor-girl buildup at U-I, but two years ago she was dropped by Paramount and admits that she's in a daze over the upswing in her luck chart.

"I couldn't have been lower when Paramount let me go," she tells it. "I'm grateful to the studio for training me, but every role that came up was either too big or too small for me to do. I'd have gone back to New York and modeling if it hadn't been for my agent, Bob Schwartz. He wouldn't let me get discouraged. I figure that a girl has until 35 to use her face and figure. I wanted to use up those years left to me constructively."

Barbara Whiting, sister of Margaret, on the darkness that came before the dawn of her being cast in MGM's "Dangerous When Wet":

"For the last year I haven't cared about my career. I've been depressed. All of a sudden this picture came up with a part as Esther Williams' sister. Me, I'm the best sister actress in the country."

THOUGHTS

Thou shalt rise up before the hoary head, and honour the face of the old man, and fear thy God: I am the Lord.—Leviticus 19:32.

An aged Christian, with the snow of time upon his head, may remind us that those points of earth are whitest which are nearest to heaven.—E. Chapin.

But one in a certain place testified, saying, What is man, that thou art mindful of him? or the son of man, that thou visitest him?—Hebrews 2:6.

Now therefore give me this mountain, whereof the Lord spake in that day; for thou heardest in that day how the Anakims were there, and that the cities were great and fenced; if so be the Lord will be with me, then I shall be able to drive them out, as the Lord said.—Joshua 14:12.

The Washington Parade

By Peter Edson

WASHINGTON — NEA — When British Movie Actor Charlie Chaplin tries to come back to the United States, he will have to satisfy the new U.S. immigration procedures under the McCarran-Walter bill which went into effect Dec. 24.

His first test will be before the U.S. consul in whatever city Chaplin chooses to make formal application for re-entry to the U. S. If Chaplin is ruled admissible there, his next test will come at whatever U.S. port he chooses to land. Instead of having to appear before a three-man Special Board of Inquiry, as under the old law, he will appear before a single special inquiry officer who has the power to admit or reject immigrants.

Chaplin may choose to make application for U.S. entry under the section of the law which sets aside one half of each country's quota for immigrants of special skills who can contribute to the social or cultural needs of the U. S. Petitions must be filed by others now in the U.S. for admission of these preferred immigrants.

But Chaplin's company or other movie producers could claim that he possesses special talents needed in this country, and that there is a job awaiting him.

If, however, the U.S. Immigration Service Special Inquiry officer should reject the Chaplin application, he could appeal to the five-member Board of Immigration Appeals, to be set up in the office of the U.S. attorney general.

If this board of appeals should rule against his admission, Chaplin's only recourse would be to have his attorneys start habeas corpus proceedings. This would enable him to ask the courts to override the previous findings on exclusion.

Ordinarily the courts do not override the findings of government officials on points of fact, unless the judges believe there was capricious or prejudicial action.

The grounds on which an immigrant may be excluded from the U.S. include criminal or subversive activities, use or traffic in narcotics or the intent to perform immoral sexual acts.

Mexico Sets Fast Pesos

In connection with the recent inauguration of Adolfo Ruiz Cortines as president of Mexico, an American businessman, long a resident of that country, was explaining the differences between U. S. and Mexican philosophies of government.

"In the U.S.," he said, "85 per cent of the federal government's budget goes for national defense. That's wasted money. It doesn't produce anything useful and it doesn't do any permanent good. That leaves only 15 per cent on which to run the government.

"In Mexico, 25 per cent of the federal government budget in the last adminisrtation may have gone for graft. But that still left 75 per cent of the budget for schools and roads and public works. Which system gives the people the most for their money?"

Summerfield Has Doubts

The new postmaster general in the Eisenhower cabinet, Arthur E. Summerfield of Michigan, says, "All I know about my new job is how to lick a stamp."

He adds: "Maybe the easy part of this business was just winning the election."

Mr. Summerfield says that since being named for the postmaster generalship, he has had no time to weigh in on Post Office affairs. All his time has been taken up as Republican national chairman, preparing to turn over that job to a successor who will be chosen by the Republican National Committee, meeting in Washington during or shortly after the inauguration ceremonies.

It's Up To Ike

While Wes Roberts of Kansas, who was Summerfield's assistant during the campaign, has been mentioned as a likely choice for the GOP chairmanship, there is no assurance he will be chosen. Roberts was an Eisenhower headquarters man, working with Herbert Brownell before the Chicago convention.

Roberts' past connections with the Dewey campaigns make him unacceptable to some of the Taft supporters who would still like to see the GOP Old Guard keep control of the national committee. But it's the head of the party—President Eisenhower now—who always gets to approve the national chairman.

Meany Sees A Plot

In arguing for retention of price controls, AFL President George Meany points to reports from federation unions that many firms have built up big inventories of scarce metals. Meany charges these companies have been holding these supplies in the hope that price controls will be lifted.

If the controls do come off, these supplies will be dumped on the market at high prices, says Meany. This will mean increased government expense and continued high taxes.

If controls come off, the AFL president declares, "organized labor will not be hurt to the extent of other segments of the population, because the unions are strong enough to take care of themselves."

Less Show—More Work

U.S. Air Force military assistance advisers in Turkey have been changed following a discovery that the Turkish air force was not using the American-furnished equipment for enough night and instrument flying.

Most of the emphasis in Turkish training had been in putting on good air reviews for visiting American VIP's. The results of this training had been what might be expected. American officials have all come back praising the Turkish defense effort.

But hereafter more emphasis will be put on using the American equipment under any and all weather and tactical conditions.

Those Rolling Stones

One of the fundamental faults found in U.S. airbase construction in North Africa is that round stones were used instead of crushed rock for the foundation bed under the concrete runways. Impact of the heavy bombers on the runway caused the stones to "roll," and the runways broke up. It may cost millions of dollars to repair the damage.

Can't Make Everybody Happy

One of the biggest morale problems which the U.S. armed services face is providing adequate recreation for U.S. troops stationed at out-of-the-way places like North Africa and Greenland.

The French don't want the Moroccan air bases built near native towns, as they fear the higher pay of the Americans would upset native living standards.

Denmark doesn't want U.S. air bases built near Eskimo settlements because of the low native resistance to white man's diseases like the common cold. It's difficult to keep Americans contented under this kind of forced isolation.

Timmons In Washington

By Bascom N. Timmons And His Washington Staff

The new Republican Congress will have its own hot potatoes to juggle when it scrutinizes American military costs in Europe, most of which have had the tacit approval of the President-elect during his service as Supreme Commander there.

What, for example, will President-elect Eisenhower have to say concerning "Operation Mom," about which both the heads of the Armed Forces and the congressional appropriations committees have their doubts from the beginning?

"Operation Mom" covers the free transportation overseas of wives and children of service men in Europe and part of their living there. It now costs the Army, as the bookkeeping branch of the Armed Forces, about 700 million dollars a year.

A member of the Appropriations Committee recently told friends when he went to Europe recently on the new luxury liner "United States," there were 350 wives and children aboard, and "they were traveling first class." He was told that "its like this" on every voyage.

The fact that the congressman himself was traveling first class didn't strike this individual as affecting the merit of his criticism, because he was traveling as "a representative of the people" on an official mission. Some congressmen are like that.

In addition to transportation, the dependents of service men overseas have good housing and good schools, some built with "counterpart funds" from Marshall plan countries— which those countries put up to match or supplement our foreign aid grants— as well as recreational buildings. Congressmen of both parties, when they say anything about this at all grumble under their breaths. But most of them would rather talk about the weather, for they all have constituents who believe that a service man in Europe is entitled to have his family with him, no matter how much it costs, or what the risk.

There has been some concern among top military brass that if the Communist armies should make a sudden westward thrust, the United States army would be so confused about the reverse "Operation Mom" — getting the women and children to safety—— that military commands might be disregarded.

That sounds rather hysterical to other observers, including newspaper reporters, who have been in Europe, aside from the satisfaction derived by the families in being together, opinion here is that something will have to be done about "Operation Mom" and that in view of all the circumstances, President — elect Eisenhower will be very well satisfied to have Congress make the decision.

But, for the moment, the question of overall psychology makes the problem more baffling. Top Europe, who seem to thing of almost everything which will make matters more confusing, have pointed out that to bring American families back from Europe in shiploads lots would not only upset the morale of married U. S. soldiers in Europe, but would cause panic among the civilian population through spread of rumors that World War III was imminent.

On the other hand, present American policy with respect to dependents seems to be playing into Communist hands. Americans are able to enjoy a much better scale of living than their European neighbors. The difference is sharp and is bound to excite envy and jealousy.

The Communists not only play on this, but tell the French, German and others that the U. S. is moving in bag and baggage to garrison troops in their countries backed by U. S. dollars. Europeans are willing, returning visitors report, to welcome Americans forces on a temporary emergency basis, but the "colonization" appearance of present U. S. policy greatly disturbs them.

And, they say, in an aside, that the situation isn't helped any by that small but vocal minority of American wives and teenagers who look down their noses at the natives" and comment on how much better things are in America.

The only solution of the anonymous critics of "Operation Mom" can think up is to send only single men to Europe and rotate married officers and men frequently. The chief objection to that would be that the single men now go to the Korean front where things are not so good, and wives aren't permitted. There are many married men in Korea, too.

GLEN PIGOTT TO SHOW HERE

Former Heidt Star And Orchestra Will Hold Six-Day Engagement

Glen Pigott, pianist, formerly a Horace Heidt star, and his orchestra will start a six-day engagement at the Rainbow Inn on December 29 through January 3.

The famous orchestra will play for the big New Year's Eve party at the Rainbow Wednesday night.

Pigott, stricken with polio at the age of three, was given early piano training as musical therapy by his mother. He attended Louisiana State University as a piano major, auditioned by a Horace Heidt talent scout. He later traveled cross country with the show.

Listed as one of the "Most Distinguished Mississippians in 1949" Pigott also received national publicity when Phillip Morris sponsored a nationwide polio drive in his honor. The "Glen Pigott Polio Fund" was acclaimed and introduced over CBS radio network by such dignitaries as Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, Hon. Bernard Baruch, Vice — President Alben Barkley.

Glen recently returned to LSU and received his bachelors degree with a major in musical composition.

Glen has many friends in Monroe and asks that all visit him during his six-day engagement at the Rainbow.

Historic Mace Reminds Congressmen Of Manners

By Rex Chaney

WASHINGTON — UP — When new members of the House of Representatives take their seats in Congress, they will find in the chamber a symbol as old as the House itself — the mace.

more The mace is 46 inches high a consists of a bundle of 13 ebony rods with a metal band around them, a silver globe on top of the rods, and a solid silver eagle with outspread wings mounted on the globe.

The mace is 46 inches high and erpart in the Senate or in any other unit of the government, was provided for in a resolution adopted by the House in 1789. It is a symbol of the authority of the speaker of the House and the sergeant - at - arms, who is charged with preserving order.

The mace as a symbol of authority dates back to the time of the Roman empire. Britain's House of Commons began using it in the 14th century and the founders of this country adopted the same idea.

The first mace used by the U. S. House was destroyed by fire when the British burned the capitol in 1814. A painted replica of the original was used until 1841 when the present mace was made at a cost of $400.

The mace is placed on a cylindrical pedestal of polished green marble each day as the speaker calls the House to order. It is removed to a lower pedestal when the speaker surrenders the chair to another presiding officer, but it remains in the chamber during the entire time that the House is in session.

There were occasions years ago when the sergeant-at-arms or one of his assistants "presented" the mace to restore order in the House but there have been no such instances in the past 20 years.

When the United States was on the verge of entering the World War 1, Rep. Tom Heflin of Alabama and Rep. Patrick Daniel Norton of North Dakota were about to come to blows. The sergeant-at-arms raced between them with the mace in his hands, and that was enough to stop the argument.

Some years earlier Rep. Charles L. Bartlett of Georgia hurled a volume of U. S. statutes at Rep. James M. Brumm of Pennsylvania. The seargeant — at — arms moved in with the mace and order was restored.

On another occasion Bartlett pulled out a knife and rushed Rep. George Southwick of New York. But other members stopped him, and Bartlett resumed his seat when the sergeant-at-arms appeared on the scene with the mace.

In the Senate, it is the duty of the vice president, or whoever is presiding, to enforce order, both on the floor and in the galleries.

If a senator becomes unruly, the presiding officer can order him to take his seat. If the senator refuses, the presiding officer can direct the sergeant-at-arms to escort him from the chamber.

No senator has been escorted from the chamber in modern times. Around the turn of the century two South Carolina senators on opposite sides of an issue got into a fist fight. Fellow senators separated them. Later the senate adopted a resolution censuring such conduct.

Self-Styled 'Mastermind' Of Brink's May Be Tried

BOSTON, Dec. 27 —UP—A self-styled "mastermind" of the $1,219,000 Brink's holdup may be brought what he knows about the slaying before a federal grand jury to tell of a former bootlegger he named as an accomplice, it was reported Saturday.

Alfred D. Gagnon, 41, a former race track tout, is serving a three year term at Rhode Island State Prison for jewel theft. He claimed at the time of his arrest last spring that he and two other men were the "masterminds" behind the Brink's robbery.

Three days afterward Carlton M. O'Brien of West Warwick, one of the men he named, was shot to death outside his fashionable home.

"I killed that man as surely as if I pulled the trigger myself," Gagnon said when he learned of the killing.

Boston police detectives questioned Gagnon closely and said his story was mostly "fictitious." They said there were at least two other good reasons why O'Brien was killed.

The three men, however, now have been identified as acquaintances of Joseph J. (Specs) O'Keefe, 44, Boston hoodlum who has been tagged as one of the chief suspects in the robbery.

O'Keefe, one of the first men questioned in the Brink's holdup, later was named in an FBI affidavit as a "participant" in the robbery.

O'Keefe is due in U. S. district court Monday or Tuesday when Federal Judge William T. McCarthy will rule on contempt charges against him. O'Keefe was cited for contempt in refusing to answer questions of the jury on grounds of self incrimination.

It was believed that he, like his sister, Mrs. Mary A. Hooley, who has been sentenced to one year for contempt, was asked if he ever saw $70,000 in cash.

The reference apparently was to money from the Brink's robbery.

Mankind Has Cherished Dolls Through The Ages

WASHINGTON — Millions of little girls will be playing with new dolls this Christmas, talking to them in scores of languages, lavishing affection in strangling bugs or fastidious care.

Dolls are the best loved toys in the world, it is hard to think of a child without one. Yet the history of dolls as playthings is comparatively recent, says the National Geographic Society.

Anthropologists now believe that the Stone Age ancestors of today's walking and talking dolls were never touched by children. The miniature images of people and animals found in 20,000 - year -old prehistoric caves were carved as charms and fetishes or ritual images, not to be handled by the uninitiated, and especially not by children.

In the gradual development from potent fetish to familiar toy, historians see a reflection of man's cultural and spiritual progress away from superstition and idolatry. In ancient Egypt the doll-like figures now found in children's tombs represented not toys but servants — substitutes for real servants formerly buried alive with their late masters. In tombs of well-to-do adults the spiritual attendants were carved with remarkable realism in every attitude of labor — rowing, farming, cooking, music - making — surrounded by a doll-house orld of toy furnishings.

By early Greek and Roman times, dolls were unquestionably among the propitiatory offerings and portrait statuettes buried with children. They were often like modern dolls, made of ivory or terra cotta with jointed limbs and elaborate dress.

A later Roman tradition was giving wax candles and dolls to children on December 17, the festival of Saturnalia and a foreunner of Christmas feasting and exchanging of presents. Cus n also ecreed that a Roman girl, on reaching maturity, present on the altar of Diana all her dolls ith other symbols of her childhood.

But centuries passed before dolls became the exclusive property of children. In the Middle Ages a magician's chief source of revenue might be sticking pins in wax images to bring illness or death to a customer's enemy — an ancient and world-wide form of sorcery, still practiced by some primitive peoples.

Then adults took up dolls as fashion models for dress, millinery, and hair stylin . In 1391, the king of France sent the queen of England a sumptuous group dressed to show the latest Parisian styles. Costume dolls representing famous people were c llected as curios and treasures.

Jointed cardboard puppets became fashionable throughout France in the 18th century. Men, women and children on the street and at home were pulling strings to make the silly toys dance. For the rich, there were puppets designed by court painters which sold for as much as $7,500 each.

About 1800, doll making began to develop as an industry, and children were generally recognized as rightful doll owners. The fashion idea died hard. Most dolls still represented grown ladies. It took 20th century realism to produce the crying, drinking, infantlike dolls of today.

Montana Town To Disappear In 1953

EDWARDS, Mont. UP—The little town that isn't there — Edwards, Mont. — will be gone in 1953.

Tourists driving across central Montana look at their maps and decide Edwards might be a good place to gas up, eat and maybe stay overnight.

But when they get to Edwards, it isn't there. Only a ranch house stands where the map shows a town called Edwards. The state highway department has promised to remove the "town" from 1953 maps.

Australia To Continue Holding War Criminals

CANBERRA, Australia — UP — The Australian government will not reach any decision on the future of Japanese war criminals held at Manus Island for some months at least.

Despite strong pressure from individuals and factions in Japan for the repatriation of the 206 criminals held there, the government has stood firm and in the past 12 months has repatriated only about a dozen or so. These were mainly for health reasons or because their sentences had been completed.

Those still on Manus are serving sentences of two years to life, and on present indications, the government is not leaning towards clemency.

It was learned authoritatively that the government, when it finally reaches a decision, must consider three all-important factors:

1. Continued representations by Japanese next-of-kin for repatriation and - or release of criminals still held.

2. Feelings of the Australian people, particularly ex-servicemen who served against the Japanese and next-of-kin of deceased servicemen, who are wholeheartedly against any clemency.

3. The attitude and practices adopted by other countries, particularly Britain and America, engaged in the war against the Japanese.

Ever since the signing of the Japanese peace treaty earlier this year there has been a constant stream of requests and petitions from individuals, organizations and even the Japanese parliament, itself for the repatriation of the criminals.

Should the government decide on a policy of repatriation the Japanese would then have to live up to their responsibilities under the peace treaty.

Article 11 of the treaty lays it down that if any prisoners are repatriated the Japanese government must ensure that the remainder of their sentences are completed in Japan.

No Directions For Drinking, Says Judge

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. UP—A man told the judge that he "forgot to rea the directions" on the bottle from which he had been drinking when he was arrested on a drunkenness charge recently.

"What kind of medicine were you taking?" asked the judge.

"Liquor," was the reply.

"Thirty days," the judge said. "I don't recall ever seeing directions for taking liquor printed on a bottle."

Business, Government Depression Conscious

NEW YORK — UP — Business and government held firm in dollar volume as 1952 drew to a close.

And depression, heralded as a possibility by some politicians during the campaign, will be averted, they were convinced.

Industrialists, in their conventions late in the year pledged support to the new administration, and also laid plans to avoid excesses that could develop into a business setback.

Economists believed the new government would keep a weather eye on the business situation and take strong measures to prevent a recession if there should be any letup in industrial activity.

Business quarters were optimistic over the Eisenhower victory. They held it means a better climate for business generally and that the government will be placed on a sounder basis with a balanced budget, that excess profits taxes will be eliminated and that individual income taxes may be reduced.

Government controls in 1953 in most cases may be a thing of the past, providing that nothing startling develops in the foreign situation. At the close of 1952, a good part of government restrictions were on their way out.

New records in 1952 were established by retail trade, electricity output, construction, and crude oil production.

The steel industry, usually the bellwether, suffered from a strike, but it still managed to show its third best year on record. It expects to set a new record in 1953 because of its recent record expansion program. The automobile industry was hampered by material shortages created by the steel strike.

Personal income again hit a new peak in 1952. Disposable income, which is figured after taxes, also rose to a new high. Unemployment is expected to remain low in 1953.

Following is a summary of major industry operations:

AUTOMOBILE — Production in 1952 declined for the second consecutive year. Output was estimated at 5,534,000 units, compared with 6,751,065 in 1951. In the way of prices, the industry expects to "hold the line" and to reduce prices where possible. In volume the industry looks for a year equal to 1951.

CHEMICAL — The year 1952 saw the passing of the midpoint in the industry's record $5 billion expansion program for the five years (1951-55). Construction expenditures are expected to be down slightly in 1953 from the 1952 peak of about $1.5 billion. The industry expects an active 1953.

CONSTRUCTION — Volume of new construction in 1952 rose to a record $32.5 billion and forecasts for 1953 indicate that it will reach $33 billion. Construction costs will show little change, according to the experts.

CRUDE OIL — Production set a new record. Output is expected to rise again in 1953, but at a slower rate than in the postwar years.

ELECTRICITY — The industry advanced to new records, showing gains over the preceding year of 7½ per cent in electricity generation, 8 per cent in general capability, 7½ per cent in kilowatt hour sales and 8½ per cent in revenues. Plans for 1953 call for the addition of 12 million kilowatts in generating facilities to be made chiefly in steam plants.

LIQUOR — Sales slumped sharply in 1952. In some States, the sale of distilled spirits has fallen to a 10-year low. Liquor experts say this slump was caused by the $10.50 per gallon excise tax on distilled spirits. They point out that consumers are drinking more moonshine beverage because of this high tax.

RAILROADS — Revenues in 1952 set a new all - time high and net income was the best for any peacetime year since 1929 with the exception of 1950 when large non-recurring mail payments for prior years swelled earnings. Dividends were the best since 1930.

RETAIL TRADE — New records in dollar volume were set in 1952, mainly on strong buying in the fourth quarter. In 1953, experts are of the belief that buying will remain at the 1952 fourth quarter high level.

STEEL — Steel mills fell 12,000,000 tons short of 1951 output because of the strike. Output in 1952 totaled 93,000,000 tons, compared with 105,199,848 in 1951. The industry in 1953 looks to hit the 120,000,000 ton capacity goal set unofficially in early 1951.

TELEVISION — Unit sales in 1953 are expected to reach 6.4 million, compared with 5.7 million in 1952 and 7.4 million in 1950. Of the sets to be sold in 1953, it was estimated that 12 per cent would be replacement sales.

GLEN PIGOTT TO SHOW HERE

Former Heidt Star And Orchestra Will Hold Six-Day Engagement

Glen Pigott, pianist, formerly a Horace Heidt star, and his orchestra will start a six-day engagement at the Rainbow Inn on December 29 through January 3.

The famous orchestra will play for the big New Year's Eve party at the Rainbow Wednesday night.

Pigott, stricken with polio at the age of three, was given early piano training as musical therapy by his mother. He attended Louisiana State University as a piano major, auditioned by a Horace Heidt talent scout. He later traveled cross country with the show.

Listed as one of the "Most Distinguished Mississippians in 1949" Pigott also received national publicity when Phillip Morris sponsored a nationwide polio drive in his honor. The "Glen Pigott Polio Fund" was acclaimed and introduced over CBS radio network by such dignitaries as Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, Hon. Bernard Baruch, Vice — President Alben Barkley.

Glen recently returned to LSU and received his bachelors degree with a major in musical composition.

Glen has many friends in Monroe and asks that all visit him during his six-day engagement at the Rainbow.

Self-Styled 'Mastermind' Of Brink's May Be Tried

BOSTON, Dec. 27 —UP—A self-styled "mastermind" of the $1,219,000 Brink's holdup may be brought what he knows about the slaying before a federal grand jury to tell of a former bootlegger he named as an accomplice, it was reported Saturday.

Alfred D. Gagnon, 41, a former race track tout, is serving a three year term at Rhode Island State Prison for jewel theft. He claimed at the time of his arrest last spring that he and two other men were the "masterminds" behind the Brink's robbery.

Three days afterward Carlton M. O'Brien of West Warwick, one of the men he named, was shot to death outside his fashionable home.

"I killed that man as surely as if I pulled the trigger myself," Gagnon said when he learned of the killing.

Boston police detectives questioned Gagnon closely and said his story was mostly "fictitious." They said there were at least two other good reasons why O'Brien was killed.

The three men, however, now have been identified as acquaintances of Joseph J. (Specs) O'Keefe, 44, Boston hoodlum who has been tagged as one of the chief suspects in the robbery.

O'Keefe, one of the first men questioned in the Brink's holdup, later was named in an FBI affi davit as a "participant" in the robbery.

O'Keefe is due in U.S. district court Monday or Tuesday when Federal Judge William T. McCarthy will rule on contempt charges against him. O'Keefe was cited for contempt in refusing to answer questions of the jury on grounds of self incrimination.

It was believed that he, like his sister, Mrs. Mary A. Hooley, who has been sentenced to one year for contempt, was asked if he ever saw $70,000 in cash.

The reference apparently was to money from the Brink's robbery.

Historic Mace Reminds Congressmen Of Manners

By Rex Chaney

WASHINGTON — UP — When new members of the House of Representatives take their seats in Congress, they will find in the chamber a symbol as old as the House itself — the mace.

more The mace is 46 inches high a consists of a bundle of 13 ebony rods with a metal band around them, a silver globe on top of the rods, and a solid silver eagle with outspread wings mounted on the globe.

The mace is 46 inches high and erpart in the Senate or in any other unit of the government, was provided for in a resolution adopted by the House in 1789. It is a symbol of the authority of the speaker of the House and the sergeant - at - arms, who is charged with preserving order.

The mace as a symbol of authority dates back to the time of the Roman empire. Britain's House of Commons began using it in the 14th century and the founders of this country adopted the same idea.

The first mace used by the U. S. House was destroyed by fire when the British burned the capitol in 1814. A painted replica of the original was used until 1841 when the present mace was made at a cost of $400.

The mace is placed on a cylindrical pedestal of polished green marble each day as the speaker calls the House to order. It is removed to a lower pedestal when the speaker surrenders the chair to another presiding officer, but it remains in the chamber during the entire time that the House is in session.

There were occasions years ago when the sergeant-at-arms or one of his assistants "presented" the mace to restore order in the House but there have been no such instances in the past 20 years.

When the United States was on the verge of entering the World War 1, Rep. Tom Heflin of Alabama and Rep. Patrick Daniel Norton of North Dakota were about to come to blows. The sergeant-at-arms raced between them with the mace in his hands, and that was enough to stop the argument.

Some years earlier Rep. Charles L. Bartlett of Georgia hurled a volume of U. S. statutes at Rep. James M. Brumm of Pennsylvania. The seargeant — at — arms moved in with the mace and order was restored.

On another occasion Bartlett pulled out a knife and rushed Rep. George Southwick of New York. But other members stopped him, and Bartlett resumed his seat when the sergeant-at-arms appeared on the scene with the mace.

In the Senate, it is the duty of the vice president, or whoever is presiding, to enforce order, both on the floor and in the galleries.

If a senator becomes unruly, the presiding officer can order him to take his seat. If the senator refuses, the presiding officer can direct the sergeant-at-arms to escort him from the chamber.

No senator has been escorted from the chamber in modern times. Around the turn of the century two South Carolina senators on opposite sides of an issue got into a fist fight. Fellow senators separated them. Later the senate adopted a resolution censuring such conduct.

US Charged With Flying Two Spies Into Poland

WARSAW, Poland, Dec. 27 (AP)— Poland accused the United States today of flying two spies from Wiesbaden Nov. 4 and parachting them 40 miles behind her Baltic Sea frontier. A press announcement said the two were arrested and had confessed.

"That story is obviously a fake," said a U. S. Air Force spokesman at Wiesbaden, West Germany. He said there was no record of an American plane having been anywhere in the Baltic area near Poland on that day.

The charge recalled a spate of similar accusations against the United States a year ago, when Communist countries were shooting at a provision of the Mutual Security Act for the aid of anti-Communist exiles. At that time the Comunists declared a U. S. plane, forced down with four crewmen in Hungary, was equipped for para- also were declared to have been chuting espionage agents. Spies dropped in Romania and the Soviet Union.

The Polish Telegraph Agency (PAP) asserted in an authorized announcement that radios, cameras, arms, instructions, codes and other apparatus for spying were dropped with the two men near Mzdow, in Koszalin province.

PAP said the two men, Stefan Skzyszowski and Dionizy Snowski, were flown by a United States plane from Wiesbaden over a circuitous route across the Baltic to Sweden, the Danish island of Bronholm and the Polish coast near Darlowo and finally dropped at Mizdow.

The agency declared the incident showed the "exceptionally cunical" methods used by the United States against Poland, despite normal diplomatic relations. It added that the United States was guilty of a brutal violation of accepted international law.

The announcement said, in part:

"The diversionists and spies parachuted . . . were trained in a special diversionist and spying radio liaison school organized by United States intelligence with the aid of the so-called Win Delgatura and other reactionary fragments supported abroad by the United States intelligence service. Equipment parachuted from the plane consisted of radio sets, cameras, arms, instructions, codes and other equipment. This equipment was to be used for spying and diversionist activities."

NEW TB DRUG GIVES MEDICS LAST LAUGH

Drug Does Not Kill Germ But Prevents It From Causing Infection

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 27 (AP)—Tuberculosis germs start to laugh at a new anti-TB drug, but then find the joke is on them, a scientist reported today.

The bugs become resistant to the drug, isoniazid, so it no longer can kill them.

But the germs lose their ability to cause TB infection. They are disarmed in changing to meet the threat from the drug.

This strange quirk in action of isoniazid was described to the American Association for the Advancement of Science by Dr. E. Grunberg of Hoffman - Laroche, Inc., Nutley, N. J.

This is what happens, at least, in test tubes. Germs that become resistant to the drug don't cause TB infection when injected into guinea pigs or mice, he said.

If this same kind of disarmament occurs in human TB, it is a hopeful sign in treatment of this stubborn disease.

TB germs in humans are known to become resistant after a while to doses of isoniazid. But if the germs can't cause more sickness, this resistance would not be very important.

The stumbling block in drug treatment of TB has been the fact that the wily germs become resistant to drugs, including streptomycin and PAS (para-aminobenzoic One mehod of preventing appearance of resistant germs is to use two drugs in tandem, for a double-fisted punch. Streptomycin and PAS and streptomycin and isoniazid are being used this way.

SON JAILED FOR KILLING FATHER

South Louisiana Farmer Shot With 12-Gauge Shotgun

AMITE, La., Dec. 27 (UP) — A 52-year-old dairy farmer near here was shot to death today and his 26-year-old son was jailed in connection with the slaying.

Sheriff Tom I. Sanders of Tangipahoa Parish identified the dead man as Ernest Burnthorn, dairy farmer residing about four miles east of Amite. Sanders said the victim's son, Alton Burnthorn, was booked in parish jail pending investigation of murder.

Sanders said the shooting, with a 12-gauge shotgun, took place in a bedroom of the farm home. Mrs. Burnthorn, wife of the slain man and mother of the younger Burnthorn, who was ill in bed, witnessed the shooting, the sheriff said, but was too overcome to make a coherent statement.

Sanders said he was told the shooting followed several arguments between father and son. Today, when young Burnthorn, a Navy veteran who is the father of three children, returned from a hunting trip, the argument was renewed, the sheriff said, and young Burnthorn returned to his car for the shotgun. One blast of No. 6 shot, fired at close range, struck Burnthorn in the upper chest just below his throat.

Dr. J. H. McClendon, assistant coroner of Tangipahoa Parish, said the elder Burnthorn died of the gunshot wound.

Cotton Patch Parking Meter In Arkansas

PARAGOULD, Ark. (AP)— This northeast Arkansas town has what is probably one of the most useless parking meters in the United States. It is located in the middle of a cotton patch. The cotton patch is located in the middle of town.

Nobody can explain how the meter (Squire) McDaniel's 280 - square - foot plot of ground between the sidewalk and curb on the town's main drag.

But 84 - year -old McDaniel can explain how the cotton got there. He says he just planted a sample package of cotton seed from Texas in his zinnia bed and up came four different varieties of cotton. All the zinnias are gone.

he became convinced that a career as lawyer was what would best suit his potentialities, so more power to him.

Local friends of Lorenzo and Elroy Smith received Christmas greetings from them. They are now living in Jackson, La. and Mr. Smith has been named business manager of the East Louisiana State hospital.

During the last gubernatorial campaign, Mr. Smith was an active supporter of Judge Kennon, and upon his election as governor, Mr. Smith was for a time selected as one of the assistants in the office of this executive.

His present appointment as business manager at Jackson is regarded as highly satisfactory by his many friends as they regard him well qualified for such a position.

A local minister who has carved out for himself an important place in the community is Filer J. Seal, pastor of the Trinity Church in West Monroe. But as is often the case when a congregation secures a leader who has made good, he is quite apt to be desired by a bigger and more promising church. So it is with Reverend Seal, for he is to become pastor of the Victoria Baptist Church in Baton Rouge. He will preach his final sermons here today.

In the time that he has been pastor of Trinity church he has been highly successful. The church has expanded by erecting substantial buildings today valued at $150,-000 and there have been nearly 800 members added to the church rolls, virtually half of these for baptism.

His many friends wish him success when he leaves for his new charge.

Arkansas has had a shake up. Not a political shake up but an earth shake up such as California gets quite often but always tries to suppress the news as far as possible from the press.

The Arkansas affair was an honest to goodness earthquake but while it jolted buildings, hurled dishes off shelves and amazed denizens of the Wonder State, it left no permanent damage in east Arkansas cities.

Little Dianne Simmons, age 10, is already able to drive her uncle's auto. Of course the owner is right close to the wheel all the time but she shows that she can operate like a grown up. Some smart girl!

Atomic Spy Will Be Released, Is Report

LONDON, Dec. 27 (AP)—Two London newspapers said tonight that Dr. Alan Nunn May—the Western world's first convicted atom spy—will be freed from Wakefield Prison Monday.

The British Home Office confirmed that May would be released this month but declined to specify the day.

The shy little 41-year-old British scientist, caught in the Canadian spy plot in 1946, will have served six years and eight months of the 10-year sentence for passing vital atomic information along to the Russians.

The Home Office said he was being released early for "good behavior."

May was arrested in London after a young Soviet Embassy clerk in Ottawa swung his allegiance to the West and spilled the story about the Russian spy ring.

The scientist was supposed to have received about $700 and two bottles of whisky for his services. May himself contended he did it for the "safety of mankind." He never publicly repented.

FANT DECLINES STATE POSITION

Shreveport Mayor Says He Wants To Finish Proposed Projects

SHREVEPORT, La., Dec. 27 (AP)— Mayor Clyde E. Fant of Shreveport today declined Gov. Robert Kennon's offer to head the state Department of Administrations.

Fant declined the position in a telegram telling the governor, "I feel deeply that I should remain here to work with the council and our people until some of our projects have been culminated."

Fant also said the decision to decline the position "has not been easy."

Fant said many of the projects his administration had begun were not completed, adding that seeing the completion of the program would compensate for the monetary sacrifice involved in declining Kennon's offer.

The administration's position pays $12,000 a year plus expenses. As Shreveport mayor, Fant draws a straight salary of $9,000 yearly.

Fant was first elected to the office in 1946 and was re-elected in 1950.

J. C. THOMAS

FARMERVILLE, Dec. 27, (Special)—J. C. Thomas, 85, died at 11:30 a.m. Saturday at his residence in Lillie.

Funeral services will be held at 2:30 p.m. Sunday at the Beach Grove Methodist Church, with Rev. J. L. Smith officiating.

Interment will be in the Beach Grove cemetery under the direction of Kilpatrick Funeral Home of Farmerville.

Mr. Thomas is survived by his wife of Lillie; three sons, Carl Thomas, Junction City, Ark.; John Thomas, Junction City, Garland Thomas, El Dorado, Ark; two daughters, Mrs. R. T. Dettenheim, Lillie, Mrs. J. C. Smith, Louann, Ark.; 21 grandchildren; and 30 great grandchildren.

NO "HORSING AROUND" FOR LYNN—Lynn Marie Gofourth, of Parsons, Kan., is through with horses of any color, or kind. The four-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gofourth has had two bad breaks while "horsing around." She broke her right leg in the spring of 1951 while playing horse with a very gentle steed—her uncle. When "horsey" fell, so did Lynn. Recently, her pony ran away with Lynn, throwing her and breaking her left leg. No more horses for Lynn—Santa brought her a record player this year.

ceptability to any security position."

The committee said that in its earlier A-bomb investigations, it was "amazed at the numerous instances in which it was disclosed that Dr. Condon was acquainted with known or suspected espionage agents.

"The committee did not, nor does not now, possess information that Dr. Condon was a Communist or committed any act of espionage. However, because of his associates and disdain for security regulations the committee recognized his vulnerability in any post of security."

Dr. Condon resigned from his government post in August, 1951, saying he could no longer afford "the severe financial sacrifice involved." President Truman accepted his resignation "with regret".

The committee invited Dr. Condon to appear before it earlier this year in answer to charges that it had failed to give him an opportunity to be heard.

Condon declined the invitation and he was then subpoenaed for an involuntary appearance.

Just before learning of the committee report from Washington friends, Dr. Condon told reporters in an interview that the science association which he is due to head should take positive action to stop harassment and intimidation of scientists, particularly the attacks of "self-appointed investigators" before congressional committees.

He termed such persons "professional defamers, who make a living at smearing and have a vested interest in blackening character."

In commenting on the committee report, Dr. Condon said:

'Not one of the persons with whom I have associated has ever been formally accused, let alone convicted, of any kind of espionage activity. If this committee is honestly concerned with security leaks, why have they never issued the slightest criticism of those who permitted atomic spies to flourish in Los Alamos?"

Officials of the Corning Glass Works, with which Dr. Condon now is connected, declined to comment on the committee report.

US Charged With Flying Two Spies Into Poland

WARSAW, Poland, Dec. 27 (AP).—Poland accused the United States today of flying two spies from Wiesbaden Nov. 4 and parachting them 40 miles behind her Baltic Sea frontier. A press announcement said the two were arrested and had confessed.

"That story is obviously a fake," said a U. S. Air Force spokesman at Wiesbaden, West Germany. He said there was no record of an American plane having been anywhere in the Baltic area near Poland on that day.

The charge recalled a spate of similar accusations against the United States a year ago, when Communist countries were shooting at a provision of the Mutual Security Act for the aid of anti-Communist exiles. At that time the Comunists declared a U. S. plane, forced down with four crewmen in Hungary, was equipped for paraalso were declared to have been chuting espionage agents. Spies dropped in Romania and the Soviet Union.

The Polish Telegraph Agency (PAP) asserted in an authorized announcement that radios, cameras, arms, instructions, codes and other apparatus for spying were dropped with the two men near Mzdow, in Koszalin province.

PAP said the two men, Stefan Skzyszowski and Dionizy Ssnowski, were flown by a United States plane from Wiesbaden over a circuitous route across the Baltic to Sweden, the Danish island of Bronholm and the Polish coast near Darlowo and finally dropped at Mizdow.

The agency declared the incident showed the "exceptionally cunical" methods used by the United States against Poland, despite normal diplomatic relations. It added that the United States was guilty of a brutal violation of accepted international law.

The announcement said, in part:

"The diversionists and spies parachuted . . . were trained in a special diversionist and spying radio liaison school organized by United States intelligence with the aid of the so-called Win Delgatura and other reactionary fragments supported abroad by the United States intelligence service. Equipment parachuted from the plane consisted of radio sets, cameras, arms, instructions, codes and other quipment. This equipment was to be used for spying and diversionist activities."

NEW TB DRUG GIVES MEDICS LAST LAUGH

Drug Does Not Kill Germ But Prevents It From Causing Infection

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 27 (AP)—Tuberculosis germs start to laugh at a new anti-TB drug, but then find the joke is on them, a scientist reported today.

The bugs become resistant to the drug, isoniazid, so it no longer can kill them.

But the germs lose their ability to cause TB infection. They are disarmed in changing to meet the threat from the drug.

This strange quirk in action of isoniazid was described to the American Association for the Advancement of Science by Dr. E. Grunberg of Hoffman - Laroche, Inc., Nutley, N. J.

This is what happens, at least, in test tubes. Germs that become resistant to the drug don't cause TB infection when injected into guinea pigs or mice, he said.

If this same kind of disarmament occurs in human TB, it is a hopeful sign in treatment of this stubborn disease.

TB germs in humans are known to become resistant after a while to doses of isoniazid. But if the germs can't cause more sickness, this resistance would not be very important.

The stumbling block in drug treatment of TB has been the fact that the wily germs become resistant to drugs, including streptomycin and PAS (para-aminobenzoic

One mehod of preventing appearance of resistant germs is to use two drugs in tandem, for a double-fisted punch. Streptomycin and PAS and streptomycin and isoniazid are being used this way.

SON JAILED FOR KILLING FATHER

South Louisiana Farmer Shot With 12-Gauge Shotgun

AMITE, La., Dec. 27 (AP) — A 52-year-old dairy farmer near here was shot to death today and his 26-year-old son was jailed in connection with the slaying.

Sheriff Tom I. Sanders of Tangipahoa Parish identified the dead man as Ernest Burnthorn, dairy farmer residing about four miles east of Amite. Sanders said the victim's son, Alton Burnthorn, was booked in parish jail pending investigation of murder.

Sanders said the shooting, with a 12-gauge shotgun, took place in a bedroom of the farm home. Mrs. Burnthorn, wife of the slain man and mother of the younger Burnthorn, who was ill in bed, witnessed the shooting, the sheriff said, but was too overcome to make a coherent statement.

Sanders said he was told the shooting followed several arguments between father and son. Today, when young Burnthorn, a Navy veteran who is the father of three children, returned from a hunting trip, the argument was renewed, the sheriff said, and young Burnthorn returned to his car for the shotgun. One blast of No. 6 shot, fired at close range, struck Burnthorn in the upper chest just below his throat.

Dr. J. H. McClendon, assistant coroner of Tangipahoa Parish, said the elder Burnthorn died of the gunshot wound.

Late Machines Can Dig 6 Times As Much Ore

SPOKANE, Wash.—A machine used by the American Zinc, Lead, and Smelting Company can drill holes for blasting loose ore, scoop the ore in its 4½ - ton craw, and even carry it away from the mine.

Called the "Gismo" by the miners who use it, the machine permits recovery of 81 tons of ore for every man shift compared with 14 tons with regular modern machinery. It is manned by two shifts of four men each at the company's Grandview mine near Metaline, Wash., and is producing about 650 tons of ore a day, 80 per cent of the mine's output.

Officials of the Corning Glass Works, with which Dr. Condon now is connected, declined to comment on the committee report.

Yankees Will Be Mingled With Rebels In Statues

GAINESVILLE, Ga., Dec. 27 (AP)—A Republican proposed today to mingle a few Yankee heroes among Confederate leaders in a colossal granite carving on historic Stone Mountain and make the memorial a symbol of "national unity."

Thus, through northern cooperation, said W. R. Tucker of Dawsonville, GOP national committeeman, financing the gigantic project would be "practicable and guaranteed."

For nearly 40 years it has been a Southern dream to emblazon heroic equestrian statutes of Rebel leaders on the world's largest hunk of exposed granite, located near Atlanta. All told, $1½ million have been spent but all there is to show for it is a giant completed head of Gen. Robert E. Lee, a nearly completed figure of his horse and the outlines of two other figures.

A state parks authority is now seeking $2½ million to complete the project and to repay the money by charging admissions.

Tucker said in an interview here that fund-raising would be made easy by incorporating national appeal, "showing to all that our country is no longer a divided one."

He suggested that a million dollars be allotted each to North and South for the carving and said he felt sure a committee of 30 Republican governors would have no trouble raising their share.

Tucker said that if the parks authority should regard the raising of the last million dollars a hardship, he himself would volunteer to raise it under the same terms as the authority is now seeking the $2½ million.

Tucker did not say what Northern figures he would put on the memorial. Nor has there been any recent listing of Rebel heroes.

Sculptor Gutson Borglum set out in 1916 to carve the figures of Lee, Stonewall Jackson and Jefferson Davis on the mountainside. He had a falling-out with the sponsors and left in a huff.

Another sculptor, Augustus Lukeman, was later engaged. He hacked away all his predecessor had done and got as far as Lee's face, part of his horse and the two other outlines before the money ran out in 1929.

NEW FRENCH PREMIER RUNS INTO OPPOSITION

Soustelle Still Not Sure He Can Form Coalition Government

PARIS, Dec. 27 (AP)—It's a busy week end for Premier-designate Jacques Soustelle, Gen. Charles de Gaulle's spokesman in Parliament. He worked hard today to form a new French government, but got a mixed reception.

Soustelle wants the backing of enough political groups to assure a majority in the scatter-packet National Assembly for a Cabinet in which De Gaulle's rightist Rally of the French People (RPF) would have a real hand, something the RPF has avoided in the past.

But many party leaders were hesitant and the interviews took time. Soustelle announced he would not be able to advise President Vincent Auriol until tomorrow whether he could handle the assignment.

The Christmas crisis developed from the resignation of Premier Antoine Pinay's Cabinet Tuesday. Pinay and his ministers are staying in office on a caretaker basis until a new Cabinet is formed, but are making no policy decisions.

Soustelle is young, tough, eager and ambitious. These characteristics won him some supporters. They frightened others.

Francois Mitterand, a member of the independent group to which defense minister Rene Pleven belongs, talked at length with Soustelle and gave reporters a statement afterward which could be described as friendly but reserved.

"I am convinced," he said, "that our views on ideological questions, various aspects of the problems of the French Union and of the need of giving a new direction to our economy are not greatly different. But on other points it might be difficult to come to an agreement."

One of these points was what would be done with the proposed treaty creating a six-nation European army. Mitterand said that some of his party were not in serious disagreement with Soustelle, who is opposed to it. But Mitterand also pointed out that Pleven had sponsored the army plan from the beginning and his stand on that subject would dominate the position of the party.

Soustelle made it plain in a statement yesterday that the government he wanted to form would scuttle the European army plan, demand vast revisions in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and try to get a new constitution which would make he presidency of France more important and the Assembly less important.

HORACE HEIDT SHOW COMING

Musical Group Will Appear At Neville High School In One Performance

The Horace Heidt new show, a scintillating musical with a cast of forty, featuring popular 'Hit Parade' tunes plus a special added attraction "A night at the circus," is due to arrive in Monroe on Jan. 27 and will appear for one performance only under the sponsorship of Neville High School at the Neville Auditorium. This big new anniversary show is a distinct departure from anything produced heretofore by the master showman, Horace Heidt.'

Presented against a background of a big top circus, with clowns and sideshow attractions, many new faces and entertainers will be seen for the first time in Monroe together with many of the Horace Heidt regulars.

One of the popular features of former shows, the "Youth Opportunity," is being retained in a modified form and will afford a chance for some deserving talent of Monroe and surrounding territory to audition for an opportunity to appear with Horace Heidt and perhaps go on to future success in the entertainment world. Youth of the community, 14 years old and older, who have ambition and talent, are invited to audition for a representative of the Horace Heidt organization, which will be in Monroe for the purpose of discovering youthful, deserving talent. Auditions will be conducted in Monroe and every applicant is requested to bring his own music and accompanist. Two contestants will be chosen, and these fortunates will be given the opportunity of a life time to appear with with Horace Heidt, and a chance to "strike it lucky." Announcement will be made later regarding the audition date.

TEACHER PUTS PUPILS TO WORK

Mrs. M'Coy, Grade Teacher, Tells In Magazine Her Valuable Plan

Mrs. Eulalia P. McCoy, well known teacher at Central Grammar School, produced such an original and instructive project in her school room that it has been published in detail in "The Grade Teacher," the professional magazine for classroom teachers of all grades.

It deals with the operation of a modern pure food store which she introduced in her school room. The children delighted in "playing store" and learned many important features of this industry as they made a popular game while unconsciously adding to their store of knowledge.

The motive for study she explains is place on the importance of food in the life of the family and the ways the family is dependent on groups of workers in order to secure food.

The youngsters visited grocery stores and discussed what to buy for an adequate lunch for a school child. Arrangement was made of a picture of the foods selected.

Real social experiences resulted. The children made a listing of the variety of things sold, shelf arrangement, what are duties of clerks, how customers are served etc., Upon return to school they built a grocery store and stocked with real vegetables and fruit.

Skills were learned through activities. In number work there was marking of goods and buying and selling. An idea of measure values was given such as contents like the pint, quart, gallon, pound and half pound, inch, foot, yard, peck, bushel, dozen, half dozen and ideas were stressed as to food and cost.

Students read stories about the grocery store in library books and supplementary readers and interest was stimulated in charts that were made by the pupils.

Community interests were developed by stressing interdependence of workers. Health lessons included the value of cleanliness, elementary idea of basic foods neede for health, also studies in the preservation of foods, refrigeration, sprinkling, wrapping and preserving. Courtesy, neatness, honesty, promptness and accuracy were all stressed.

Some foods were shown as they arrive, some in bulk; coffee comes in cans and bulk also. Butter comes in boxes as do cookies.

Where the various fruits come from were the basis of a study and the project as developed under the skillful handling of Mrs. McCoy proved valuable in aiding in an all-round study of many activities that are interwoven with the conduct of food its production, handling and sale.

Weather Forecast: Drier, Warmer In Next 100 Years

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 27 (AP)—Weather prediction—warmer and drier for the next few hundred years in the United States.

This note for kids with sleds, women wishing for fur coats, and men worrying about aging furnaces, came today from Dr. Paul D. Sears, professor of conservation at Yale University, in a report to the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

The evidence comes from pollens, like those that cause hay fever, found buried in layers in the earth.

Dr. Sears and colleagues dug up fossilized pollens from trees from below the surface of dried-up lake beds in New Mexico and Mexico. The layers form a record of changes in vegetation and climate dating back for thousands of years.

In New Mexico, the pollens showed a gradual change from predominantly spruce to pine forests, he said. Spruce grows best in cool, moist climate, and pine trees in warm, dry weather. Below the layers of spruce pollens were layers from oak, fir and alder trees, which also like cool weather.

The pollens are a barometer pointing to warmer, drier climate in coming years for this country and the Northern Hemisphere, he said.

This change may be expected to last several centuries.

On a conservation note, Dr. Sears warned that warmer and drier weather will increase the demand for water, already scarce in some areas of the United States. He urged better land use and conservation of natural resources.

Sea Water Contains 44 Different Elements

BOSTON — At least 44 diffenert elements have been found in sea water, some in extremely small amounts. Chlorine is the most abundant, with about 19,000 parts per million by weight, while sodium is second, with about 10,000 parts per million.

Next in order come magnesium, silver, calcium, potassium, bromine, carbon, and strontium, all more than 10 parts per million.

Among the least abundant are gold, with about six parts per trillion, and radium, present to the extent of about one part in 10 quadrillion parts of sea water.

Raisins are a nutritious snack to have on hand for children because they are rich in iron, have fair amounts of other minerals and "B" vitamins. Their simple fruit sugar makes them rate high as an easily digested, high-energy food.

Friday, 7:30 p. m., service meeting, "Informant." 8:30 p. m., theocratic ministry school.

God's Word, the Bible, is our only true source of light. (Psalms 119:105; John 12:36, 42-46;) Jehovah God commissioned Jesus as His servant to become a witness of truth. (Isaiah 42:1, 6, 7; also 49:6,9; John 8:12; John 18:37; NW) We too, must let this light shine forth, (Matt. 5:14-16; 2 Corinthians 4:1-6;) To be able to show forth the true light, we first must take in knowledge. (1 Peter 2:9; Proverbs 3:5-7,13;) Christ's commission, was to preach the Kingdom of Heaven, and to instruct others to do the same thing. (Matthew 6:33, 9:35; Luke 8:1).

Christ was also sent to become a ransom for all kinds of men, that all might have an opportunity to gain everlasting life, in heaven or upon the "new earth." He gave us a perfect example of the resurrection, which is the hope for those who love truth and righteousness. (Dan. 12:2,3; John 5:28, 29; and Acts 17:30,31).

All are cordially invited to come enjoy these Bible studies with us, for a better understanding of God's word.

Bible Comment

By William E. Gilroy, D. D.

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.

The Christmas story in Matthew's Gospel says that "there came wise men from the east to Jerusalem," saying that they had seen the Babe of Bethlehem's star in the east, and had come to worship Him.

The Christmas story in Luke's Gospel tells of the shepherds in the fields (Luke 2:8-18), to whom an angel appearing announced the birth of "a Savior, which is Christ the Lord," with an accompanying host, "praising God and saying": "Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, goodwill toward men" (King James Version).

Who were "the wise men from the east" and what was the star they saw? About this there has been much speculation and explanation, but little positive knowledge. Literalists who feel it necessary to support Scripture with external proof, have made much of conjunctions of the bright planets Jupiter and Saturn in B. C. 6.

More interesting evidence is voluminous, but not easy to summarize, regarding the Magi, or "wise men." The Magian religion, with deeply associated elements of astrology and the interpretation of dreams (see Matthew 2:12), had great vogue in the east, especially in Persia.

It should not be forgotten that [illegible] Exile in Babylon to rebuild Jerusalem, and restore Israel in the homeland, many Jews remained in Babylon.

There does not seem to be any indication that the wise men from the east were Jews but the vigor and religion of the Jewish power in Babylon and in Persia probably had considerable influence on the Magis. There was a prophecy of Balaam, recorded in Numbers 24:17, that "there shall come forth a star out of Jacob."

To those deeply versed in astrology a star of unusual beauty might well have signified a new, great birth, and have been a guiding star. But, for us, the wisdom of the wise men was best exemplified in the worshipful homage they gave to the new-born babe.

So, I would end by a Christmas wish:

That, as anew we go to Bethlehem,
May light attend us, as it guided them,
That we may have the vision undefiled
To see a Savior in a new-born child;
The faith that, in a lowly manger stall,
Can find God's presence, and can hear His call,
Where Saint and King were yesterday unknown,
To raise today an altar and a throne.

New Machine To Speed Western Union Service

SAN FRANCISCO — A new machine designed to be used on Western Union lines can send and receive messages nearly twice as fast as most older models.

The instrument, operated by magnetic tape, can run at 120 words a minute, but usually is slowed down to 100. Other machines average only about 65 words a minute. The machine is expected to save about 30 per cent on leased - wire time, an item that costs about $1 a mile a month at present.

Texas Woman Gets Prize For Having Most Worries

WACO, Dec. 27—UP—Do you think you have troubles? Try them for size with those of Mrs. Thomas H. Lassetter of Route 1, Waco, and seven of her nine children.

The end of Christmas week found them without a husband and father and their home and possessions destroyed by fire.

Last Friday, the father, 47-year-old Thomas Lassetter, a Waco bus driver, died en route to a hospital for treatment of a lung ailment.

The morning after Christmas, fire from an oil stove spread quickly and destroyed the Lassetter family home on Oak Point of Lake Waco.

The widow and seven of her children still living at home escaped the burning house without injury after Mrs. Lassetter roused her three daughters and four sons from bed and rushed them outdoors.

They were able to save only a handful of clothes. "And someone brought a chair out," Mrs. Lassetter said.

A large supply of food and clothing that friends had brought to the family after Lassetter died and a few Christmas toys the younger children received from Santa Claus also were destroyed.

Her children—Mary, 11, Janelle, 9; Alice, 4; Kenneth, 18; Norman, 15; Donald 12, and Larry, 6, were taken—some still in night clothes and without shoes or stockings—to the nearby home of Mrs. Julius H. Taylor, who fed them breakfast and took them to their father's family's home on the opposite side of the lake.

Another daughter, Katherine Lassetter, lives in the West and a fifth son, Pfc. Ronald Lassetter, is stationed at Camp Gordon, Ga.

GRANDMA BANDIT REFUSES TALK WITH ATTORNEY

'Everything Is In Lap Of Gods,' Says Kindly-Looking Bank Robber

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 27 —UP— A kindly-looking middle-aged woman who began life in wealth and opulence sat glumly in a county jail cell Saturday, refusing even to talk to an attorney who wanted to defend her against charge she is the notorious "grandma" bank bandit.

Mrs. Ethel Arata, 52, who Friday told authorities she turned to crime after a life that included treatment of alcoholism and four unhappy marriages, said she did not want to see attorney Joan Martin, who came to the jail to talk with her.

"Just tell her everything is in the lap of the gods," Mrs. Arata instructed a jail attendant to tell the lawyer.

"I'm ready for anything they give me."

Mrs. Arata allegedly has confessed staging two of the three bank holdups in this area attributed to "Grandma the Gun Moll," a gray-haired bandit who calmly shoves notes at bank tellers demanding money and just as calmly leaves with the loot.

She was arrested Christmas Eve when she attempted to hold up a bank in Arcadia, Calif., with a toy pistol of the type she said she used in all her forays.

Although Mrs. Arata assertedly admitted two previous holdups, federal authorities were left with at least one unsolved "grandma" robbery when she denied staging a stickup in which an elderly woman escaped with $2,000.

Mrs. Arata, who said she gave away the money to help others and "didn't know why" she staged the holdups, told newsmen she was the daughter of the late New York builder Robert M. Catts, whose worth once was estimated at $20 million.

After her father lost his fortune in 1929, however, she was married and divorced four times, became an alcoholic and then was converted to an ardently religious woman and finally became a "Robin Hood" bandit.

Rio Grande Smaller, Says U. S. Engineer

LAREDO, Tex. (AP) — The Rio Grande will never again be the big river it once was. That's the view of the federal men here who record the incessant rise and fall —mostly fall in recent years—of the boundary stream.

Dams and reservoirs, they explain, have been built along the stream to such an extent that even a year of good rain upstream might not restore the historic level.

Karl F. Keeler, U. S. hydraulic engineer, says that in 1900 only 10,000 acres on the U. S. side of the river were irrigated below Ft. Quitman at the lower end of the El Paso Valley. Mexico was then irrigating 275,000 acres. By 1950, more than 800,000 acres were being irrigated on the U. S. side and Mexico was irrigating almost as much acreage.

U. N. Needs Elbow Room At Meal Time

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)— The U. N. is like the old woman in the shoe — it has so many people at meal-times it doesn't know what to do.

The planners of this citadel for peace set up a gleaming cafeteria for the secretariat workers. But there is one hitch — it seats 400 people while some 3,000 work here daily. Next to it is a finely-appointed dining room for "the brass." It seats 400, but between 600 and 1,000 gather daily.

To ease the strain the U. N. put in the new Assembly Building a coffee and sandwich stand called the Press Room. But the secretariat and even some of the public flock to it in great numbers. Another eating place was set up strictly for the press but on occasion it is swamped, with secretariat workers barging gaily by the "Members Only" sign.

Tiny Islands Run Out Of Sultan Material; Now Will Become Republi[c]

By DENZIL PEIRIS

COLOMBO, Ceylon, Dec. 27 (AP)— After 800 years as a sultante, the 2,000 scattered islands of the Maldive group, 400 miles southwest of Ceylon in the Aabian Sea, will become a republic Jan. 1

The reason? The Maldives ran out of sultan material.

The new republic, with 88,000 persons, will remain under British protection. Its first president is 41-year-old Amin Didi, now the Maldives' prime minister and author of their constitution.

The change in political status will come about when Sir Cecil Mers, British high commissioner to Ceylon, signs a new treaty rec[og]nizing the republic New Yea[r's] Day.

The largest foreign group to vi[sit] the islands since World War II w[ill] witness the inaugural ceremo[ny]. Offshore a British cruiser and [at] least one British Royal Air For[ce] flying boat will lend a touch [of] modern color to the scene.

But no one expects the politic[al] change will alter the islands' peac[e]ful way of life nor its business [of] trading dried fish and other pro[d]ucts of the sea to Ceylon for rice.

The Maldives' people are [all] Moslems. Traders here say th[at] throughout their recorded histo[ry] the islands never have had [a] crime of passion. There is no [po]lice force and even political re[vo]lutions have been bloodless.

Under Islamic law, alcohol be[v]erages are banned and the peopl[e] use little tobacco. Its import b[y] cultivation is prohibited.

Dogs are unknown, since a re[li]gious ban exists on their breeding.

Amin Didi decided to make the Maldives a republic after the last sultan, Amir Abdul Majid Didi, died in Ceylon a year ago.

Traditionally only an elder statesman of the islands could be picked, and no candidate existed.

Amin Didi proposed a republic and the 34-member People's Council agreed.

Under the treaty with Britain, the British government will continue to handle Maldivian foreign affairs. It also will furnish protection.

GUEST SPEAKER—Rev. Walter Hammond, student at the Baptist Seminary at Fort Worth, Texas, will bring the message this morning at the 10:45 a. m. services of the Cleft Rock Baptist Church, Winnsboro road. A cordial invitation is extended to all friends to attend this service by the pastor, Rev. Glenn B. Wright.

Economist Says Churchill To Ask Dollar Devaluation

CHICAGO, Dec. 27 (AP) — An American economist said today Prime Minister Winston Churchill is almost certain to propose dollar devaluation when he meets with President-elect Dwight Eisenhower.

Dr. Melchior Palyi, consulting economist and former University of Chicago economics professor, said he expects the British leader to give Eisenhower a "whole series" of economic proposals.

Palyi said Churchill will attempt to convince the incoming Republican administration it should press for adoption of at least one of the British plans for easing the dollar shortage outside America.

Dollar devaluation, he said, is the plan given top priority by most British economists.

"I cannot believe Churchill would not touch on it" in his conversations next month with Eisenhower, Palyi said.

Among other proposal which Palyi expects Churchill to make are: relaxation of tariff barriers, increased purchases by the U. S. of defense items produced aboard, and commodity agreements in which the U. S. would agree to purchase certain quantities of foreign goods at "more or less fixed prices."

Palyi said almost all countries, except Switzerland, are exerting "great pressure" to have the American dollar devalued—a step that would be accomplished by raising the price which the government pays for gold. An ounce of gold now is pegged at $35.

The European nations, Palyi said, believe that dollar devaluation would assist in making possible increased U. S. "loans or gifts" to bolster their dollar reserves.

STRIPPER LIKES PUBLICITY OVER LOVE SHOOTING

Says It Will Help Her Recover From 'Terrifying Experience'

DALLAS, Dec. 27 (AP) —Shapely stripper Billie Shonnae, dancing in a Dallas night spot despite her heart being "very, very heavy" over the murder charges against her, said today she fears she'll "never be the same."

The 23-year-old "Flame of New Orleans" opened her strip act at Abe's Colony Club last night. She said she chose that engagement over several others she's received since being accused of murdering Alfred Rosenfield, Jr.

Murder charges against her and comedian Roscoe Ails, 54, were sent to the grand jury Friday after a preliminary hearing that had almost as many spectators as her bumps and grinds did.

"I've been through a terrifying thing," the brunette stripper said between sips of coffee before time for her act last night. "I doubt I'll ever be the same. But then, I'm young, and maybe I can recover."

She said she hopes that some of the offers she received as a result of the publicity over the love triangle shooting will help her recover.

"The publicity is wonderful," she admitted, "except for the way it happened. Publicity just isn't worth that much."

Miss Shonnae performed mostly at stags before former Dallas night club owner Rosenfield was found shot ot death Sunday morning in the apartment in which she and Ails lived. Now she has hopes of making a long tour of night spots across the country.

"The show must go on," she said, "and I have to eat."

Th brown-eyed dancer, a strip teaser for the last four years, opened Friday night wearing a long red and white hooped dress. Eight minutes of bumps and grinds later, she left the floor in a few sequins.

Her dance came only a few hours after an hour - long preliminary hearing, at which murder charges against both her and Ails, whom she said she married three years ago, were sent to the grand jury.

Justice of the Peace Glenn Byrd, over protests of Defence Atty. Maury Hughes, set bond at $10,000 for the balding Ails and left Miss Shonnae's bond at $5,000. Ails is also free after posting bond.

Truman Believes Russia Would Welcome Stepped-Up War In Korea In Order To Give Her Free Hand In West Europe

(Editors Note: President Truman has been having "farewell interviews" with the handful of reporters who have covered him daily during his nearly eight years in office. The following is another dispatch by Merriman Smith, United Press White House reporter, covering the chief executive's views on a number of matters as he prepares to leave office.

By MERRIMAN SMITH

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27—UP— President Truman said Saturday it is his firm belief that Russia would welcome a stepped-up war in the Far East to give her a freer hand in Western Europe.

During a long "farewell" interview with this reporter who has covered Mr. Truman constantly since he took office April 12, 1945, the outgoing chief executive talked about a number of things. But the standout statement appeared to be his conviction that the Soviet Union really would like to see this country involved in an all-out war in the Orient.

"We have been trying to hold the present line where it is above the 38th Parallel in Korea," he told me, "and stopping the Communists without involving us in an all-out war in the Far East. I think Russia would like us to get involved in such a war because it would give them a free hand in Western Europe.

"That was the primary reason for my relieving General MacArthur. He wanted to involve us in an all-out war in the Far East."

I talked with the President in his office as he continued his holiday series of informal individual chats with about a half dozen of the White House press room "regulars" —reporters who have been constantly assigned to covering his activities since he took office.

Showing virtually no physical damage from his eight years of continuing crises in the White House, the man who had to make such momentous, lonely and terrifying decisions as initial use of the atomic bomb in Japan and the dispatch of American troops to the Korean conflict spoke of the past and the future with an air of relaxed detachment.

He spoke little of the present except to express belief that no administration in American history had ever facilitated the orderly transfer of government control from one party to another as his executives are now doing to help the incoming Republicans.

Mr. Truman was dressed in a light gray, single-breasted suit, a light gray shirt and a relatively subdued four-in-hand tie. His World War I discharge button was in his lapel.

He had just come from a brisk two-mile walk through the streets near the White House. The 68-year-old chief executive is vigorous far beyond his years and says his daily walks at 120 paces a minute counteract the dulling effects of long hours behind his desk.

Vigorous and eminently equipped to take care of himself, Mr. Truman, when asked whether he would need protection after he leaves the White House, snorted and said, "If any nut tries to shoot me, I'll take the pistol away from him, ram it down his throat and pull the trigger."

I was ushered into Mr. Truman's office by Roger Tubby, the White House press secretary. The President greeted me at the door and began kidding me jovially about having "gone away" from his entourage to cover, as United Press White House reporter, the activities of the Republican President-elect, Dwight D. Eisenhower.

"I thought we had lost you for good," he said with a hearty laugh. "Come on over here and sit down."

We exchanged pleasantries for a few minutes and then the President explained again why for the past few days he had consented to meet separately with the handful of men who covered him from the start in the White House.

"You fellows put in so much time over here and went through so much with me that I thought that you were entitled to a little special privilege before I get out," he said.

The outgoing President undoubtedly knows as much or more about United States-Russian relations than any American. He leaves office calmly satisfied that his plan of aid for Greece and Turkey, the Marshall Plan, the Berlin airlift, the Point Four and Mutual Security programs of assistance to other free nations held Communist expansion to a minimum.

I asked him first whether, if he were going to be President for another four years, he could see any possibility of reducing taxes if the Korean war remained at about the level of activity it is now.

"No," he answered flatly.

He explained that regardless of who is running the government, the present defense program would not "level off" until 1955 and even then this levelling process would not produce any immediate reduction in defense spending.

I asked if he could see on the Far Eastern horizon any way out of the Korean war now stalemated in heavy winter snows and with Communist and United Nations armies each standing behind heavily fortified positions on both sides of the front.

He said there were three possibilities:

"One the Communists could agree to a program of settlement on the fair terms that we have outlined.

"Second, we could knuckle under on the issue of the prisoners we now hold and turn them over to the Communists to be [illegible]

"And third, we could [illegible] let the South Koreans go to [illegible]

The pastor and people of Temple Baptist Church invites you to worship with them this last Sunday of 1952. Close out the year right by attending worship services somewhere today.

Sunday School, 9:45.

Morning Worship, 11:00.

Training Union, 6:45.

Evening Worship, 7:45.

There will be a watch night service at the church on Wednesday evening. The regular services of prayer service, teacher's meeting and choir practice will be conducted. There will be a period of fellowship and fun and then a short devotional service and prayer as the old year passes out and the New Year comes in. You are invited to attend.

There will be cottage prayer meetings each evening this week preparing for the one day revival the first Sunday in the new year. This will be the pastor's anniversary and also the day planned to begin using the new educational annex. Every member of the church will be expected to attend the services that day.

The new building is almost completed now. All that is needed is painting and a few finishing touches. The men of the church have been faithful in working and finished the building in almost half the estimated time.

The nursery is open for all services.

One stormy night a boat could make no headway, and while the captain was struggling to get into port, a nervous passenger said to him: "Do you think we shall get in all right?" He replied: "This is a leaky old boat, and we may go down; and the boilers are not in very good condition, so we may go up. But, whatever happens, we are going on." S. S. Times.

I know not what awaits me as dawns another year; The path untrod I cannot see, Yet knows my heart no fear! I know not whether long or short my pilgrimage may be! I'll daily praise my God in song for all his love for me. With joy I greet the year — It cannot bring me ill since Christ my Lord is ever near, My soul with peace to fill. Amen!

God's Word, the Bible, is our only true source of light. (Psalms 119:105; John 12:36, 42-46;) Jehovah God commissioned Jesus as His servant to become a witness of truth. (Isaiah 42:1, 6, 7; also 49:6,9; John 8:12; John 18:37; NW) We too, must let this light shine forth, (Matt. 5:14-16; 2 Corinthians 4:1-6;) To be able to show forth the true light, we first must take in knowledge. (1 Peter 2:9; Proverbs 3:5-7,13;) Christ's commission, was to preach the Kingdom of Heaven, and to instruct others to do the same thing. (Matthew 6:33, 9:35; Luke 8:1).

Christ was also sent to become a ransom for all kinds of men, that all might have an opportunity to gain everlasting life, in heaven or upon the "new earth." He gave us a perfect example of the resurrection, which is the hope for those who love truth and righteousness. (Dan. 12:2,3; John 5:28, 29; and Acts 17:30;31).

All are cordially invited to come enjoy these Bible studies with us, for a better understanding of God's word.

Bible Comment
By William E. Gilroy, D. D.

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.

The Christmas story in Matthew's Gospel says that "there came wise men from the east to Jerusalem," saying that they had seen the Babe of Bethlehem's star in the east, and had come to worship Him.

The Christmas story in Luke's Gospel tells of the shepherds in the fields (Luke 2:8-18), to whom an angel appearing announced the birth of "a Savior, which is Christ the Lord," with an accompanying host, "praising God and saying": "Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, goodwill toward men" (King James Version).

Who were "the wise men from the east" and what was the star they saw? About this there has been much speculation and explanation, but little positive knowledge. Literalists who feel it necessary to support Scripture with external proof, have made much of conjunctions of the bright planets Jupiter and Saturn in B. C. 6.

More interesting evidence is voluminous, but not easy to summarize, regarding the Magi, or "wise men." The Magian religion, with deeply associated elements of astrology and the interpertation of dreams (see Matthew 2:12) had great vogue in the east, especially in Persia.

It should not be forgotten that while some Jews returned from the Exile in Babylon to rebuild Jerusalem, and restore Israel in the homeland, many Jews remained in Babylon.

There does not seem to be any indication that the wise men from the east were Jews but the vigor and religion of the Jewish power in Babylon and in Persia probably had considerable influence on the Magis. There was a prophecy of Balaam, recorded in Numbers 24: 17, that "there shall come forth a star out of Jacob."

To those deeply versed in astrology a star of unusual beauty might well have signified a new, great birth, and have been a guiding star. But, for us, the wisdom of the wise men was best exemplified in the worshipful homage they gave to the new-born babe.

So, I would end by a Christmas wish:

That, as anew we go to Bethlehem,
May light attend us, as it guided them,
That we may have the vision undefiled
To see a Savior in a new-born child;
The faith that, in a lowly manger stall,
Can find God's presence, and can hear His call,
Where Saint and King were yesterday unknown,
To raise today an altar and a throne.

New Machine To Speed Western Union Service

SAN FRANCISCO — A new machine designed to be used on Western Union lines can send and receive messages nearly twice as fast as most older models.

The instrument, operated by magnetic tape, can run at 120 words a minute, but usually is slowed down to 100. Other machines average only about 65 words a minute. The machine is expected to save about 30 per cent on leased - wire time, an item that costs about $1 a mile a month at present.

Texas Woman Gets Prize For Having Most Worries

WACO, Dec. 27—UP—Do you think you have troubles? Try them for size with those of Mrs. Thomas H. Lassetter of Route 1, Waco, and seven of her nine children.

The end of Christmas week found them without a husband and father and their home and possessions destroyed by fire.

Last Friday, the father, 47-year-old Thomas Lassetter, a Waco bus driver, died en route to a hospital for treatment of a lung ailment.

The morning after Christmas, fire from an oil stove spread quickly and destroyed the Lassetter family home on Oak Point of Lake Waco.

The widow and seven of her children still living at home escaped the burning house without injury after Mrs. Lassetter roused her three daughters and four sons from bed and rushed them outdoors.

They were able to save only a handful of clothes. "And someone brought a chair out," Mrs. Lassetter said.

A large supply of food and clothing that friends had brought to the family after Lassetter died and a few Christmas toys the younger children received from Santa Claus also were destroyed.

Her children—Mary, 11, Janelle, 9; Alice, 4; Kenneth, 18; Norman, 15; Donald 12, and Larry, 6, were taken—some still in night clothes and without shoes or stockings—to the nearby home of Mrs. Julius H. Taylor, who fed them breakfast and took them to their father's family's home on the opposite side of the lake.

Another daughter, Katherine Lassetter, lives in the West and a fifth son, Pfc. Ronald Lassetter, is stationed at Camp Gordon, Ga.

GRANDMA BANDIT REFUSES TALK WITH ATTORNEY

'Everything Is In Lap Of Gods,' Says Kindly-Looking Bank Robber

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 27 —UP— A kindly-looking middle-aged woman who began life in wealth and opulence sat glumly in a county jail cell Saturday, refusing even to talk to an attorney who wanted to defend her against charge she is the notorious "grandma" bank bandit.

Mrs. Ethel Arata, 52, who Friday told authorities she turned to crime after a life that included treatment of alcoholism and four unhappy marriages, said she did not want to see attorney Joan Martin, who came to the jail to talk with her.

"Just tell her everything is in the lap of the gods," Mrs. Arata instructed a jail attendant to tell the lawyer.

"I'm ready for anything they give me."

Mrs. Arata allegedly has confessed staging two of the three bank holdups in this area attributed to "Grandma the Gun Moll," a gray-haired bandit who calmly shoves notes at bank tellers demanding money and just as calmly leaves with the loot.

She was arrested Christmas Eve when she attempted to hold up a bank in Arcadia, Calif., with a toy pistol of the type she said she used in all her forays.

Although Mrs. Arata assertedly admitted two previous holdups, federal authorities were left with at least one unsolved "grandma" robbery when she denied staging a stickup in which an elderly woman escaped with $2,000.

Mrs. Arata, who said she gave away the money to help others and "didn't know why" she staged the holdups, told newsmen she was the daughter of the late New York builder Robert M. Catts, whose worth once was estimated at $20 million.

After her father lost his fortune in 1929, however, she was married and divorced four times, became an alcoholic and then was converted to an ardently religious woman and finally became a "Robin Hood" bandit.

Rio Grande Smaller, Says U. S. Engineer

LAREDO, Tex. (AP) — The Rio Grande will never again be the big river it once was. That's the view of the federal men here who record the incessant rise and fall —mostly fall in recent years—of the boundary stream.

Dams and reservoirs, they explain, have been built along the stream to such an extent that even a year of good rain upstream might not restore the historic level.

Karl F. Keeler, U. S. hydraulic engineer, says that in 1900 only 10,000 acres on the U. S. side of the river were irrigated below Ft. Quitman at the lower end of the El Paso Valley. Mexico was then irrigating 275,000 acres. By 1950, more than 800,000 acres were being irrigated on the U. S. side and Mexico was irrigating almost as much acreage.

U. N. Needs Elbow Room At Meal Time

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)— The U. N. is like the old woman in the shoe — it has so many people at meal-times it doesn't know what to do.

The planners of this citadel for peace set up a gleaming cafeteria for the secretariat workers. But there is one hitch — it seats 400 people while some 3,000 work here daily. Next to it is a finely-appointed dining room for "the brass." It seats 400, but between 600 and 1,000 gather daily.

To ease the strain the U. N. put in the new Assembly Building a coffee and sandwich stand called the Press Room. But the secretariat and even some of the public flock to it in great numbers. Another eating place was set up strictly for the press but on occasion it is swamped, with secretariat workers trooping gaily by the "Members Only" sign.

Tiny Islands Run Out Of Sultan Material; Now Will Become Republic

By DENZIL PEIRIS

COLOMBO, Ceylon, Dec. 27 (AP)— After 800 years as a sultante, the 2,000 scattered islands of the Maldive group, 400 miles southwest of Ceylon in the Aabian Sea, will become a republic Jan. 1

The reason? The Maldives ran out of sultan material.

The new republic, with 83,000 persons, will remain under British protection. Its first president is 41-year-old Amin Didi, now the Maldives' prime minister and author of their constitution.

The change in political status will come about when Sir Cecil Mers, British high commissioner to Ceylong, signs a new treaty recognizing the republic New Year's Day.

The largest foreign group to visit the islands since World War II will witness the inaugural ceremony. Offshore a British cruiser and at least one British Royal Air Force flying boat will lend a touch of modern color to the scene.

But no one expects the political change will alter the islands' peaceful way of life nor its business of trading dried fish and other products of the sea to Ceylon for rice.

The Maldives' people are all Moslems. Traders here say that throughout their recorded history the islands never have had a crime of passion. There is no police force and even political revolutions have been bloodless.

Under Islamic law, alcohol beverages are banned and the people use little tobacco. Its import or cultivation is prohibited.

Dogs are unknown, since a religious ban exists on their breeding.

Amin Didi decided to make the Maldives a republic after the last sultan, Amir Abdul Majid Didi, died in Ceylon a year ago.

Traditionally only an elder statesman of the islands could be picked, and no candidate existed.

Amin Didi proposed a republic and the 34-member People's Council agreed.

Under the treaty with Britain, the British government will continue to handle Maldivian foreign affairs. It also will furnish protection.

Economist Says Churchill To Ask Dollar Devaluation

CHICAGO, Dec. 27 (AP) — An American economist said today Prime Minister Winston Churchill is almost certain to propose dollar devaluation when he meets with President-elect Dwight Eisenhower.

Dr. Melchior Palyi, consulting economist and former University of Chicago economics professor, said he expects the British leader to give Eisenhower a "whole series" of economic proposals.

Palyi said Churchill will attempt to convince the incoming Republican administration it should press for adoption of at least one of the British plans for easing the dollar shortage outside America.

Dollar devaluation, he said, is the plan given top priority by most British economists.

"I cannot believe Churchill would not touch on it" in his conversations next month with Eisenhower, Palyi said.

Among other proposal which Palyi expects Churchill to make are: relaxation of tariff barriers, increased purchases by the U. S. of defense items produced aboard, and commodity agreements in which the U. S. would agree to purchase certain quantities of foreign goods at "more or less fixed prices."

Palyi said almost all countries, except Switzerland, are exerting "great pressure" to have the American dollar devalued—a step that would be accomplished by raising the price which the government pays for gold. An ounce of gold now is pegged at $35.

The European nations, Palyi said, believe that dollar devaluation would assist in making possible increased U. S. "loans or gifts" to bolster their dollar reserves.

STRIPPER LIKES PUBLICITY OVER LOVE SHOOTING

Says It Will Help Her Recover From 'Terrifying Experience'

DALLAS, Dec. 27 (AP) —Shapely stripper Billie Shonnae, dancing in a Dallas night spot despite her heart being "very, very heavy" over the murder charges against her, said today she fears she'll "never be the same."

The 23-year-old "Flame of New Orleans" opened her strip act at Abe's Colony Club last night. She said she chose that engagement over several others she's received since being accused of murdering Alfred Rosenfield, Jr.

Murder charges against her and comedian Roscoe Ails, 54, were sent to the grand jury Friday after a preliminary hearing that had almost as many spectators as her bumps and grinds did.

"I've been through a terrifying thing," the brunette stripper said between sips of coffee before time for her act last night. "I doubt I'll ever be the same. But then, I'm young, and maybe I can recover."

She said she hopes that some of the offers she received as a result of the publicity over the love triangle shooting will help her recover.

"The publicity is wonderful," she admitted, "except for the way it happened. Publicity just isn't worth that much."

Miss Shonnae performed mostly at stags before former Dallas night club owner Rosenfield was found shot ot death Sunday morning in the apartment in which she and Ails lived. Now she has hopes of making a long tour of night spots across the country.

"The show must go on," she said, "and I have to eat."

Th brown-eyed dancer, a strip teaser for the last four years, opened Friday night wearing a long red and white hooped dress. Eight minutes of bumps and grinds later, she left the floor in a few sequins.

Her dance came only a few hours after an hour - long preliminary hearing, at which murder charges against both her and Ails, whom she said she married three years ago, were sent to the grand jury.

Justice of the Peace Glenn Byrd, over protests of Defence Atty. Maury Hughes, set bond at $10,000 for the balding Ails and left Miss Shonnae's bond at $5,000. Ails is also free after posting bond.

GUEST SPEAKER—Rev. Walter Hammond, student at the Baptist Seminary at Fort Worth, Texas, will bring the message this morning at the 10:45 a. m. services of the Cleft Rock Baptist Church, Winnsboro road. A cordial invitation is extended to all friends to attend this service by the pastor, Rev. Glenn B. Wright.

Truman Believes Russia Would Welcome Stepped-Up War In Korea In Order To Give Her Free Hand In West Europe

(Editors Note: President Truman has been having "farewell interviews" with the handful of reporters who have covered him daily during his nearly eight years in office. The following is another dispatch by Merriman Smith, United Press White House reporter, covering the chief executive's views on a number of matters as he prepares to leave office.

By MERRIMAN SMITH

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27—UP— President Truman said Saturday it is his firm belief that Russia would welcome a stepped-up war in the Far East to give her a freer hand in Western Europe.

During a long "farewell" interview with this reporter who has covered Mr. Truman constantly since he took office April 12, 1945, the outgoing chief executive talked about a number of things. But the standout statement appeared to be his conviction that the Soviet Union really would like to see this country involved in an all-out war in the Orient.

"We have been trying to hold the present line where it is above the 38th Parallel in Korea," he told me, "and stopping the Communists without involving us in an all-out war in the Far East. I think Russia would like us to get involved in such a war because it would give them a free hand in Western Europe.

"That was the primary reason for my relieving General MacArthur. He wanted to involve us in an all-out war in the Far East."

I talked with the President in his office as he continued his holiday series of informal individual chats with about a half dozen of the White House press room "regulars" —reporters who have been constantly assigned to covering his activities since he took office.

Showing virtually no physical damage from his eight years of continuing crises in the White House, the man who had to make such momentous, lonely and terrifying decisions as initial use of the atomic bomb in Japan and the dispatch of American troops to the Korean conflict spoke of the past and the future with an air of relaxed detachment.

He spoke little of the present except to express belief that no administration in American history had ever facilitated the orderly transfer of government control from one party to another as his executives are now doing to help the incoming Republicans.

Mr. Truman was dressed in a light gray, single-breasted suit, a light gray shirt and a relatively subdued four-in-hand tie. His World War I discharge button was in his lapel.

He had just come from a brisk two-mile walk through the streets near the White House. The 68-year-old chief executive is vigorous far beyond his years and says his daily walks at 120 paces a minute counteract the dulling effects of long hours behind his desk.

Vigorous and eminently equipped to take care of himself, Mr. Truman, when asked whether he would need protection after he leaves the White House, snorted and said, "If any nut tries to shoot me, I'll take the pistol away from him, ram it down his throat and pull the trigger."

I was ushered into Mr. Truman's office by Roger Tubby, the White House press secretary. The President greeted me at the door and began kidding me jovially about having "gone away" from his entourage to cover, as United Press White House reporter, the activities of the Republican President-elect, Dwight D. Eisenhower.

"I thought we had lost you for good," he said with a hearty laugh. "Come on over here and sit down."

We exchanged pleasantries for a few minutes and then the President explained again why for the past few days he had consented to meet separately with the handful of men who covered him from the start in the White House.

"You fellows put in so much time over here and went through so much with me that I thought that you were entitled to a little special privilege before I get out," he said.

The outgoing President undoubtedly knows as much or more about United States-Russian relations than any American. He leaves office calmly satisfied that his plan of aid for Greece and Turkey, the Marshall Plan, the Berlin airlift, the Point Four and Mutual Security programs of assistance to other free nations held Communist expansion to a minimum.

I asked him first whether, if he were going to be President for another four years, he could see any possibility of reducing taxes if the Korean war remained at about the level of activity it is now.

"No," he answered flatly.

He explained that regardless of who is running the government, the present defense program would not "level off" until 1955 and even then this levelling process would not produce any immediate reduction in defense spending.

I asked if he could see on the Far Eastern horizon any way out of the Korean war now stalemated in heavy winter snows and with Communist and United Nations armies each standing behind heavily fortified positions on both sides of the front.

He said there were three possibilities:

"One the Communists coul[d] agree to a program of settleme[nt] on the fair terms that we have ou[t]lined.

"Second, we could knuckle unde[r] on the issue of the prisoners w[e] now hold and turn them over to t[he] Communists to be slaughtered.

"And third, we could pull out [and] let the South Koreans go to h

The President's PRAYER

Chosen In 1953 By Dwight D. Eisenhower*

ALMIGHTY GOD, we are about to be committed to a task from which some of us will not return. Willingly we go to this dangerous adventure because we believe that those concepts of human dignity, rights and justice that Your Son expounded to the world, and which are respected in the government of our country, are in peril of extinction from the earth. We are ready to sacrifice ourselves for our country and our God. We do not ask, individually, for our safe return . . . but earnestly pray that You will help each of us to do his duty. Permit none of us to fail a comrade in the fight. Above all, sustain us in our conviction in the justice and righteousness of this cause so that we may rise above all terror of the enemy and come to You, if called, in the humble pride of the good soldier and in the certainty of Your infinite mercy.

AMEN.

*In the light of subsequent events there is a prophetic ring to the prayer above. Dwight Eisenhower selected it in 1943, when he was Supreme Commander of the Allied Expeditionary Force in Europe. But today the words also apply to his new "hazardous adventure" in Washington.

Union Parish Game Preserve Growing

DOWNSVILLE, Dec. 27 (Special) —Some 15-odd deer set free in Union parish's 15,000-acre game preserve during December probably never had it so good. At least they doubtless got more peace and companionship than they could have expected.

Located in the northern part of the parish and protected from hunters by state and federal laws, the Union parish game preserve has been turned into a mecca for wildlife. The area was set aside by land owners, who pooled their holdings to form the 15,000 acres and signed a contract for 10 years. The preserve is sponsored by both state and federal governments.

The deer set free there in December brought to 64 the number of deer which have been brought into the area. Twenty seven deer were previously added to the preserve by the E. A. Frost estate after his death.

About 250 turkeys in a semi-wild state have been brought to the woods from Pennsylvania and Virginia. More than 100 gray squirrels — similar in size to Louisiana's red fox squirrel — have been brought here from Wisconsin and released. Six hundred pairs of partridges were freed in the preserve in the past two years.

Predatory animals — fox, wolf and bobcat — are being trapped in the preserve by regular trappers employed by the government.

According to Armand Rabun, secretary - treasurer of the Union Parish Sportman's Association, there have been authentic reports of bears seen in two areas of the parish, but they are not believed to be a threat to animals in the game preserve. The most serious trouble from this quarter comes from bobcats.

The restocking and trapping is carried on under a fund appropriated to the parish for 1952.

Part of the game preserve, the Pittman - Robinson section, is named after the congressional act which provided an excise tax on ammunition, arms and fishing tackle. The tax funds are apportioned to the states according to the number of hunting and fishing licenses sold.

In placing the game, the sportsmen have selected an area where the animals can obtain food and water with the protection of natural cover. A closed season on deer exists in most of Union parish, with the Missouri Pacific railways providing the dividing line. Land east of the railroad is open to hunters.

The turkey season is also closed for five years.

More deer are presently being trapped in Wisconsin for shipment to the preserve.

President of the sportsmen's association is Fred Hamilton of Downsville.

SHOT MANGLES MAN'S HAND

Union Parish Negro Treated Here After Accidental Blast At Home

A 28-year-old Union Parish Negro was given treatment at the Conway Memorial Hospital late Friday night after he accidentally shot himself in the hand while cleaning a shot gun.

The Ouachita Parish sheriff department, which received a call from the hospital, identified the Negro as Aaron Merritt, and said he lived approximately one-fourth mile west of Sterlington in Union Parish. Deputies from that parish were notified so that a full investigation may be conducted.

Merritt told officers that he was handling the gun while at his home when it went off, mangling his left hand. He ran to the house of his aunt who lived next door and then to his sister's home. They took him to Dr. B. E. Spencer, who sent the Negro to the Charity Hospital.

Winter fruit salads add inspiring refreshment to cold weather menus. If you are using mayonnaise as a dressing use some fruit juice to extend it a bit; it improves flavor and consistency. Salads become crunchy walnuts.

NOW AT THE TEM

It's "Monkey Business" in earnest at the Tem Theatre, with a chimp scene-stealing like mad from a champ like Cary Grant. The chimp who shares the spotlight with Grant, Ginger Rogers, Marilyn Monroe and Charles Coburn in the Twentiety Century-Fox comedy hit is Bingo, a five-year-old sixty - pounder who is making her film debut with this assignment. As a movie star she has a lot in common with Lassie, the he-dog who plays a she-dog. Bingo's billing in the picture is Rudolph — which gives you the idea.

Filling the focal part of the monkey on whom research scientist Cary Grant experiments with a reversion-to-youth formula calls for a diversified approach. Bingo, like Cary Grant, who can't resist the temptation of trying the potion himself, must appear to revert to childhood and go in for a number of zany activities.

The chimp did so well at such duties as roller skating, stilt walking and seltzer squirting that she emerged the champ in her various tussles with Grant and Coburn. In fact Bingo made a chump out of star Grant in the roller skating derby.

Little more than three feet tall, there's nothing timid about Bingo. At five she's a veteran of county fairs, carnivals and circuses. Inasmuch as she's been brought up like a human being since captured in the Belgian Congo at the age of four months, there's very little a normal human being can do that Bingo can't.

She eats with trainer Walter de Homan and his wife, chips in with the housework and sleeps in her own bed. She can use a knife and fork, but, like many a five-year-old, doesn't always prefer to. She takes her own bath — reluctantly, and loves hot dogs, sauerkraut, soda pop and beer. She is said to resent the laws that say no one under 16, and not human, can drive an automobile, but her manager, William Garrow, lets her steer once in a while.

MOVIES STILL MAN'S WORL[D]

Seems To Be The Case Fo[l]lowing Report Of Box Office Winners

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The box offi[ce] champions of 1952 were announc[ed] this week. It appears that th[e] movie business is still a man['s] world.

Of the top 10 winners of poll [of] theater men, eight are males. On[ly] two gals — Doris Day and Sus[an] Hayward—managed to crack th[e] exclusive club. Day placed seven[th] and Hayward ninth.

Let's look at the males who wo[n]. Three selections come in the mus[i]cal-comedy field—Martin and Lew[is], Bing Crosby and Bob Hope.

The other five — Gary Coope[r], John Wayne, James Stewart, Gre[g]ory Peck, Randolph Scott — a[re] largely identified with outdo[or] epics.

That would indicate the curr[ent] tastes of moviegoers. They appe[ar] to want escapism—music, comed[y] and especially adventure. An[d] when the public calls for such far[e] the ladies are bound to suffer.

Female stars have the bes[t] chance in musicals. Witness the rapid rise of Dris Kappelhoff, also known as Day. But the movies offer little for actresses in comedy. Very few of the great screen stars o comedy have been actresses.

And the gals are generally at a loss when it comes to adventure. They can do little but provide romantic interludes between the heroic exploits of the screen stalwarts.

Yes, movies today are patterned around the male talents. But such was not always true.

The greatest star of the silent era was a girl named Mary Pickford. And the top attraction of the early '30s was another girl, Shirley Temple.

In fact, that decade before the war can be considered the heyday of the female star. The box office polls were then crowded with names like Janet Gaynor, Bettye Davis, Claudette Colbert, Irene Dunne, Greer Garson Ingrid Bergman, Joan Crawford, Norma Shearer, ect.

That was when the public wa[s] intrigued with the stories of women —deep, penetrating, romantic. Bu[t] the war changed all that.

The return to realism did away with romance and brought audiences back to hard facts. And so the gals have to take a back sea[t] to the clowns, crooners and rugged heroes.

But, who knows? — the woman may have their day again.

Union Parish Game Preserve Growing

DOWNSVILLE, Dec. 27 (Special) —Some 15-odd deer set free in Union parish's 15,000-acre game preserve during December probably never had it so good. At least they doubtless got more peace and companionship than they could have expected.

Located in the northern part of the parish and protected from hunters by state and federal laws, the Union parish game preserve has been turned into a mecca for wildlife. The area was set aside by land owners, who pooled their holdings to form the 15,000 acres and signed a contract for 10 years. The preserve is sponsored by both state and federal governments.

The deer set free there in December brought to 64 the number of deer which have been brought into the area. Twenty seven deer were previously added to the preserve by the E. A. Frost estate after his death.

About 250 turkeys in a semi-wild state have been brought to the woods from Pennsylvania and Virginia. More than 100 gray squirrels — similar in size to Louisiana's red fox squirrel — have been brought here from Wisconsin and released. Six hundred pairs of partridges were freed in the preserve in the past two years.

Predatory animals — fox, wolf and bobcat — are being trapped in the preserve by regular trappers employed by the government.

According to Armand Rabun, secretary - treasurer of the Union Parish Sportman's Association, there have been authentic reports of bears seen in two areas of the parish, but they are not believed to be a threat to animals in the game preserve. The most serious trouble from this quarter comes from bobcats.

The restocking and trapping is carried on under a fund appropriated to the parish for 1952.

Part of the game preserve, the Pittman - Robinson section, is named after the congressional act which provided an excise tax on ammunition, arms and fishing tackle. The tax funds are apportioned to the states according to the number of hunting and fishing licenses sold.

In placing the game, the sportsmen have selected an area where the animals can obtain food and water with the protection of natural cover. A closed season on deer exists in most of Union parish, with the Missouri Pacific railways providing the dividing line. Land east of the railroad is open to hunters.

The turkey season is also closed for five years.

More deer are presently being trapped in Wisconsin for shipment to the preserve.

President of the sportsmen's association is Fred Hamilton of Downsville.

SHOT MANGLES MAN'S HAND

Union Parish Negro Treated Here After Accidental Blast At Home

A 28-year-old Union Parish Negro was given treatment at the Conway Memorial Hospital late Friday night after he accidentally shot himself in the hand while cleaning a shot gun.

The Ouachita Parish sheriff department, which received a call from the hospital, identified the Negro as Aaron Merritt, and said he lived approximately one-fourth mile west of Sterlington in Union Parish. Deputies from that parish were notified so that a full investigation may be conducted.

Merritt told officers that he was handling the gun while at his home when it went off, mangling his left hand. He ran to the house of his aunt who lived next door and then to his sister's home. They took him to Dr. B. E. Spencer, who sent the Negro to the Charity Hospital.

Winter fruit salads add inspiring refreshment to cold weather menus. If you are using mayonnaise as a dressing use some fruit juice to extend it a bit; it improves flavor and consistency. Salads become crunchy walnuts.

NOW AT THE TEM

It's "Monkey Business" in earnest at the Tem Theatre, with a chimp scene-stealing like mad from a champ like Cary Grant. The chimp who shares the spotlight with Grant, Ginger Rogers, Marilyn Monroe and Charles Coburn in the Twentiety Century-Fox comedy hit is Bingo, a five-year-old sixty - pounder who is making her film debut with this assignment. As a movie star she has a lot in common with Lassie, the he-dog who plays a she-dog. Bingo's billing in the picture is Rudolph — which gives you the idea.

Filling the focal part of the monkey on whom research scientist Cary Grant experiments with a reversion-to-youth formula calls for a diversified approach. Bingo, like Cary Grant, who can't resist the temptation of trying the potion himself, must appear to revert to childhood and go in for a number of zany activities.

The chimp did so well at such duties as roller skating, stilt walking and seltzer squirting that she emerged the champ in her various tussles with Grant and Coburn. In fact Bingo made a chump out of star Grant in the roller skating derby.

Little more than three feet tall, there's nothing timid about Bingo. At five she's a veteran of county fairs, carnivals and circuses. Inasmuch as she's been brought up like a human being since captured in the Belgian Congo at the age of four months, there's very little a normal human being can do that Bingo can't.

She eats with trainer Walter de Homan and his wife, chips in with the housework and sleeps in her own bed. She can use a knife and fork, but, like many a five-year-old, doesn't always prefer to. She takes her own bath — reluctantly, and loves hot dogs, sauerkraut, soda pop and beer. She is said to resent the laws that say no one under 16, and not human, can drive an automobile, but her manager, William Garrow, lets her steer once in a while.

MOVIES STILL MAN'S WORLD

Seems To Be The Case Following Report Of Box Office Winners

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The box office champions of 1952 were announced this week. It appears that the movie business is still a man's world.

Of the top 10 winners of poll of theater men, eight are males. Only two gals — Doris Day and Susan Hayward—managed to crack the exclusive club. Day placed seventh and Hayward ninth.

Let's look at the males who won. Three selections come in the musical-comedy field—Martin and Lewis, Bing Crosby and Bob Hope.

The other five — Gary Cooper, John Wayne, James Stewart, Gregory Peck, Randolph Scott — are largely identified with outdoor epics.

That would indicate the current tastes of moviegoers. They appear to want escapism—music, comedy and especially adventure. And when the public calls for such fare, the ladies are bound to suffer.

Female stars have the best chance in musicals. Witness the rapid rise of Dris Kappelhoff, also known as Day. But the movies offer little for actresses in comedy. Very few of the great screen stars o comedy have been actresses.

And the gals are generally at a loss when it comes to adventure. They can do little but provide romantic interludes between the heroic exploits of the screen stalwarts.

Yes, movies today are patterned around the male talents. But such was not always true.

The greatest star of the silent era was a girl named Mary Pickford. And the top attraction of the early '50s was another girl, Shirley Temple.

In fact, that decade before the war can be considered the heyday of the female star. The box office polls were then crowded with names like Janet Gaynor, Bettye Davis, Claudette Colbert, Irene Dunne, Greer Garson Ingrid Bergman, Joan Crawford, Norma Shearer, ect.

That was when the public was intrigued with the stories of women —deep, penetrating, romantic. But the war changed all that.

The return to realism did away with romance and brought audiences back to hard facts. And so the gals have to take a back seat to the clowns, crooners and rugged heroes.

But, who knows? — the woman may have their day again.

CHIROPODIST LOCATES HERE

Dr. Leslie H. Anderson Will Open Office Monday

Dr. Leslie Howard Anderson, who received his degree in chiropody and pedie-surgery in June of this year from the Chicago College of Chiropody and Pedie Surgery, will open his office at 31[illegible] Breard Street Monday. He will maintain a residence in the same building.

Dr. Anderson will maintain office hours from 8:30 a.m. until 1[illegible] noon and from 1:30 to 5 p.m.

A native of Moline, Ill., Dr. Anderson graduated from the Moline High School in 1946. During the war he served four years in the submarine division of the U. S. Navy in the Pacific theater.

He is a member of the Alpha Gamma Kappa, national chiropody honorary fraternity. He is the father of three small children.

Queen Victoria, in 1900, commanded that the Irish Guards be founded in honor of the bravery of Irish regiments in the Boer War.

Paul Martin Looks 'Em Over

Basketball fans down in Franklin parish are becoming steamed up over an impending girl's game that promises to be the main event on a basketball card at the Winnsboro High School gymnasium January 6. From Ward six of Franklin will come those Baskin High School girls, sporting a record of 216 consecutive victories, to do battle with the Winnsboro sextet, unbeaten in ten starts this season.

It's the old story of rabid fans backing a strong challenger in the dethroning of a champion with the champ's followers just as certain it can't be done. But regardless of what happens when the two teams meet, Coach "Tiny" Tarbutton's Baskin girls have already compiled one of the fanciest high school records known.

Those Baskin girls have won twelve this year to run up a total of 216 consecutive conquests since Miss Tarbutton saw one of her teams lose to Ogden in the Class B state championship finals at Baton Rouge in 1947. Since that loss Baskin has nailed down five state titles. The Baskin trophy case is loaded with loot of tournaments throughout this area since 1945, including seven district titles and runner-up once. Many invitational tournament trophies also have been claimed, including five straight at the Northeast Louisiana State College invitational.

While Winnsboro fans are pointing for that January 6 game, at least two other teams get a chance at the champs earlier. Baskin, returning to action after a holiday lull, will be at home to the Gilbert girls Tuesday and then visit Fort Necessity Friday.

Alice Hammond is the only returning member of last season's team, and siding her in the effort to build that consecutive-win streak are Opal Williams, Barbara Woods, Betty Jo Duchesne, Ruby Coronado and Alice Humphreys. Just as determined to snap that string are those charges of Miss Carrice Russell at Winnsboro, Glenda Bennett, Ann Crawford, Shirley Williams, Nan Riser, Dorothy Williams, and Bessie Pearl Watson. The Misses Crawford, Williams, Riser, and Watson were regulars last season.

Baskin's dominance of the girl's basketball scene in this section resulted in the production of at least one "Believe It or Not" personality in Dixie Baskin, a freshman at Louisiana Tech. Miss Baskin played on the five championship teams, participated in 204 of the triumphs and claims the distinction of having never appeared in a losing game during her entire high school career.

Championships are just as consistently the habit of Miss Tarbutton who probably has more over-all victories as a player and a coach than any other woman. She played high school basketball under Mrs. Elizabeth Manhein at Ouachita Parish of Monroe during those years when Mrs. Manhein's girls were the terror of the state during the 1930s and early 1940s, winning seven straight state crowns.

Mrs. Manhein's story of conquests with championship teams at Grayson and Ouachita is a very impressive one in itself, but since she has retired as an active coach, she follows closely the work of her former pupil at Baskin.

Like all championship reigns, an end has to come some day. Winnsboro fans seem to be "sold" on their 1952-53 production. Maybe they've got what it takes to stop Baskin. But that remains to be seen, and Baskin will certainly have plenty to say about that January date. Whatever the outcome, Miss Tarbutton and Baskin boast a record to be justly proud of. It'll be a long time before anybody else is able to equal it.

World Series Atmosphere Pervades As Managers' Oil Well Comes In

11 Major League Pilots Own Share In Arkansas Well

MAGNOLIA, Ark., Dec. 27 (AP)—World Series atmosphere pervaded in this southwest Arkansas oil town today as six Major League managers—including Casey Stengel and Charlie Grimm—saw their oil well come in.

Dick Burnett, millionaire Texas oil man and owner of the Texas League Dallas Eagles, brought in the Crockett No. 1, in which at least 11 Big League managers had a share. Burnett said the well would produce 75-100 barrels per day, which is considered good.

Stengel, manager of the New York Yankees, and Grimm, pilot of the Boston Braves, both known for their zany antics as manager and player, whooped it up as the well came in. Both washed their hands and face in the black gold and were smeared from head to foot.

An oil well named for the Yankee Manager, the Casey Stengel No. 1, is also being drilled in this area.

Also on hand for the big event Philadelphia Phillies; Jimmy Dykes, Philadelphia Athletics; Phil Cavarretta, Chicago Cubs, and Paul Richards, Chicago White Sox.

Other familiar baseball names who had a stake in the well and were present were Carl Hubbell; former ace lefthander of the New York Giants and now a club official, and Mike Higgins, former American League infielder.

Partners in the well who didn't be in on festivities were managers Fred Haney, Pittsburgh Pirates; Eddie Stanky, St. Louis Cardinals, Martin Marion, St. Louis Browns, Rogers Hornsby, Cincinnati, Al Lopez, Cleveland General Manager Hank Greenberg of the Indians; Gabe Paul, Cincinnati official; and Jerome (Dizzy) Dean, top righthander of the Cardinal Gas House Gang era of the middle and late 1930's.

Burnett said the baseball men put up half the cost—on a prorate basis—of drilling on 4,000 acres owned by Burnett in Ouachita, Nevada and Columbia Counties, heart of this State's oil producing area. They share in half the profits. Each baseball notable put up $6,000 as a starter and stand to make a virtual unlimited amount of money if the field is productive, Burnett said.

The Canadian no. 1, partially owned by the baseball men, was brought in earlier this week 100 yards from today's well.

When oil showed at the well, Burnett raised high a $100 bill indicating there were more of these to come.

The talk was all of oil, but true conversation was batted around.

In reply to a newsman's question, Caverretta said "I won't say the Cubs will win the pennant, but we will finish in the first division."

Stengel, the stooped, spindly-legged boss man of the Yankees, said — in typical Stengel reticence—"I don't know" when asked what the chances were for the Yanks repeating.

Dizzy Dean, colorful baseball announcer, didn't quite make the scene. He was detoured at Texarkana, Tex., for a hunting trip.

LSU LEROY LABAT STARS IN BLUE'S 10TH BOWL WIN

'Black Stallion Of Bayous' Stampedes Yankees' Defense

By PAUL WILLS

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Dec. 27—UP—Leroy Labat, Louisiana State's colorful "Black stallion of the Bayous," had big fun running through the Yankees Saturday as the South romped to a 28 to 7 victory over the north in the 15th annual Blue-Gray classic.

A crowd of 21,500 watched Labat score one touchdown and set up another with his stampeding rushes. The South turned a Yankee fumble into another touchdown and Ed Mieduszewski, William and Mary's unpronouncable flyer, starred in a fourth scoring drive.

It was the South's 10th victory in what has become a lop-sided series in favor of the Gray-clad All-Stars against the boys in blue from Northern colleges and universities.

But this one was a big personal victory for Labat—and a popular one in the far reaches of the Cajun country around La Place, La., where the "black Stallion" is almost a legendary athlete.

Labat, a powerful and swarthy figure in a football suit, had been hobbled nearly all season by injuries at Louisiana State, disappointing his followers who went to Baton Rouge expecting to see him play.

His pounding rushes in the second period Saturday, however, broke up what had been an even battle earlier and enabled the South to take a lead it never relinquished despite some heroic Yankee efforts by Detroit's Ted Marchibroda.

The Southerners drove 68 yards on their first drive with Labat, Tulane's Roy Bailey and Lewis Carpenter of Arkansas doing the work behind a hustling line.

Labat made 28 yards of it in a series of vicious plunges to the Yankee four but fumbled on the next play and the North recovered.

But after the punt-out, Labat, on a jolting run, raced 22 yards to the Blues' three. He punched the ball to the one-foot line in two attempts and Ray Graves of Texas A&M scored the first tally. Mieduszewski kicked the point.

The stirred-up Rebels took advantage of a northern fumble on the Yankees six to make the next tally. Marchibroda fumbled and Jack Chambers of Houston recovered. Bailey ran for three and Carpenter of Arkansas scored from the three.

The north then drove from its own 30 and was sparked all the way to the Southern goal by Marchibroda. From the South 13, the Detroit passer completed a short toss to Earl Hersh of Westchester (Mich.) Teachers College, who stood still while a Rebel tackler missed him, then pranced across the line.

But Carpenter of the Rebels returned the kickoff on his own 40. Then Mieduszewski and Carpenter alternated with short bruising runs which paid off eight plays later. Carpenter scored this one.

Late in the fourth quarter, Mieduszewski intercepted a Marchibroda pass on the North 45 and ran to the 40. Then Bailey and Labat opened up their devastating line attack again. Fourteen running plays later they had the ball on the Blue two-yard line and the black stallion got his first score on a plunge over left tackle.

Score by quarters:

Blue	0	0	7	0	—7
Gray	0	7	14	7	—28

North scoring: touchdown, Hersh; conversion, Leonard.

South scoring: — touchodnws, Graves, Carpenter 2, Labat; conversions, Mieduszewski 2, Harding 2.

'53 May Be Year Of Decision In Pro, College Television Problem

NCAA And Pro League Discuss Situation In January

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27 (AP)—1953 may be the year of decision on televising college and professional football. It could produce some startling changes in the number of games available to the TV fan.

Both the National Collegiate Association and the National Football League run smack into the problem next month.

The NCAA has its annual meeting here Jan. 8-10, and one of the most explosive issues before it will be:

Should a college be allowed to televise its football games if it wants to?

The NCAA's answer to this has been "no". During the past season, only one game a week was televised.

Some colleges object to this program. The attitude appears to vary all the way from those who feel there should be no television at all to those who want unlimited television.

On Jan. 26, the National Football League has a date in a Philadelphia Federal Court with the Justice Department.

The Government contends that the League's limitations on television violate the anti-trust act. (It also takes a dim view of the college television program, but never has brought any formal charges.)

Here is the way the professional television program is set up:

No team can televise its home games. When it's on the road, it may televise its game back home. If this is done, no other team can bring in its game at the same time.

But a city outside the franchise limits may have as many pro games running at one time as it has television stations.

In separate interviews Harry Epps, a government attorney, and Bernard Nordlinger, representing the league, gave their views on the case.

Epps said the Justice Department's theory is that any unreasonable restraint on trade is a public injury.

He said the government believes the Cleveland Browns, for example, should be able to sell their television rights anywhero they please.

Norlinger summed up the league's attitude toward this in one word:

"Ridiculous."

He said sports, by their very nature, differ from the average business. Each team is a competitor, Nordlinger pointed out, but one team has to get together with another team before there is any product at all.

He insisted that the league's television agreement was merely in self-defense, and that unlimited television would tear down what each team helped build up.

No matter how the court decides, the loser is sure to appeal. Since this is an anti-trust case, the appeal will go directly to the Supreme Court.

JOHNNY O'BRIEN BREAKS RECORD

Scores 26 Points For New 4-Year Collegiate Record

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 27 (AP)—Johnny O'Brien, a wee bit of a fellow in a big man's game, established a new four year collegiate basketball scoring record tonight as his Seattle University team raced to a 90 to 77 victory over St. Joseph's College.

Unbeaten Fordham sought its sixth straight win of the season against Temple University in the nightcap of the college basketball double-header before an estimated 6,500 fans at Convention Hall.

O'Brien, a five foot, nine inch will o' the wisp, broke the old four year standard of 2,592 points, with a foul shot three and a half minutes after the game got under way. He went on to score nine field goals and eight fouls for 26 points to increase his career total to 2,618 with 22 games remaining to play.

The tiny Seattle ace held the old record jointly with Nate De Long, former River Falls, Wis., State Teachers College performer. Johnny had tied De Long's mark last Tuesday night when he scored 29 points against New York University at Madison Square Garden.

O'Brien tried two field goals that missed their mark before he was given an opportunity to make the one point necessary for a new record. Don Swanick earned the rather dubious honor of fouling O'Brien, who then stepped to the free throw line and converted for his 2,593rd point. The crowd, including several thousand from Johnny's home town of South Amboy, N. J., stood and cheered the amazing little guy.

Strange Bowling, Grid Hunting Events Occur To Missouri Sportsmen

KANSAS CITY, Dec. 27 (AP) — Missouri sportsmen have been doing some strange things of late.

For instance there were all sorts of red faces among the bowling veterans of Springfield, (pop. 62,000) when Sammy Potter won the city singles title. Sammy is 12 years old.

Dewey Blackburn of Hamilton fired at a duck. He missed but the disconcerted duck flew headlong into a tree and dropped dead.

West Virginia Cagers Defeat Syracuse, 71-63

Cleveland Browns, Detroit Lions Meet Today For NFL Championship

Top Cleveland Scoring Threats Out With Injuries

By BUD SPRUNGER

CLEVELAND, Dec. 27. (AP)—Detroit's Lions, hot after their first pro football championship in 17 years, move into the payoff game tomorrow against the "worried" Cleveland Browns.

Around 50,000 are expected to turn out in sub-freezing temperatures and possible snow at Municipal Stadium — more than 5,000 making the 150-mile trip from Michigan for the joust.

Odds favoring the Lions jumped after Cleveland Coach Paul Brown announced end Mac Speedie and halfback Dub Jones would miss the game because of injuries. Speedie leads the National League in pass catching. Jones, also a nifty ball grabber, once scored six touchdowns in one game.

"This really hurts us," Brown added. "There is the crux of our pass offense all shot to pieces. We'll be without our top scoring threats."

Coach Buddy Parker of the Lions expressed doubt the two key men would really miss the game. "I'll believe it when I see it," he declared.

With or without Speedie and Jones, the Detroit coach still thinks it will be an "even-Stephen" game between "two great clubs."

He said the kiting odds wouldn't affect his team. "After all, they've played the Browns before and know what Cleveland has," Parker said. "Odds mean nothing to players. Neither does being an underdog."

Detroit beat Cleveland, 17-6, earlier this season.

Brown asked for the underdog roll in the past six championship games, but now he says it isn't "nearly as much fun" as he expected. This is the first championship game in which the Browns have been on the short end of the odds.

A perfectionist and a great believer in psychology, Brown works hard at getting his team "up" for big games. He holds Cleveland "has a chance" if the players work at their "absolute peak."

Parker, working a different angle, said his team was taking this one "in stride." He declared all the league games this year were "big ones" and that the Lions were used to it by now.

He affirmed, however, that they were "up" for this one—confident and ready.

All players get butterflies before a game," he said, "but they are no more nervous for this one than for the others."

Moneywise, each player gets at least $1,000 out of the game, with the winners getting a few hundred dollars more than the losers.

Brown and his club, frankly worried, said they were more nervous than ever before. Once Brown said "we're worried we won't be able to make a good game of it."

Bill Willis, a great defensive player from the Browns since 1946, added he was more nervous than in any of the other six title games the Browns played.

Asked if he was scared, Willis said with a twisted grin, "you might put it that way."

"In all probability," said Brown, "we'll start Horace Gillom at left end (for Speedie) and Rex Bumgardner at right half (for Jones)."

"We'll let them get it under way and play until some of the tension is lifted. But we have a lot of plans for (Derrell) Brewster and (Ray) Renfro."

Both Brewster, formerly of Purdue, and Renfro, ex-West Texas Stater, are rookies.

Brewster caught a pass two weeks ago setting up a touchdown against the Giants. Renfro, an Olympic runner, worked earlier this season mainly on punt returns.

The weatherman predicts the mercury will be in the low 20's, the sky cloudy, some snow flurries and a 5 to 20 mile wind off Lake Erie.

Both passers—Bobby Layne of Detroit and Cleveland's Otto Graham—are used to such dipping temperatures and it should not affect their throwing overly much.

The field has been covered with a tarp and should be fairly dry—it hard. The Browns ended their practice by working out in tennis shoes in case it is really hard.

One top man the Lions will miss is offensive guard Jack Stanfel, hurt while Detroit was winning a playoff with Los Angeles for the National Conference title. Halfback Jug Girard and end Sonny Gandee also will be out with injuries.

Parker, remarking that the trip from Detroit for this game was "short," added that "it'll be the longest trip of my life if we lose."

NARDICO FIGHTS LAMOTTA DEC. 31

Long Sought Bout Comes As Opportune Time For Title Shot

TAMPA, Fla., Dec. 27 (AP)—Danny Nardico's long sought bout with Jake La Motta is coming just when it can do him a lot of good — possibly a crack at the light heavyweight crown.

"This is the fight we've always wanted," Nardico said of his Dec. 31 meeting with La Motta in Miami. "It means a lot to win, possibly a championship fight later."

Nardico was campaigning as a middleweight when La Motta held that championship, which he lost in 1951 to Sugar Ray Robinson.

Now both are contenders for the light heavy title which Archie Moore lifted from Joe Maxim Dec. 17.

Bill Gore, Nardico's trainer and adviser, sees their title bout prospects like this (if Nardico beats La Motta):

"Moore is bound to be a fighting champ. He needs the money and he hasn't too long to go (Moore is 36). He'll fight anybody, while Maxim figured he could pick his spots."

The Nardico camp isn't counting the La Motta fight in the bag by any means.

"La Motta may not be going any place, but he's a hard hitting, aggressive fighter who has never been put on the canvas," Gore said.

"If I can knock him out, that would be swell," Nardico said. "But I'm not going out after him wild without any caution."

Gore said Nardico has "sharpened up his defense" in recent months.

"He will not get hit with as many punches from here on as he has in the past," Gore said. "Of course he's still first of all a fighter, not a boxer.

"I can tell you one thing, they'll keep the fans on the edge of their seats, because they're both the aggressive type."

Ted Williams Hopes To Resume Baseball Career In September

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 27. (AP)—Ted Williams, the Boston Red Sox slugger now doing a second hitch in the marine air force, hopes to resume his baseball career when he gets out of the service next September.

"If I feel right when I get out, I'll be back in baseball," Williams said Friday as he stopped over in Miami on his way to California and he believes, on to Korea. "I'd like to play some more."

"But I'm getting near the age where major league players begin to go downhill," added Williams, the highest-paid baseball player in history.

The 34-year-old outfielder had to give up a Boston job paying a reported $125,000 a year when he was called back into the marines last spring. He served as a flight instructor in World War II.

While here, Williams made an investment in a fishing equipment firm (Southern Tackle Distributors) and became a vice president. He said it would be good to have a sideline when his baseball days are over.

No Wrestling At Arena Tuesday Night — Kallio

Gus Kallio, Monroe wrestling and boxing promoter, has announced there will be no Tuesday night wrestling card this week.

Says promoter Kallio, "On account of last weeks' match having such a disputed ending, there will lbe no more wrestling at the Arena until satisfactory contestants and referees are available.

Fans are requested to watch for the next card in this newspaper.

Mr. Kallio also states he has had numerous requests for information on the next boxing program. This also will be announced at a later date, although it has been revealed that boxing, in the future, will be carded on Thursday nights, instead of Mondays, as in the past.

South '11' Wins Blue-Gray Tilt, 28-7

Paul Martin Looks 'Em Over

Basketball fans down in Franklin parish are becoming steamed up over an impending girl's game that promises to be the main event on a basketball card at the Winnsboro High School gymnasium January 6. From Ward six of Franklin will come those Baskin High School girls, sporting a record of 216 consecutive victories, to do battle with the Winnsboro sextet, unbeaten in ten starts this season.

It's the old story of rabid fans backing a strong challenger in the dethroning of a champion with the champ's followers just as certain it can't be done. But regardless of what happens when the two teams meet, Coach "Tiny" Tarbutton's Baskin girls have already compiled one of the fanciest high school records known.

Those Baskin girls have won twelve this year to run up a total of 216 consecutive conquests since Miss Tarbutton saw one of her teams lose to Ogden in the Class B state championship finals at Baton Rouge in 1947. Since that loss Baskin has nailed down five state titles. The Baskin trophy case is loaded with loot of tournaments throughout this area since 1945, including seven district titles and runner-up once. Many invitational tournament trophies also have been claimed, including five straight at the Northeast Louisiana State College invitational.

While Winnsboro fans are pointing for that January 6 game, at least two other teams get a chance at the champs earlier. Baskin, returning to action after a holiday lull, will be at home to the Gilbert girls Tuesday and then visit Fort Necessity Friday.

Alice Hammond is the only returning member of last season's team, and siding her in the effort to build that consecutive-win streak are Opal Williams, Barbara Woods, Betty Jo Duchesne, Ruby Coronado and Alice Humphreys. Just as determined to snap that string are those charges of Miss Carrice Russell at Winnsboro, Glenda Bennett, Ann Crawford, Shirley Williams, Nan Riser, Dorothy Williams, and Bessie Pearl Watson. The Misses Crawford, Williams, Riser, and Watson were regulars last season.

Baskin's dominance of the girl's basketball scene in this section resulted in the production of at least one "Believe It or Not" personality in Dixie Baskin, a freshman at Louisiana Tech. Miss Baskin played on the five championship teams, participated in 204 of the triumphs and claims the distinction of having never appeared in a losing game during her entire high school career.

Championships are just as consistently the habit of Miss Tarbutton who probably has more over-all victories as a player and a coach than any other woman. She played high school basketball under Mrs. Elizabeth Manhein at Ouachita Parish of Monroe during those years when Mrs. Manhein's girls were the terror of the state during the 1930s and early 1940s, winning seven straight state crowns.

Mrs. Manhein's story of conquests with championship teams at Grayson and Ouachita is a very impressive one in itself, but since she has retired as an active coach, she follows closely the work of her former pupil at Baskin.

Like all championship reigns, an end has to come some day. Winnsboro fans seem to be "sold" on their 1952-53 production. Maybe they've got what it takes to stop Baskin. But that remains to be seen, and Baskin will certainly have plenty to say about that January date. Whatever the outcome, Miss Tarbutton and Baskin boast a record to be justly proud of. It'll be a long time before anybody else is able to equal it.

World Series Atmosphere Pervades As Managers' Oil Well Comes In

11 Major League Pilots Own Share In Arkansas Well

MAGNOLIA, Ark., Dec. 27 (AP)—World Series atmosphere pervaded in this southwest Arkansas oil town today as six Major League managers- including Casey Stengel and Charlie Grimm—saw their oil well come in.

Dick Burnett, millionaire Texas oil man and owner of the Texas League Dallas Eagles, brought in the Crockett No. 1, in which at least 11 Big League managers had a share. Burnett said the well would produce 75-100 barrels per day, which is considered good.

Stengel, manager of the New York Yankees, and Grimm, pilot of the Boston Braves, both known for their zany antics as manager and player, whooped it up as the well came in. Both washed their hands and face in the black gold and were smeared from head to foot.

An oil well named for the Yankee Manager, the Casey Stengel No. 1, is also being drilled in this area.

Also on hand for the big event Philadelphia Phillies; Jimmy Dykes, Philadelphia Athletics; Phil Cavarretta, Chicago Cubs, and Paul Richards, Chicago White Sox.

Other familiar baseball names who had a stake in the well and were present were Carl Hubbell; former ace lefthander of the New York Giants and now a club official, and Mike Higgins, former American League infielder.

Partners in the well who couldn't be in on festivities were managers Fred Haney, Pittsburgh Pirates; Eddie Stanky, St. Louis Cardinals, Martin Marion, St. Louis Browns, Rogers Hornsby' Cincinnati, Al Lopez, Cleveland General Manager Hank Greenberg of the Indians; Gabe Paul, Cincinnati official; and Jerome (Dizzy) Dean, top righthander of the Cardinal Gas House Gang era of the middle and late 1930's.

Burnett said the baseball men put up half the cost—on a prorate basis—of drilling on 4,000 acres owned by Burnett in Ouachita, Nevada and Columbia Counties, heart of this State's oil producing area. They share in half the profits. Each baseball notable put up $8,000 as a starter and stand to make a virtual unlimited amount of money if the field is productive, Burnett said.

The Canadian no. 1, partially owned by the baseball men, was brought in earlier this week 100 yards from today's well.

When oil showed at the well, Burnett raised high a $100 bill indicating there were more of those to come.

The talk was all of oil, but true conversation was batted around.

In reply to a newsman's question, Caverretta said "I won't say the Cubs will win the pennant, but we will finish in the first division."

Stengel, the stooped, spindly-legged boss man of the Yankees, said — in typical Stengel reticence—"I don't know" when asked what the chances were for the Yanks repeating.

Dizzy Dean, colorful baseball announcer, didn't quite make the scene. He was detoured at Texarkana, Tex., for a hunting trip.

LSU LEROY LABAT STARS IN BLUE'S 10TH BOWL WIN

'Black Stallion Of Bayous' Stampedes Yankees' Defense

By PAUL WILLS

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Dec. 27—UP—Leroy Labat, Louisiana State's colorful "Black stallion of the Bayous," had big fun running through the Yankees Saturday as the South romped to a 28 to 7 victory over the north in the 15th annual Blue-Gray classic.

A crowd of 21,500 watched Labat score one touchdown and set up another with his stampeding rushes. The South turned a Yankee fumble into another touchdown and Ed Mioduszewski, William and Mary's unpronouncable flyer, starred in a fourth scoring drive.

It was the South's 10th victory in what has become a lop-sided series in favor of the Gray-clad All-Stars against the boys in blue from Northern colleges and universities.

But this one was a big personal victory for Labat—and a popular one in the far reaches of the Cajun country around La Place, La., where the "black Stallion" is almost a legendary athlete.

Labat, a powerful and swarthy figure in a football suit, had been hobbled nearly all season by injuries at Louisiana State, disappointing his followers who went to Baton Rouge expecting to see him play.

His pounding rushes in the second period Saturday, however, broke up what had been an even battle earlier and enabled the South to take a lead it never relinquished despite some heroic Yankee efforts by Detroit's Ted Marchibroda.

The Southerners drove 68 yards on their first drive with Labat, Tulane's Roy Bailey and Lewis Carpenter of Arkansas doing the work behind a hustling line.

Labat made 28 yards of it in a series of vicious plunges to the Yankee four but fumbled on the next play and the North recovered.

But after the punt-out, Labat, on a jolting run, raced 22 yards to the Blues' three. He punched the ball to the one-foot line in two attempts and Ray Graves of Texas A&M scored the first tally. Mioduszewski kicked the point.

The stirred-up Rebels took advantage of a northern fumble on the Yankees six to make the next tally. Marchibroda fumbled and Jack Chambers of Houston recovered. Bailey ran for three and Carpenter of Arkansas scored from the three.

The north then drove from its own 30 and was sparked all the way to the Southern goal by Marchibroda. From the South 13, the Detroit passer completed a short toss to Earl Hersh of Westchester (Mich.) Teachers College, who stood still while a Rebel tackler missed him, then pranced across the line.

But Carpenter of the Rebels returned the kickoff on his own 40. Then Mioduszewski and Carpenter alternated with short bruising runs which paid off eight plays later. Carpenter scored this one.

Late in the fourth quarter, Mioduszewski intercepted a Marchibroda pass on the North 45 and ran to the 40. Then Bailey and Labat opened up their devastating line attack again. Fourteen running plays later they had the ball on the Blue two-yard line and the black stallion got his first score on a plunge over left tackle.

Score by quarters:

Blue	0	0	7	0	—7
Gray	0	7	14	7	—28

North scoring: touchdown, Hersh; conversion, Leonard.

South scoring: — touchodnws, Graves, Carpenter 2, Labat; conversions, Mioduszewski 2, Harding 2.

'53 May Be Year Of Decision In Pro, College Television Problem

NCAA And Pro League Discuss Situation In January

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27 (AP)—1953 may be the year of decision on televising college and professional football. It could produce some startling changes in the number of games available to the TV fan.

Both the National Collegiate Association and the National Football League run smack into the problem next month.

The NCAA has its annual meeting here Jan. 8-10, and one of the most explosive issues before it will be:

Should a college be allowed to televise its football games if it wants to?

The NCAA's answer to this has been "no". During the past season, only one game a week was televised.

Some colleges object to this program. The attitude appears to vary all the way from those who feel there should be no television at all to those who want unlimited television.

On Jan. 26. the National Football League has a date in a Philadelphia Federal Court with the Justice Department.

The Government contends that the League's limitations on television violate the anti-trust act. (It also takes a dim view of the college television program, but never has brought any formal charges.)

Here is the way the professional television program is set up:

No team can televise its home games. When it's on the road, it may televise its game back home. If this is done, no other team can bring in its game at the same time.

But a city outside the franchise limits may have as many pro games running at one time as it has television stations.

In separate interviews Harry Epps, a government attorney, and Bernard Nordlinger, representing the league, gave their views on the case.

Epps said the Justice Department's theory is that any unreasonable restraint on trade is a public injury.

He said the government believes the Cleveland Browns, for example, should be able to sell their television rights anywhere they please.

Norlinger summed up the league's attitude toward this in one word:

"Ridiculous."

He said sports, by their very nature, differ from the average business. Each team is a competitor, Nordlinger pointed out, but one team has to get together with another team before there is any product at all.

He insisted that the league's television agreement was merely in self-defense, and that unlimited television would tear down what each team helped build up.

No matter how the court decides, the loser is sure to appeal. Since this is an anti-trust case, the appeal will go directly to the Supreme Court.

JOHNNY O'BRIEN BREAKS RECORD

Scores 26 Points For New 4-Year Collegiate Record

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 27 (AP)—Johnny O Brien, a wee bit of a fellow in a big man's game, established a new four year collegiate basketball scoring record tonight as his Seattle University team raced to a 90 to 77 victory over St. Joseph's College.

Unbeaten Fordham sought its sixth straight win of the season against Temple University in the nightcap of the college basketball double-header before an estimated 6,500 fans at Convention Hall.

O'Brien, a five foot, nine inch will o' the wisp, broke the old four year standard of 2,592 points, with a foul shot three and a half minutes after the game got under way. He went on to score nine field goals and eight fouls for 26 points to increase his career total to 2,618 with 22 games remaining to play.

The tiny Seattle ace held the old record jointly with Nate De Long, former River Falls, Wis., State Teachers College performer. Johnny had tied De Long's mark last Tuesday night when he scored 29 points against New York University at Madison Square Garden.

O'Brien tried two field goals that missed their mark before he was given an opportunity to make the one point necessary for a new record. Don Swanick earned the rather dubious honor of fouling O'Brien, who then stepped to the free throw line and converted for his 2,593rd point. The crowd, including several thousand from Johnny's home town of South Amboy, N. J., stood and cheered the amazing little guy.

No Wrestling At Arena Tuesday Night — Kallio

Gus Kallio, Monroe wrestling and boxing promoter, has announced there will be no Tuesday night wrestling card this week.

Says promoter Kallio, "On account of last weeks' match having such a disputed ending, there wil lbe no more wrestling at the Arena until satisfactory contestants and referees are available.

Fans are requested to watch for the next card in this newspaper.

Mr. Kallio also states he has had numerous requests for information on the next boxing program. This also will be announced at a later date, although it has been revealed that boxing, in the future, will be carded on Thursday nights, instead of Mondays, as in the past.

Eastern All-Stars Beat West, 21-20 In Grid Thriller

TOM O'CONNELL LEADS EAST TO LAST-DITCH WIN

Villanova's Haner Boots 3 Conversions For Margin

By RUSS NEWLAND

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 27 (AP)—Eastern college all-stars, led by pass-pitching Tom O'Connell, of Illinois who set a new East-West passing record, scored a thrilling last minute 21-20 victory over the West today in the 28th annual East-West football classic.

A capacity crowd of 62,000 fans in Kezar Stadium, drenched by rain in the final period, saw the great Illinois quarterback engineer his teammates to the surprising win in the Shrine benefit game for crippled children.

The All-America studded West nad lined up as the six point favorite.

The eastern team came from behind to win with a 71-yard aerial and ground drive. O'Connell threw three passes—among the 21 he completed for his record—in the march through the mud.

With the ball on the five-yard line, he handed off to halfback Bill Reynolds of Pittsburgh who swept around the West right end behind great blocking to score. Bob Haner, of Villanova, made his conversion score perfect for the day—three for three—as he booted the winning point.

In the same period, the West had gone into a 20-14 lead when All - America quarterback Don Heinrich of Washington passed 24 yards to All-America left half Billy Vessels, of Oklahoma. Fleet Billy ran 25 yards more to score.

Both teams scored touchdowns in the first and second quarters with the East leading at halftime 14-13.

Besides the capacity crowd, millions saw the game on a national telecast over the Dumont network.

It also was broadcast countrywide over Mutual.

The vast audience saw O'Connell win the plaudits of the crowd and become voted the most valuable player of the 1952 contest.

His 21 completions out of 37 throws bettered the old mark of 14 out of 31 by Don Klosterman, of Loyola, Los Angeles, for the West last year.

The thrill - packed engagement was played under skies so gloomy that the stadium lights had to be turned on in mid-afternoon.

Recovered fumbles paved the way for three of the touchdowns.

Early in the opening quarter, J. D. Kimmel, giant Houston guard, recovered a fumble by O'Connell on the east 14. California's hard-hitting fullback, Johnny Olszewski, drove the last six yards through left guard.

The East's Bill Reynolds, of Pitt, rushed in to block the try for point by Nebraska's Bob Reynolds.

Late in the same period, Ohio State's Tony Curcillo recovered Olszewski's fumble on the West 20-yard marker. The East moved the ball up to the six. From there O'Connell passed to Harry Babcock, great end from Georgia, in the end zone.

Haner's conversion put the East ahead 7-6.

The East scored from the West 22 in the second period after Bob O'Neil, defensive end from Notre Dame, recovered a fumble by Bob Reynolds. O'Connell completed one pass to Gene Gedman, of Indiana, for nine and another to left half Don McAuliffe, of Michigan State for eight. McAuliffe drove through left tackle for the East yards. Haner again converted for 14-6 East.

The West came back to score on a 60 yard drive after Olszewski returned the kickoff 20 yards. Ed Crowder, Oklahoma quarterback, mixed passes and ground plays to work the ball to the East two.

During the goal-bound advance, Crowder connected with Ed Barker, Washington State end, for eight yards and with Bob Blair, Texas Christian flank man, for 15.

In the scoreless third period, Oregon State's Sam Baker got off the second longest punt in the 28-year history of the game when he booted the ball 71 yards from scrimmage to East's four.

Don Rhoden, of Rice, who played a tremendous defensive game, intercepted a pass by O'Connell early in the fourth period, on the West 31. It led to a touchdown. Washington's Heinrich connected with Barker for 20 yards to the East 40 and then hit Vessels with a perfect 24 - yard strike. Vessels rambled on 25 yards for the touchdown.

Bob Reynolds converted to put the West into a 20-14 lead. It looked then like an almost certain win for the West.

The [illegible] was wet and soggy and rain was pouring down when the East put the ball into play on its own 29. Field general O'Connell whipped the ball to Paul Dekker, big end from Michigan State, good for 14.

Right half Bill Reynolds hit the [illegible] for three to the West 40. O'Connell caught Reynolds with a [illegible] good for 16. He then used Reynolds on an off-tackle smash [illegible] for 23 to the 17. Reynolds [illegible] the ball for two.

[illegible] play, O'Connell shot [illegible] for Bill [illegible] it, Bob Reynolds of the West dove and batted it down.

O'Connell then caught Dekker again for seven and McAuliffe went through for three to the five yard marker. Bill Reynolds swept around end for the rest of the distance to climax the 71-yard march with the clock showing 56 seconds to go.

Haner again converted for the winning point.

It was the second game in a row that the favored West dropped by a single point. Last year the East won 15-14.

The series now stands 13 victories for the West, 11 for the East and four ties.

The West used every player on its 25-man squad.

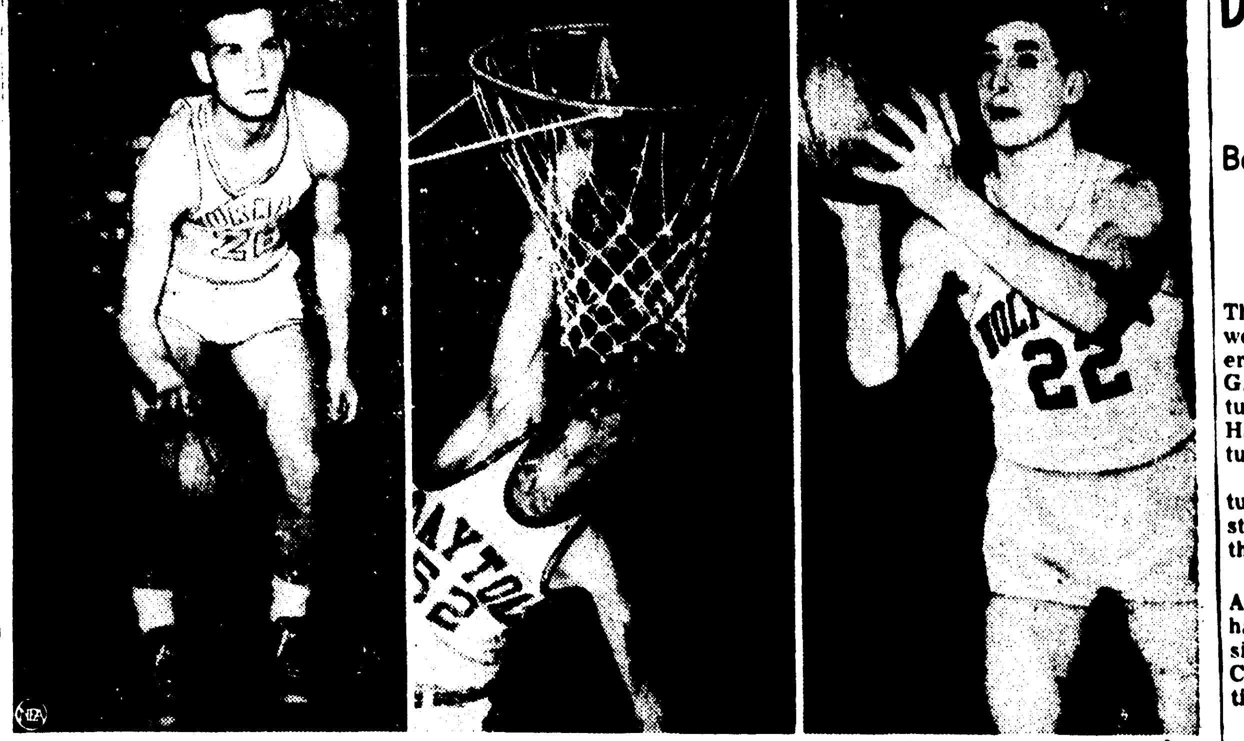
Only Charles Malloy, of Holy Cross, alternate quarterback, failed to get into the game for the East. After the contest was over, eastern head coach Clarence (Biggie) Munn, of Michigan State, said he decided to gamble all the way, especially in the closing minutes when the East was behind, on O'Connell.

Score by quarters:

East	7	7	0	7	—21
West	6	7	0	7	—20

East scoring: touchdowns—Babcock (Georgia), McAuliffe (Michigan State) Billy Reynolds (Pitt.) Point after touchdowns — Haner (Villanova) 3.

West scoring: touchdowns—Olszewski (California) 2; Vessels (Oklahoma). Point after touchdowns — Bob Reynolds (Nebraska) 2.



HIGH MEN—Frank Selvy, left, fifth top scorer in the nation last season, paces the Furman attack. Six-foot-eight John Horan, center, puts the ball in the basket for Dayton. Togo Palazzi is busting scoring records at Holy Cross. (NEA)

Holy Cross Cagers Favored In Dixie Classic Tournament Opening Monday

North Carolina State Looking For 4th Classic Title

RALEIGH, N. C., Dec. 27 (AP)—Unbeaten Holy Cross, the nation's fourth-ranked club in the Associated Press poll, edged into the favorite's role today as eight top cage teams got ready for Monday's opening round of the annual Dixie Classic Basketball Tournament.

The powerful Crusaders are in the same bracket with North Carolina State, currently ranked sixth in the nation. This means the two teams will face each other in the second round if they can get by opening game opponents.

North Carolina State, which has won the Classic each of the three years it has been played, lost some of its prestige when it dropped a 67-56 decision to unranked St. Johns in Madison Square Garden Tuesday night. Holy Cross earlier had swamped the Redmen in compiling an unbeaten 4-0 record.

Many sideliners still are picking Coach Everett Case's Wolfpack to keep their Classic record unbeaten. They point out that the Casemen have dropped only half a dozen games on their home court—beautiful 12,400-seat Reynolds Coliseum—in the seven years Case has been at State.

Wake Forest and Brigham Young are given the best chance of reaching Wednesday night's finals with Holy Cross—should the Crusaders make the grade.

The Crusaders, Brigham Young, Pennsylvania and Princeton are the visiting teams. North Carolina, Duke, Wake Forest and North Carolina State furnish the opposition, as they do every year in this event. A record 60,000 fans are expected for the three days.

The Crusaders will open with North Carolina, which also is undefeated and coached this year by Frank McGuire, the man who piloted St. Johns to the N. C. A. A. finals last year. Despite their upsurge under McGuire, the Tar Heels aren't given much chance of sidetracking the New Englanders.

State meets Princeton, which has a 1-3 record, and is favored to get by to the second round. Wake Forest (6-1) meets Pennsylvania (4-0) and Duke (4-3) meets Brigham Young (8--1) in other first day games.

The tournament shapes up as the best in the Classic's history. This year's field appears to be the strongest, and the heightened interest is reflected in heavy advance ticket sales. Only about 5,000 tickets remain available.

The four intersectional teams will arrive on the scene tomorrow and work out at the Coliteum court.

Holy Cross, coached by Bus Sheary, has a veteran, fast-moving team headed by an All-America candidate, guard Earle Markey.

McGuire's Tar Heels have been paced by guard Vince Grimaldi and a freshman find, forward Jerry Vayda, who has averaged 18 points a game.

In addition to Markey, at least two other players in the tournamoving team headed by an All-America honors. They are center Ernie Beck of Pennsylvania and Center Dickie Hemric of Wake Forest. Hemric was the big cog in Wake Forest's victories over Duke and N. C. State in early season games. Beck has been the pacemaker in the Quakers' attack. He and Hemric should put on a great scoring show when the Deacons and Quakers collide in the opening round.

Despite its losses, N. C. State will be tough to handle. The Wolfpack has been a major basketball power since 1946 when Case took over as coach at the West Raleigh school. Case has shown in past years he can point his team masterfully for a tournament. He has lost only one tournament game in North Carolina in his six-year span. That was to St. John's, 60-49, in the N. C. A. A. eastern regional finals last year.

GOTTLOB STARS IN SHRIMP BOWL

Sam Houston Downs Oklahoma Northeastern State, 41-20

GALVESTON, Tex., Dec. 27 (AP)—Don Gottlob, the nation's total offense kingpin, passed for three touchdowns today as Sam Houston State, which won only five games during the season, smashed Northeastern State of Oklahoma 41-20 in the Srhimp Bowl football game. It was Northeastern's first defeat.

Gottlob, little-America back who gained more yards passing than any other player in America the past season, connected on 15 of 32 throws for 225 yards.

Billy Nelson, a blistering runner and talented pass - receiver, vied with Gottlob for honors in the game, scoring four touchdowns.

It was a rough contest with three players from each team being ejected for fisticuffs.

Gottlob passed 26 yards to Larry Kiesling for the first Bearkat touchdown, Nelson ran over the second from 16 yards out, Gottlob passed to Nelson for 16 yards and the third and Nelson raced 67 yards with a fumble he recovered in the air for the fourth. Mac Moore scatted 70 yards for the fifth and Gottlob passed 25 yards to Nelson for the final. Moore kicked five extra points.

Northeastern scored twice in the third period, once on a 60-yard drive with Jack Rusher going over from a yard out, and the other on a 24-yard pass from Antyine Pryor to Gene Ball.

The final Northeastern touchdown came on a sideout pass from Pryor to Rusher in the fourth period. Lew Crow kicked two of three extra points.

Gottlob passed for more yards than any player in the Nation's small colleges last season and also was the total offense leader in both small and large colleges, setting an all-time record of 2470 yards.

BIG 10 ILLINI, OSU CAGERS CLASH

Nationally Ranked Illinois Jolted By Minnesota Quint

CHICAGO, Dec. 26. (AP)—Defending champion Illinois is host to one of the last three big ten basketball teams to jump into the conference race tomorrow night.

The Illini, whose high national ranking was jolted in a 77-73 loss at Minnesota Tuesday night, will shoot for their second victory in three loop starts against Ohio State's smaller Buckeyes. The Bucks had a 2-1 record in pre-championship play.

In the evening's only other league game, Northwestern and Michigan State squared off in a league debut for both at Evanston, Ill.

At Iowa City, a two-night twin bill series closes with Iowa and Wisconsin in non - loop action against California and Oregon, respectively.

Pace - setting Indiana (2-0) is idle until a week from tomorrow night when the Hoosiers invade Michigan for their third conference start.

Illinois will be entertaining an all - letterman Buckeye line-up hubbed around agile Paul Ebert, dead-eyed center who last season averaged 21.4 points per conference game.

Ohio State has beaten St. Louis University and Pittsburgh, but dropped a 63-60 verdict to Butler. The Illini own a 75-58 decision over Butler. Earlier the Illini defeated Michigan 96-66 and Loyola 71-57.

Northwestern, under new coach Waldo Fisher, moves into the league chase with a 1-1 record, losing to Western Michigan 95-79, and whipping Butler, 90-72. Michigan State opposes the Wildcats with 2-1, defeating Marquette and high-rated Kansas State, while losing to U.C.L.A.

With nine lettermen, Fisher may have a strong conference contender built around Frank Petrancek, 6-8 center. Michigan State also has a 6-8 center, Bob Armstrong, and a couple of tiny guards, 5-5 Rickey Ayala and 5-10 Dick Wesling, who feature the Spartans' ball - control defense.

Other midwest action tomorrow: St. Thomas at Loyola; Marquette at Bradley; Notre Dame vs. Butler at Indianapolis; and De Paul meeting the nation's No. 1 team, La Salle, in the Madison Square Garden holiday tourney.

Pretty SMU Coeds Almost Stood Up By Vol Grid Team

DALLAS, Tex., Dec. 27 (AP) — Those 30 pretty coeds from Southern Methodist waiting to greet the Tennessee football squad when they flew into Dallas almost got stood up.

But they had the Texas 10-gallon hats and were ready to hand them out anyway when the plane arrived, due at 8:30 p. m. (CST).

The Vols had been due in town at 4:15 p. m. but their chartered plane developed an oil leak and didn't leave Knoxville until 3:50 p. m. CST when it was fixed.

Browns, Lions Like Movies Before Game

CLEVELAND, Dec. 27. (AP)—Cleveland's crippled Browns and Detroit's Lions go to the movies tonight, trying to shake off the jitters before tomorrow's world championship pro football game at Municipal stadium.

After the show both clubs will head for a night's sleep in Cleveland hotels. The visitors, of course, have to stay at a hotel.

The Browns always do the night before a game—even when they're home. Coach Paul Brown wants to be sure they avoid distractions —he doesn't want a husky tackle using up sleeping time walking the baby.

DE ANZA, FIRST GLANCE IN 1ST

Beat Favorites In Santa Anita Feature Handicap

ARCADIA, Calif., Dec. 27 (AP)—The Springhill Stable's De Anza won the $25,000 California Breeders Champion stakes and Alfred G. Vanderbilt's First Glance captured the $20,000 Palos Verdes Handicap in a twin bill racing feature at Santa Anita Park today.

A crowd estimated at 40,000 turned out in an afternoon that started drizzly and wound up with the clouds clearing away.

Jockey Ralph Neves piloted De Anza in to a surprise length and a half triumph in the mile and one-sixteenth breeders champion for California-bred two year olds. The time was 1.45 1-5.

The inquiry sign went up for the place and show finishers. As a result, C. L. Hirsch's Book Circle was awarded second and Ross vorite with Eddie Arcaro aboard, moved back to fourth for interference in the stretch.

De Anza paid $14.60, $8 and $4.90; Book Circle $39.40 and $12.90, and Atomic Speed $3.20.

In the Palos Verdes, Eric Guerin piloted Vanderbilt's First Glance into a half-length victory over another favorite, Reighs Bull, again with Arcaro up, and Stranglehold finished third.

The time for the six furlongs was 1.10 1-5.

First Glance paid $12.20, $35.70 and $4.20; Reighs Bull $4 and $3, and Stranglehold $4.90.

First Glance was three lengths back of the leading Reighs Bull at the far turn but whittled the favorite down in the srtetch run.

In the two-year-old special, Jockey Willie Shoemaker was thrown from the well liked Busterbegood, which stumbled leaving the gate. Shoemaker limped off the track.

It was the second mishap of the afternoon. In the first race, Ray York was unseated and bruised in a spill when his mount, Delfa, stumbled at the start.

The gross value of the Breeders Stakes was $40,360 and the winner collected $26,000.

Arcaro said Merryman, piloted by Willie Marsh—who was subbing for York — ducked over in front of Atomic Speed in the stretch. Arcaro said his colt wouldn't have won, however.

The Palos Verdes was worth $22,600 gross, with A First Glance winning $13,300. It was the second straight win of the afternoon for Guerin and his boss, Vanderbilt. In the fifth, Whither came up to win at the wireover Witch English for a $5 win ticket payoff.

Tony Despirito Rides 2 More Winners With 11 To Go In Four Days

CORAL GABLES, Fla., Dec. 27 —UP—Tony Despirito, haunted by time and a succession of poor mounts, rode two winners Saturday at Tropical Park to remain in the race for a new national riding record.

Despirito's two winners, turned in before a howling crowd of 13,764 fans, upped his total for the year to 368. Tiny Tony now needs 11 winners in the remaining four racing days this year to break the all-time mark of 388.

Free Throws Give Miami (O.) Win Over St. Johns

NEW YORK, Dec. 27. (AP)—Bert Barney, a substitute guard, popped in five free throws in the last 45 seconds to carry Miami (Ohio) University to a 68-65 victory over the St. John's of Brooklyn in the first round of the holiday basketball festival at Madison Square Garden tonight. The triumph shot the Ohioans into Monday's semi-finals against the winner of tonight's second game between Utah State and N.Y.U.

Ex-Notre Dame Player And Coach Reminisces On Former Grid Feats

Elmer Layden, One Of 4 Horsemen, In Business World Now

By TOM BRANAGAN

CHICAGO, Dec. 27 (AP)—It's just occasionally that the longing hits him—on a brisk autumn afternoon wiht the smell of burning leaves in the air and the yellowing grass crisp and dry underfoot.

It's a Saturday. He turns on his television set and a riot of action and sound rushes at him from the depths of a stadium.

And it's then, that, for just a moment, Elmer Layden, business executive, slips out of the world of sales and contracts and returns to the old life—the one with the football always kicking around in it.

Notre Dame's—and Knute Rockne's — immortal four horsemen thunder into the room on a cloud of nostalgia, and greying, middle-aged Elmer Layden watches handsome young fullback Elmer Layen bound into All- America glory in the early 20's with a backfield whose fame never has been equalled. . .

Or Elmer Layden, the cool strategist, walks across endless misty football fields to shake the hands of beaten rivals in a dazzling coaching career that began at old Columbia University in Dubuque, Ia., in 1925 and ended in 1940 after seven years as one of Rockne's great successors at Notre Dame.

Or Elmer Layden, a tough administrator, appears at a desk, laboring to bring order to professional football during five years as commissioner of the National Football League. . .

But then the past flits by and Elmer Layden, high-salaried sales representative of General American Transportation Corporation, grins sheepishly, looks around appreciatively at a richly - appointed home and a handsome family, and murmurs:

Layden has been a businessman since 1946, when he stepped out of the N.F.L.'s commissionership, and says flatly he's through with the game of football for good.

"Actually, I always figured coaching was at best a precarious living," he says. "I always was prepared to leave when the time was right.

"The big reason I turned to business is, frankly, that I can make a better living for my family, put something substantial away for the future. After all, you can't eat newspaper clippings."

And another thing, says Layden: "Business alumni are a little kinder. There's a little too much emphasis — mostly from the outside —on winning in football. Some people become overenthusiastic about scores.

"Notre Dame alumni aren't the pressure type, but, you know, I got to looking around and I saw that eventually even the great coaches—Bob Zuppke, Pop Warner, Harry Kipke, A. A. Stagg, Rockne himself — all had their troubles.

"A bad year, a poor run of material. . .What happens? You're in for a lot of criticism, at least. And nobody likes to be on the hot spot all the time."

And, adds Layden, a business is a much more reliable proposition in other ways:

"How could a business operate if somebody was changing the personell every three or four years? It just wouldn't work."

Layden is 49 years old now. The tousled thick black hair that was a trademark of his All-America days is smooth and streaked with grey but otherwise he hasn't changed much. His figure is trim and muscular and his face lean and sharp. Under a football helmet he would look just as capable as ever.

Outside of following the fortunes of Notre Dame in the fall, most of his interest in sports is confined to the activities of his two youngest sons, Mike, 15, and Pat, 13. Two other children, Elmer Jr., 22 and a daughter, 25, are away from home.

Mike and Pat play on school teams in suburban Winnetka. Says Layden:

"I sit in the stands and watch them and it's great to be able to yell all I want. I guess it embarrasses them sometimes. But before, I was never just a fan who could yell. I always had something riding on the game."

And to exemplify just how far he has removed himself from football, Layden will describe his attempt to tell his son Pat, a grade school back, how to run a line play.

The boy's reply, to one of football's famed figures:

"Aw, Dad, they don't play that way anymore."

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 27 (AP)—C. L. (Buster) Chatham will be both manager and general manager of the Waco (Tex.) club in the class B Big State league next season.

The announcement came from Branch Rickey, general manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates, who hold the Waco franchise.

AMERICAN DAVIS CUP HOPES SOAR

Tony Trabert Looks Impressive In Recent Workouts

By GAYLE TALBOT

ADELAIDE, Australia, Dec. 27. (AP)—American hopes of recapturing the Davis Cup got a big lift today when Tony Trabert, the power-stroking sailor on leave, zipped through one of his most impressive workouts.

Trabert, whose tennis got a bit rusty during Navy duty, will team with Vic Seixas, the U. S. captain, against Australia's Frank Sedgman and Ken McGregor in the challenge round, opening Monday.

Aussie officials have virtually agreed to give McGregor the nod over left-handed Mervyn Rose, who lost his two singles to the Americans last year. This means the Davis Cup final battle will be strictly a four-man affair.

The Americans have young Ham Richardson and Straight Clark for reserve use, but neither is expected to see action.

The draw is scheduled tomorrow at 11 a.m., Adelaide time (8:30 p.m. E.S.T., American time). It will determine the lineup for the first two singles duels. The order is reversed in the final two singles Wednesday.

The doubles will be played Tuesday and the Sedgman - McGregor tandem is heavily favored although Seixas and Trabert teamed well in the inter-zone matches.

Trabert was stroking better today than any time since he reached this continent on brief leave. He was murdering the ball on his service, and putting away strong winners both from the back court and at the net.

Seixas, who has beaten Sedgman the last two times they've met, now is highly confident of an American victory and he doesn't mind saying so. He also is hitting the ball well.

A crowd of 8,000 turned out at the Memorial Drive courts today to watch the American and Australians sharpen their strokes in final tuneups. They were encouraged by the sharpness of their own champion, Sedgman, but the impressive play of Trabert threw a damper over their hopes of an easy Cup victory.

Eastern All-Stars Beat West, 21-20 In Grid Thriller

TOM O'CONNELL LEADS EAST TO LAST-DITCH WIN

Villanova's Haner Boots 3 Conversions For Margin

By RUSS NEWLAND

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 27 (AP)—Eastern college all-stars, led by pass-pitching Tom O'Connell, of Illinois who set a new East-West passing record, scored a thrilling last minute 21-20 victory over the West today in the 28th annual East-West football classic.

A capacity crowd of 62,000 fans in Kezar Stadium, drenched by rain in the final period, saw the great Illinois quarterback engineer his teammates to the surprising win in the Shrine benefit game for crippled children.

The All-America studded West nad lined up as the six point favorite.

The eastern team came from behind to win with a 71-yard aerial and ground drive. O'Connell threw three passes—among the 21 he completed for his record—in the march through the mud.

With the ball on the five-yard line, he handed off to halfback Bill Reynolds of Pittsburgh who swept around the West right end behind great blocking to score. Bob Haner, of Villanova, made his conversion score perfect for the day—three for three—as he booted the winning point.

In the same period, the West had gone into a 20-14 lead when All-America quarterback Don Heinrich of Washington passed 24 yards to All-America left half Billy Vessels, of Oklahoma. Fleet Billy ran 25 yards more to score.

Both teams scored touchdowns in the first and second quarters with the East leading at halftime 14-13.

Besides the capacity crowd, millions saw the game on a national telecast over the Dumont network.

It also was broadcast countrywide over Mutual.

The vast audience saw O'Connell win the plaudits of the crowd and become voted the most valuable player of the 1952 contest.

His 21 completions out of 37 throws bettered the old mark of 14 out of 31 by Don Klosterman, of Loyola, Los Angeles, for the West last year.

The thrill - packed engagement was played under skies so gloomy that the stadium lights had to be turned on in mid-afternoon.

Recovered fumbles paved the way for three of the touchdowns.

Early in the opening quarter, J. D. Kimmel, giant Houston guard, recovered a fumble by O'Connell on the east 14. California's hard-hitting fullback, Johnny Olszewski, drove the last six yards through left guard.

The East's Bill Reynolds, of Pitt, rushed in to block the try for point by Nebraska's Bob Reynolds.

Late in the same period, Ohio State's Tony Curcillo recovered Olszewski's fumble on the West 20-yard marker. The East moved the ball up to the six. From there O'Connell passed to Harry Babcock, great end from Georgia, in the end zone.

Haner's conversion put the East ahead 7-6.

The East scored from the West 22 in the second period after Bob O'Neil, defensive end from Notre Dame, recovered a fumble by Bob Reynolds. O'Connell completed one pass to Gene Gedman, of Indiana, for nine and another to left half Don McAuliffe, of Michigan State for eight. McAuliffe drove through left tackle for the East yards. Haner again converted for 14-6 East.

The West came back to score on a 69 yard drive after Olszewski returned the kickoff 20 yards. Ed Crowder, Oklahoma quarterback, mixed passes and ground plays to work the ball to the East two.

During the goal-bound advance, Crowder connected with Ed Barker, Washington State end, for eight yards and with Bob Blair, Texas Christian flank man, for 15.

In the scoreless third period, Oregon State's Sam Baker got off the second longest punt in the 28-year history of the game when he booted the ball 71 yards from scrimmage to East's four.

Don Rhoden, of Rice, who played a tremendous defensive game, intercepted a pass by O'Connell early in the fourth period, on the West 31. It led to a touchdown. Washington's Heinrich connected with Barker for 20 yards to the East 49 and then hit Vessels with a perfect 24 - yard strike. Vessels rambled on 25 yards for the touchdown.

Bob Reynolds converted to put the West into a 20-14 lead. It looked then like an almost certain win for the West.

The field was wet and soggy and rain was pouring down when the East put the ball into play on its own 29. Field general O'Connell whipped the ball to Paul Dekker, big end from Michigan State, good for 18.

Right half Bill Reynolds hit the line for three to the West 49. O'Connell caught Reynolds with a pass good for 19. He then used Reynolds on an off-tackle smash good for 13 to the 17. Reynolds banged the line for two.

On the next play, O'Connell shot a long pass intended for Bill Reynolds in the end zone. Just when Billy had his hands out for it, Bob Reynolds of the West dove and batted it down.

O'Connell then caught Dekker again for seven and McAuliffe went through for three to the five yard marker. Bill Reynolds swept around end for the rest of the distance to climax the 71-yard march with the clock showing 56 seconds to go.

Haner again converted for the winning point.

It was the second game in a row that the favored West dropped by a single point. Last year the East won 15-14.

The series now stands 13 victories for the West, 11 for the East and four ties.

The West used every player on its 25-man squad.

Only Charles Malloy, of Holy Cross, alternate quarterback, failed to get into the game for the East. After the contest was over, eastern head coach Clarence (Biggie) Munn, of Michigan State, said he decided to gamble all the way, especially in the closing minutes when the East was behind, on O'Connell.

Score by quarters:

East	7	7	0	7	—21

East scoring: touchdowns—Babcock (Georgia), McAuliffe (Michigan State) Billy Reynolds (Pitt.) Point after touchdowns — Haner (Villanova) 3.

West scoring: touchdowns—Olszewski (California) 2; Vessels (Oklahoma). Point after touch - downs — Bob Reynolds (Nebraska) 2.

Holy Cross Cagers Favored In Dixie Classic Tournament Opening Monday

North Carolina State Looking For 4th Classic Title

RALEIGH, N. C., Dec. 27 (AP)—Unbeaten Holy Cross, the nation's fourth-ranked club in the Associated Press poll, edged into the favorite's role today as eight top cage teams got ready for Monday's opening round of the annual Dixie Classic Basketball Tournament.

The powerful Crusaders are in the same bracket with North Carolina State, currently ranked sixth in the nation. This means the two teams will face each other in the second round if they can get by opening game opponents.

North Carolina State, which has won the Classic each of the three years it has been played, lost some of its prestige when it dropped a 67-56 decision to unranked St. Johns in Madison Square Garden Tuesday night. Holy Cross earlier had swamped the Redmen in compiling an unbeaten 4-0 record.

Many sideliners still are picking Coach Everett Case's Wolfpack to keep their Classic record unbeaten. They point out that the Casemen have dropped only half a dozen games on their home court—beautiful 12,400-seat Reynolds Coliseum—in the seven years Case has been at State.

Wake Forest and Brigham Young are given the best chance of reaching Wednesday night's finals with Holy Cross—should the Crusaders make the grade.

The Crusaders, Brigham Young, Pennsylvania and Princeton are the visiting teams. North Carolina, Duke, Wake Forest and North Carolina State furnish the opposition, as they do every year in this event. A record 60,000 fans are expected for the three days.

The Crusaders will open with North Carolina, which also is undefeated and coached this year by Frank McGuire, the man who piloted St. Johns to the N. C. A. A. finals last year. Despite their upsurge under McGuire, the Tar Heels aren't given much chance of sidetracking the New Englanders.

State meets Princeton, which has a 1-3 record, and is favored to get by to the second round. Wake Forest (6-1) meets Pennsylvania (4-0) and Duke (4-3) meets Brigham Young (8--1) in other first day games.

The tournament shapes up as the best in the Classic's history. This year's field appears to be the strongest, and the heightened interest is reflected in heavy advance ticket sales. Only about 5,000 tickets remain available.

The four intersectional teams will arrive on the scene tomorrow and work out at the Coliteum court.

Holy Cross, coached by Bus Sheary, has a veteran, fast-moving team headed by an All-America candidate, guard Earle Markey.

McGuire's Tar Heels have been paced by guard Vince Grimaldi and a freshman find, forward Jerry Vayda, who has averaged 18 points a game.

In addition to Markey, at least two other players in the tourna-moving team headed by an All-America honors. They are center Ernie Beck of Pennsylvania and Center Dickie Hemric of Wake Forest. Hemric was the big cog in Wake Forest's victories over Duke and N. C. State in early season games. Beck has been the pacemaker in the Quakers' attack. He and Hemric should put on a great scoring show when the Deacons and Quakers collide in the opening round.

Despite its losses, N. C. State will be tough to handle. The Wolfpack has been a major basketball power since 1946 when Case took over as coach at the West Raleigh school. Case has shown in past years he can point his team masterfully for a tournament. He has lost only one tournament game in North Carolina in his six-year span. That was to St. John's, 60-49, in the N. C. A. A. eastern regional finals last year.

GOTTLOB STARS IN SHRIMP BOWL

Sam Houston Downs Oklahoma Northeastern State, 41-20

GALVESTON, Tex., Dec. 27 (AP)—Don Gottlob, the nation's total offense kingpin, passed for three touchdowns today as Sam Houston State, which won only five games during the season, smashed Northeastern State of Oklahoma 41-20 in the Srhimp Bowl football game. It was Northeastern's first defeat.

Gottlob, little-America back who gained more yards passing than any other player in America the past season, connected on 15 of 32 throws for 225 yards.

Billy Nelson, a blistering runner and talented pass - receiver, vied with Gottlob for honors in the game, scoring four touchdowns.

It was a rough contest with three players from each team being ejected for fisticuffs.

Gottlob passed 26 yards to Larry Kiesling for the first Bearkat touchdown, Nelson ran over the second from 16 yards out, Gottlob passed to Nelson for 16 yards and the third and Nelson raced 67 yards with a fumble he recovered in the air for the fourth. Mac Moore scatted 70 yards for the fifth and Gottlob passed 25 yards to Nelson for the final. Moore kicked five extra points.

Northeastern scored twice in the third period, once on a 60-yard drive with Jack Rusher going over from a yard out, and the other on a 24-yard pass from Antyine Pryor to Gene Ball.

The final Northeastern touchdown came on a nideout pass from Pryor to Rusher in the fourth period. Lew Crow kicked two of three extra points.

Gottlob passed for more yards than any player in the Nation's small colleges last season and also was the total offense leader in both small and large colleges, setting an all-time record of 2470 yards.

BIG 10 ILLINI, OSU CAGERS CLASH

Nationally Ranked Illinois Jolted By Minnesota Quint

CHICAGO, Dec. 26. (AP)—Defending champion Illinois is host to one of the last three big ten basketball teams to jump into the conference race tomorrow night.

The Illini, whose high national ranking was jolted in a 77-73 loss at Minnesota Tuesday night, will shoot for their second victory in three loop starts against Ohio State's smaller Buckeyes. The Bucks had a 2-1 record in pre-championship play.

In the evening's only other league game, Northwestern and Michigan State squared off in a league debut for both at Evanston, Ill.

At Iowa City, a two-night twin bill series closes with Iowa and Wisconsin in non - loop action against California and Oregon, respectively.

Pace - setting Indiana (2-0) is idle until a week from tomorrow night when the Hoosiers invade Michigan for their third conference start.

Illinois will be entertaining an all - letterman Buckeye lineup hubbed around agile Paul Ebert, dead-eyed center who last season averaged 21.4 points per conference game.

Ohio State has beaten St. Louis University and Pittsburgh, but dropped a 63-60 verdict to Butler. The Illini own a 75-58 decision over Butler. Earlier the Illini defeated Michigan 96-66 and Loyola 71-57.

Northwestern, under new coach Waldo Fisher, moves into the league chase with a 1-1 record, losing to Western Michigan 95-79, and whipping Butler, 90-72. Michigan State opposes the Wildcats with 2-1, defeating Marquette and high-rated Kansas State, while losing to U.C.L.A.

With nine lettermen, Fisher may have a strong conference contender built around Frank Petrancek, 6-8 enter. Michigan State also has a 6-8 center, Bob Armstrong, and a couple of tiny guards, 5-5 Rickey Ayala and 5-10 Dick Wesling, who feature the Spartans' ball - control defense.

Other midwest action tomorrow: St. Thomas at Loyola; Marquette at Bradley; Notre Dame vs. Butler at Indianapolis; and De Paul meeting the nation's No. 1 team, La Salle, in the Madison Square Garden holiday tourney.

Pretty SMU Coeds Almost Stood Up By Vol Grid Team

DALLAS, Tex., Dec. 27 (AP) — Those 30 pretty coeds from Southern Methodist waiting to greet the Tennessee football squad when they flew into Dallas almost got stood up.

But they had the Texas 10-gallon hats and were ready to hand them out anyway when the plane arrived, due at 8:30 p. m. (CST).

The Vols had been due in town at 4:15 p. m. but their chartered plane developed an oil leak and didn't leave Knoxville until 3:50 p. m. CST when it was fixed.

Browns, Lions Like Movies Before Game

CLEVELAND, Dec. 27. (AP)—Cleveland's crippled Browns and Detroit's Lions go to the movies tonight, trying to shake off the jitters before tomorrow's world championship pro football game at Municipal stadium.

After the show both clubs will head for a night's sleep in Cleveland hotels. The visitors, of course, have to stay at a hotel.

The Browns always do the night before a game—even when they're home. Coach Paul Brown wants to be sure they avoid distractions —he doesn't want a husky tackle using up sleeping time walking the baby.

DE ANZA, FIRST GLANCE IN 1ST

Beat Favorites In Santa Anita Feature Handicap

ARCADIA, Calif., Dec. 27 (AP)—The Springhill Stable's De Anza won the $25,000 California Breeders Champion stakes and Alfred G. Vanderbilt's First Glance captured the $20,000 Palos Verdes Handicap in a twin bill racing feature at Santa Anita Park today.

A crowd estimated at 40,000 turned out in an afternoon that started drizzly and wound up with the clouds clearing away.

Jockey Ralph Neves piloted De Anza in to a surprise length and a half triumph in the mile and one-sixteenth breeders champion for California-bred two year olds. The time was 1.45 1-5.

The inquiry sign went up for the place and show finishers. As a result, C. L. Hirsch's Book Circle was awarded second and Ross vorite with Eddie Arcaro aboard, moved back to fourth for interference in the stretch.

De Anza paid $14.60, $8 and $4.90; Book Circle $39.40 and $12.90, and Atomic Speed $3.20.

In the Palos Verdes, Eric Guerin piloted Vanderbilt's First Glance into a half-length victory over another favorite, Reighs Bull, again with Arcaro up, and Stranglehold finished third.

The time for the six furlongs was 1.10 1-5.

First Glance paid $12.20, $35.70 and $4.20; Reighs Bull $4 and $3, and Stranglehold $4.90.

First Glance was three lengths back of the leading Reighs Bull at the far turn but whittled the favorite down in the srtetch run.

In the two-year-old special, Jockey Willie Shoemaker was thrown from the well liked Busterbegood, which stumbled leaving the gate. Shoemaker limped off the track.

It was the second mishap of the afternoon. In the first race, Ray York was unseated and bruised in a spill when his mount, Delfa, stumbled at the start.

The gross value of the Breeders Stakes was $40,360 and the winner collected $26,000.

Arcaro said Merryman, piloted by Willie Marsh—who was subbing for York — ducked over in front of Atomic Speed in the stretch. Arcaro said his colt wouldn't have won, however.

The Palos Verdes was worth $22,600 gross, with A First Glance winning $13,300. It was the second straight win of the afternoon for Guerin and his boss, Vanderbilt. In the fifth, Whither came up to win at the wireover Witch English for a $5 win ticket payoff.

Tony Despirito Rides 2 More Winners With 11 To Go In Four Days

CORAL GABLES, Fla., Dec. 27 —UP—Tony Despirito, haunted by time and a succession of poor mounts, rode two winners Saturday at Tropical Park to remain in the race for a new national riding record.

Despirito's two winners, turned in before a howling crowd of 13,764 fans, upped his total for the year to 368. Tiny Tony now needs 11 winners in the remaining four racing days this year to break the all-time mark of 388.

Free Throws Give Miami (O.) Win Over St. Johns

NEW YORK, Dec. 27. (AP)—Bert Barney, a substitute guard, popped in five free throws in the last 45 seconds to carry Miami (Ohio) University to a 68-65 victory over the St. John's of Brooklyn in the first round of the holiday basketball festival at Madison Square Garden tonight. The triumph shot the Ohioans into Monday's semi-finals against the winner of tonight's second game between Utah State and N.Y.U.

Ex-Notre Dame Player And Coach Reminisces On Former Grid Feats

Elmer Layden, One Of 4 Horsemen, In Business World Now

By TOM BRANAGAN

CHICAGO, Dec. 27 (AP)—It's just occasionally that the longing hits him—on a brisk autumn afternoon wiht the smell of burning leaves in the air and the yellowing grass crisp and dry underfoot.

It's a Saturday. He turns on his television set and a riot of action and sound rushes at him from the depths of a stadium.

And it's then, that, for just a moment, Elmer Layden, business executive, slips out of the world of sales and contracts and returns to the old life—the one with the football always kicking around in it.

Notre Dame's—and Knute Rockne's — immortal four horsemen thunder into the room on a cloud of nostalgia, and greying, middle-aged Elmer Layden watches handsome young fullback Elmer Layen bound into All- America glory in the early 20's with a backfield whose fame never has been equalled. . .

Or Elmer Layden, the cool strategist, walks across endless misty football fields to shake the hands of beaten rivals in a dazzling coaching career that began at old Columbia University in Dubuque, Ia., in 1925 and ended in 1940 after seven years as one of Rockne's great successors at Notre Dame.

Or Elmer Layden, a tough administrator, appears at a desk, laboring to bring order to professional football during five years as commissioner of the National Football League. . .

But then the past flits by and Elmer Layden, high-salaried sales representative of General American Transportation Corporation, grins sheepishly, looks around appreciatively at a richly - appointed home and a handsome family, and murmurs:

Layden has been a businessman since 1946, when he stepped out of the N.F.L.'s commissionership, and says flatly he's through with the game of football for good.

"Actually, I always figured coaching was at best a precarious living," he says. "I always was prepared to leave when the time was right.

"The big reason I turned to business is, frankly, that I can make a better living for my family, put something substantial away for the future. After all, you can't eat newspaper clippings."

And another thing, says Layden: "Business alumni are a little kinder. There's a little too much emphasis — mostly from the outside —on winning in football. Some people become overenthusiastic about scores.

"Notre Dame alumni aren't the pressure type, but, you know, I got to looking around and I saw that eventually even the great coaches—Bob Zuppke, Pop Warner, Harry Kipke, A. A. Stagg, Rockne himself — all had their troubles.

"A bad year, a poor run of material. . .What happens? You're in for a lot of criticism, at least. And nobody likes to be on the hot spot all the time."

And, adds Layden, a business is a much more reliable proposition in other ways:

"How could a business operate if somebody was changing the personell every three or four years? It just wouldn't work."

Layden is 49 years old now. The tousled thick black hair that was a trademark of his All-America days is smooth and streaked with grey but otherwise he hasn't changed much. His figure is trim and muscular and his face lean and sharp. Under a football helmet he would look just as capable as ever.

Outside of following the fortunes of Notre Dame in the fall, most of his interest in sports is confined to the activities of his two youngest sons, Mike, 15, and Pat, 13. Two other children, Elmer Jr., 22 and a daughter, 25, are away from home.

Mike and Pat play on school teams in suburban Winnetka. Says Layden:

"I sit in the stands and watch them and it's great to be able to yell all I want. I guess it embarrasses them sometimes. But before, I was never just a fan who could yell. I always had something riding on the game."

And to exemplify just how far he has removed himself from football, Layden will describe his attempt to tell his son Pat, a grade school back, how to run a line play.

The boy's reply, to one of football's famed figures:

"Aw, Dad, they don't play that way anymore."

New Manager Named

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 27. (UP)—C. L. (Buster) Chatham will be both manager and general manager of the Waco (Tex.) club in the class B Big State league next season.

The announcement came from Branch Rickey, general manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates, who hold the Waco franchise.

AMERICAN DAVIS CUP HOPES SOAR

Tony Trabert Looks Impressive In Recent Workouts

By GAYLE TALBOT

ADELAIDE, Australia, Dec. 27. (AP)—American hopes of recapturing the Davis Cup got a big lift today when Tony Trabert, the power-stroking sailor on leave, zipped through one of his most impressive workouts.

Trabert, whose tennis got a bit rusty during Navy duty, will team with Vic Seixas, the U. S. captain, against Australia's Frank Sedgman and Ken McGregor in the challenge round, opening Monday.

Aussie officials have virtually agreed to give McGregor the nod over left-handed Mervyn Rose, who lost his two singles to the Americans last year. This means the Davis Cup final battle will be strictly a four-man affair.

The Americans have young Ham Richardson and Straight Clark for reserve use, but neither is expected to see action.

The draw is scheduled tomorrow at 11 a.m., Adelaide time (8:30 p.m. E.S.T., American time). It will determine the lineup for the first two singles duels. The order is reversed in the final two singles Wednesday.

The doubles will be played Tuesday and the Sedgman - McGregor tandem is heavily favored, although Seixas and Trabert teamed well in the inter-zone matches.

Trabert was stroking better today than any time since he reached this continent on brief leave. He was murdering the ball on his service, and putting away strong winners both from the back court and at the net.

Seixas, who has beaten Sedgman the last two times they've met, now is highly confident of an American victory and he doesn't mind saying so. He also is hitting the ball well.

A crowd of 8,000 turned out at the Memorial Drive courts today to match the Americans and Australians sharpen their strokes in final tuneups. They were encouraged by the sharpness of their own champion, Sedgman, but the impressive play of Trabert threw a damper over their hopes of an easy Cup victory.

Five Major Bowl Games New Years Day Injury-Marred

SHIN SPLINTS, ADHESIVE TAPE DETERMINE ODDS

Vols Hit Hardest With Chief Runner, Coach Disabled

By WILL GRIMSLEY

NEW YORK, Dec. 27 (AP)—Adhesive tape and shin splints threaten to replace the slide rule in determining odds on the major football bowl games next Thursday with the toll of pre-game casualties reaching record proportions.

Three teams — Georgia Tech, Tennessee and Florida—have seen their chief offensive performers cut down with injuries and Tennessee has lost its veteran coach, the ailing Gen. Bob Neyland.

Southern California's Rose Bowl hopes have been jarred by loss of Jim Psaltis, ace defensive back through ineligibility. The Trojans' Pasadena opponent, Wisconsin, has its fastest runner, Harland Carl, hobbled by a twisted knee.

Tulsa, Florida's opponent in the Gator Bowl, has two line backers on the shelf and a halfback on the doubtful list with a severed Achilles tendon.

Alabama, which takes on Syracuse in Miami's Orange Bowl, is racked with colds and minor injuries, most serious of which is a leg ailment suffered by first string tackle, Jack Smalley.

At last reports, however, the big holiday football festival was to go on as scheduled.

Some 432,000 fans will pay more than $2,000,000 to watch the eight games on New Year's Day and the Senior Bowl event at Mobile, Ala., the following Saturday. Millions of others, comprising what is expected to be the largest football viewing audience in history, will witness the battles by television, unrestricted for the occasion.

The four big bowls all have national television commitments. The National Broadcasting Company will telecast the Rose Bowl as well as the Cotton Bowl fray between Tennessee and Texas. American Broadcasting Company will put the Sugar Bowl tiff between Georgia Tech and Mississippi on the picture tubes while Columbia Broadcasting System will do the Orange Bowl at Miami. The Sugar, Orange and Cotton Bowl games all start at 2 p. m. while the Rose Bowl begins at 5 p. m. (EST).

The largest turnout in the flesh, as usual, will attend the Rose Bowl classic at Pasadena, the grandpapa of the post-season extravaganzas. A crowd of 103,000 is expected and receipts totaling $400,000, not counting TV and radio proceeds would make it a near million dollar enterprise.

Southern Cal, beat only by Notre Dame in the final game of the campaign, is favored by a touchdown over Wisconsin, the Big Ten co - champion, but the Trojans' odds may be changed by the loss of Psaltis, a great defensive back. Psaltis was ruled ineligible because he had played junior varsity ball.

The Trojans, seeking their ninth bowl victory, also have two guards in bad shape—Bob Peviani, with the flu, and Bob Cox, with a hip injury. Wisconsin's main casualty is Carl, the team's fastest halfback, who may not be able to play.

Tennessee may go into the Cotton Bowl game at Dallas without its top scorer and ground gainer, Andy Kozar, and the chief of the brains department, General Neyland. Kozar has a fractured pelvis and is almost certain not to play. Neyland has been ordered by doctors to rest. He may view the game as a spectator while Harvey Robinson fills in as head coach.

Texas appears in top shape and rules a 1½ point favorite to whip the Volunteers, their upset conquerors in 1951 at Dallas.

None is in much worse shape than Georgia Tech, which carries its unbeaten record against twice-tied Mississippi in the Sugar Bowl. Billy Teas has a broken collar - bone and Leon Hardeman has a gum ankle. The Engineers' top ground gainers with more than 1000 yards between them, both are doubtful starters.

This could radically alter odds which favor Tech by seven points. Mississippi, seventh ranked nationally, had the country's ninth most effective offense during the fall, with an average of 383.1 yards a game.

Despite nagging colds and minor ailments, Alabama is a whopping 3½ point choice in the Orange Bowl. Syracuse is making its bowl debut and the first team in the East in five years to qualify for a post-season spot.

Although Syracuse coach Floyd Schwartzwalder calls the Tide "the most powerful team I ever saw," he hopes to spring an upset with Pat Stark, a good-passing quarterback, and Bill Wetzel, 205-pound fullback who's just back from driving a truck in Korea.

Florida's ambitions of whipping Tulsa in the Gator Bowl at Jacksonville have been tempered by the loss of Doug Dickey, the team's No. 1 quarterback, who is out with a pulled leg muscle.

Without Dickey, Florida would have to depend mostly on the triple threat flash, Rick Casares, to offset the damage expected from Tulsa's hard - running Howie Waugh, the nation's leading ground gainer.

Tulsa has two line backers injured—Angelo Prassa, with a broken hand, and Eddie Lach, with a bum leg — and a halfback, Gene Helwig, out with a severed Achilles tendon.

The Salad Bowl at Phoenix pits the San Diego Naval training center against the 101st Airborne Division. The Tangerine Bowl at Orlando, Fla., matches East Texas State and Tennessee Tech. And the Sun Bowl at El Paso, Tex., sends Mississippi Southern against Col.

Badger Bandwagon Becomes Crowded As Trojan Rose Bowl Stock Drops

Southern Cal Defense Vs. Wisconsin Offense Looms

PASADENA, Calif., Dec. 27. (AP)—The kickoff hour for the annual Rose Bowl football game draws nearer and the margin of favoritism draws tighter for the clash between Wisconsin, co-champion of the Big Ten, and Southern California, ruler of the Pacific Coast Conference.

As this is written, most of the experts still lean toward Southern California as the favorite. But few of these feel overly confident.

The Wisconsin bandwagon is almost as crowded as the Trojan camp, however, and well represented among the badger selectors are West Coast grid observers.

These westerners have been well indoctrinated by the six previous visits of Big Ten teams to the Pasadena Bowl — Illinois and Michigan twice apiece, and Northwestern and Ohio State.

Ignoring these experiences, which is a difficult matter, of course, the western observers feel (1) that Wisconsin is a far better team than some have tried to make them believe, and (2) the Trojans have yet to display championship offensive tactics.

Most all agree that Coach Jess Hill's Trojans are tremendous defensively. Only against Notre Dame, to whom they lost, were the Troys ineffective. Their season's feat of holding 10 foes to 2.6 yards per play, as compared to the Badgers' 3.9, indicates this strength.

Seemingly, Wisconsin's defensive platoon is not as effective as that thrown up by Bob Peviani, Elmer Willhoite and Bob Van Doren in the line, or the two linebackers, Marvin Goux and George Timberlake.

Notre Dame found a way, however, and admirers of Wisconsin Coach Ivy Williamson believe he is more than smart enough to do the same with his quick breaking T-style of play.

Williamson has kept his practice closed to all but intimate followers of the Badgers. He has said he plans nothing particularly new in his attack. It'll be the usual T-stuff, with "some spread formation" he declared.

The Trojans might take this casual comment with a large grain of salt. The Williamson offense hammered out 3,497 yards running and passing and averaged 5.2 yards each play.

He is genuinely honest when he labels the S. C. defense as "tremendous," so it stands to reason he isn't going to be content to hit them with the "usual" attack he employed all season.

Key man in this assault is the quarterback, Jim Haluska, a sophomore from Racine who pitched 112 completions out of 119 throws for 1,410 yards and 12 touchdowns.

Work horses in the running department are fullback Alan (The Horse) Ameche and right halfback Jerry Witt.

Wisconsin's worries at left halfback are well known. The No. 1 breakway artist, Harland Carl, missed a lot of the season because of injuries, and Bill Hutchinson filled in. Now Carl is nursing a new knee injury and whether he starts the game seems problematical.

Williamson has not appeared unduly worried about this. He merely pointed out that this was "nothing new."

The contest will be broadcast and telecast by the National Broadcasting Co.

Game time Jan 1 is 2 p.m. (5 p.m. Eastern Standard Time).

Playing For Pirates Bad On Good Player, Tribe Manager Says

CLEVELAND, Dec. 27. (AP)—Hank Greenberg said today that when you play for the Pittsburgh Pirates "you get that losing feeling."

The general manager of the Cleveland Indians, and a former Pirate himself, told that to reporters when they asked him why the Pirates dealt shortstop George Strickland to the Indians. Greenberg had said Strickland was a good player.

"The Pirates," said Greenberg. "I know them. I played for them. When you're down the way they are you keep changing around. Good or bad, you keep changing.

"Kiner (Ralph Kiner, Pirate outfielder) knocked in 75 runs for them last year. For us, the same Kiner would have knocked in 125.

"The Pirates have been in the doldrums. It takes time to rebuild. But meanwhile it's tough on the players. It affects their play. You get that losing feeling.

"Strickland was a good shortstop for the Pirates and undoubtedly he'll be oven better for us."

FLORIDA, TULSA IN GATOR BOWL

Individual Stars May Shine For Both Elevens Jan. 1

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Dec. 27. (AP)—The individual stars who led Tulsa and Florida through successful football campaigns and into the Gator Bowl here Jan. 1 include:

The nation's top running back;

Two All - America linemen;

A pair of expert — but quite different — quarterbacks;

High scoring, far traveling runners;

Classy ends;

Efficient linebackers.

In between are the less spectacular but quite capable players necessary to do the kind of job it takes to get a bowl bid, but the focus is on the stars.

They match up something like this:

Fullbacks:

Tulsa — Howie Waugh, 21, 5 feet 11, 200. "The Grenada Express" (he's from Grenada, Miss.) led the nation's runners this fall with 1,372 yards, averaging 8.37 a carry.

Florida — Rich Casares, 20, 6 feet 2, 205. "Mr. Attack" runs, passes, punts, kicks off, kicks conversions and field goals. Leading gainer with 695 yards and second best scorer with 64.

Quarterbacks:

Tulsa — Ronnie Morris, 20, 6 feet 1, 175. "The Rattler" (because of his build) threw 18 touchdown passes, ran for five, was seventh in the nation in total offense with 1,571 yards.

Florida — Doug Dickey, 19, 6 feet 2, 175. A T formation quarterback who seldom passes (he threw 34 and completed 16 in the [illegible] but a brilliant signal caller and fine ball handler. If a pulled muscle keeps him out, [illegible] feet 1, 162, leading passer with 25 of 51 for 340 yards, will move up.

Halfbacks:

Tulsa — Dick Kercher, 20, 6 foot 2, 190, second best runner with 684 yards, both shifty and powerful. Bobby Holladay, 20, 6 fee,t 180, track man who runs 100 yards in 9.7 seconds.

Florida — Buford Long, 21, 6 feet, 184, fourth highest scorer among major colleges with 84 points. J. L. (Papa) Hall, 20, 6 feet 1, 187, best average of Florida mer national college high jump champion.

Offensive ends.

Tulsa — Tom Miner, 20, 6 feet 4, 214, leading scorer with 74 points on five touchdowns (passes from Morris), 41 conversions and one field goal. Willie Roberts, 21, 6 feet 2, 190, caught 12 touchdown passes, three short of the national record; snagged 39 passes in all for 691 yards.

Florida — none was able to shine in the primary job of pass catching because of the limited Gator aerial attack and shifting of personnel because of injuries.

All - America linemen:

Tulsa — Marv Matuszak, 21, 6 feet 3, 210, offensive guard on the All - America team two years; fine blocker, particularly downfield. Played more minutes than any other man on team.

Florida — Charlie Lapradd, 24, 6 feet 3, 215, defensive tackle, bulwark of a defensive line that drew as much attention as the offense, so good as a tackler that most Florida opponents beamed their running attack completely away from him.

Linebackers:

Tulsa — both regulars at this key defense job are injured and probably unable to play. Matuszak and Holladay likely will double up in the jobs.

Florida — Bubba Ware, 21, 6 feet, 177, and Arlen Jumper, 20, 5 feet 11, 187, though light for linebackers have done a standout job and were named to the second and third All-Southeastern Conference teams.

All - conference players:

Tulsa — Roberts, Matuszak, Waugh, Morris, Kercher, and tackles Ham Prewitt and Bob St. Clair all were named on the All-Missouri Valley Conference offensive team. Gene Helwig, defensive back now out with injuries, was the only Tulsa player on the All-Conference defensive team. Matuszak, in addition, was an All-West selection.

Florida — Lapradd and Guard Joe D'Agostino were named to the All-Southeastern conference and and All - South defensive teams. Casares, Long, Ware and Jumper were second or third team All-Conference selections.

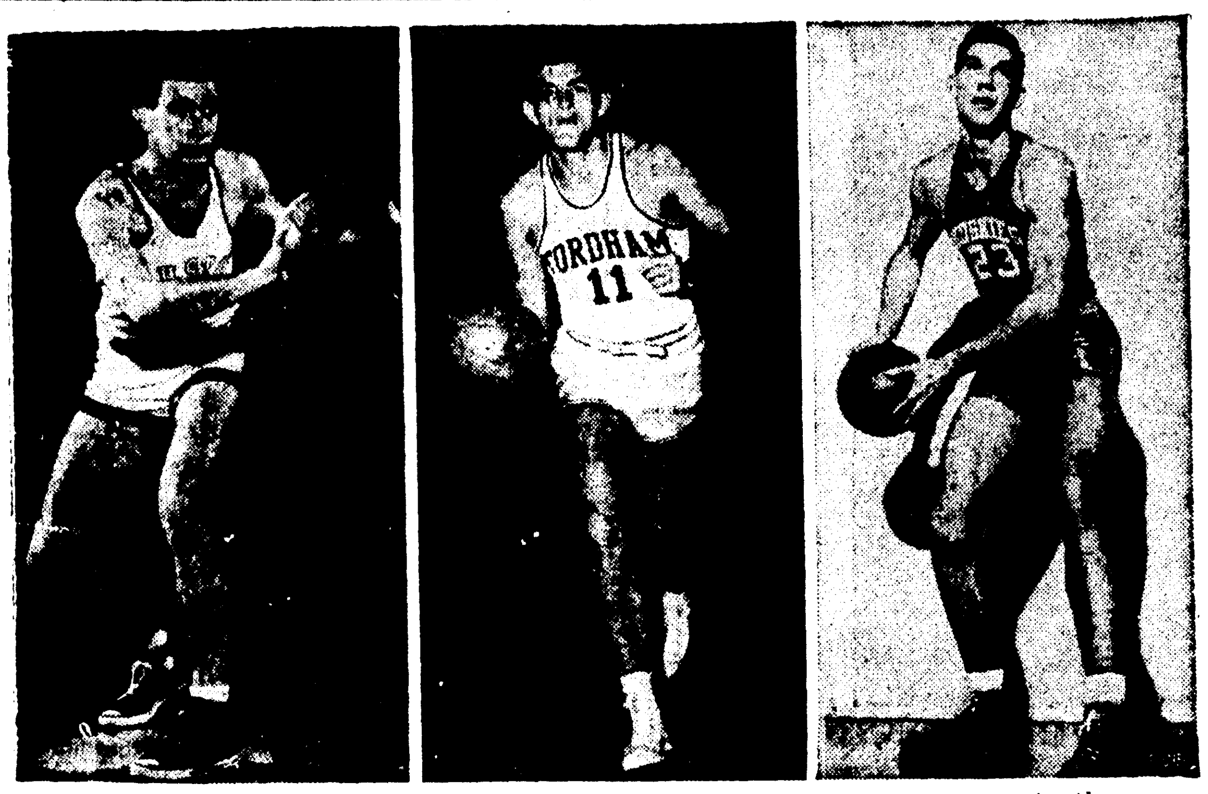
Teams Begin Drills For Orange Tussle

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 27 (AP)—Both Orange Bowl football teams, Alabama and Syracuse, were here today, laboring under a warm sun to get in shape for their New Year's Day battle.

A 46-man Alabama squad arrived by plane Friday. The Syracuse eastern champions have been here since Monday.

From the airport, Alabama Coach Red Drew hustled his team to the University of Miami practice field for a fast workout.

Syracuse concentrated on kicking phases of the game in a light 90-minute workout Friday.



ON THE BALL — Six - foot - seven Bob McCullough, left, moves up to the varsity to give Michigan State height at center. Guard Ed Conlin, center, is the take-charge guy of Fordham's attack. Washington's six - eight Doug McClary ranks among the better forwards in the Pacific Coast Conference. (NEA)

Tennessee Volunteers Test Texas Longhorn Strength In Cotton Bowl

Great Offense Makes Texas Point And One-Half Favorites

DALLAS, Dec. 27 (AP)— A couple of football teams of opposite extremes clash here next Thursday in the seventeenth annual Cotton Bowl game.

Tennessee's Volunteers, the stingiest outfit in college gridiron circles, play the hard — riding Texas Longhorns, who will give you a poke at them but will expect to get in two while you do it

It all makes for the closest odds in the game' history. Texas is favored by a point and a half, probably because the Longhorns are the greatest offensive machine the Southwest Conference ever saw. And if they can control the ball against Tennessee as they have 10 foes during the regular season they should come up to expectations.

Texas has had the pigskin 767 times while the opposition got it 544. Tennessee almost let its opponents have the ball as much as it had it— 629 to 618.

But the significant thing about the statistics is that Tennessee did more offensively than Texas' opponents, meanwhile doing almost twice as well defensively. While Texas averaged 5.04 per play on offense. Texas' foes averaged 4.05. Tennessee 4.4 but let the opposition have only 2.7.

These statistics would appear more significant than a comparison of the season records. Texas and Tennessee play two mutual opponents. Texas beat North Carolina 28-7 and Louisiana State 35-14. Tennessee defeated North Carolina 41-14 and LSU 22-3. Those results give no clue as to the relative strength of the teams except to indicate that they're about on a par.

The other result offers an indirect comparison that might favor Texas. Duke beat Tenn. 7-0—the only licking the Vols absorbed all season. Duke defeated Southern Methodist 14-7 while Texas whammed Southern Methodist 31-14.

But, as Texas followers painfully recall, statistics mean nothing when you start considering Tennessee. In 1950 Texas was far ahead of Tennessee in the figures but on the field Tennessee won 20-14 going away.

Tennessee has helped make the Cotton Bowl a place to be shunned by Texas anyway. In the last several times the Longhorns have appeared in this stadium, either in regular season play or in the Cotton Bowl, they've lost seven games.

There's going to be fun when the fearsome foursome of Texas-Dick Ochoa, Gib Dawson, Billy Quinn and T. Jones, who between them have run and passed for 3,510 yards—hits the steel-pronged defense of the Volunteers, who led the nation by allowing only 166.7 yards per game. This was 234.33 per game less than Texas' backfield was used to making.

Former Grid Player Cleared Of Assault On Former Teammate

CLEVELAND, Dec. 27 (AP)—A 19-year-old former Cleveland Heights high school football player who was sued for $50,000 for breaking a teammate's jaw, today was acquitted of assault and battery charges resulting from the fight.

Stanley Gottlieb, now of Miami, Fla. and a freshman at the University of Miami, said in Mayor Earl W. Aurelius' court at Cleveland Heights that he swung in self-defense.

Harold Eisner, 18, asked $50,000 damages from Gottlieb because Eisner's jaw was fractured in their argument last Aug. 26 over some sweat shirts missing from Gottlieb's locker.

Eisner had said his chances for an athletic scholarship in college have been spoiled. His suit described Eisner as an "expert football player," a tackle.

BOSTON CELTICS 'HOT AND COLD'

Pro Cagers Currently In Three-Game Losing Streak

By The Associated Press

They're beginning to call the the Boston Celtics the "streakiest" team in the National Basketball Association.

The Celtics, who bowed to the Indianapolis Olympians, 85-74, Friday night in the lone game played, seem to thrive on hot and cold streaks.

Boston opened the season by winning two out of three. Then they dropped three straight but bounced back to win seven in a row. Another three game losing streak was followed by an eight game victory skein.

Friday night's beating by Indianapolis was the Celtics' third consecutive defeat and pushed them into third place in the Eastern Division standings behind New York and Syracuse.

The Olympians pulled away to a 40-34 halftime advantage before Boston got hot in the third period and hit on 10 of 21 field goal attempts to even the score, 56-all, at the end of the period.

The Celtics cooled off again in the final stanza as Bill Tosheff of Indianapolis broke a 26-all tie with a pair of baskets and the Olympians moved ahead for keeps. for keeps.

Joe Graboski grabbed scoring laurels for the victors with 25 points and Bill Sharman collected 20 points for Boston.

Frosty Face Takes Sugar Bowl Handicap

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 27 (AP) — William C. Tackett's Frosty Face overcame a poor start to win the $5,000 Sugar Bowl handicap by a length over the Knollwood farm's Paytu today.

Joe W. Brown's Matagorda, favored to take the six furlong race, was a neck back in third place, followed by Task Fleet.

Frosty Face carried 111 pounds and ran the sprint over a slow, damp track in 1:14 3-5. He paid $14.40, $7.60 and $5. Paytu returned $19.20 and $10.80 while Matagorda paid $3.40 to show.

A crowd of 10,469 bet a total of $433,781.

Cinderella Mississippi, In First Sugar Bowl Trip, Test Touted Tech

Two SEC 11's Meet For 1st Time In Bowl History

BILOXI, Miss., Dec. 27 (AP)—Mississippi's 52-man football squad arrived here by plane today to begin final training sessions for a Sugar Bowl date with Georgia Tech at New Orleans on New Year's Day.

Several hundred Rebel rooters and a handful of teammates, spending the Christmas holidays along the Gulf Coast, were on hand to greet the team when it landed early this afternoon.

Coach Johnny Vaught said the team had a fine flight. The squad left Oxford by bus early this morning for Memphis to enplane for this holiday resort.

The famed sunshine of the Gulf Coast was not around to welcome the Cinderella team which earned a Sugar Bowl bid by handing Maryland its first defeat in 22 games late in the season. Instead, 50-degree temperature and a wind-whipped drizzle greeted the unbeaten but twice-tied Rebels.

Vaught, disappointed over the team's recent workouts, hurried the squad to a hotel where the boys dressed out for a practice session on the Biloxi high school athletic field.

The Rebels, ranked in the No. 7 spot in the final Associated Press grid poll, will be making their first appearance in the Sugar Bowl. And they face their toughest assignment in tackling Tech which went through an 11-game schedule without a blemish and finished the season in second place in the AP rankings.

The meeting of Mississippi and Tech in the New Orleans bowl classic marks the first time two Southeastern Conference teams have been pitted in the event's 18-year history.

The Mississippians, with stellar quarterback Jimmy Lear directing a devastating split-T attack, bowled over eight opponents during the regular season but were tied by two SEC teams, Kentucky and Vanderbilt, during the early part of the campaign.

On the other hand, coach Bobby Dodd's charges from Tech beat everything in sight but were hard-pressed to down Auburn and arch-rival Georgia. Late season injuries to key players Leon Hardeman and Billy Teas slowed down Tech's powerful straight-T offensive.

Georgia Tech will fly from the home campus in Atlanta to New Orleans in a chartered plane tomorrow. Dodd said he plans to stage the team's first workout Monday afternoon at the Tulane practice field.

M'ELROY AND CO. IN EL PASO BOWL

Mississippi Southern Meets College Of Pacific Jan. 1

EL PASO, Dec. 27 UP—Mississippi Southern mixes with the College of Pacific in the 18th annual Sun Bowl football game here New Year's Day and the classic Saturday was rated as strictly a toss-up.

The Southerners, who arrived here Saturday by chartered plane from their base at Hattiesburg, Miss., will be fielding the greatest team in the school's 40-year history, one with an impressive 10-1 record.

The lone loss came in the season opener against Orange Bowl-bound Alabama and that by only a respectable 20-to-6 margin.

College of Pacific, due in by train Monday, will bring a 6-3-1 season record into the game, which marks a repeat performance for the Stockton, Calif. school. Last Jan. 1, the COP Tigers lost to Texas Tech.

Both teams feature prominent McCormick, voted one of the best backfield men in northern California, will carry the load for the Tigers, while the boys from the deep South have a one-two scoring punch in Halfback Laurin Pepper and Fullback Bucky McElroy.

Pepper rambled for 1,191 yards, while McElroy collected 1,000 yards and only one point separated them in the scoring column with Pepper's 84 points a shade the better.

McCormick performed brilliantly all season. The 22-year-old 186-pounder carried the ball 155 times for 832 yards, caught 15 passes for 197 yards and ended the season with 97 points.

The records of the two teams indicate a wide-open scoring battle, Mississippi Southern having averaged better than 36 points per game and having chewed up the yardage at the rate of 415 yards per contest, and COP having averaged 28 points and 374 yards per game.

Lemon flavoring added to a plain butter frosting tastes delicious on a spice cake. Make the cake from one of the packaged mixes if you are short on time.

Five Major Bowl Games New Years Day Injury-Marred

SHIN SPLINTS, ADHESIVE TAPE DETERMINE ODDS

Vols Hit Hardest With Chief Runner, Coach Disabled

By WILL GRIMSLEY

NEW YORK, Dec. 27 (AP)—Adhesive tape and shin splints threaten to replace the slide rule in determining odds on the major football bowl games next Thursday with the toll of pre-game casualties reaching record proportions.

Three teams — Georgia Tech, Tennessee and Florida—have seen their chief offensive performers cut down with injuries and Tennessee has lost its veteran coach, the ailing Gen. Bob Neyland.

Southern California's Rose Bowl hopes have been jarred by loss of Jim Psaltis, ace defensive back through ineligibility. The Trojans' Pasadena opponent, Wisconsin, has its fastest runner, Harland Carl, hobbled by a twisted knee.

Tulsa, Florida's opponent in the Gator Bowl, has two line backers on the shelf and a halfback on the doubtful list with a severed Achiles tendon.

Alabama, which takes on Syracuse in Miami's Orange Bowl, is racked with colds and minor injuries, most serious of which is a leg ailment suffered by first string tackle, Jack Smalley.

At last reports, however, the big holiday football festival was to go on as scheduled.

Some 432,000 fans will pay more than $2,000,000 to watch the eight games on New Year's Day and the Senior Bowl event at Mobile, Ala., the following Saturday. Millions of others, comprising what is expected to be the largest football viewing audience in history, will witness the battles by television, unrestricted for the occasion.

The four big bowls all have national television commitments. The National Broadcasting Company will telecast the Rose Bowl as well as the Cotton Bowl fray between Tennessee and Texas. American Broadcasting Company will put the Sugar Bowl tiff between Georgia Tech and Mississippi on the picture tubes while Columbia Broadcasting System will do the Orange Bowl at Miami. The Sugar, Orange and Cotton Bowl games all start at 2 p. m. while the Rose Bowl begins at 5 p. m. (EST).

The largest turnout in the flesh, as usual, will attend the Rose Bowl classic at Pasadena, the grandpapa of the post-season extravaganzas. A crowd of 103,000 is expected and receipts totaling $400,000, not counting TV and radio proceeds would make it a near million dollar enterprise.

Southern Cal, beat only by Notre Dame in the final game of the campaign, is favored by a touchdown over Wisconsin, the Big Ten co - champion, but the Trojans' odds may be changed by the loss of Psaltis, a great defensive back. Psaltis was ruled ineligible because he had played junior varsity ball.

The Trojans, seeking their ninth bowl victory, also have two guards in bad shape—Bob Peviani, with the flu, and Bob Cox, with a hip injury. Wisconsin's main casualty is Carl, the team's fastest halfback, who may not be able to play.

Tennessee may go into the Cotton Bowl game at Dallas without its top scorer and ground gainer, Andy Kozar, and the chief of the brains department, General Neyland. Kozar has a fractured pelvis and is almost certain not to play. Neyland has been ordered by doctors to rest. He may view the game as a spectator while Harvey Robinson fills in as head coach.

Texas appears in top shape and rules a 1½ point favorite to whip the Volunteers, their upset conquerors in 1951 at Dallas.

None is in much worse shape than Georgia Tech, which carries its unbeaten record against twice-tied Missisippi in the Sugar Bowl. Billy Teas has a broken collar - bone and Leon Hardeman has a bum ankle. The Engineers' top ground gainers with more than 4000 yards between them, both are doubtful starters.

This could radically alter odds which favor Tech by seven points. Mississippi, seventh ranked nationally, had the country's ninth most effective offense during the fall, with an average of 383.1 yards a game.

Despite nagging colds and minor ailments, Alabama is a whopping 3½ point choice in the Orange Bowl. Syracuse is making its bowl debut and the first team in the East in five years to qualify for a post-season spot.

Although Syracuse coach Floyd Schwartzwalder calls the Tide "the most powerful team I ever saw," he hopes to spring an upset with Pat Stark, a good-passing quarterback, and Bill Wetzel, 205-pound fullback who's just back from driving a truck in Korea.

Florida's ambitions of whipping Tulsa in the Gator Bowl at Jacksonville have been tempered by the loss of Doug Dickey, the team's No. 1 quarterback, who is out with a pulled leg muscle.

Without Dickey, Florida would have to depend mostly on the triple threat flash, Rick Casares, to offset the damage expected from Tulsa's hard - running Howie Waugh, the nation's leading ground gainer.

Tulsa has two line backers injured—Angelo Prassa, with a broken hand, and Eddie Lach, with a bum leg — and a halfback, Gene Helwig, out with a severed Achilles tendon.

The Salad Bowl at Phoenix pits the San Diego Naval training center against the 101st Airborne Division. The Tangerine Bowl at Orlando, Fla., matches East Texas State and Tennessee Tech. And the Sun Bowl at El Paso, Tex., sends Mississippi Southern against Col.

Badger Bandwagon Becomes Crowded As Trojan Rose Bowl Stock Drops

Southern Cal Defense Vs. Wisconsin Offense Looms

PASADENA, Calif., Dec. 27. (AP)—The kickoff hour for the annual Rose Bowl football game draws nearer and the margin of favoritism draws tighter for the clash between Wisconsin, co-champion of the Big Ten, and Southern California, ruler of the Pacific Coast Conference.

As this is written, most of the experts still lean toward Southern California as the favorite. But few of these feel overly confident.

The Wisconsin bandwagon is almost as crowded as the Trojan camp, however, and well represented among the badger selectors are West Coast grid observers.

These westerners have been well indoctrinated by the six previous visits of Big Ten teams to the Pasadena Bowl -- Illinois and Michigan twice apiece, and Northwestern and Ohio State.

Ignoring these experiences, which is a difficult matter, of course, the western observers feel (1) that Wisconsin is a far better team than some have tried to make them believe, and (2) the Trojans have yet to display championship offensive tactics.

Most all agree that Coach Jess Hill's Trojans are tremendous defensively. Only against Notre Dame, to whom they lost, were the Troys ineffective. Their season's feat of holding 10 foes to 2.6 yards per play, as compared to the Badgers' 3.9, indicates this strength.

Seemingly, Wisconsin's defen - sive platoon is not as effective as that thrown up by Bob Peviani, Elmer Willhoite and Bob Van Doren in the line, or the two linebackers, Marvin Goux and George Timberlake.

Notre Dame found a way, however, and admirers of Wisconsin Coach Ivy Williamson believe he is more than smart enough to do the same with his quick breaking T-style of play.

Williamson has kept his practice closed to all but intimate followers of the Badgers. He has said he plans nothing particularly new in his attack. It'll be the usual T-stuff, with "some spread formation." he declared.

The Trojans might take this casual comment with a large grain of salt. The Williamson offense hammered out 3,497 yards running and passing and averaged 5.2 yards each play.

He is genuinely honest when he labels the S. C. defense as "tremendous," so it stands to reason he isn't going to be content to hit them with the "usual" attack he employed all season.

Key man in this assault is the quarterback, Jim Haluska, a sophomore from Racine who pitched 112 completions out of 119 throws for 1,410 yards and 12 touchdowns.

Work horses in the running department are fullback Alan (The Horse) Ameche and right halfback Jerry Witt.

Wisconsin's worries at left halfback are well known. The No. 1 breakaway artist, Harland Carl, missed a lot of the season because of injuries, and Bill Hutchinson filled in. Now Carl is nursing a new knee injury and whether he starts the game seems problematical.

Williamson has not appeared unduly worried about this. He merely pointed out that this was "nothing new."

The other result offers an indirect comparison that might favor Texas. Duke beat Tenn. 7-0—the only licking the Vols absorbed all season. Duke defeated Southern Methodist 14-7 while Texas whammed Southern Methodist 31-14.

But, as Texas followers painfully recall, statistics mean nothing when you start considering Tennessee. In 1950 Texas was far ahead of Tennessee in the figures but on the field Tennessee won 20-14 going away.

Tennessee has helped make the Cotton Bowl a place to be shunned by Texas anyway. In the last several times the Longhorns have appeared in this stadium, either in regular season play or in the Cotton Bowl, they've lost seven games.

There's going to be fun when the fearsome foursome of Texas-Dick Ochoa, Gib Dawson, Billy Quinn and T. Jones, who between them have run and passed for 3,510 yards—hits the steel-pronged defense of the Volunteers, who led the nation by allowing only 166.7 yards per game. This was 234.33 per game less than Texas' backfield was used to making.

Former Grid Player Cleared Of Assault On Former Teammate

CLEVELAND, Dec. 27 (AP)—A 19-year-old former Cleveland Heights high school football player who was sued for $50,000 for breaking a teammate's jaw, today was acquitted of assault and battery charges resulting from the fight.

Stanley Gottlieb, now of Miami, Fla. and a freshman at the University of Miami, said in Mayor Earl W. Aurelius' court at Cleveland Heights that he swung in self-defense.

Harold Eisner, 18, asked $50,000 damages from Gottlieb because Eisner's jaw was fractured in their argument last Aug. 26 over some sweat shirts missing from Gottlieb's locker.

Eisner had said his chances for an athletic scholarship in college have been spoiled. His suit described Eisner as an "expert football player," a tackle.

BOSTON CELTICS 'HOT AND COLD'

Pro Cagers Currently In Three-Game Losing Streak

By The Associated Press

They're beginning to call the the Boston Celtics the "streakiest" team in the National Basketball Association.

The Celtics, who bowed to the Indianapolis Olympians, 85-74, Friday night in the lone game played, seem to thrive on hot and cold streaks.

Boston opened the season by winning two out of three. Then they dropped three straight but bounced back to win seven in a row. Another three game losing streak was followed by an eight game victory skein.

Friday night's beating by Indianapolis was the Celtics' third consecutive defeat and pushed them into third place in the Eastern Division standings behind New York and Syracuse.

The Olympians pulled away to a 40-34 halftime advantage before Boston got hot in the third period and hit on 10 of 21 field goal attempts to even the score, 56-all, at the end of the period.

The Celtics cooled off again in the final stanza as Bill Tosheff of Indianapolis broke a 26-all tie with a pair of baskets and the Olympians moved ahead for keeps. for keeps.

Joe Graboski grabbed scoring laurels for the victors with 25 points and Bill Sharman collected 20 points for Boston.

Frosty Face Takes Sugar Bowl Handicap

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 27 (AP) — William C. Tackett's Frosty Face overcame a poor start to win the $5,000 Sugar Bowl handicap by a length over the Knollwood farm's Paytu today.

Joe W. Brown's Matagorda, favored to take the six furlong race, was a neck back in third place, followed by Task Fleet.

Frosty Face carried 111 pounds and ran the sprint over a slow, damp track in 1:14 3-5. He paid $14.40, $7.60 and $5. Paytu returned $19.20 and $10.80 while Matagorda paid $3.40 to show.

A crowd of 10,469 bet a total of $433,781.

Cinderella Mississippi, In First Sugar Bowl Trip, Test Touted Tech

Two SEC 11's Meet For 1st Time In Bowl History

BILOXI, Miss., Dec. 27 (AP)—Mississippi's 52-man football squad arrived here by plane today to begin final training sessions for a Sugar Bowl date with Georgia Tech at New Orleans on New Year's Day.

Several hundred Rebel rooters and a handful of teammates, spending the Christmas holidays along the Gulf Coast, were on hand to greet the team when it landed early this afternoon.

Coach Johnny Vaught said the team had a fine flight. The squad left Oxford by bus early this morning for Memphis to enplane for this holiday resort.

The famed sunshine of the Gulf Coast was not around to welcome the Cinderella team which earned a Sugar Bowl bid by handing Maryland its first defeat in 22 games late in the season. Instead, 50-degree temperature and a wind-whipped drizzle greeted the unbeaten but twice-tied Rebels.

Vaught, disappointed over the team's recent workouts, hurried the squad to a hotel where the boys dressed out for a practice session on the Biloxi high school athletic field.

The Rebels, ranked in the No. 7 spot in the final Associated Press grid poll, will be making their first appearance in the Sugar Bowl. And they face their toughest assignment in tackling Tech which went through an 11-game schedule without a blemish and finished the season in second place in the AP rankings.

The meeting of Mississippi and Tech in the New Orleans bowl classic marks the first time two Southeastern Conference teams have been pitted in the event's 18-year history.

The Mississippians, with stellar quarterback Jimmy Lear directing a devastating split-T attack, bowled over eight opponents during the regular season but were tied by two SEC teams, Kentucky and Vanderbilt, during the early part of the campaign.

On the other hand, coach Bobby Dodd's charges from Tech beat everything in sight but were hard-pressed to down Auburn and arch-rival Georgia. Late season injuries to key players Leon Hardeman and Billy Teas slowed down Tech's powerful straight-T offensive.

Georgia Tech will fly from the home campus in Atlanta to New Orleans in a chartered plane tomorrow. Dodd said he plans to stage the team's first workout Monday afternoon at the Tulane practice field.

M'ELROY AND CO. IN EL PASO BOWL

Mississippi Southern Meets College Of Pacific Jan. 1

EL PASO, Dec. 27 UP—Mississippi Southern mixes with the College of Pacific in the 18th annual Sun Bowl football game here New Year's Day and the classic Saturday was rated as strictly a toss-up.

The Southerners, who arrived here Saturday by chartered plane from their base at Hattiesburg, Miss., will be fielding the greatest team in the school's 40-year history, one with an impressive 10-1 record.

The lone loss came in the season opener against Orange Bowl-bound Alabama and that by only a respectable 20-to-6 margin.

College of Pacific, due in by train Monday, will bring a 6-3-1 season record into the game, which marks a repeat performance for the Stockton, Calif. school. Last Jan. 1, the COP Tigers lost to Texas Tech.

Both teams feature prominent McCormick, voted one of the best backfield men in northern California, will carry the load for the Tigers, while the boys from the deep South have a one-two scoring punch in Halfback Laurin Pepper and Fullback Bucky McElroy.

Pepper rambled for 1,191 yards, while McElroy collected 1,969 yards and only one point separated them in the scoring column with Pepper's 84 points a shade the better.

McCormick performed brilliantly all season. The 22-year-old 186-pounder carried the ball 155 times for 832 yards, caught 15 passes for 197 yards and ended the season with 97 points.

The records of the two teams indicate a wide-open scoring battle, Mississippi Southern having averaged better than 36 points per game and having chewed up the yardage at the rate of 415 yards per contest, and COP having averaged 28 points and 374 yards per game.

Lemon flavoring added to a plain butter frosting tastes delicious on a spice cake. Make the cake from one of the packaged mixes if you are short on time.

Railroads Lead Stocks To New 21-Year Highs

By ELMER C. WALZER
United Press Financial Editor

NEW YORK (U.P.) — Railroad shares displaced petroleum issues as market leaders in the 1952 bull market which reached new highs for more than 21 years.

It was a bull market because the leading averages showed it to be one. But many stocks declined. A long list lost 10 to 40 per cent and a few had losses ranging to more than 50 per cent compared with their 1951 closings. Trading lightened.

It was a selective rise in two parts. One terminated in early August. The second came at election time when Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower was swept into the presidency.

Wall Street, like the pollsters, missed the election by a mile. No one made predictions but the market's decline was said to reflect the thinking of the traders to such extent that the experts said the share list had practically discounted election of Adlai Stevenson.

As the year ended Wall Street appraised the market situation. The rise has been going on more or less for many years. Some hold this bull market got its start in 1948. If so it has risen by $45,000,000,000 since then. Others hold that the rise really dates back to April of 1942. If so the gain in value of all listed issues is $87,000,000,000.

Allowing for the sharp rise in the number of shares listed in those periods the dollar gains would be cut down to $15,000,000,000 for the 1948-1952 period and to $35,000,000,000 for the 1942-1952 period.

No matter which date of origin is taken, the experts hold that the market has had a long advance. Hence the predictions on the future are based somewhat on that situation. They are not enthusiastic. Nor are they pessismistic. More selectivity is foreseen with enough momentum to bring further new highs. A few enthusiasts see a bettering of the records set in 1929 but they aren't very boisterous in their predictions.

It all depends, says the experts, on what business does. As the year closed, there were favorable and unfavorable predictions on the business curve. The economists were practically unanimous in holding that the first half of 1953 would be excellent. After that they were in disagreement.

But a majority seemed convinced that industrial and government leaders would invoke every known device to prevent a setback that would play into Russian hands. Hence with business holding high, there was a belief the market had some more steam in it—enough, the analysts said to lift it to further new highs on somewhat more active trading in 1953.

Best gainers in 1952 along with the rails were the televisons, rail equipments, motors, automobile issues and equipments, tires, utilities, specialty steels, tobaccos, and papers. Wider declines were furnished by the oils, sugars, chemicals, liquors, amusements, textiles, coals, pharmaceuticals, and meat packers.

The market is said to be without excesses and the experts hold a real decline will not develop until there is a play in the speculative groups. Some tendency toward greater speculation was noted late in the year.

A great deal of stock has been taken off the market by individual investors, pension funds, union welfare funds, insurance companies, trusts and banks. It would take a large amount of selling to dislodge these holdings, it is said in investment circles.

Hubby Needed To Awaken Stricken Wife From Coma

CLARKSDALE, Miss., Dec. 27 (AP)—Raymond Graves, a long distance truck driver, was reported in California today while his critically ill wife called for him.

Police chief H. D. Scherck said Graves' father telephoned here from Las Cruces, N. M., that his son had learned of the illness yesterday and would try to come to Clarksdale.

The father said that his son had telephoned him from "somewhere in California." The parents live in Fair Acres, N. M.

Mrs. Graves, 26, has been hospitalized since Tuesday and calling for her 24-year-old husband.

Scherck said that if the truck driver telephoned the police station a recording would be made of his voice and taken to his wife so she might hear him again.

Doctors said Mrs. Graves, a bride of three months, was suffering from acute shock following a telephone conversation Tuesday night with her husband.

Her father, Walter White, who operates a farm on the outskirts of Clarksdale, told the San Francisco Call-Bulletin by telephone today that his daughter's husband was believed to be in Oakland. White appealed to Graves, who he said had delivered a truckload of produce "around the bay recently," to hurry home.

"The doctors say she may snap out of it if he comes back," White said. "I don't know exactly what he told her in their phone talk, but from her mumblings it sounds like he suggested a divorce.

"My daughter just seemed to black out almost immediately.

"I think he was phoning from a nightclub in Oakland somewhere."

Police said they had been unable to locate Graves on the basis of the meager information available.

Road Link To Span Indian Border Towns

KATHMANDU, Nepal (AP)— It will take motorists only six hours to drive from the Indian border town of Raxaul to this Nepalese capitol city when Indian army engineers finish road construction work now underway.

Seven bulldozers recently arrived here by the land route—a risky journey involving passage over three steep mountains, with the existing path usually not fit even for horses.

By the end of January, jeeps may be able to cover the 60-mile distance of the roadbed after the bulldozers have completed preliminary clearing operations.

Cow Cowed By Smog Now Cured By Grog

BY TOM A. CULLEN

LONDON — (NEA) — If your cow's ever stricken by smog, get her to try some grog.

Euroma of Clashfarquhar did an dit made her Britain's best bovine.

Euroma's rescue by whiskey bottle came soon after her owner arrived from the U. S. to watch her perform in England's top livestock show.

Flying from Springfield, Ill., rancher Tom Chalmers got here on the eve of the Smithfield Show, patronized this year by Queen Elizabeth II, to find he had a very sick cow.

Accustomed to the clean, sweet mists of her native Scottish highlands, Euroma was slowly choking to death on London's dirty yellow smog fumes.

"She'd stopped cudding," Chalmers recalls, "and when a cow stops chewing her cud, she's done. I wouldn't have given a plugged nickel for Euroma's chances at the judging."

For the next two nights, the 55-year-old rancher never took off his clothes. He stayed with the ailing Aberdeen Angus heifer at the fairgrounds, determined to pull her through.

First he made a respirator out of sacking to filter the dirt from the air. When it failed to bring Euroma around, his next step was to send for some whiskey.

"When I get a cold myself, I find a wee drop consoling," he explained in his soft Scotch burr. "So I figured it might do the trick with Euroma."

It did just that. At the first whiff of the original Dugan's Dew, the heifer began to show life again. A few hours of repeated soaking of her muzzle respirator with the rare spirits and she was on her feet.

Some of the 400 - odd prize cattle who were also hit by the smog illness didn't fare so well. Fourteen of them died or were slaughtered. Others were saved only by penicillin injections and the use of oxygen inhalators.

The next afternoon Euroma bested the pick of Britain's beef cattle to win the King's perpetual Challange Cup going away — with nary a stagger.

Chalmers — a short, ruddy-faced man who goes in for red and green stripped ties — is taking no more chances on the inclemency of England's climate.

He is making arrangements to ship Euroma as quickly as possible to the U. S., where he hopes she will win many more prizes—this time without any pick - me-ups.

MARATHONERS TO TRY AGAIN

Joseph John Cascio Will Attempt Record Monroe-Bastrop Walk

The epidemic of marathon walks between Monroe and Bastrop which broke out early this year but which has remained dormant for a number of months, apparently is ready to break out anew. Plans for another walk were announced Saturday by R. W. Gregory, local barber, who is acting as trainer for the newest aspirant.

Joseph John Cascio, 208 South Fifth street, Monroe, says he is confident he will be able to beat the record of George Copeland, present holder of the championship. He will make the attempt on Jan. 25. Last April, Copeland walked from the city limits of Bastrop to the city limits of Monroe, a distance of 21 miles, in four hours and seven minutes. Since that time five other marathoners have tried the hike but none has equalled Copeland's record.

Gregory says that Cascio, who is sponsored by Tom Cappo, is master of the lengthy stride. Cascio is six feet, two inches tall and says he walks from 15 to 20 miles a day on hunting excursions. Because he is taller than any of the others who have walked and has long legs that are trained and toughened by long daily tramping through woods and fields, Cascio believes he is the one who will break Copeland's record. Cascio is confident he could make a 30-mile walk with no difficulty.

EISENHOWERS ENJOY CHRISTMAS LIKE HOME FOLKS — An electric train intrigues the Eisenhower family in Ike's Columbia University campus home in New York as the family gathers around the tree to try out some of Santa's gifts. The President - elect and his wife, Mamie, have as much fun as their grandchildren, Susan, 11 months, held by Mrs. Eisenhower; David, 4, and Barbara Anne, 3, holding her doll. At left is great grandmother, Mrs. Elvira Doud, Mamie's mother, and at right is Mrs. John Eisenhower, daughter - in - law of Ike and Mamie. (AP Wirephoto)

If you are making cake or cookies that call for baking soda, cream the baking soda with the shortening and sugar. This is a method that many professional bakers use to insure fine texture in the baked product.

When you are scoring a ham, just before glazing, stud each diamond with a whole clove. Garnish the baked ham with spiced crabapples and parsley or watercress for a pretty platter.

Morehouse Parish Council Has Yule Party In Bastrop

In colder climates than ours, where snows come early and stay long past the holiday season, the sound of "Jingle Bells" may fall on more accustomed ears than in our sunny South. Here, the mild fall months fly by and it is always of a sudden that December comes upon us. But once the hustle-bustle of holiday preparation begins, our Christmas spirit is hard to beat. Among the festive events heralding the holiday season was the Morehouse Parish Home Demonstration Council's annual Christmas party held from 10 'till 2, December 16 at the Parish House in Bastrop.

Carrying out the Yuletide theme, a novel gift exchange was featured. All gifts were placed under the huge cedar tree which was elaborately decorated. As club members arrived, they were assisted by Mrs. A. C. Ritchie and Mrs. Leon Doles in registering and presenting gifts at a small table that contained a Christmas decoration of silver cedar branches, silver cones and red berries.

Welcome remarks and a summary of the year's accomplishments were made by Mrs. Carl Howell, council president. She presided at the central table which used the holiday motif in its arrangement of red berries interspersed with cedar and flanked by red candles.

"Jingle Bells" and "Little Town of Bethlehem" were sung by the group with Mrs. Melton Pickett as song leader.

As a means of getting acquainted, Mrs. David Doles conducted a trip to the North Pole. The entire group made the trip in different means of transportation during this game.

With Mrs. Hazel Herlevic in charge, a guessing game concerning famous women was conducted. One lady from each parish club was dressed to represent a famous woman, and a brief character sketch of each was given as a clue for identification. The audience quickly recognized such characters as Beulah, Molly Pitcher, Scrooge, Minnie Pearl, Hedda Hopper and Queen Thedora.

One of the highlights of this annual affair is the awarding of prizes to outstanding club members and clubs. This was begun with Mrs. Elton Robinson giving recognition to Food Preservation Leaders who were awarded certificates. They were Mesdames: W. R. Wimbish, R. C. Anderson, Dale Crawford, David Doles, G. G. Stell, Fort Doles, Wesley Bunch, Hawkins Dillon, Julian Kinnard, W. F. Doles, Jr., George Howell, Jack McCarty, Julian Hogan and Leon Doles.

After announcing McGinty as being the most outstanding club in the parish the past year, Mrs. Dale Crawford summarized its accomplishments which led to its being selected as such.

Receiving rose bushes as awards for having 100 percent attendance at council meeting were Mesdames: D. M. Pickett, David Doles, Dale Crawford, Ida Perkins, R. W. Wallace, R. T. McGown, Gip Johnson.

Gardenia bushes were presented as awards to the outstanding club members of the past year—Mrs. Dale Crawford, Victory; Mrs. G. G. Stell, McGinty; Mrs. Philip Bunch, Jones; Mrs. Carl Howell, Hilltop; Mrs. D. M Pickett; 3rd Ward; Mrs. R. E. Harrison, Pine Grove; Mrs. R. T. McGowan, Johnson; Mrs. Foster Perry, Perryville; Mrs. N. B. Pratt, Redbud; Mrs. E. C. Morris, Collinston.

Prior to a delicious dinner of chicken and dressing, salads, English peas, coffee and an assortment of cakes and pies, Mrs. Ida Perkins, offered the Christmas blessing. During the dinner and social hour, recorded Christmas music was furnished by the Victory Club.

Further continuing the awards for the past club year's work, Mrs. G. G. Stell, McGinty club president, was recognized as being the most outstanding club member in the parish. As her guide in leading her club, she used the Club Collect and Ten Commandments for Homemakers which she emphasized as regular practice to all her club followers. In presenting Mrs. Stell the pot plant, Mrs. Gip Johnson mentioned the effort put forth by the parish winner—the practicing of one of the club's Ten Commandments — "give service to thy community."

Mrs. Foster Perry accepted the award for the Perryville Club which received first place for its map of Louisiana which was judged by a local sixth grade class. Receiving honorable mention were Victory and McGinty. She then presented McGinty with first place prize for its scrapbook of which Miss Frances Alexander was judge. Assisting in presenting the many awards of the day were Mesdames: E. L. Heckford, Dale Crawford, Elton Robinson and Gip Johnson.

Mary Nesbitt, Westside 4-H Club member, gave an inspirational reading—"Her Christmas Prayer." On behalf of the council, Mrs. Hazel Herlevic presented her a gift.

During the transaction of routine business the council voted to continue observing National Home Demonstration Week. The 1953 council meetings will be held at the new V. F. W. Hall on the old Monroe road the third Tuesday of every other month. For the council's accumulation, each club member will donate a plate, cup and glass. The usual money used for renting a meeting place will be used to buy the silver. These utensils will be left at the V. F. W. Hall as a token of appreciation for the free use of the hall.

In her usual impressive manner, Miss Elizabeth Williams, Morehouse Parish Home Demonstration Agent, conducted a unique installation service for the Morehouse Parish Home Demonstration Council for the club year of 1953. Using a table decor of a Madonna figurine with a background of an arrangement of silver cedar clusters and 3 blue candles, she lighted each candle during the installation at the appropriate time. The burning of the first candle represented the first light of extension work that came to our nation in 1904 when demonstrations were first used to teach better farming. This national light of the United States Department of Agriculture reaches out to the 48 states. The lighting of the second candle represented the State Staff which through its work keeps the work going over all 64 parishes. The third candle represented our own parish whose rays reach out to every home and community of Morehouse Parish. As each new officer took his place before the group, Miss Williams dedicated a different part of the Club Collect to his particular office; this was to serve as his guiding star. Executive officers elected to carry the responsibility of putting into action the wishes of the body were: Mrs. Carl Howell, president; Mrs. Dale Crawford, president-elect; Mrs. G. G. Stell, vice-president; Mrs. Leon Doles, reporter; Mrs. Ralph Hunt, treasurer; Mrs. S. E. Amos and Mrs. Gip Johnson, secretary and parliamentarian.

With the rising of all club officers of the parish, Miss Williams expressed how the responsibility of casting the glow from the council depends upon the president and the officers. As all heads were bowed, she closed the installation ceremony by reading the entire Club Collect.

Following the singing of "Silent Night" with Mrs. Pickett leading, numbers were drawn and gifts distributed to Mesdames: Ralph Hunt, John Herlevic, A. C. Ritchie, Charles Moore, E. F. Hughes, R. E. Farrar, Dale Crawford, W. H. Day, L. Harrison, J. B. Naff, Estes Wilkinson, Earl White and Sandy, Elton Robinson, J. L. Westbrook, Jackie Mitchell, Foster Perry, Elizabeth Williams, Carl Howell, George Chain, J. W. Westbrook, Howard Harrison, Winifred Day, R. T. McGowan, J. L. MARRIAGE ANNOUNCED — Mrs. Malcolm L. Bamburg, before her marriage Wednesday, December 24, was Miss Euthara Coates, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Coates. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Cowan Bamburg.

Dallas, Texas Scene Of Wedding

Col. and Mrs. Nelson Henry Smith of Washington, D. C. announce the marriage of their daughter, Mrs. Pamela Russell Jure, to Oron Morgan Dowdey, Junior of Monroe, La. The wedding took place on Octber 25th in Dallas, Tex.

Mrs. Dowdey attended the University of Alabama where she was a member of the Zeta Tau Alpha sorority. Mr. Dowdey, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Oron Morgan Dowdey, Sr., of this city, attended Southern Methodist University, where he was affiliated with the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity, and is currently associated with Braniff Airways.

Engagement Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Sidney R. Moore announce the engagement of Mrs. Moore's daughter, Miss Lucia Ann Lewis, to Mr. Robert Leo Tirmenstein of Bloomfield, Missouri. The wedding will be celebrated Febuary 1. Miss Lewis is a graduate of Stephens College, Columbia, Missouri and is now attending La. State University. Mr. Tirmenstein attended Southeast Missouri State College, Cape Girardeau, Missouri and served two years in the armed forces with the 313th Army Band. He currently heads own dance band which is on tour of southern states.

Croquettes are a wonderful way to use up tiny scraps of meat. It matters not whether it's beef, ham or fowl. For an unusually delectable touch we add about ⅓ cup of pitted ripe olives to each cup of meat. You'd be surprised how glorified the croquettes become.

Dance Compliments Miss Weisenfeld, Sonny Oswalt

Adding greatly to the joy of the Christmas season for the younger social set was the dance on Tuesday evening, at the American Legion home on Bayou Tensas, honoring Miss Gaye Weisenfeld of California and Kenneth (Sonny) Oswalt, home from L. S. U. with Mr. and Mrs. Earl Oswalt and Mr. and Mrs. Sedric Wilson, the hosts.

Mrs. Oswalt received her guests wearing a gown of peacock blue rose patterned, Chantilly lace combined with black taffeta. The allover lace bolero was cuffed in a deep flare of black. Her shoulder corsage was of red happiness rosebuds with silvered ribbon.

Miss Sara Ann Schneider, in the receiving line with Mrs. Oswalt and the honored guests, was chic in a formal of separates, with patio length blue nylon skirt and black velvet haltered boned bodice. Her shoulder corsage was an orchid.

Miss Weisenfeld, in her presentation to the younger set, impressed them with her charm and graciousness, wearing a bewitching bare - top bouffant all white model, of unhemmed nylon net. From bustline to waist the bodice was braided in iridescent green sequins. Her corsage was of orchids.

Invited into the lounge by Miss Linda Gail Oswalt and Miss Michael Ann Terral, standing within the French doors, they portrayed the loveliness of the teen-agers. Miss Oswalt's gown of white nylon net had narrow net ruffling outlining the strapless bodice. A matching detachable apron fronted the full skirt. For color contrast she added a narrow red velvet sash, which fell skirt length. Her red corsage matched the flowers in her hair. Miss Terral's canary nylon net gown had narrow pleated ruffling to front the snug bodice and to edge the shoulder framed shrug of matching nylon. A corsage of pink and white forget-me-nots was worn at the beltline.

The lounge offered the alluring decoration of Christmas with shimmering, ceiling high tree, potted green vines, frosted magnolia leaves on cabinets and tables, and silvered bells and gay baubles, from ceiling lights to door decorations.

At the refreshment table, overlaid with white, lace paneled Quaker cloth centered with decor in green and red, effectively combining low red candles, glitter twist, silvered Christmas ornaments, all based with green satin ribbon and lacelon.

White Quaker cloth, paneled and hemmed with lace, covered the refreshment table, resplendent in a setting of silver and crystal. The decor, low red candles, glitter twist, green ribbon and lacelon border, was cast in the mellow glow of silver candelabra holding tall slim red candles. Trays of sandwiches, fruit cake, and candies were served with the punch, over which Mrs. Brady Oswalt presided, assisted by her daughter, Carolyn. Mrs. Oswalt's one piece model was of purple nylon satin, with bolero for the strapless bodice. Skirt fullness was added by clustered gathers on either side of the skirt. Her shoulder corsage was of sweetheart camellias. Miss Oswalt's blonde loveliness was enchanced by a formal of pink nylon net, scattered with pink satin bows

Music furnished by Hugo Moraro's orchestra, the delicious refreshments and the hospitality of the hosts, were enjoyed by Miss Wiesenfeld, and Mr. Kenneth Oswalt; Miss Sara Ann Schneider and Paul Zimmer; Miss Beverly McKenzie and Michael Brown; Miss Betty Delony and Bubber Brown; Parker Parra and Miss Jimmie Holder of Oak Grove; Crawford Rose, Jr., and Miss Carolyn Rentz; Skeet Wells and Miss Rose Marie Maggio; Bug Ragland and Miss Peggy Schwartz; Billy Abernethy and Miss Virginia Hidder; Max Smilow and Miss Marilyn Wilson; Richard DiTammaso and Miss Bobbie Robinson; Joe Avery and Miss Allein Harkey; John Russell Davis and Miss Tommy Sue Proctor; Buddy Barnett and Miss Lu Lu Posey; Fred Phillips and Miss Jeanie Mosley, Oak Grove; Jerry Mitchell, Natchitoches, and Miss Janet Haley, Lake Village, Ark.; Gordon Bowers, Jr., and Miss Dorothy Cox; Bill Gore and Miss Kathleen Evans; Don Hull and Miss Amanda Brown; Frank McEacharn and Miss Ann Thomas, both of Delhi; Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Ragland, and Mrs. A. F. Neal, and stags, Gerald Brown, Seymour Myers, Jr., Buddy Ragus, Reynold Minsky, Harold Eastepp, Marion Chaney and Pete Mangum.

Officers Installed

On Monday evening, Dec. 15, 1952 the 1953 officers of Louise L. McGuire Chapter No. 4, O. E. S. were installed at the Masonic Temple at 8 o'clock.

The chapter room and banquet hall were decorated with beautiful silver, blue and white arrangements.

Preceding the installation service, members and visitors enjoyed a piano prelude of Christmas music by Mrs. Nell Bennett.

Guests were welcomed by the retiring worthy matron, Mrs. Virginia Morgan. She then presented twenty five and fifty year certificates to members of the chapter.

Candles were lighted in the east by Misses Mary Lou Trawick and Patsy White. Mr. E. M. Wooten and Mr. Danny Jim Sullivan sang "Cantique de Noel."

Installing officers were introduced by the retiring matron as follows: Mrs. Lovie Gregory, P. G. M. as grand installing officer; Mrs. Phyllis Cozine, P. M. as grand installing marshal; Mrs. Birdie Mae Mulbern, P. G. M. as grand installing chaplain and Mrs. Willie Mae Wafer, P. M. as grand installing organist.

The following officers were impressively installed: Mrs. Jennie Sullivan, worthy matron; Mr. Carter Cozine, worthy patron; Mrs. Ruby Penton, associate matron; Mr. Levi Boone, associate patron; Mrs. Arrah Culver, secretary; Mrs. Faye Wilson, treasurer; Mrs. Elise Baugh, conductress; Mrs. Ruth Mickel, associate conductress; Mrs. Kathryn Morgan, chaplain; Mrs. Elizabeth Hill, marshal; Mrs. Nell Bennett, organist; Mrs. Estelle Hooper, Adah; Mrs. Dorothy Standard, Ruth; Mrs. Mary Kelley, Esther; Mrs. Irene Smith, Martha; Mrs. Lavania Woodburn, Electa; Mrs. Patty Spencer, warder; and Mr. T. W. Ware, sentinel.

"Star of the East" was sung to the newly installed worthy matron, Mrs. Jennie Sullivan by Mr. Wooten and Mr. Danny Jim Sullivan.

After members and visitors were graciously greeted by the newly installed matron and patron, a group of Rainbow girls played a lovely tribute to Mrs. Sullivan, matron.

The junior past matron and junior past patron, Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Morgan signed the page of past matrons and past patrons in the Altar Bible and were escorted to the East where they were presented with their past matron's and past patron's pins in a clever manner.

At the close of the program, delicious refreshments were served in the banquet hall. Mrs. Margaret Hartman and Mrs. Mennie Collier presided over the lovely silver services pouring tea and coffee.

Adding greatly to the joy of the Christmas season for the younger social set was the dance on Tuesday evening, at the American Legion home on Bayou Tensas, honoring Miss Gaye Weisenfeld of California and Kenneth (Sonny) Oswalt, home from L. S. U. with Mr. and Mrs. Earl Oswalt and Mr. and Mrs. Sedric Wilson, the hosts.

Mrs. Oswalt received her guests wearing a gown of peacock blue rose patterned, Chantilly lace combined with black taffeta. The allover lace bolero was cuffed in a deep flare of black. Her shoulder corsage was of red happiness rosebuds with silvered ribbon.

Miss Sara Ann Schneider, in the receiving line with Mrs. Oswalt and the honored guests, was chic in a formal of separates, with patio length blue nylon skirt and black velvet haltered boned bodice. Her shoulder corsage was an orchid.

Miss Weisenfeld, in her presentation to the younger set, impressed them with her charm and graciousness, wearing a bewitching bare - top bouffant all white model, of unhemmed nylon net. From bustline to waist the bodice was braided in iridescent green sequins. Her corsage was of orchids.

Invited into the lounge by Miss Linda Gail Oswalt and Miss Michael Ann Terral, standing within the French doors, they portrayed the loveliness of the teen-agers. Miss Oswalt's gown of white nylon net had narrow net ruffling outlining the strapless bodice. A matching detachable apron fronted the full skirt. For color contrast she added a narrow red velvet sash, which fell skirt length. Her red corsage matched the flowers in her hair. Miss Terral's canary nylon net gown had narrow pleated ruffling to front the snug bodice and to edge the shoulder framed shrug of matching nylon. A corsage of pink and white forget-me-nots was worn at the beltline.

The lounge offered the alluring decoration of Christmas with shimmering, ceiling high tree, potted green vines, frosted magnolia leaves on cabinets and tables, and silvered bells and gay baubles, from ceiling lights to door decorations.

At the refreshment table, overlaid with white, lace paneled Quaker cloth centered with decor in green and red, effectively combining low red candles, glitter twist, silvered Christmas ornaments, all based with green satin ribbon and lacelon.

White Quaker cloth, paneled and hemmed with lace, covered the refreshment table, resplendent in a setting of silver and crystal. The decor, low red candles, glitter twist, green ribbon and lacelon border, was cast in the mellow glow of silver candelabra holding tall slim red candles. Trays of sandwiches, fruit cake, and candies were served with the punch, over which Mrs. Brady Oswalt presided, assisted by her daughter, Carolyn. Mrs. Oswalt's one piece model was of purple nylon satin, with bolero for the strapless bodice. Skirt fullness was added by clustered gathers on either side of the skirt. Her shoulder corsage was of sweetheart camellias. Miss Oswalt's blonde loveliness was enchanced by a formal of pink nylon net, scattered with pink satin bows

Music furnished by Hugo Moraro's orchestra, the delicious refreshments and the hospitality of the hosts, were enjoyed by Miss Wiesenfeld, and Mr. Kenneth Oswalt; Miss Sara Ann Schneider and Paul Zimmer; Miss Beverly McKenzie and Michael Brown; Miss Betty Delony and Bubber Brown; Parker Parra and Miss Jimmie Holder of Oak Grove; Crawford Rose, Jr., and Miss Carolyn Rentz; Skeet Wells and Miss Rose Marie Maggio; Bug Ragland and Miss Peggy Schwartz; Billy Abernethy and Miss Virginia Hider; Max Smilow and Miss Marilyn Wilson; Richard DiTammaso and Miss Bobbie Robinson; Joe Avery and Miss Allein Harkey; John Russell Davis and Miss Tommy Sue Proctor; Buddy Barnett and Miss Lu Lu Posey; Fred Phillips and Miss Jeanie Mosley, Oak Grove; Jerry Mitchell, Natchitoches, and Miss Janet Haley, Lake Village, Ark.; Gordon Bowers, Jr., and Miss Dorothy Cox; Bill Gore and Miss Kathleen Evans; Don Hull and Miss Amanda Brown; Frank McEacharn and Miss Ann Thomas, both of Delhi; Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Ragland, and Mrs. A. F. Neal, and stags, Gerald Brown, Seymour Myers, Jr., Buddy Ragus, Reynold Minsky, Harold Eastepp, Marion Chaney and Pete Mangum.

Officers Installed

On Monday evening, Dec. 15, 1952 the 1953 officers of Louise L. McGuire Chapter No. 4, O. E. S. were installed at the Masonic Temple at 8 o'clock.

The chapter room and banquet hall were decorated with beautiful silver, blue and white arrangements.

Preceding the installation service, members and visitors enjoyed a piano prelude of Christmas music by Mrs. Nell Bennett.

Guests were welcomed by the retiring worthy matron, Mrs. Virginia Morgan. She then presented twenty five and fifty year certificates to members of the chapter.

Candles were lighted in the east by Misses Mary Lou Trawick and Patsy White. Mr. E. M. Wooten and Mr. Danny Jim Sullivan sang "Cantique de Noel."

Installing officers were introduced by the retiring matron as follows: Mrs. Lovie Gregory, P. G. M. as grand installing officer; Mrs. Phyllis Cozine, P. M. as grand installing marshal; Mrs. Birdie Mae Mulhern, P. G. M. as grand installing chaplain and Mrs. Willie Mae Wafer, P. M. as grand installing organist.

The following officers were impressively installed: Mrs. Jennie Sullivan, worthy matron; Mr. Carter Cozine, worthy patron; Mrs. Ruby Penton, associate matron; Mr. Levi Boone, associate patron; Mrs. Arrah Culver, secretary; Mrs. Faye Wilson, treasurer; Mrs. Elise Baugh, conductress; Mrs. Ruth Mickel, associate conductress; Mrs. Kathryn Morgan, chaplain; Mrs. Elizabeth Hill, marshal; Mrs. Nell Bennett, organist; Mrs. Estelle Hooper, Adah; Mrs. Dorothy Standard, Ruth; Mrs. Mary Kelley, Esther; Mrs. Irene Smith, Martha; Mrs. Lavania Woodburn, Electa; Mrs. Patty Spencer, warder; and Mr. T. W. Ware, sentinel.

"Star of the East" was sung to the newly installed worthy matron, Mrs. Jennie Sullivan by Mr. Wooten and Mr. Danny Jim Sullivan.

After members and visitors were graciously greeted by the newly installed matron and patron, a group of Rainbow girls played a lovely tribute to Mrs. Sullivan, matron.

The junior past matron and junior past patron, Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Morgan signed the page of past matrons and past patrons in the Altar Bible and were escorted to the East where they were presented with their past matron's and past patron's pins in a clever manner.

At the close of the program, delicious refreshments were served in the banquet hall. Mrs. Margaret Hartman and Mrs. Monnie Collier presided over the lovely silver services pouring tea and coffee.

Methodist Church Will Be Setting Of Wedding

Miss Martha Ann Ludlum daughter of Mrs. Joseph Reginald Ludlum, and the Late Mr. Ludlum of Bastrop, Louisiana whose engagement and approaching marriage to Robert K. The Christmas program of the Methodist Church will be presented Tuesday evening and Canta will visit at the same time.

A very lovely Christmas program was presented at the Baptist Church Sunday evening depicting the scene of the Nativity and Christmas songs with special numbers by Ruby Lynn Womack, age seven. At the close of the program the pastor, Rev. Ray Prager, gave a short address and then asked that all Christians come and kneel around the manger where the service was closed with prayer by Mrs. K. C. Simmons.

One of the loveliest parties of the Christmas season was given by the home demonstration club with Mesdames C. J. Norred and Harley Womack as hostesses.

The party began with a turkey dinner with all the trimmings, after which all guests retired to the living room and gifts were distributed. This was a combination of Christmas and Revelation party as several of the members were "Sunshine Sisters." All who were had brought gifts to their sister and those who did not have one brought gifts which were numbered and drawn.

Attending this delightful affair were Mesdames Eula Warren, Dennis Gaar, S. H. Gaar, Joseph Sanders, R. W. Gates, R. G. Simpkins, Ruby Kornega, J. Y. Terry, E. B. Pullen, J. K. Cadeville HD Club

The C. R. Wilder home was gaily decorated when Mrs. Wilder served as hostess for the December meeting of the Cadeville Home Demonstration Club.

The vice - president, Mrs. C. White, presided at the meeting and read the thought of the month. All joined her in giving the pledge of allegiance to the flag of our country.

The group then engaged in singing several Christmas carols accompained at the piano by Charles Wilder.

Mrs. Lee Wilder, club secretary called the roll and read the minutes of the last meeting. The old and new business was given consideration, then the secretary gave a report on club activities.

The club sent candy to the veterans hospital at Alexandria. A gift was sent to Mrs. E. S. Hamilton, a member who has been in the hospital. Sympathy cards were mailed to two members of the club, Mrs. S. O. Henry and Mrs. R. M. Wood, who lost a sister. Get-well cards were mailed to six members and friends.

The following club reports were given: Mrs. C. White, "Family Life;" Mrs. James Sturdivant, food preparation; Mrs. Odie Sturdivant, safety. The recreation leader, Mrs. C. L. Sullivan, led in a clever problem, "The Pie."

In the social hour, Mrs. D. A. Shell, assisted by her son, Dicky, distributed the many gifts in the exchange to all present. The hostess served delicious refreshments to the following members and visitors: Mrs. Paul North, Mrs. Ralph Haynes, Mrs. Webb Roberts, Mrs. Lee Wilder, Mrs. Claburn White, Mrs. R. O. Christmas Formal On Monday Evening High Of Week

One of the highlights of the past gala week was the colorful Lambda Sigma Chi Christmas dance held at the Country Club Monday night, Dec. 22nd. Greeting the members, guests and dates were Mrs. W. T. Davis and Mrs. Edel Blanks, who presided at the guest book. Furnishing the music were the Demonaires from Northwestern State College. The Christmas theme certainly prevailed with the eloquent decorations the girls put up. There were life size replicas of snowmen and Santa Clauses, over the orchestra was Rudolph and Santa's sleigh. A little later Santa himself visited the dance with favors for all.

During intermission Miss Elstner Frazer, president, was presented with a beautiful bouquet of pink roses. The presentation was made by Miss Barbara Rogers out-going president. In turn Miss Frazer presented the sponsers with gifts. They are: Mrs. W. Tom Davis, Mother; Mrs. Edel Blanks, Lady Sponsor; Tommy Dansby, Delta Sigma; Edgar Aston, Phi Kappa; and Bill O'Kelly, non — fraternity.

Immediately following the dance the members and their dates were welcomed in the home of Miss Pauline Barringer for open house and an informal breakfast.

The Christmas program of the Methodist Church will be presented Tuesday evening and Canta will visit at the same time.

A very lovely Christmas program was presented at the Baptist Church Sunday evening depicting the scene of the Nativity and Christmas songs with special numbers by Ruby Lynn Womack, age seven. At the close of the program the pastor, Rev. Ray Prager, gave a short address and then asked that all Christians come and kneel around the manger where the service was closed with prayer by Mrs. K. C. Simmons.

One of the loveliest parties of the Christmas season was given by the home demonstration club with Mesdames C. J. Norred and Harley Womack as hostesses.

The party began with a turkey dinner with all the trimmings, after which all guests retired to the living room and gifts were distributed. This was a combination of Christmas and Revelation party as several of the members were "Sunshine Sisters." All who were had brought gifts to their sister and those who did not have one brought gifts which were numbered and drawn.

Attending this delightful affair were Mesdames Eula Warren, Dennis Gaar, S. H. Gaar, Joseph Sanders, R. W. Gates, R. G. Simpkins, Ruby Kornega, J. Y. Terry, E. B. Pullen, J. K. Lee, Clayton Norred, S. F. Bennett, N. A. Broomfield, Gay Broomfield, Elza Broomfield, W. W. Johnston, J. M. Gaar, W. S. Terrell, Jack Hogan, L. L. Lee and Mrs. Josie Jennings and Miss Sybil Jennings of Winnfield.

Cadeville HD Club

The C. R. Wilder home was gaily decorated when Mrs. Wilder served as hostess for the December meeting of the Cadeville Home Demonstration Club.

The vice - president, Mrs. C. White, presided at the meeting and read the thought of the month. All joined her in giving the pledge of allegiance to the flag of our country.

The group then engaged in singing several Christmas carols accompained at the piano by Charles Wilder.

Mrs. Lee Wilder, club secretary called the roll and read the minutes of the last meeting. The old and new business was given consideration, then the secretary gave a report on club activities.

The club sent candy to the veterans hospital at Alexandria. A gift was sent to Mrs. E. S. Hamilton, a member who has been in the hospital. Sympathy cards were mailed to two members of the club, Mrs. S. O. Henry and Mrs. R. M. Wood, who lost a sister. Get-well cards were mailed to six members and friends.

The following club reports were given: Mrs. C. White, "Family Life;" Mrs. James Sturdivant, food preparation; Mrs. Odie Sturdivant, safety. The recreation leader, Mrs. C. L. Sullivan, led in a clever problem, "The Pie."

In the social hour, Mrs. D. A. Shell, assisted by her son, Dicky, distributed the many gifts in the exchange to all present. The hostess served delicious refreshments to the following members and visitors: Mrs. Paul North, Mrs. Ralph Haynes, Mrs. Webb Roberts, Mrs. Lee Wilder, Mrs. Claburn White, Mrs. R. O. Henry, Mrs. Harold Roberts, Mrs. I. P. Ray, Mrs. Odie Sturdivant, Mrs. D. A. Shell, Mrs. James Sturdivant, Miss Ola Golson and Mrs. Clarence Sullivan. The visitors were Mrs. Henry Spangler, Miss Bobra Ann Roberts, Jo Ann White, Norma Jean North, Fay Roberts, Shirley Golson, Betty Sullivan, Steve White and Charles Wilder.

The January meeting will be held with Mrs. James Sturdivant.

Lambda Sigma Chi Sorority Entertain At Christmas Dance

Christmas Formal On Monday Evening High Of Week

One of the highlights of the past gala week was the colorful Lambda Sigma Chi Christmas dance held at the Country Club Monday night, Dec. 22nd. Greeting the members, guests and dates were Mrs. W. T. Davis and Mrs. Edel Blanks, who presided at the guest book. Furnishing the music were the Demonaires from Northwestern State College. The Christmas theme certainly prevailed with the eloquent decorations the girls put up. There were life size replicas of snowmen and Santa Clauses, over the orchestra was Rudolph and Santa's sleigh. A little later Santa himself visited the dance with favors for all.

During intermission Miss Elstner Frazer, president, was presented with a beautiful bouquet of pink roses. The presentation was made by Miss Barbara Rogers out-going president. In turn Miss Frazer presented the sponsers with gifts. They are: Mrs. W. Tom Davis, Mother; Mrs. Edel Blanks, Lady Sponsor; Tommy Dansby, Delta Sigma; Edgar Aston, Phi Kappa; and Bill O'Kelly, non — fraternity.

Immediately following the dance the members and their dates were welcomed in the home of Miss Pauline Barringer for open house and an informal breakfast.

News From Public Library

The librarian and the staff of the Ouachita Parish Public Library hope that all of their friends have had a very merry Christmas and wish them the happiest of New Years. Now that the New Year is approaching, it is a good time to take stock of the resources of the Ouachita Parish Public Library and see what it has to offer you.

First there are books for pleasure. During the year of 1952, over 1,000 volumes of adult fiction and 750 volumes of adult non-fiction were added to the library collection. All of the fiction books and many of the non-fiction titles were books to be read for pleasure. Many of the non - fiction titles are also used for reference purposes as are the 143 new reference books added to the library. Over 1600 new children's books were purchased during the year also.

In the past few weeks many interesting non - fiction titles have been added to the library collection. "Period Flower Arrangements" by Margaret F. Marcus is a perfectly beautiful book of exquisite flower arrangements. "Doctors in Blue" by George Washington Adams is an interesting history of the doctors in the Union army. "Remember These Things" is a book of Paul Harvey's broadcasts. He has given it a great deal of publicity and we had numerous advance requests for it. "101 Ways to Raise Money For Your Church" by Ralph Seaman is a valuable book for those who need money for any good cause.

"The Family Book of Best Loved Poems" by David L. George is a collection of old favorite poems that a whole family can enjoy. "The Shorter Cambridge Medieval History" by Previte-Orton is a very scholarly work that adds a great deal to our knowledge of the period.

"Making the most of Your Cooking Time" by Marie Essipoff is another interesting book by the author of "Making the Most of Your Home - Freezer." She has wonderful ideas about time-saving methods. "Who Blowed Up the Churchouse" by Vance Randolph is a very funny collection of folk tales from the Ozark mountains. "The World of Eli Whitney" by Jeannette Mirsky is the first complete biography of the man who caused a revolution in southern agriculture.

George M. Trevelyan is writing a series of English social histories, which come out one volume at a time. Volume four is the latest one to be released and it adds a great deal to our knowledge of English life during the eighteenth century. Eleanor S. Duncan is the editor of "Parent's Magazine Book of Baby Care" which will be welcomed by all parents of young children. "Fell's U. S. Coin Book" by Jacques Del Monte will be eagerly read by all coin collectors.

"General Billy Mitchell" by Roger Burlingame treats of the life of the man who sacrificed his own career in an effort to make the United States Army realize the importance of air power. Archibald MacLeish is considered one of the greatest living American poets His "Collected Poems, 1917-1952" will be eagerly welcomed by poetry lovers. "Diving to Adventure" by Hans Hass is a fascinating account of the adventures of a deep sea diver.

"How I Raised Myself From Failure to Success in Selling" by Frank Bettger has been borrowed several times from the Louisiana State Library for the use of our patrons. We have now added a copy to our own collection and we know that it will be widely used.

"The Many Lives of Modern Woman" by Mrs. Sidonie Gruenberg should be read by every woman who attempts to combine a career and home life. Mrs. Gruenberg is an outstanding psychologist and she tackles the problem with remarkable ability. Louis Adamic has written a number of books about his native Hungary. His latest title is 'The Eagle and The Roots" and gives a fascinating picture of conditions in that country. "Ross and the New Yorker" is a very fine portrait of the man who has done so much to establish the policy and reputation of that magazine.

A new reference book added last week is "British Authors Before 1800" by Stanley Jasspon Kunitz. This book is a welcome addition to our reference collection as it provides information on a great many authors about whom we had no information previously. It is one of the fine biography reference books published by H. W. Wilson Company and completes our set of their titles.

Two new books of fiction were added in the past week, "Precious Jeopardy" by Lloyd C. Douglas and "Death by Association" by Frances and Richard Lockridge. The book by Dr. Douglas is a reprint, but the one by the Lockridges is a brand new mystery story.

Another new addition to the library collection is the 1850 census of Louisiana on microfilm. This is the only copy available in Louisiana except at L. S. U. Students of family history are invited to come in and use it.

Please include in your New Years' resolutions, one to use your library more often.

Mrs. George Yerger Has Auxiliary

The plantation home of Mrs. George S. Yerger at Mound was the scene of the December meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary of Trinity Episcopal church. Mrs. W. M. Murphy and Rev. J. D. Gilliam gave talk appropriate to the season in which they emphasized the spiritual significance of Christmas. Mrs. Edward Yerger read scripture lesson from Luke and Mrs. W. J. Ward read a Christmas poem.

An enjoyable social period followed when the hostesses, Mrs. Edward Yerger, Mrs. J. D. Gilliam, Mrs. George Sevier and Mrs. S. B. Bettis served tea and coffee from a silver service, with delicious chicken sandwiches, nuts and confections.

Bonhomie Book Club Meets With Mrs. Warren Breard

Mrs. Warren Breard opened her home recently for the annual Christmas party of the Bonhomie Book Club.

The holiday spirit, which prevailed throughout the reception suite, was induced by beautiful Christmas decorations. On the mantel in the living room were placed clusters of green magnolia leaves with red Christmas balls in the center of each. At one end of the mantel was hung an unusually attractive Christmas stocking. A white Christmas tree, highlighted with red ornaments, was surrounded by gifts which were later distributed to each member and guest.

The president, Mrs. George Forman, presided over a brief business meeting, in which she thanked Mrs. A. J. McCready for representing the club at the current civil defense meeting at the Ouachita Parish Health Center. A word of thanks was also extended to Mrs. O. C. Lanier, Mrs. R. B. Pilaut, and Mrs. Hal Laymon for their participation in the Salvation Army Christmas drive. Also during the business session, club members signed crusadegrams for the Crusade for Freedom Campaign.

Immediately following this activity, Mrs. Laymon read a cutting of Henry Van Dyck's immortal Christmas story, "The Other Wise Man."

The hostess then led the group into the dining room where Mrs. Robert Irby graciously presided at the tea and coffee service. The dining table was laid with a handsome lace cloth, and centered with a large red candle, streamers of red ribbon, and white snowballs. The buffet was also decorated in holiday motif.

The following guests and members enjoyed the hospitality of Mrs. Breard's home: Mrs. Paul Bauer, Mrs. Eugene Scott, Mrs. H. M. Rhodes, Mrs. A. J. McCready, Mrs. L. H. Leverett, Mrs. W. D. McGee, Mrs. E. L. Hoskins, Mrs. Roland Waldroup, Mrs. O. C. Lanier, Mrs. O. Willis, Mrs. Pilaut, Mrs. Forman, Mrs. Laymon, and Mrs. Irby.

Coffee Hour For Church Members

The Methodist Parsonage was a festive setting when Rev. and Mrs. Sam Holladay entertained with a coffee and tea hour for the church membership and friends of the church.

The Christmas season prevaded the scene throughout the receiving rooms. The many lovely Christmas Cards were on display in the decorations which added a festive touch. Many friends called during the afternoon.

The dining table was especially lovely and delicious refreshments were served throughout the afternoon. Assisting Rev. and Mrs. Holladay with the courtesies were two of their sons, John and Miles Thomas, Mrs. Edna McConnell, Mrs. E. W. Martin, Mrs. V. M. Mouser, Mrs. E. L. Carroll, Mrs. O. A. Kitchens, Mrs. Guy Alford and Mrs. Earl Harris.

Miss Betty Lou Henderson Is Bride Of Merrill Nash

A wedding of interest to many friends took place in the Mangham Methodist Church Saturday, December 13, at three o'clock, when Miss Betty Lou Henderson of Fresno, California, was united in holy wedlock to Merrill L. Nash of Mangham, La. The single-ring ceremony was performed by the Reverend Lael Jones.

The simple decorations of ferns and white gladioli in tall white baskets made a lovely setting for the wedding party.

The bride wore an ankle length white net gown with a yoke of lace, outlined with sequins. The sleeves were of lace and pointed over the hands. Bands of the same lace were set into the full skirt. Her shoulder length veil was fastened with a band of velvet. Betty carried a white Bible to which was fastened a cluster of pink carnations with a cascade of white ribbons falling from it.

Mrs. George Dumbreck from Memphis, Tenn., a friend of the bride, served as matron-of-honor. She wore a pale pink ankle-length net, with a stole. Her corsage was of a deeper pink carnation.

The bridegroom's cousin, Miss Mary Dee Greg[illegible], was maid-of-honor. [illegible]er powder-blue dress was princess effect, and the neck was outlined with sequins. She carried a corsage similar to that of the bride.

Mrs. B. N. Hixon played several prenuptial selections, then accompanied Miss Peggy Sue Boughton as she sang "Because." To the strains of Mendelsschn's wedding march, the wedding party entered the church, where the impressive ceremony was performed. The bride was given in marriage by the bridegroom's uncle, Mr. T. B. Gregory of Monroe.

Guests were invited immediately after the ceremony to a reception [illegible] bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Mable Nash. Mrs. F. D. [illegible] and Mrs. C. [illegible] DeVille were hostesses, and Mrs. T. B. Gregory and Miss Ethel Watson served.

[illegible] V. S. Nash, of [illegible], Tex., served his brother as best man.

Mr. and Mrs. Nash will be at home to friends in Macon, Ga. where Mr. Nash [illegible] employed.

Mrs. [illegible]k Anderson, m[illegible] of the bride, of Fresno, Calif., was [illegible] the wedding [illegible] daughter.

Volume four is the latest one to be released and it adds a great deal to our knowledge of English life during the eighteenth century. Eleanor S. Duncan is the editor of "Parent's Magazine Book of Baby Care" which will be welcomed by all parents of young children. "Fell's U. S. Coin Book" by Jacques Del Monte will be eagerly read by all coin collectors.

"General Billy Mitchell" by Roger Burlingame treats of the life of the man who sacrificed his own career in an effort to make the United States Army realize the importance of air power. Archibald MacLeish is considered one of the greatest living American poets His "Collected Poems, 1917-1952" will be eagerly welcomed by poetry lovers. "Diving to Adventure" by Hans Hass is a fascinating account of the adventures of a deep sea diver.

"How I Raised Myself From Failure to Success in Selling" by Frank Bettger has been borrowed several times from the Louisiana State Library for the use of our patrons. We have now added a copy to our own collection and we know that it will be widely used.

"The Many Lives of Modern Woman" by Mrs. Sidonie Gruenberg should be read by every woman who attempts to combine a career and home life. Mrs. Gruenberg is an outstanding psychologist and she tackles the problem with remarkable ability. Louis Adamic has written a number of books about his native Hungary. His latest title is 'The Eagle and The Roots" and gives a fascinating picture of conditions in that country. "Ross and the New Yorker" is a very fine portrait of the man who has done so much to establish the policy and reputation of that magazine.

A new reference book added last week is "British Authors Before 1800" by Stanley Jasspon Kunitz. This book is a welcome addition to our reference collection as it provides information on a great many authors about whom we had no information previously. It is one of the fine biography reference books published by H. W. Wilson Company and completes our set of their titles.

Two new books of fiction were added in the past week, "Precious Jeopardy" by Lloyd C. Douglas and "Death by Association" by Frances and Richard Lockridge. The book by Dr. Douglas is a reprint, but the one by the Lockridges is a brand new mystery story.

Another new addition to the library collection is the 1850 census of Louisiana on microfilm. This is the only copy available in Louisiana except at L. S. U. Students of family history are invited to come in and use it.

Please include in your New Years' resolutions, one to use your library more often.

Mrs. George Yerger Has Auxiliary

The plantation home of Mrs. George S. Yerger at Mound was the scene of the December meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary of Trinity Episcopal church. Mrs. W. M. Murphy and Rev. J. D. Gilliam gave talk appropriate to the season in which they emphasized the spiritual significance of Christmas. Mrs. Edward Yerger read scripture lesson from Luke and Mrs. W. J. Ward read a Christmas poem.

An enjoyable social period followed when the hostesses, Mrs. Edward Yerger, Mrs. J. D. Gilliam, Mrs. George Sevier and Mrs. S. B. Bettis served tea and coffee from a silver service, with delicious chicken sandwiches, nuts and confections.

SHANTY STILL HOME

Bonhomie Book Club Meets With Mrs. Warren Breard

Mrs. Warren Breard opened her home recently for the annual Christmas party of the Bonhomie Book Club.

The holiday spirit, which prevailed throughout the reception suite, was induced by beautiful Christmas decorations. On the mantel in the living room were placed clusters of green magnolia leaves with red Christmas balls in the center of each. At one end of the mantel was hung an unusually attractive Christmas stocking. A white Christmas tree, highlighted with red ornaments, was surrounded by gifts which were later distributed to each member and guest.

The president, Mrs. George Forman, presided over a brief business meeting, in which she thanked Mrs. A. J. McCready for representing the club at the current civil defense meeting at the Ouachita Parish Health Center. A word of thanks was also extended to Mrs. O. C. Lanier, Mrs. R. B. Pilaut, and Mrs. Hal Laymon for their participation in the Salvation Army Christmas drive. Also during the business session, club members signed crusadegrams for the Crusade for Freedom Campaign.

Immediately following this activity, Mrs. Laymon read a cutting of Henry Van Dyck's immortal Christmas story, "The Other Wise Man."

The hostess then led the group into the dining room where Mrs. Robert Irby graciously presided at the tea and coffee service. The dining table was laid with a handsome lace cloth, and centered with a large red candle, streamers of red ribbon, and white snowballs. The buffet was also decorated in holiday motif.

The following guests and members enjoyed the hospitality of Mrs. Breard's home: Mrs. Paul Bauer, Mrs. Eugene Scott, Mrs. H. M. Rhodes, Mrs. A. J. McCready, Mrs. L. H. Leverett, Mrs. W. D. McGee, Mrs. E. L. Hoskins, Mrs. Roland Waldroup, Mrs. O. C. Lanier, Mrs. O. Willis, Mrs. Pilaut, Mrs. Forman, Mrs. Laymon, and Mrs. Irby.

Coffee Hour For Church Members

The Methodist Parsonage was a festive setting when Rev. and Mrs. Sam Holladay entertained with a coffee and tea hour for the church membership and friends of the church.

The Christmas season prevaded the scene throughout the receiving rooms. The many lovely Christmas Cards were on display in the decorations which added a festive touch. Many friends called during the afternoon.

The dining table was especially lovely and delicious refreshments were served throughout the afternoon. Assisting Rev. and Mrs. Holladay with the courtesies were two of their sons, John and Miles Thomas, Mrs. Edna McConnell, Mrs. E. W. Martin, Mrs. V. M. Mouser, Mrs. E. L. Carroll, Mrs. O. A. Kitchens, Mrs. Guy Alford and Mrs. Earl Harris.

Miss Betty Lou Henderson Is Bride Of Merrill Nash

A wedding of interest to many friends took place in the Mangham Methodist Church Saturday, December 13, at three o'clock, when Miss Betty Lou Henderson of Fresno, California, was united in holy wedlock to Merrill L. Nash of Mangham, La. The single-ring ceremony was performed by the Reverend Lael Jones.

The simple decorations of ferns and white gladioli in tall white baskets made a lovely setting for the wedding party.

The bride wore an ankle length white net gown with a yoke of lace, outlined with sequins. The sleeves were of lace and pointed over [illegible] hands. Bands of the same lace were set into the full skirt. Her shoulder length veil was fastened with a band of velvet. Betty carried a white Bible to which was fastened a cluster of pink carnations with a cascade of white ribbons falling from it.

Mrs. George Dumbreck from Memphis, Tenn., a friend of the bride, served as matron-of-honor. She wore a pale pink ankle-length net, with a stole. Her corsage was of a deeper pink carnation.

The bridegroom's cousin, Miss Mary Dee Gregory, was maid-of-honor. [illegible]er powder-blue dress was princess effect, and the neck was outlined with sequins. She carried a corsage similar to that of the bride.

Mrs. B. N. Hixon played several prenuptial selections, then accompanied Miss Peggy Sue Boughton as she sang "Because." To the strains of Mendelsschn's wedding march, the wedding party entered the church, where the impressive ceremony was performed. The bride was given in marriage by the bridegroom's uncle, Mr. T. B. Gregory of Monroe.

Guests were invited immediately after the ceremony to a reception [illegible] bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Mable Nash. Mrs. F. D. [illegible] and Mrs. C. [illegible] DeVille were hostesses, and Mrs. T. B. Gregory and Miss Ethel Watson served.

[illegible] V. S. Nash, of [illegible], Tex., served his brother as best man.

Mr. and Mrs. Nash will be at home to friends in Macon, Ga. where Mr. Nash [illegible] employed.

Mrs. [illegible]k Anderson, mother of the bride, of Fresno, Calif., was in Ma[illegible] [illegible] the wedding of her daughter.

Mrs A. B. Myatt Hostess To Miro Book Club Meeting

Miro Book Club had its last regular meeting in the home of Mrs. A. B. Myatt at her home on the Loop Road. The Christmas motif was used throughout the house to herald the approaching holiday season. Tiny angels in a semi-circle of holly and pine, and the glow of candles was an arrangement that was outstanding in beauty and simplicity.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. D. M. Moore, the collect was repeated in unison and the pledge of allegiance given to the flag.

The roll call showed twelve members present. Routine business was attended to and committee reports given. The club had participated in the Salvation Army collection for funds for the needy, with a good report. Members had also participated in the cancer drive, and sent gifts to the Veterans hospital.

In the absence of Mrs. Thomas Jett, program chairman, Mrs. B. L. Mulhern substituted and announced the following program: Mrs. A. S. Tidwell on the American home. Mrs. Tidwell also spoke of the juvenile problem confronting us in our own city and its connection with the home.

Mrs. George Temple was presented and gave a splendid review on "While the Angels Sing" by Gladys Hasty Carroll. This is a Christmas story, dealing with a Christmas party at a church, and the thoughts and expressions of a seventy - five year old woman.

Mrs. Myatt served a delicious dessert course to the following members: Mrs. D. M. Moore, Mrs. B. L. Mulhern, Mrs. J. W. Murphy, Mrs. A. L. Peters, Mrs. F. L. Smith, Mrs. George Temple, Mrs. A. S. Tidwell, Mrs. C. R. Tidwell, Mrs. R. L. Wood, Mrs. Irving J. Wolff.

Girl Scout News

Here's hoping all our Scout family and all our friends and everybody else had a wonderful Christmas day. We like to think that the season is especially happy for those who are living up to their Scout promise to "help other people at all times."

Thursday afternoon a group of Intermediate Scouts from Troops 10, 11, and 34 who attend Lexington School sang carols at the annual party for crippled children at the Missouri Pacific Club. To prepare themselves for this privilege, the Scouts held two practice sessions with Mrs. J. F. Willey. This was a privilege, too, as all who know Velma will agree.

Troop 10 is carrying out an ambitious program that really is the result of joint planning of girls, leaders and troop committee in the way Girl Scouting should be carried on. Plans for Christmas included gifts of toys, clothes, and food for three small children of a needy family. The girls even brought their dads into their plans, said papas delivering the gifts for the girls.

At the request of the Gray Ladies the girls sang carols at the parties at two old folks homes, also giving a gift of fruit which they bought from their troop treasury. Another Christmas gift from Troop 10 was a book on wild flowers which they purchased for the Girl Scout camp library.

Something for others, something for themselves, is always good Scouting, and so it is right that the girls should have parties and fun. Troop 10's party this year was different in that it was planned and carried out by three girls, who invited the troop as their guests.

These girls, Frances Yeldell, Betty Johnson, and Sherry Harrist, with a little help from Mrs. Yeldell and Mrs. Johnson, planned the games, made the cookies and punch for refreshments, and played the part of gracious hostesses.

The girls exchanged gifts and each girl received a Girl Scout book mark from her leaders, Mrs. W. A. Lewis and Mrs. Yeldell. Francis used the game of "Camouflage" for her share of the entertainment, while Betty and Sherry taught the girls the Netherlands shoe game. The [illegible] proved so much fun that Mrs. Lewis says [illegible] the girls would never be ready to leave Mrs. Yeldell's. Proof that the party was fun for all, [illegible] say. [illegible] as if Frances, Sherry, and Betty are well on their way toward well-deserved hostess badges.

The girls of Troop 38 were proud and pleased to be invited to the Christmas party and meeting of Cub [illegible] 34 at Lida Benton School. As you probably know, cub pack meetings include mamas and papas and families. Add to these a troop of Girl Scouts and the result must have been an evening of friendliness and fun.

While the pack had its business meeting, the girls prepared to serve refreshments. According to their leaders, Mrs. L. C. Bassett, Mrs. [illegible] W. Brown, and Mrs. W. H. Rogillio, the girls loved doing this serving and did it in a very grown up manner. Group singing and gifts from a real Santa completed the evening. Mrs. Austin Miller, [illegible] Ramblin and Mrs. Bragg are den mothers for [illegible] we learned.

The [illegible] meeting of Troop 55 before the holidays was marked by the investiture of eight new Brownies and the awarding of pendants to the two girls who were Brownies last year, Ginger Dean and Gretchen Masur. Mrs. William [illegible], Mrs. Jack Masur and [illegible] J. H. Scogin are leaders of the [illegible] with Mrs. Dick Dean and Mrs. J. E. [illegible] serving on the troop committee.

These third grade Brownie Scouts made their promise and received [illegible]: [illegible] Armistead, Jody Biedenharn, Ginger Dean, Rilla Ekholm, Patricia Fulmer, Barbara Higgins, Gretchen Masur, Mignon Scogin, Margaret [illegible] and [illegible] Kay Cudd.

The registration of Troop 55 has a special significance for the adults who work [illegible] Scouting because it means that there is now a troop available for every girl of Scout age at Lexington School. This is true of only one other school, Georgia Tucker, [illegible] organization committee is working and soon may be able to report that other schools are well organized. Credit for the situation at Lexington goes [illegible] gia Tucker, but the organization chairman for the school, Mrs. Paul [illegible], council organization chairman, Mrs. H. [illegible] Brady, P.-T. A. president, and Miss Rosa McDonald, principal.

It's wonderful that the girls and boys have still another week of vacation from school. Happy New Year, everybody!

Mrs A. B. Myatt Hostess To Miro Book Club Meeting

Miro Book Club had its last regular meeting in the home of Mrs. A. B. Myatt at her home on the Loop Road. The Christmas motif was used throughout the house to herald the approaching holiday season. Tiny angels in a semi-circle of holly and pine, and the glow of candles was an arrangement that was outstanding in beauty and simplicity.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. D. M. Moore, the collect was repeated in unison and the pledge of allegiance given to the flag.

The roll call showed twelve members present. Routine business was attended to and committee reports given. The club had participated in the Salvation Army collection for funds for the needy, with a good report. Members had also participated in the cancer drive, and sent gifts to the Veterans hospital.

In the absence of Mrs. Thomas Jett, program chairman, Mrs. B. L. Mulhern substituted and announced the following program. Mrs. A. S. Tidwell on the American home. Mrs. Tidwell also spoke of the juvenile problem confronting us in our own city, and its connection with the home.

Mrs. George Temple was presented and gave a splendid review on "While the Angels Sing" by Gladys Hasty Carroll. This is a Christmas story, dealing with a Christmas party at a church, and the thoughts and expressions of a seventy - five year old woman.

Mrs. Myatt served a delicious dessert course to the following members: Mrs. D. M. Moore, Mrs. B. L. Mulhern, Mrs. J. W. Murphy, Mrs. A. L. Peters, Mrs. F. L. Smith, Mrs. George Temple, Mrs. A. S. Tidwell, Mrs. C. R. Tidwell, Mrs. R. L. Wood, Mrs. Irving J. Wolff.

Girl Scout News

Here's hoping all our Scout family and all our friends and everybody else had a wonderful Christmas day. We like to think that the season is especially happy for those who are living up to their Scout promise to "help other people at all times."

Thursday afternoon a group of Intermediate Scouts from Troops 10, 11, and 34 who attend Lexington School sang carols at the annual party for crippled children at the Missouri Pacific Club. To prepare themselves for this privilege, the Scouts held two practice sessions with Mrs. J. F. Willey. This was a privilege, too, as all who know Velma will agree.

Troop 10 is carrying out an ambitious program that really is the result of joint planning of girls, leaders and troop committee in the way Girl Scouting should be carried on. Plans for Christmas included gifts of toys, cloth[illegible] and food for three small children of a [illegible]dy family. The girls even brought their dads into their plans, said papas delivering the gifts for the girls.

At the request of the Gray Ladies the girls sa[illegible] carols at the parties at two old folks homes, also giving a gift of fruit which they bought from their troop treasury. Another Christmas gift from Troop 10 was a book on wild flowers which they purchased for the Girl Scout camp library.

Something for others, something for themselves, is always good Scouting, and so it is right that the girls should have parties and fun. Troop 10's party this year was different in that it was planned and carried out by three girls, who invited the troop as their guests.

These girls, Frances Yeldell, Betty Johnson, and Sherry Harrist, with a little help from Mrs. Yeldell and Mrs. Johnson, planned the games, made the cookies and punch for refreshments, and [illegible]yed the part of gracious hostesses.

The girls exchanged gifts and each girl received a Girl Scout book mark from her leaders, Mrs. W. A. Lewis and Mrs. Yeldell. Francis used the game of "Camouflage" for her share of the entertainment, while Betty and Sherry [illegible] the girls the Netherlands shoe game. The [illegible] proved so much fun th[illegible] Mrs. Lewis says s[illegible] the girls would never [illegible] ready to leave Mrs. Yeldell's. Proof that the party was fun for all, [illegible] say. [illegible] as if Frances, [illegible], and Betty are w[illegible] on the way toward well-deserved hostess badges.

The girls of Troop 38 were proud and pleased to be invited to the Christmas party and meeting of Cub [illegible] 34 a Lida Benton School. As you probably know, cub pack meetings include mamas and papas and families. Add to these a troop [illegible] Girl Scouts and the r[illegible] must have been an evening of friendl[illegible] and fun.

While the pack had its business meeting, the girls prepared to serv[illegible] refreshments. According to their leaders, Mrs. L. C. Bassett, Mrs. [illegible] W. Brown, and Mrs. W. H. Rogillio, the girls loved doing t[illegible] serving and did it in a very grown-up manner. Group singing and gifts from a real Santa [illegible] the evening. Mrs. Austin Miller, [illegible] Ramblin and Mrs. Bragg are den mothers for [illegible] we learned.

The [illegible] meeting of Troop 55 before the holidays was marked by the investiture of eight new Brownies [illegible] the awarding of pendants to the two girls who were Brownie last year, Ginger Dean and Gretchen Masur. Mrs. William [illegible]rmstead, Mrs. Jack Masur and [illegible] J. H. Scogin are leaders of the [illegible], with Mrs. Dick Dean and Mrs. J. E. [illegible] serving on the troop committee.

These third grade Brownie Scouts made their promise and received [illegible]: [illegible] Armiste[illegible] Jody Biedenharn, Ginger Dean, Rilla Ekholm, Patricia Fulmer, Barbara Higgins, Gretchen Masur, Mignon Scogin, Margaret [illegible] and [illegible]nie Kay Cudd.

The registration of Troop 55 has a special significance for the adults who w[illegible] Scouting because it means that there is now a troop available for every girl of Scout age at Lexington School. This is true of only one other school, Georgia Tucker, [illegible] organization committee is working and soon may be able to report that other schools are well organized. Credit for the situation at Lexington goes gia Tucker, but the organization chairman for the school, Mrs. Paul [illegible], council organization chairman, Mrs. H. [illegible] Brady, P.-T. A. president, and Miss Rosa McDonald, principal.

It's [illegible]erful th[illegible] the girls and boys have still another week of [illegible] from school. Happy New Year, everybody!

Showers Honor MaryCarl Underwood

The combination of the spirit of Christmas with the happiness and excitement a prospective bride enjoys, made the shower given Miss Marycarl Underwood an especially gala occasion.

The home of Mrs. Mable Nash in Mangham carried out the Christmas theme, with a lovely tree, yaupon, nandena, and other holiday decorations placed at ventage points throughout the reception suites.

Miss Underwood was seated at a table overlaid with a cutwork cloth to receive the many gifts brought by friends as tokens of love and good wishes for the future happiness of these two popular young people. She wore a gown of gunmetal taffeta with stripes of maroon and teal blue satin threaded through it. Her corsage was a cluster of golden bells- a gift from the hostesses. They also presented her with a piece of her chosen pattern in silver. Assisting the honoree to open and list her gifts was her friend, Miss Pricilla Beckcom, her mother, Mrs. C. N. Underwood, and the groom's grandmother, Mrs. H. H. Mash. All enjoyed the surprise and pleasure each package brought.

Guests were invited to view the gifts on display, then to the refreshment table which was most effectively decorated with yaupon intermingled with varied colors of Christmas balls, placed in a silver bowl to center the table. Tall tapers in silver candle holders threw a soft glow over the scene.

The effect was very unusual. Mrs. O. E. DeVille and Mrs. B. M. Hixon served coffee or spiced tea, as the guests preferred. The silver service used was brought to Mrs. Windham from Germany by her son, who was serving in the army of occupation. Dainty open-faced sandwiches, salted nuts, and cakes decorated with holly were also served to the many guests who called to wish the young couple fair sailing on the sea of matrimony.

Co-hostesses were Mesdames E. D. Baker, O. E. DeVille, B. M. Hixon, B. N. Hixon, W. E. Hixon, M. K. McConnell, C. J. Windham, and Miss Ethel Watson.

Most Beautiful Structure Gets Extensive Repair Job

WASHINGTON — India's Taj Mahal is universally conceded to be one of the most breathtakingly beautiful structures in the world, but the roof leaks.

Unfortunately that matter cannot be corrected by a mere application of new shingles or another coat of tar and gravel. The leaks are worst in the magnificent white marble dome surmounting the mausoleum, and the roofers must be stonemasons as well.

The damage presently under repair, says the National Geographic Society, was discovered in 1936. A thorough survey was made and upon the recommendation of an advisory committee of experts, rehabilitation of the entire building was begun several years ago. Work will not be finished until 1954, and already it has cost $712,740.

Roof leaks are not new in the Taj Mahal. In fact they plagued the builders almost before the mortar was dry. Built at Agra by the Emperor Shah Jahan as a memorial and tomb for his wife, Mumtaz Mahal, the Taj was started A.D. 1631 and completed in 1648.

Four years later even before the surrounding buildings were finished, Prince Aurangzeb reported to the Shah, his father, that "the dome of the holy tomb leaks in two places. . .and so also do the fair semi-domed arches, many of the galleries on the second story, the four smaller domes, the four northern compartments and the seven underground chambers, which have developed cracks."

Repairs have been going on ever since, although actual work reports prior to the British rule in India are hard to find. The English themselves did at least three major rehabilitations jobs in the 19th century.

The Taj Mahal has a romantic history. Shah Jahan promised Mumtaz Mahal that he would build her the most beautiful tomb in the world and that he would never marry again after her death. He kept both promises, and his tomb lies near hers in the magnificent structure dedicated to her memory.

Even the name is hers, Taj Mahal, meaning "Crown of the Palace," being one of her court titles.

The building is pure white marble, on a vast marble terrace. An imposing dome rises in the center, surrounded by four smaller domes. Four minarets stand at the corners of the terrace, and the whole is set off in formal, tree-lined gardens with reflecting pools to mirror its beauty.

The Skillet Club

By UNCLE FRANK KOHLER

(Chief Skilleteer)

One of the finest things that we have encountered is this recipe for pickled shrimp. Skilleteer John M. Langhorne, of the Huntsville, Ala. Times Chapter sent this one to us, and credits Mrs. Harris of the Cove Hotel at Panama City, Fla. This is simple, delicious, and makes a terrific appetizer — really worth adding to your collection.

2½ pound fresh shrimp
¼ cup mixed pickling spices.
Several celery tops with leaves

Onion slices
8 bay leaves.

Bring 3 pints of water to a boil, add mixed pickling spices and celery, boil 5 minutes, then add the shrimp and boil 12 minutes more. Pour off water, cool, and clean the shrimp. Arrange shrimp in a shallow baking dish or bowl, in alternate layers with thin onion slices. Add bay leaves. Mix the following:

1¼ cups salad oil
¾ cup white vinegar
2½ teaspoons celery seed
2½ tablespoons capers and juice
2 teaspoons salt
2 dashes tabasco

Pour the mixture over the shrimp, cover, and place in refrigerator. Let stand at least 24 hours before serving. They will keep a week or longer.

This idea works equally well with lobster, frozen lobster tails, or Dungennes crab claws. If using frozen lobster tails, thaw before boiling. We have put a lobster tail in with the shrimp, then cut the boiled meat in thin slices and marinated with the shrimp.

Skilleteer Leo B. McGinnis of the Buffalo Courier & Express Chapter sends in a very good hot canape. He boils a sizable fish, preferably red snapper, then removes all bones and puts through the food chopper. Add salt, pepper, worcestershire and tabasco to taste. Mix with enough mayon - naise to form a smooth paste. Cut bread rounds, toast them on one side, then butter the untoasted side and spread generously with the fish paste, cover with a thin coating of mayonnaise and sprinkle with paprika. Toast lightly under the broiler. 2 cups of the mixture will make about 24 canapes.

While we're on the subject of Holiday Cheer, we must perpetuate for posterity the Tom and Jerry recipe given us years ago by the late Arnold Shircliffe, of the Wrigley Building Restaurant in Chicago, whose reputation in things gustatorial was world-wide. This is a New Year's Eve "must" at our house. His recipe (this is for a large group — half the recipe is ample for the ordinary family gathering):

12 eggs
1 ounce brandy

Separate whites from yolks of eggs and whip up whites until they are very stiff — then whip in sugar, then cream of tartar, then brandy. Whip up the yolks well and whip them into the mixture. Place in a stone jar or bowl, and keep cold.

To serve, place one heaping tablespoonful of the mixture in a hot mug, add 1 ounce of 151 proof dark rum, fill mug with boiling hot water, stir. Dust nutmeg on top if desired, and serve immediately.

And a very Happy New Year to you, too!

Showers Honor Mary Carl Underwood

The combination of the spirit of Christmas with the happiness and excitement a prospective bride enjoys, made the shower given Miss Marycarl Underwood an especially gala occasion.

The home of Mrs. Mable Nash in Mangham carried out the Christmas theme, with a lovely tree, yaupon, nandena, and other holiday decorations placed at ventage points throughout the reception suites.

Miss Underwood was seated at a table overlaid with a cutwork cloth to receive the many gifts brought by friends as tokens of love and good wishes for the future happiness of these two popular young people. She wore a gown of gunmetal taffeta with stripes of maroon and teal blue satin threaded through it. Her corsage was a cluster of golden bells- a gift from the hostesses. They also presented her with a piece of her chosen pattern in silver. Assisting the honoree to open and list her gifts was her friend, Miss Pricilla Beckcom, her mother, Mrs. C. N. Underwood, and the groom's grandmother, Mrs. H. H. Mash. All enjoyed the surprise and pleasure each package brought.

Guests were invited to view the gifts on display, then to the refreshment table which was most effectively decorated with yaupon intermingled with varied colors of Christmas balls, placed in a silver bowl to center the table. Tall tapers in silver candle holders threw a soft glow over the scene.

The effect was very unusual. Mrs. O. E. DeVille and Mrs. B. M. Hixon served coffee or spiced tea, as the guests preferred. The silver service used was brought to Mrs. Windham from Germany by her son, who was serving in the army of occupation. Dainty open-faced sandwiches, salted nuts, and cakes decorated with holly were also served to the many guests who called to wish the young couple fair sailing on the sea of matrimony.

Co-hostesses were Mesdames E. D. Baker, O. E. DeVille, B. M. Hixon, B. N. Hixon, W. E. Hixon, M. K. McConnell, C. J. Windham, and Miss Ethel Watson.

Most Beautiful Structure Gets Extensive Repair Job

WASHINGTON — India's Taj Mahal is universally conceded to be one of the most breathtakingly beautiful structures in the world, but the roof leaks.

Unfortunately that matter cannot be corrected by a mere application of new shingles or another coat of tar and gravel. The leaks are worst in the magnificent white marble dome surmounting the mausoleum, and the roofers must be stonemasons as well.

The damage presently under repair, says the National Geographic Society, was discovered in 1936. A thorough survey was made and upon the recommendation of an advisory committee of experts, rehabilitation of the entire building was begun several years ago. Work will not be finished until 1954, and already it has cost $712,740.

Roof leaks are not new in the Taj Mahal. In fact they plagued the builders almost before the mortar was dry. Built at Agra by the Emperor Shah Jahan as a memorial and tomb for his wife, Mumtaz Mahal, the Taj was started A.D. 1631 and completed in 1648.

Four years later even before the surrounding buildings were finished, Prince Aurangzeb reported to the Shah, his father, that "the dome of the holy tomb leaks in two places. . .and so also do the fair semi-domed arches, many of the galleries on the second story, the four smaller domes, the four northern compartments and the seven underground chambers, which have developed cracks."

Repairs have been going on e v e r since, although actual work reports prior to the British rule in India are hard to find. The English themselves did at least three major rehabilitations jobs in the 19th century.

The Taj Mahal has a romantic history. Shah Jahan promised Mumtaz Mahal that he would build her the most beautiful tomb in the world and that he would never marry again after her death. He kept both promises, and his tomb lies near hers in the magnificent structure dedicated to her memory.

Even the name is hers, Taj Mahal, meaning "Crown of the Palace," being one of her court titles.

The building is pure white marble, on a vast marble terrace. An imposing dome rises in the center, surrounded by four smaller domes. Four minarets stand at the corners of the terrace, and the whole is set off in formal, tree-lined gardens with reflecting pools to mirror its beauty.

CRASH VICTIM RITES SUNDAY

Woody Heath, Jr., Funeral Set For 2 P.M. At Hixson Chapel

Funeral services have been set for 2 p.m. Sunday for Woody Heath, Jr., 19, who was killed in an automobile accident Christmas day. Heath was a member of the Navy and was home on leave.

Full military services will be held at the graveside by members of the local National Guard unit.

The Rev. Ralph Cain of the Memorial Methodist Church will officiate at the services, which will be held in the chapel of Hixson Funeral Home. Burial will be in Hasley cemetery in West Monroe.

The fatal accident took place about two and one-half miles north of West Monroe on the White's Ferry road.

Meanwhile, Mrs. Godron Gilmore, 23, who was also injured in the accident, was reported as out of danger at the St. Francis hospital here. Mrs. Gilmore, who is expecting a child in about a month, suffered severe lacerations of the face and bruises. She was a passenger in the automobile which Heath was driving when he lost control of the vehicle and overturned. She resides on the White's Ferry road with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Thurmon, and is a cousin to Heath.

Pallbearers will be as follows: Wesley Liner, H. R. Johnston, Albert Peer, Bobby Black, Bert Waldroup and Donald Johnson.

Mr. Heath is survived by two brothers, Larry Heath, Fairbanks, La., Kenneth Heath, U. S. A., stationed in the Philippines, and his father, Woody Heath, Sr., West Monroe.

Student Night Will Be Observed Here

Student Night will be observed in First Presbyterian Church, tonight at 7:30. The program will be conducted by students from this church who are attending various colleges and universities over the country. Ralph King will preside. Special parts on the program have been assigned to Margaret Ann Hunter, Arthur Hugh Matthews, Mary Gertrude Rodriquez, Beverly Hatchell, Elizabeth Cretney, Bettye Bamford.

The other returned college students who have been asked to give a brief talk on the religious experiences of their respective campuses are Frances Black, Terri Sue Tidwell, Foster Bond, Ronald Lee Davis, Jr., Billie Ray Harvey, Martha Hatchell, Sammy Hightower, Palmer Huey, Stanton Huey, Anna Mary Johnson, Barbara Ann Kelso, Mary Lou Kern, Tommie Jane Lawhead, Charles Martin, Albert Ringo, Jr., Ed Seymour, John Shepperson, Robert Stewart, Jim Upp and Al Weidie.

Answer to Question No. 1

1. Possibly, even probably. In 1927, 800 Follies girls reported only 25 children. The late Ellsworth Huntington said if they later had 50 children—all told, that would not replace the mothers. Had they lived a normal life, he thought, most would have married and likely produced 1500 children! The 1928 Census listed 13,000 actresses. There are far more now, besides thousands of cabaret singers and dancers. They average few children. Huntington said, "If present tendencies continue, it will be a sad world in time with both beauty and brains weeded out from our women."

Answer to Question No. 2

2. According to Psychologist W. H. Mikesell, they are "disposition worriers" and "trouble worriers." The former worry no matter what the circumstances. For them life is just one darn worry after another. The others worry about real troubles—health, business, children, etc. The first can be greatly helped by expert counsel; the latter try to remove the causes. Both will be helped by our booklet, "The Conquest of Fear." Sent at cost, 15 cents (coin only), plus self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Answer to Question No. 3

3. Yes. A survey of 41 Iowa schools having student councils showed that criticism from fellows was readily accepted because students realized it was not the expression of an irritated teacher or principal but of equals who were interested in each other's good. The same has proved true in sororities.

CRASH VICTIM RITES SUNDAY

Woody Heath, Jr., Funeral Set For 2 P.M. At Hixson Chapel

Funeral services have been set for 2 p.m. Sunday for Woody Heath, Jr., 19, who was killed in an automobile accident Christmas day. Heath was a member of the Navy and was home on leave.

Full military services will be held at the graveside by members of the local National Guard unit.

The Rev. Ralph Cain of the Memorial Methodist Church will officiate at the services, which will be held in the chapel of Hixson Funeral Home. Burial will be in Hasley cemetery in West Monroe.

The fatal accident took place about two and one-half miles north of West Monroe on the White's Ferry road.

Meanwhile, Mrs. Godron Gilmore, 23, who was also injured in the accident, was reported as out of danger at the St. Francis hospital here. Mrs. Gilmore, who is expecting a child in about a month, suffered severe lacerations of the face and bruises. She was a passenger in the automobile which Heath was driving when he lost control of the vehicle and overturned. She resides on the White's Ferry road with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Thurmon, and is a cousin to Heath.

Pallbearers will be as follows: Wesley Liner, H. R. Johnston, Albert Peer, Bobby Black, Bert Waldroup and Donald Johnson.

Mr. Heath is survived by two brothers, Larry Heath, Fairbanks, La.; Kenneth Heath, U. S. A., stationed in the Philippines; and his father, Woody Heath, Sr., West Monroe.

Student Night Will Be Observed Here

Student Night will be observed in First Presbyterian Church, tonight at 7:30. The program will be conducted by students from this church who are attending various colleges and universities over the country. Ralph King will preside. Special parts on the program have been assigned to Margaret Ann Hunter, Arthur Hugh Matthews, Mary Gertrude Rodriquez, Beverly Hatchell, Elizabeth Cretney, Bettye Bamford.

The other returned college students who have been asked to give a brief talk on the religious experiences of their respective campuses are Frances Black, Terri Sue Tidwell, Foster Bond, Ronald Lee Davis, Jr., Billie Ray Harvey, Martha Hatchell, Sammy Hightower, Palmer Huey, Stanton Huey, Anna Mary Johnson, Barbara Ann Kelso, Mary Lou Kern, Tommie Jane Lawhead, Charles Martin, Albert Ringo, Jr., Ed Seymour, John Shepperson, Robert Stewart, Jim Upp and Al Weidie.

PREDICTS RAIN OR SNOW FOR INAUGURATION

Weather Man Voted For Eisenhower, But He Can't Help About Forecast

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27 (AP)—Dr. Charles Greeley Abbot of the Smithsonian Institution, who has been batting 1.000 on weather predictions for presidential inaugurations, said today indications are for "rain or snow" when President-elect Eisenhower takes the oath Jan. 20.

Abbot, who has worked out a system of predicting the probability of precipitation of fair weather for specific dates in Washington as much as a year in advance, hit things right on the nose for the Truman inauguration in 1949 and for the last Roosevelt inauguration in 1945.

Weeks ahead, he had predicted fair weather for both those Democrats—and so it turned out.

But, apparently, there are no politics involved in the forecast of bleak skies for Eisenhower's big day. "I voted for Eisenhower," Abbot said.

The 80-year-old scientist admits he has his fingers crossed about his forecast for the inauguration. He says that after 18 straight years of coming pretty close to the mark on long-range forecasts "things went kind of crooked for me in 1952."

"Things went well in the first part of the year," the tall man with the drooping moustache said, "and December turned out all right—but from June through November, (the weather was) quite against me."

"But, far be it from Abbot to take it lying down.

"I thought you'd be calling up about the coming inaugural," he went on. "And while I haven't worked out my entire schedule for 1953, chances are favorable for some kind of precipitation—rain or snow—on Jan. 20."

The one-time secretary of the Smithsonian has been in tight squeezes before in the inauguration weather line.

"I had forecast the probability of fair weather for the last Roosevelt inauguration," he said, "and the night before I was up in New York and it was snowing heavily. . . . But around midnight, when I was returning by train to Washington, the snow stopped and the stars came out. I got through that one by the skin of my teeth."

The truman forecast was no soft touch, either.

"I had predicted the probability of rain for the day before and the day after the Truman inauguration—with fair weather on the day itself—and that's exactly how it turned out," he said.

Abbot explained that his system for forecasting probabilities of precipitation and temperature changes is based upon cycles of "fluctuation" he has found to occur in the heat radiation of the sun during its 27-day rotation period. Sun spots and other phenomena are involved, he said.

The actual odds on hitting specific dates correctly are "still only 50-50," Abbot said but he maintained that on a "long-range" basis the "average" rainfall has been higher on days he selected for precipitation than on those he didn't.

Many meteorologists take a cloudy view of Abbot's system—but he has some strong backers among the general public.

"A couple of years ago," he said, "14 prospective brides called me up to ask me about the weather for their coming wedding days.

Tree-Planting Machines Increase, Says Forester

RALEIGH, N. C. (AP)—Tree-planting machines on open and fairly level ground can plant from 7,000 to 10,000 seedlings with a two-man crew in an eight-hour day, says John E. Ford, assistant forester for the North Carolina State College extension service.

Ford noted the increase in the use of the machines in the last several years by landowners, sawmill operators and other organizations. He added, however, that handplanting was the only method possible in many places and that it was doubtful that the planting machines would be efficient in areas smaller than 10 acres.

Truck-Road Research Is Begun In Idaho

MALAD, Ida. — Preliminary tests have begun on a stretch of road south of Malad built for the Western Association of State Highway Officials' road - test research project.

The test pavement is in the form of two loops, each 1,900 feet long. One is for trucks with tandem axles, the other for single-axle trucks.

Eleven State highway departments are sponsoring the project, with the co-operation of the Bureau of Public Roads, the Automobile Manufacturers' Association, and other groups.

Strike Cuts Steel Output; New Record Forecast In '53

By DOROTHY M. BROOKS
United Press Financial Writer

NEW YORK (UP)—Steel production in 1952 fell 15,000,000 tons short of the record 108,587,670-ton capacity with which the industry began the year — the result of the longest and costliest steel strike in the nation's history.

But output still was the third highest on record and the outlook is for new records in 1953.

America's steel makers, despite the prolonged work stoppage in summer, went right on boosting their producing facilities to bring capacity to a new peak within reaching distance of the 120,000,000 - ton goal established unofficially early in 1951.

And steel leaders see no reason to fear that this capacity is excessive. They predict continued peak demand at least through the first half of 1953, and probably beyond.

They emphasize the industry is in strong position, financially and otherwise, to weather any temporary rough - going which may be ahead.

They point out that even at a slightly lower than capacity operating rate, mills could do about as well profit - wise as they do now, with elimination of high-cost overtime making the difference.

But the industry looks ahead with confidence to the future under a new administration.

E. G. Grace, chairman of Bethlehem Steel Company said that, while "no sensible person thinks that an automatic solution for all of our problems and difficulties... industry now can reasonably expect that it can conduct business in an atmosphere of understanding and mutual cooperation. Our energies can properly be expended on the job of production and distribution, and not dissipated through fighting a rear-guard action to prevent being absorbed by the Federal octopus."

Steel output this year totaled about 93,000,000 tons, 12,000,000 tons below the record 105,199,848 tons poured in 1951. For 1953 production is expected to run about 119,000,000 tons.

The 53 - year steel strike cost some 18,000,000 ingot tons of steel and $3,500,000,000 or more in lost production, profits and wages in the steel and allied industries.

Progress on expansion of steel making facilities was delayed during the strike, but capacity, nevertheless, was upped significantly—by more than 7,000,000 net tons to a year-end figure around 116,000,000 tons.

The bill for the expansion this year will run around $1,300,000,000, boosting to $4,700,000,0 the postwar cost of adding 24,000,000 tons to capacity.

The new capacity is considered a potent factor in industry arguments for decontrol of steel. The Steel Industry Advisory Committee, recommending decontrol, forecast for 1953:

1. The industry can produce as much as 118,800,000 net tons of ingots if needed.

2. No more than 14,000,000 tons will be required for military and atomic energy use as now planned.

3. This would leave as much as 104,000,000 tons for all other purposes — one-third more than the estimated 80,000,000 tons which were available for non - defense uses during 1952.

The consensus at the year-end was for all controls, except for military and atomic energy priority, to be lifted by April 1.

Parishoners' Output 500 Dolls A Month

VERONA, Italy (AP)— A young priest of a mountain village near here taught his parishioners how to make dolls, to keep them from emigrating abroad.

The Rev. Luigi Bodini of Lugo Di Valpantena organized a small factory where he teaches the young ones to make dolls and gives them a specialized handicraft education. With an initial fund of $6,400, which he obtained from families of the valley, he bought the raw materials required for his artisan shop.

After one year of work, the little factory produces 500 dolls a month. They are made in unbreakable porcelain, they say "mama" and "papa" and close their eyes. Young girls cut and tailor the dresses. Young men bake the special clay in a homemade oven for the dolls' bodies, heads, arms, and legs.

Germany Starts Stamp Collecting By Nations

BERLIN — Germany nearly a century ago became the first government to collect stamps. Heinrich von Stephan, first postmaster general, began the collection when he established the German Postal Museum.

It originally was set up as an identification service to familiarize postmasters with legitimate

Through the Universal Postal Union, also founded by von Stephan, the museum began to buy rare specimens. By 1910 its stamp collection was the most complete in the world.

PREDICTS RAIN OR SNOW FOR INAUGURATION

Weather Man Voted For Eisenhower, But He Can't Help About Forecast

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27 (AP)—Dr. Charles Greeley Abbot of the Smithsonian Institution, who has been batting 1.000 on weather predictions for presidential inaugurations, said today indications are for "rain or snow" when President-elect Eisenhower takes the oath Jan. 20.

Abbot, who has worked out a system of predicting the probability of precipitation of fair weather for specific dates in Washington as much as a year in advance, hit things right on the nose for the Truman inauguration in 1949 and for the last Roosevelt inauguration in 1945.

Weeks ahead, he had predicted fair weather for both those Democrats—and so it turned out.

But, apparently, there are no politics involved in the forecast of bleak skies for Eisenhower's big day. "I voted for Eisenhower," Abbot said.

The 80-year-old scientist admits he has his fingers crossed about his forecast for the inauguration. He says that after 18 straight years of coming pretty close to the mark on long-range forecasts "things went kind of crooked for me in 1952."

"Things went well in the first part of the year," the tall man with the drooping moustache said, "and December turned out all right—but from June through November, (the weather was) quite against me."

"But, far be it from Abbot to take it lying down.

"I thought you'd be calling up about the coming inaugural," he went on. "And while I haven't worked out my entire schedule for 1953, chances are favorable for some kind of precipitation—rain or snow—on Jan. 20."

The one-time secretary of the Smithsonian has been in tight squeezes before in the inauguration weather line.

"I had forecast the probability of fair weather for the last Roosevelt inauguration," he said, "and the night before I was up in New York and it was snowing heavily. . . . But around midnight, when I was returning by train to Washington, the snow stopped and the stars came out. I got through that one by the skin of my teeth."

The truman forecast was no soft touch, either.

"I had predicted the probability of rain for the day before and the day after the Truman inauguration—with fair weather on the day itself—and that's exactly how it turned out," he said.

Abbot explained that his system for forecasting probabilities of precipitation and temperature changes is based upon cycles of "fluctuation" he has found to occur in the heat radiation of the sun during its 27-day rotation period. Sun spots and other phenomena are involved, he said.

The actual odds on hitting specific dates correctly are "still only 50-50," Abbot said but he maintained that on a "long-range" basis the "average" rainfall has been higher on days he selected for precipitation than on those he didn't.

Many meteorologists take a cloudy view of Abbot's system—but he has some strong backers among the general public.

"A couple of years ago," he said, "14 prospective brides called me up to ask me about the weather for their coming wedding days.

Tree-Planting Machines Increase, Says Forester

RALEIGH, N. C. (AP)—Tree-planting machines on open and fairly level ground can plant from 7,000 to 10,000 seedlings with a two-man crew in an eight-hour day, says John E. Ford, assistant forester for the North Carolina State College extension service.

Ford noted the increase in the use of the machines in the last several years by landowners, sawmill operators and other organizations. He added, however, that handplanting was the only method possible in many places and that it was doubtful that the planting machines would be efficient in areas smaller than 10 acres.

Truck-Road Research Is Begun In Idaho

MALAD, Ida. — Preliminary tests have begun on a stretch of road south of Malad built for the Western Association of State Highway Officials' road - test research project.

The test pavement is in the form of two loops, each 1,900 feet long. One is for trucks with tandem axles, the other for single-axle trucks.

Eleven State highway departments are sponsoring the project, with the co-operation of the Bureau of Public Roads, the Automobile Manufacturers' Association, and other groups.

9,000 Private Planes In Use In United States

NEW YORK — More than 9,000 private airplanes, belonging to businesses ranging from oil companies to mushroom growers, now shuttle around the country and even beyond the nation's borders.

This fleet has grown from 2,000 in 1946. The petroleum industry alone operates about 2,400 of its own planes. Executive transports flew a billion passenger miles in 1951, a figure scheduled airlines didn't reach until 1940.

Strike Cuts Steel Output; New Record Forecast In '53

By DOROTHY M. BROOKS
United Press Financial Writer

NEW YORK (UP)—Steel production in 1952 fell 15,000,000 tons short of the record 108,587,670-ton capacity with which the industry began the year — the result of the longest and costliest steel strike in the nation's history.

But output still was the third highest on record and the outlook is for new records in 1953.

America's steel makers, despite the prolonged work stoppage in summer, went right on boosting their producing facilities to bring capacity to a new peak within reaching distance of the 120,000,000 - ton goal established unofficially early in 1951.

And steel leaders see no reason to fear that this capacity is excessive. They predict continued peak demand at least through the first half of 1953, and probably beyond.

They emphasize the industry is in strong position, financially and otherwise, to weather any temporary rough - going which may be ahead.

They point out that even at a slightly lower than capacity operating rate, mills could do about as well profit - wise as they do now, with elimination of high-cost overtime making the difference.

But the industry looks ahead with confidence to the future under a new administration.

E. G. Grace, chairman of Bethlehem Steel Company said that, while "no sensible person thinks that an automatic solution for all of our problems and difficulties... industry now can reasonably expect that it can conduct business in an atmosphere of understanding and mutual cooperation. Our energies can properly be expended on the job of production and distribution, and not dissipated through fighting a rear-guard action to prevent being absorbed by the Federal octopus."

Steel output this year totaled about 93,000,000 tons, 12,000,000 tons below the record 105,199,848 tons poured in 1951. For 1953 production is expected to run about 119,000,000 tons.

The 53 - year steel strike cost some 18,000,000 ingot tons of steel and $3,500,000,000 or more in lost production, profits and wages in the steel and allied industries.

Progress on expansion of steel making facilities was delayed during the strike, but capacity, nevertheless, was upped significantly—by more than 7,000,000 net tons to a year-end figure around 116,000,000 tons.

The bill for the expansion this year will run around $1,300,000,000, boosting to $4,700,000,0 the postwar cost of adding 24,000,000 tons to capacity.

The new capacity is considered a potent factor in industry arguments for decontrol of steel. The Steel Industry Advisory Committee, recommending decontrol, forecast for 1953:

1. The industry can produce as much as 118,800,000 net tons of ingots if needed.

2. No more than 14,000,000 tons will be required for military and atomic energy use as now planned.

3. This would leave as much as 104,000,000 tons for all other purposes — one-third more than the estimated 80,000,000 tons which were available for non - defense uses during 1952.

The consensus at the year-end was for all controls, except for military and atomic energy priority, to be lifted by April 1.

Parishoners' Output 500 Dolls A Month

VERONA, Italy (AP)— A young priest of a mountain village near here taught his parishioners how to make dolls, to keep them from emigrating abroad.

The Rev. Luigi Bodini of Lugo Di Valpantena organized a small factory where he teaches the young ones to make dolls and gives them a specialized handicraft education. With an initial fund of $6,400, which he obtained from families of the valley, he bought the raw materials required for his artisan shop.

After one year of work, the little factory produces 500 dolls a month. They are made in unbreakable porcelain, they say "mama" and "papa" and close their eyes. Young girls cut and tailor the dresses. Young men bake the special clay in a homemade oven for the dolls' bodies, heads, arms, and legs.

Germany Starts Stamp Collecting By Nations

BERLIN — Germany nearly a century ago became the first government to collect stamps. Heinrich von Stephan, first postmaster general, began the collection when he established the German Postal Museum.

It originally was set up as an identification service to familiarize postmasters with legitimate

Through the Universal Postal Union, also founded by von Stephan, the museum began to buy rare specimens. By 1910 its stamp collection was the most complete in the world.

RABBIS BEING DRAFTED BY OWN GROUPS

Jewish Organizations Form Their Own Intra-Mural Draft

By SAUL PETT

NEW YORK (AP)—Rabbis are being "drafted" for military service as chaplains by their own religious organizations.

Although clergymen are not subject to official Selective Service, the Jewish groups — Orthodox, Conservative and Reformed — operate their own self-imposed, intramural draft. Other faiths select chaplains on a voluntary basis.

But only the Jewish bodies thus far have filled their quotas, according to a recent statement by Maj. Gen. Ivan L. Bennett, Army chief of chaplains. The services take chaplains under a quota system based on national proportions — 69 per cent Protestant, 29 per cent Catholic and three per cent Jewish.

"We're drafting rabbis not because rabbis are less patriotic than other clergymen but because we wanted the fairest, most Democratic and most realistic way of getting a steady supply of chaplains," said Rabbi Aryeh Lev, director of the division of religious activities of the Jewish Welfare Board which coordinates the work of selecting chaplains from the three individual religious groups.

The system was set up two years ago, shortly after the start of the fighting in Korea. Many chaplains in the military reserves were being ordered back to active duty while younger clergymen, who had seen no military service, were not affected.

To avoid such inequities, the Jewish groups began drafting rabbis, taking equal numbers from the Orthodox, Conservative and Reformed organizations.

Rabbi Lev explained: "First we call unmarried Rabbis, then the married ones with no children, then those with one child and finally those with more than one child.

What happens if a rabbi refuses to accept a call to military service?

"Of course, we can't actually force him into the Army," Rabbi Lev said, "but we do have sanctions if necessary. A young rabbi refusing the draft might find it difficult to get a congregation. An older one might find promotion a long way off. Happily, in two years, we haven't had to impose sanctions."

There are now 108 Jewish chaplains in the three military services, about 40 of them overseas. Seven are in Korea, which Rabbi Lev visited recently on an inspection trip.

Like other chaplains in the combat areas, the rabbis in Korea move around like modern-day circuit riders, in jeeps. They cover about 90 miles a day, carrying with them a portable altar, the torah (holy Hebrew scriptures), prayer books, candlesticks, kiddush wine cups and other things used in prayer.

The rabbi in Korea is not only a travelling synagogue or tempe, he also is a mobile kosher PX. He carries with him kosher salamis, meats, chickens and other specialized foods favored by Jewish soldiers.

Since the troops are so scattered, it is impossible for Jewish chaplains to reach all units in Korea and Japan. In many of those areas there are lay soldiers trained by rabbis to lead services.

"Also," Rabbi Lev said, "we owe a great debt to the Catholic and Protestant chaplains who have helped organize Jewish services where no rabbis were available. In some cases, they have even delivered non - denominational sermons to our Jewish boys."

'ETHICS' CASE BEFORE COURT

Has Request That Lawyer's License Be Cancelled In State

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—The Louisiana Supreme Court has before it a request by its committee on professional ethics that Joe T. Cawthorn's license to practice law in the state be cancelled.

The committee asked the high court to ignore a recommendation by Moseman R. Simoneaux, a special commissioner, that the Mansfield attorney be suspended from practice for five years.

Proceedings were a result of Cawthorn's conviction and sentence in U. S. District Court here to serve two years in prison and pay a $10,000 fine on a charge of conspiracy to tamper with a federal jury.

The charges grew out of the trial of William T. Burton of Lake Charles for income tax evasion. Burton and Cawthorn were given identical sentences in the conspiracy case.

The high court's committee said considering the nature and magnitude of Cawthorn's offense and the overwhelming proof the committee regrets that it must ask for an order of disbarment."

The committee also said that Simoneaux erred in finding that the witnesses for the government were unworthy of belief.

Court attaches said a date for argument on the exceptions would be set later.

Cawthorn's chief counsel in the disbarment case, Charles J. Rivet, was unavailable for comment.

Grim Story Told Of Life On Eastern War Front

By AL KAFF

EASTERN FRONT, Dec. 27—UP—The letter wasn't finished.

It lay on the ground in the trench partly covered with powder snow kicked up by the icy winds.

"Dearest sis," it started. Then a few closely written lines and no ending.

"You can find anything here," a tired - eyed infantryman said, pushing his foot toward the letter. Bored he looked away. "Somebody dropped it," he added.

The wind blew on Bethlehem Point, rattling a can hooked on a barbed wire entanglement and stirring up little whirlpools of snow and dust.

"Nothing ever happens here except when they start shooting over there," the soldier said. He jerked his head to snow where "over there" was.

"They can spit on us," he remarked grimly.

This was King Company, dug into frozen trenches and bunkers only 60 yards from Luke the Gook's Castle, a honeycombed pile of rocks infested with North Korean Communists.

Bethlehem Point juts out into no-mans-land like the thumb of a fingerless hand. It points straight toward Luke the Gook's Castle.

Crawling to a slit in the tiny bunker, you could see the "Castle" only a third of a city block away from the American soldiers.

The North Koreans crawl in and out of their jagged fortress to take quick shots at the American soldiers hiding in holes and trenches on Bethlehem Point.

On Christmas morning, 200 North Koreans screaming "banzai" swarmed out of Luke's Castle and pushed King Company down the slopes. Americans were blown to bits by artillery and mortar before the Reds were again driven from the point.

Sometimes the men of King Company hear music and propaganda broadcasts.

"I forget what they played last night," said Pvt. John J. Polito, 19, of Yonkers, N. Y.

"Yeah, me too," replied Pvt. LeBach, 21, of Sparta, N. J., "some kind of Spanish song."

Pfc. Mohlar Curtis, 20, of Raleigh, N. C., said, "they played the beautiful Blue Danube. I liked it. They're nuts if they call that propaganda."

"It don't make me homesick," Polito said. "It makes the night go faster listening to music."

King Company does not sleep at night. From sundown to sunup they watch the "Castle" and listen for the rattle of cans hung on the barbed wire below Bethlehem's northern slope. Only the wind and attacking Reds rattle the cans.

"It takes them about a minute to get over here," said Pfc. Samuel Waller, 23, of Selma, Ark.

FIRMS MATCH XMAS RECORD

Retail Business Climbs To New Sales Peaks In Most Sections

THIS WEEK IN BUSINESS AND FINANCE

NEW YORK, Dec. 27 (AP)—Industry maintained a record pace this holiday week in its sweep towards the year end.

Retail business climbed to new sales peaks in most sections of the nation with volume in the final pre-Christmas period well ahead of the like week a year ago.

That the year will end with business hopes high is reflected in financial statistics. Business loans expanded by 100 million dollars in the latest week, hitting a new high for the thirteenth straight week at $23,236,000,000.

Money in circulation at 30¾ billion dollars chalked up its fifth successive record high.

In Wall Street, investor confidence enabled the stock market to absorb all the usual end-of-the-year adjustments and attain a new average high, before falling back slightly.

Industrial producers were so busy with order books full, that they barely broke stride for the traditional Christmas observance.

Steel plants turned out a record 2,236,000 net tons of raw steel last week. That was at an unprecedented rate of more than 116½ million tons a year, and production this week was scheduled at only slightly less.

The Iron Age, metal working trade weekly, said some major producers paid double-time wages to keep ovens, furnaces and mills rolling through the holiday.

In the automobile industry, too, extra time was paid.

Some car makers kept employes on the job Saturday to make up for the Christmas shutdown. A few of them apparently were borrowing materials from future quotas to boost 1952 production.

SERVICES HELD FOR JENA MAN

Oil Field Worker Killed In Auto Smashup Near Alexandria

JENA, Dec. 27 — (Special) — Funeral services were held at 2 p. m. Saturday for Chester F. Allien, 26, Jena oil field worker who was killed in an auto accident north of Alexandria Friday.

Services were held at the Belah Methodist church near here. Burial, under direction of the Hixon Funeral home of Jena, was in the church cemetery.

Allien was fatally injured when his auto smashed into the guard rail of a bridge near Simms, in Grant parish, about 17 miles north of Alexandria. Three other persons in the car with him were also injured.

The injured persons are: Willie Hatfield, 23, of Nebe, a sailor home on leave; Elizabeth Ware, 30, of Tullos, and Rosie S. Whitehead, 23 of Urania. Hatfield suffered a fractured skull and fractured left leg. Miss Ware is being treated for bruises and lacerations of the face, and Miss Whitehead sustained a fractured skull, multible lacerations of the face, and internal injuries.

State police headquarters at Alexandria said Allien was driving north at a speed of about 70 miles per hour when his auto rammed into the bridge railing.

He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Alice V. Allien of Jena; one grandmother, Mrs. W. H. Kennon of Jena; four brothers, Odis, Lonnie and Shelby Allien, all of Jena, and Brady Allien of Gulfport, Miss.; and two sisters, Mrs. Lois Mockerman and Mrs. Orlean Cripps, both of Jena.

CHRISTMAS PRESENT FROM IKE — John Burnham, 17, happily displays in New York the 12 - by - 18 inch oil painting he received from President - elect Dwight D. Eisenhower, the artist who painted it. The gift from Ike resulted from a trip John and Fred Monroe Waring 2nd, 16 - year - old son of the orchestra leader, made to the Eisenhower residence on Morningside Drive to deliver a turkey from the Waring farm near Harrisburg, Pa. Ike invited the boys inside and Johnny, admiring the general's paintings, gave special praise to a landscape done near Central City, Colo., of a group of flaming yellow trees against a bright blue sky — so Ike gave it to him. STRAY BALLOON—M. S. Dixion, Sr., of Sterlington, holds the red parachute attached to a radio transmitter which landed in a tree-top near his home early Saturday. The apparatus was identified as an Army weather balloon. The balloon itself was deflated and was destroyed when the object was retrieved from the tree by Dixion's son. Point of origin for the balloon has not been determined. (Staff Photo by Clyde Blow.)

Tree-Top 'Bomb' Just Army Weather Balloon

A small aerial object, lodged in a Sterlington tree top, caused an early - morning stir there Saturday, but a Negro, who was certain it was some sort of "bomb" was pacified when it turned out to be just an ordinary military weather balloon.

The balloon was discovered about 6 a. m. by a Negro woman, who told her employer shortly afterwards that she would like for him to see "what that thing is in my tree."

The object was retrieved from the tree by M. S. Dixon, Jr., of Sterlington, who took it to his father's house across the bayou from where it was discovered.

The balloon carried a small radiosonde transmitter and instruments for measuring weather conditions. The instruments were enclosed in a transparent plastic case and were slung underneath a red parachute of tough, waxy paper. The balloon itself was deflated and was destroyed when it was retrieved from the tree.

The only legend on the instruments were "U. S. Army Signal Corps" and "Radiosonde Transmitter," along with a few manufacturing names and technical parts descriptions. There were no instructions to the finder of the object.

The balloon was taken to the home of M. S. Dixon, Sr., who notified the CAA office in Monroe.

CAA officials pointed out that they get periodic reports of such balloons, and that they usually are released at Barksdale Air Force Base in Shreveport.

A Negro man, employed by Dixon, was first sent to retrieve the balloon Saturday morning but reported back that he was afraid to touch it.

"Looks like a bomb," he said.

Tired Crew Wipes Brow, Announces 'It's Oil'

This Particular Well Marked New Method In Petroleum Prospecting

By LLOYD WOLFE

OKLAHOMA CITY, Dec. 27 (AP)—A tired drilling crew mopped its collective brow, turned to an excited geologist, and said quietly, "It's oil!"

That particular discovery well, drilled by the Skelly Oil Co., confirmed a new idea in petroleum prospecting—an idea that was to add hundreds of millions of barrels to the nation's known reserves in a few short years.

The theory went something like this: Take an old, established oil field that had been prospected and drilled by comparatively crude methods to shallow depths. Strike out a mile or so from the limit of the field and sink a well, sometimes as much as three times as deep as the old field. There should be more oil in the area, just waiting to be found.

Drilling on the flanks of old, established fields is one of the most important phases of oil discovery in the industry today. It is being successfully exploited in Louisiana, Texas, Wyoming and nearly every oil producing state, but it is especially effective in the Ardmore Basin of Oklahoma.

Harold J. Kleen, chief geologist for the Kerr-McGee Oil Co., who was the district geologist for Skelly at the time of the new discovery, said it has probably contributed as much as any single factor towards keeping the nation's oil reserves at a record high.

Twenty years ago, people in and out of the oil industry had a cold reality staring them straight in the face—in 10 years all the oil known to be buried beneath the United States would be used up at the current rate of consumption.

When the 10 years were up, in 1940, those same people found surprisingly that they weren't being asked to use a substitute for gasoline in the family bus. The industry, in fact, boasted that through new discoveries the nation had its greatest oil reserve in history.

Now, at the close of 1952, that reserve is estimated as a record 26 billion barrels and oil companies are finding more each year than they are taking out of the ground.

Geologist Kleen gives two basic reasons for the continued discoveries:

1. Deeper drilling.
2. Improved seismic methods of exploration.

He said in 1929, when the lucrative Oklahoma City field was discovered, it took almost a year to drill to the 6,500 foot depth. Today, drillers bore to 15,000 feet in a little over four months.

In those days, most of the oil in West Texas came from the Permian Rock formations which occur at shallow depths. Today, oil is found in Devonian and Ordovician Rocks which are found at depths from 8-13,000 feet.

And with all the advances in seismic equipment, drillers can concentrate on those areas most likely to produce oil instead of the old "pick a spot, sink a hole, and hope for the best" method.

Eventually the world will run out of oil, but the industry is doing its best to make sure the public doesn't start worrying and looking for a substitute for a long time to come.

12 New Zealanders Giving Advice In Asia

WELLINGTON, New Zealand. — Under the Colombo Plan of technical assistance to countries of Southeast Asia, 12 New Zealanders have gone overseas to serve as expert advisers and at present 60 trainees from Southeast Asia are studying in New Zealand.

Eighteen are from Ceylon, 13 from Malaya, 12 from India, eight from Pakistan, five from Sarawak, three from North Borneo, and one from Singapore.

ARMY ORDERS 53,000 MAN DRAFT CALL

Largest Since March, 1951; Doubtful If Will Include 19-Year-Olds

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27 —UP— The Army Saturday ordered 53,000 men drafted in February, the largest call since March, 1951.

Despite the sharp increase, it is unlikely that State Selective Service boards will have to dip into the pool of 19-year-olds.

A Selective Service spokesman told the United Press the quota will be filled primarily from 20 and 21-year-old registrants. He said most state boards will not have exhausted the pool of 20-year-olds until March.

The Defense Department said the higher call is necessary to replace men who have completed two years of active service and to maintain approved Army strength of 1,552,000 men.

The higher call—5,000 more than the number ordered drafted in January—also is being made in view of plans for the earlier release of Army drafted veterans of Korea.

Army Secretary Frank C. Pace Jr., announced last week that Army draftees who saw service in Korea will be returned to civilian life after only 20 months service instead of the present 21.

Under the draft law, the Army may keep inductees for 24 months, but it has been releasing Korean veterans three months earlier.

The February call brings to 1,255,430 the number of men to be called into military service through the draft since September, 1950. Of these, 1,174,000 have been for the Army and 81,430 for the Marine Corps. The last draftees taken by the Marines were during May.

Draft calls have risen and fallen according to need. The calls were 80,000 each for January, February, and March, 1951. They dropped substantially after that, the lowest being 7,000 in December, 1951.

But the calls picked up again last fall, rising to 47,000 each for October, November, and December, and then rose to 48,000 for this January.

Londoners Cough Through Lung - Stinging Fog

LONDON (AP)—Londoners coughed and groped their way through lung-stinging fog tonight. It was the second pea souper of the month, making this December rough even by London standards.

Acrid white clouds swirled through streets and seeped into houses gay with Christmas season decorations. The smoke-heavy mist brought hardship to aged persons and those suffering from heart and respiratory ailments.

During the week ending Dec. 13 — the period of the earlier fog — the number of deaths in London rose by 2,800. Medical authorities blamed four days of heavy, clinging fog for the major portion of this increase. They said the fog caused bronchial spasms and placed heavy strains on the heart.

RABBIS BEING DRAFTED BY OWN GROUPS

Jewish Organizations Form Their Own Intra-Mural Draft

By SAUL PETT

NEW YORK (AP)—Rabbis are being "drafted" for military service as chaplains by their own religious organizations.

Although clergymen are not subject to official Selective Service, the Jewish groups — Orthodox, Conservative and Reformed — operate their own self-imposed, intramural draft. Other faiths select chaplains on a voluntary basis.

But only the Jewish bodies thus far have filled their quotas, according to a recent statement by Maj. Gen. Ivan L. Bennett, Army chief of chaplains. The services take chaplains under a quota system based on national proportions — 68 per cent Protestant, 29 per cent Catholic and three per cent Jewish.

"We're drafting rabbis not because rabbis are less patriotic than other clergymen but because we wanted the fairest, most Democratic and most realistic way of getting a steady supply of chaplains," said Rabbi Aryeh Lev, director of the division of religious activities of the Jewish Welfare Board which coordinates the work of selecting chaplains from the three individual religious groups.

The system was set up two years ago, shortly after the start of the fighting in Korea. Many chaplains in the military reserves were being ordered back to active duty while younger clergymen, who had seen no military service, were not affected.

To avoid such inequities, the Jewish groups began drafting rabbis, taking equal numbers from the Orthodox, Conservative and Reformed organizations.

Rabbi Lev explained: "First we call unmarried Rabbis, then the married ones with no children, then those with one child and finally those with more than one child.

What happens if a rabbi refuses to accept a call to military service?

"Of course, we can't actually force him into the Army," Rabbi Lev said, "but we do have sanctions if necessary. A young rabbi refusing the draft might find it difficult to get a congregation. An older one might find promotion a long way off. Happily, in two years, we haven't had to impose sanctions."

There are now 108 Jewish chaplains in the three military services, about 40 of them overseas. Seven are in Korea, which Rabbi Lev visited recently on an inspection trip.

Like other chaplains in the combat areas, the rabbis in Korea move around like modern-day circuit riders, in jeeps. They cover about 90 miles a day, carrying with them a portable altar, the torah (holy Hebrew scriptures), prayer books, candlesticks, kiddush wine cups and other things used in prayer.

The rabbi in Korea is not only a travelling synagogue or tempe, he also is a mobile kosher PX. He carries with him kosher salamis, meats, chickens and other specialized foods favored by Jewish soldiers.

Since the troops are so scattered, it is impossible for Jewish chaplains to reach all units in Korea and Japan. In many of those areas here are lay soldiers trained by rabbis to lead services.

"Also," Rabbi Lev said, "we owe a great debt to the Catholic and Protestant chaplains who have helped organize Jewish services where no rabbis were available. In some cases, they have even delivered non - denominational sermons to our Jewish boys."

'ETHICS' CASE BEFORE COURT

Has Request That Lawyer's License Be Cancelled In State

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—The Louisiana Supreme Court has before it a request by its committee on professional ethics that Joe T. Cawthorn's license to practice law in the state be cancelled.

The committee asked the high court to ignore a recommendation by Moseman R. Simoneaux, a special commissioner, that the Mansfield attorney be suspended from practice for five years.

Proceedings were a result of Cawthorn's conviction and sentence in U. S. District Court here to serve two years in prison and pay a $10,000 fine on a charge of conspiracy to tamper with a federal jury.

The charges grew out of the trial of William T. Burton of Lake Charles for income tax evasion. Burton and Cawthorn were given identical sentences in the conspiracy case.

The high court's committee said considering the nature and magnitude of Cawthorn's offense and the overwhelming proof the committee regrets that it must ask for an order of disbarment."

The committee also said that Simoneaux erred in finding that two witnesses for the government were unworthy of belief.

Court attaches said a date for argument on the exceptions would be set later.

Cawthorn's chief counsel in the disbarment case, Charles J. Rivet, was unavailable for comment.

Grim Story Told Of Life On Eastern War Front

By AL KAFF

EASTERN FRONT, Dec. 27—UP—The letter wasn't finished.

It lay on the ground in the trench partly covered with powder snow kicked up by the icy winds.

"Dearest sis," it started. Then a few closely written lines and no ending.

"You can find anything here," a tired - eyed infantryman said, pushing his foot toward the letter. Bored he looked away. "Somebody dropped it," he added.

The wind blew on Bethlehem Point, rattling a can hooked on a barbed wire entanglement and stirring up little whirlpools of snow and dust.

"Nothing ever happens here except when they start shooting over there," the soldier said. He jerked his head to snow where "over there" was.

"They can spit on us," he remarked grimly.

This was King Company, dug into frozen trenches and bunkers only 60 yards from Luke the Gook's Castle, a honeycombed pile of rocks infested with North Korean Communists.

Bethlehem Point juts out into no-mans-land like the thumb of a fingerless hand. It points straight toward Luke the Gook's Castle.

Crawling to a slit in the tiny bunker, you could see the "Castle" only a third of a city block away from the American soldiers.

King Company day by day looks at the ugly 70-foot cone of grey rock, pockmarked by the winds of centuries. Artillery and mortar have hacked and splintered the rock's trees into grotesque skeletons.

The North Koreans crawl in and out of their jagged fortress to take quick shots at the American soldiers hiding in holes and trenches on Bethlehem Point.

On Christmas morning, 200 North Koreans screaming "banzai" swarmed out of Luke's Castle and pushed King Company down the slopes. Americans were blown to bits by artillery and mortar before the Reds were again driven from the point.

Sometimes the men of King Company hear music and propaganda broadcasts.

"I forget what they played last night," said Pvt. John J. Polito, 19, of Yonkers, N. Y.

"Yeah, me too," repiled Pvt. LeBach, 21, of Sparta, N. J., "some kind of Spanish song."

Pfc. Mohlar Curtis, 20, of Raleigh, N. C., said, "they played the beautiful Blue Danube. I liked it. They're nuts if they call that propaganda."

"It don't make me homesick," Polito said. "It makes the night go faster listening to music."

King Company does not sleep at night, From sundown to sunup they watch the "Castle" and listen for the rattle of cans hung on the barbed wire below Bethlehem's northern slope. Only the wind and attacking Reds rattle the cans.

"It takes them about a minute to get over here," said Pfc. Samuel Waller, 23, of Selma, Ark.

FIRMS MATCH XMAS RECORD

Retail Business Climbs To New Sales Peaks In Most Sections

THIS WEEK IN BUSINESS AND FINANCE

NEW YORK, Dec. 27 (AP)—Industry maintained a record pace this holiday week in its sweep towards the year end.

Retail business climbed to new sales peaks in most sections of the nation with volume in the final pre-Christmas period well ahead of the like week a year ago.

That the year will end with business hopes high is reflected in financial statistics. Business loans expanded by 100 million dollars in the latest week, hitting a new high for the thirteenth straight week at $23,236,000,000.

Money in circulation at 30¾ billion dollars chalked up its fifth successive record high.

In Wall Street, investor confidence enabled the stock market to absorb all the usual end-of-the-year adjustments and attain a new average high, before falling back slightly.

Industrial producers were so busy, with order books full, that they barely broke stride for the traditional Christmas observance.

Steel plants turned out a record 2,236,000 net tons of raw steel last week. That was at an unprecedented rate of more than 116½ million tons a year, and production this week was scheduled at only slightly less.

The Iron Age, metal working trade weekly, said some major producers paid double-time wages to keep ovens, furnaces and mills rolling through the holiday.

In the automobile industry, too, extra time was paid.

Some car makers kept employes on the job Saturday to make up for the Christmas shutdown. A few of them apparently were borrowing materials from future quotas to boost 1952 production.

SERVICES HELD FOR JENA MAN

Oil Field Worker Killed In Auto Smashup Near Alexandria

JENA, Dec. 27 — (Special) — Funeral services were held at 2 p. m. Saturday for Chester F. Allien, 26, Jena oil field worker who was killed in an auto accident north of Alexandria Friday.

Services were held at the Belah Methodist church near here. Burial, under direction of the Hixon Funeral home of Jena, was in the church cemetery.

Allien was fatally injured when his auto smashed into the guard rail of a bridge near Simms, in Grant parish, about 17 miles north of Alexandria. Three other persons in the car with him were also injured.

The injured persons are: Willie Hatfield, 23, of Nebe, a sailor home on leave; Elizabeth Ware, 30, of Tullos, and Rosie S. Whitehead, 23 of Urania. Hatfield suffered a fractured skull and fractured left leg. Miss Ware is being treated for bruises and lacerations of the face, and Miss Whitehead sustained a fractured skull, multible lacerations of the face, and internal injuries.

State police headquarters at Alexandria said Allien was driving north at a speed of about 70 miles per hour when his auto rammed into the bridge railing.

He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Alice V. Allien of Jena; one grandmother, Mrs. W. H. Kennon of Jena; four brothers, Odis, Lonnie and Shelby Allien, all of Jena, and Brady Allien of Gulfport, Miss.; and two sisters, Mrs. Lois Mockerman and Mrs. Orlean Cripps, both of Jena.

CHRISTMAS PRESENT FROM IKE — John Burnham, 17, happily displays in New York the 12 - by - 18 inch oil painting he received from President - elect Dwight D. Eisenhower, the artist who painted it. The gift from Ike resulted from a trip John and Fred Monroe Waring 2nd, 16 - year - old son of the orchestra leader, made to the Eisenhower residence on Morningside Drive to deliver a turkey from the Waring farm near Harrisburg, Pa. Ike invited the boys inside and Johnny, admiring the general's paintings, gave special praise to a landscape done near Central City, Colo., of a group of flaming yellow trees against a bright blue sky — so Ike gave it to him. STRAY BALLOON—M. S. Dixion, Sr., of Sterlington, holds the red parachute of a radio transmitter which landed in a tree-top near his home early Saturday. The apparatus was identified as an Army weather balloon. The balloon itself was deflated and was destroyed when the object was retrieved from the tree by Dixion's son. Point of origin for the balloon has not been determined. (Staff Photo by Clyde Blow.)

Tree-Top 'Bomb' Just Army Weather Balloon

A small aerial object, lodged in a Sterlington tree top, caused an early - morning stir there Saturday, but a Negro, who was certain it was some sort of "bomb" was pacified when it turned out to be just an ordinary military weather balloon.

The balloon was discovered about 6 a. m. by a Negro woman, who told her employer shortly afterwards that she would like for him to see "what that thing is in my tree."

The object was retrieved from the tree by M. S. Dixon, Jr., of Sterlington, who took it to his father's house across the bayou from where it was discovered.

The balloon carried a small radiosonde transmitter and instruments for measuring weather conditions. The instruments were enclosed in a transparent plastic case and were slung underneath a red parachute of tough, waxy paper. The balloon itself was deflated and was destroyed when it was retrieved from the tree.

The only legend on the instruments were "U. S. Army Signal Corps" and "Radiosonde Transmitter," along with a few manufacturing names and technical parts descriptions. There were no instructions to the finder of the object.

The balloon was taken to the home of M. S. Dixon, Sr., who notified the CAA office in Monroe.

CAA officials pointed out that they get periodic reports of such balloons, and that they usually are released at Barksdale Air Force Base in Shreveport.

A Negro man, employed by Dixon, was first sent to retrieve the balloon Saturday morning but reported back that he was afraid to touch it.

"Looks like a bomb," he said.

Tired Crew Wipes Brow, Announces 'It's Oil'

This Particular Well Marked New Method In Petroleum Prospecting

By LLOYD WOLFE

OKLAHOMA CITY, Dec. 27 (AP)—A tired drilling crew mopped its collective brow, turned to an excited geologist, and said quietly, "It's oil!"

That particular discovery well, drilled by the Skelly Oil Co., confirmed a new idea in petroleum prospecting—an idea that was to add hundreds of millions of barrels to the nation's known reserves in a few short years.

The theory went something like this: Take an old, established oil field that had been prospected and drilled by comparatively crude methods to shallow depths. Strike out a mile or so from the limit of the field and sink a well, sometimes as much as three times as deep as the old field. There should be more oil in the area, just waiting to be found.

Drilling on the flanks of old, established fields is one of the most important phases of oil discovery in the industry today. It is being successfully exploited in Louisiana, Texas, Wyoming and nearly every oil producing state, but it is especially effective in the Ardmore Basin of Oklahoma.

Harold J. Kleen, chief geologist for the Kerr-McGee Oil Co., who was the district geologist for Skelly at the time of the new discovery, said it has probably contributed as much as any single factor towards keeping the nation's oil reserves at a record high.

Twenty years ago, people in and out of the oil industry had a cold reality staring them straight in the face—in 10 years all the oil known to be buried beneath the United States would be used up at the current rate of consumption.

When the 10 years were up, in 1940, those same people found surprisingly that they weren't being asked to use a substitute for gasoline in the family bus. The industry, in fact, boasted that through new discoveries the nation had its greatest oil reserve in history.

Now, at the close of 1952, that reserve is estimated as a record 26 billion barrels and oil companies are finding more each year than they are taking out of the ground.

Geologist Kleen gives two basic reasons for the continued discoveries:

1. Deeper drilling.
2. Improved seismic methods of exploration.

He said in 1929, when the lucrative Oklahoma City field was discovered, it took almost a year to drill to the 6,500 foot depth. Today, drillers bore to 15,000 feet in a little over four months.

In those days, most of the oil in West Texas came from the Permian Rock formations which occur at shallow depths. Today, oil is found in Devonian and Ordovician Rocks which are found at depths from 8-13,000 feet.

And with all the advances in seismic equipment, drillers can concentrate on those areas most likely to produce oil instead of the old "pick a spot, sink a hole, and hope for the best" method.

Eventually the world will run out of oil, but the industry is doing its best to make sure the public doesn't start worrying and looking for a substitute for a long time to come.

ARMY ORDERS 53,000 MAN DRAFT CALL

Largest Since March, 1951; Doubtful If Will Include 19-Year-Olds

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27 —UP—The Army Saturday ordered 53,000 men drafted in February, the largest call since March, 1951.

Despite the sharp increase, it is unlikely that State Selective Service boards will have to dip into the pool of 19-year-olds.

A Selective Service spokesman told the United Press the quota will be filled primarily from 20 and 21-year-old registrants. He said most state boards will not have exhausted the pool of 20-year-olds until March.

The Defense Department said the higher call is necessary to replace men who have completed two years of active service and to maintain approved Army strength of 1,552,000 men.

The higher call—5,000 more than the number ordered drafted in January—also is being made in view of plans for the earlier release of Army drafted veterans of Korea.

Army Secretary Frank C. Pace Jr., announced last week that Army draftees who saw service in Korea will be returned to civilian life after only 20 months service instead of the present 21.

Under the draft law, the Army may keep inductees for 24 months, but it has been releasing Korean veterans three months earlier.

The February call brings to 1,255,430 the number of men to be called into military service through the draft since September, 1950. Of these, 1,174,000 have been for the Army and 81,430 for the Marine Corps. The last draftees taken by the Marines were during May.

Draft calls have risen and fallen according to need. The calls were 80,000 each for January, February, and March, 1951. They dropped substantially after that, the lowest being 7,000 in December, 1951.

But the calls picked up again last fall, rising to 47,000 each for October, November, and December, and then rose to 48,000 for this January.

Londoners Cough Through Lung - Stinging Fog

Acrid white clouds swirled through streets and seeped into houses gay with Christmas season decorations. The smoke-heavy mist brought hardship to aged persons and those suffering from heart and respiratory ailments.

During the week ending Dec. 13 — the period of the earlier fog — the number of deaths in London rose by 2,800. Medical authorities blamed four days of heavy, clinging fog for the major portion of this increase. They said the fog caused bronchial spasms and placed heavy strains on the heart.

Good Appearance Increases Your Car's Trade-In Value

Unsightly bumps and dents make your car look old before its time. When you trade you lose many times over the cost of keeping it repaired.

Our body and fender department will bump out dents, straighten fenders, repair damaged metal, fill up rust holes, touch up paint, color match or repaint. Our prices are reasonable, too!

WELL, GUESS I'LL BE MOVING ON, MISTER. DIDN'T CATCH BUT THREE RATS. THAT'LL BE 75¢.
I KNEW YOU WOULDN'T CATCH MANY ON MY PLACE.
THAT POOR LITTLE FELLOW! TWO DAYS' WORK, AND HE MADE ONLY 75¢.
LATER
DOWN AT THE GROCERY STORE, I GOT TO THINKING, MA'AM. I WONDER HOW MUCH YOUR BROTHER'D CHARGE TO LET ME STAY IN THE BARN AWHILE AND GRAZE NELLY IN YOUR PASTURE?
WHY, HE WOULDN'T CHARGE ANYTHING. YOU'RE WELCOME TO STAY.
I KNOW YOU'RE HUNGRY, BUT MIND YOUR MANNERS. WAIT'LL EVERYONE IS SERVED.
MY STARS! HE BOUGHT ONLY A LOAF OF BREAD, A CAN OF SARDINES AND ONE CAN OF DOGFOOD. THAT 75¢ MUST BE ALL HE HAD.
I WAS CLEANING OUT THE REFRIGERATOR. COULD YOU USE THESE LEFT-OVERS?
THANK YOU, MA'AM. I'VE HAD ENOUGH, MYSELF, BUT MAYBE MY DOGS COULD EAT A LITTLE MORE.
MERCY SAKES! HE MUST HAVE BEEN STARVED.
STILL LATER
HEY, WHAT'S THAT RAT CATCHER DOING IN THE BARN AGAIN?
BABY SISTER, DID YOU TELL SCRAPPY HE COULD COME BACK?
YES. AND FURTHERMORE, I TOOK HIM A COT, A BLANKET AND A LANTERN.

QUIET? LISTEN, SOLDIER, YOU'RE IN UNIFORM, SO YOU CAN'T TALK UP, BUT, ME, I SAY THIS COUNTRY IS IN SUCH TERRIBLE SHAPE WE'LL BE BARELY LUCKY TO STAY ALIVE 'TIL NEXT NEW YEAR'S EVE!
FUNNY THING ABOUT HOW NEW YEAR'S EVE APPEARS TO FOLKS IN DIFFERENT SITUATIONS...
...MOST EVERYBODY KNOWS HOW BLEAK THE OUTLOOK WAS AT VALLEY FORGE AT THE END OF DECEMBER IN 1777...
...ON DEC. 29, 1814, 2000 AMERICANS PREPARED TO FIGHT 6,000 BRITISH AT NEW ORLEANS—AND THINGS LOOKED BAD...
...AT THIS TIME IN 1835 THE GARRISON AT THE ALAMO STEELED ITSELF TO TAKE ON THE ENTIRE ARMY OF SANTA ANNA...
...ON DEC. 26, 1860, THE FEDERAL TROOPS AT CHARLESTON WITHDREW TO FORT SUMTER —AND BITTER CIVIL WAR WAS ABOUT TO BEGIN...
BY THE END OF 1917 WE HAD 195,000 MEN IN FRANCE, TO FACE VAST ARMIES OF GERMANS...IT WAS A GRIM PROSPECT
AND OF COURSE YOU REMEMBER HOW THINGS LOOKED IN DECEMBER OF 1941—WITH JAPAN AND GERMANY RIDING HIGH
SO I RECKON WE CAN HANDLE 1953 WITHOUT GETTIN' EGG ON OUR FACES!.. WELL, I GUESS I'LL BE GOIN' ON ABOUT MY BUSINESS...

WOW! A THOUSAND BUCKS FOR THAT FUR CAPE THAT MAGGIE JUST BOUGHT !! HUH! I'VE GOT TO THINK OF SOME WAY TO GIT HER TO TAKE IT BACK!
ISN'T IT LOVELY? I'LL BET MRS BELLE CORDE IS GREEN WITH ENVY-SHE WAS IN THE FUR SALON WHEN I BOUGHT IT-I'LL PASS HER HOUSE IN IT TOMORROW-I KNOW SHE'LL BE PEEKING OUT HER WINDOW-SHE'S SO NOSY-
IT'S PRETTY-
I'M NOT GOIN' TO THROW A THOUSAND BUCKS AWAY ON THIS THING-I'VE GOT A SCHEME THAT WILL MAKE HER SEND IT BACK-I HOPE TH' COOK IS IN NEXT DOOR-
NOW-DON'T ASK QUESTIONS-PUT THIS ON-WALK IN FRONT OF MY HOUSE-AN' COME AROUND AN' HAND IT TO ME IN THE KITCHEN WINDOW-I'LL GIVE YOU TEN BUCKS-
GOLLY-I'D DO IT FER NUTTIN'-
LOOK! A CAPE JUST LIKE MINE-ON MRS. BELLE CORDE'S COOK-THIS IS AN OUTRAGE-
I WISH TH' LAUNDRY-MAN COULD SEE ME NOW-
THAT HORRID WOMAN-BUYING A CAPE LIKE MINE! AND GIVING IT TO HER COOK-I'LL GET EVEN WITH HER-DAUGHTER-GET MY COAT-IT'S IN THE HALL-
YES-MOTHER!
THANKS-NOW DON'T TELL ANYONE WHAT HAPPENED!
MY! IT WUZ A TREAT TO WEAR THAT!!
I JUST GOT IT BACK IN TIME-THERE'S ME DAUGHTER TAKIN' IT IN TO MAGGIE-
HOW MEAN CAN SOME PEOPLE BE? BUT I'LL GET EVEN--I THOUGHT IT WAS AN EXCLUSIVE CAPE-
WELL-JUST WRAP IT UP! I'LL TAKE IT RIGHT BACK TO THE FURRIER-

BY JASPER, HE SURE MUST HAVE BEEN TH' REAL SANTA CLAUS! WEREN'T YOU ALL SORT O' STUNNED?
WE SURE WERE—ER—EXCEPT—
"EXCEPT"? WHAT D'YOU MEAN, "EXCEPT"?
WELL, EXCEPT FOR ANNIE—
YES—SHE HAD A FUNNY LOOK ON HER FACE—BUT SHE DIDN'T SEEM SURPRISED—
HM-M-M—I HAVE A STRANGE FEELING ABOUT THAT CHILD—IT'S AS IF SHE BRINGS GOOD LUCK!
BUT THAT SANTA CLAUS INCIDENT—HOW COULD A WAIF, DRAGGED HALF-DROWNED FROM THE SEA, BRING A REAL SANTA CLAUS—THAT'D BE MAGIC!
WELL, WELL, ANNIE! I HEAR SANTA CLAUS REALLY CAME TO YOUR HOUSE ON CHRISTMAS, EH?
SANTA CLAUS? OH, SURE, MR. SIMS—SANTA CAME, ALL RIGHT—
HM-M—GOOD FOR HIM—YES, INDEED—ER—AHEM—BUT WEREN'T YOU JUST A LITTLE SURPRISED TO SEE HIM?
OH, NO—WHY SHOULD I BE? SANTA'S A GOOD GUY—
HE'S GOT A TOUGH JOB—HE MISSES ONCE IN A WHILE, BUT HE ALWAYS DOES THE BEST HE CAN—
I SEE—YOU KNOW HIM PRETTY WELL, EH?
WOULDN'T SAY THAT—PROBABLY WON'T SEE HIM AGAIN FOR NO TELLIN' HOW LONG! HE'S AWFUL BUSY, YOU KNOW—
SO I'VE HEARD—YES—SO I'VE HEARD—
GAD, THAT CHILD! WHAT A POKER PLAYER SHE'D BE! NEVER BATS AN EYE—"SIMPLE MIND OF A CHILD," EH? IF I DIDN'T LIVE RIGHT, SHE'D SCARE ME TO FITS!

MOON MULLINS
by Frank Willard
12-28
COME, KAYO. YOU'RE GOING TO GET POLISHED UP. I HAVE INVITED MR. AND MRS. RICHWITCH TO DINNER.
BUT MAYBE THEY WON'T COME.
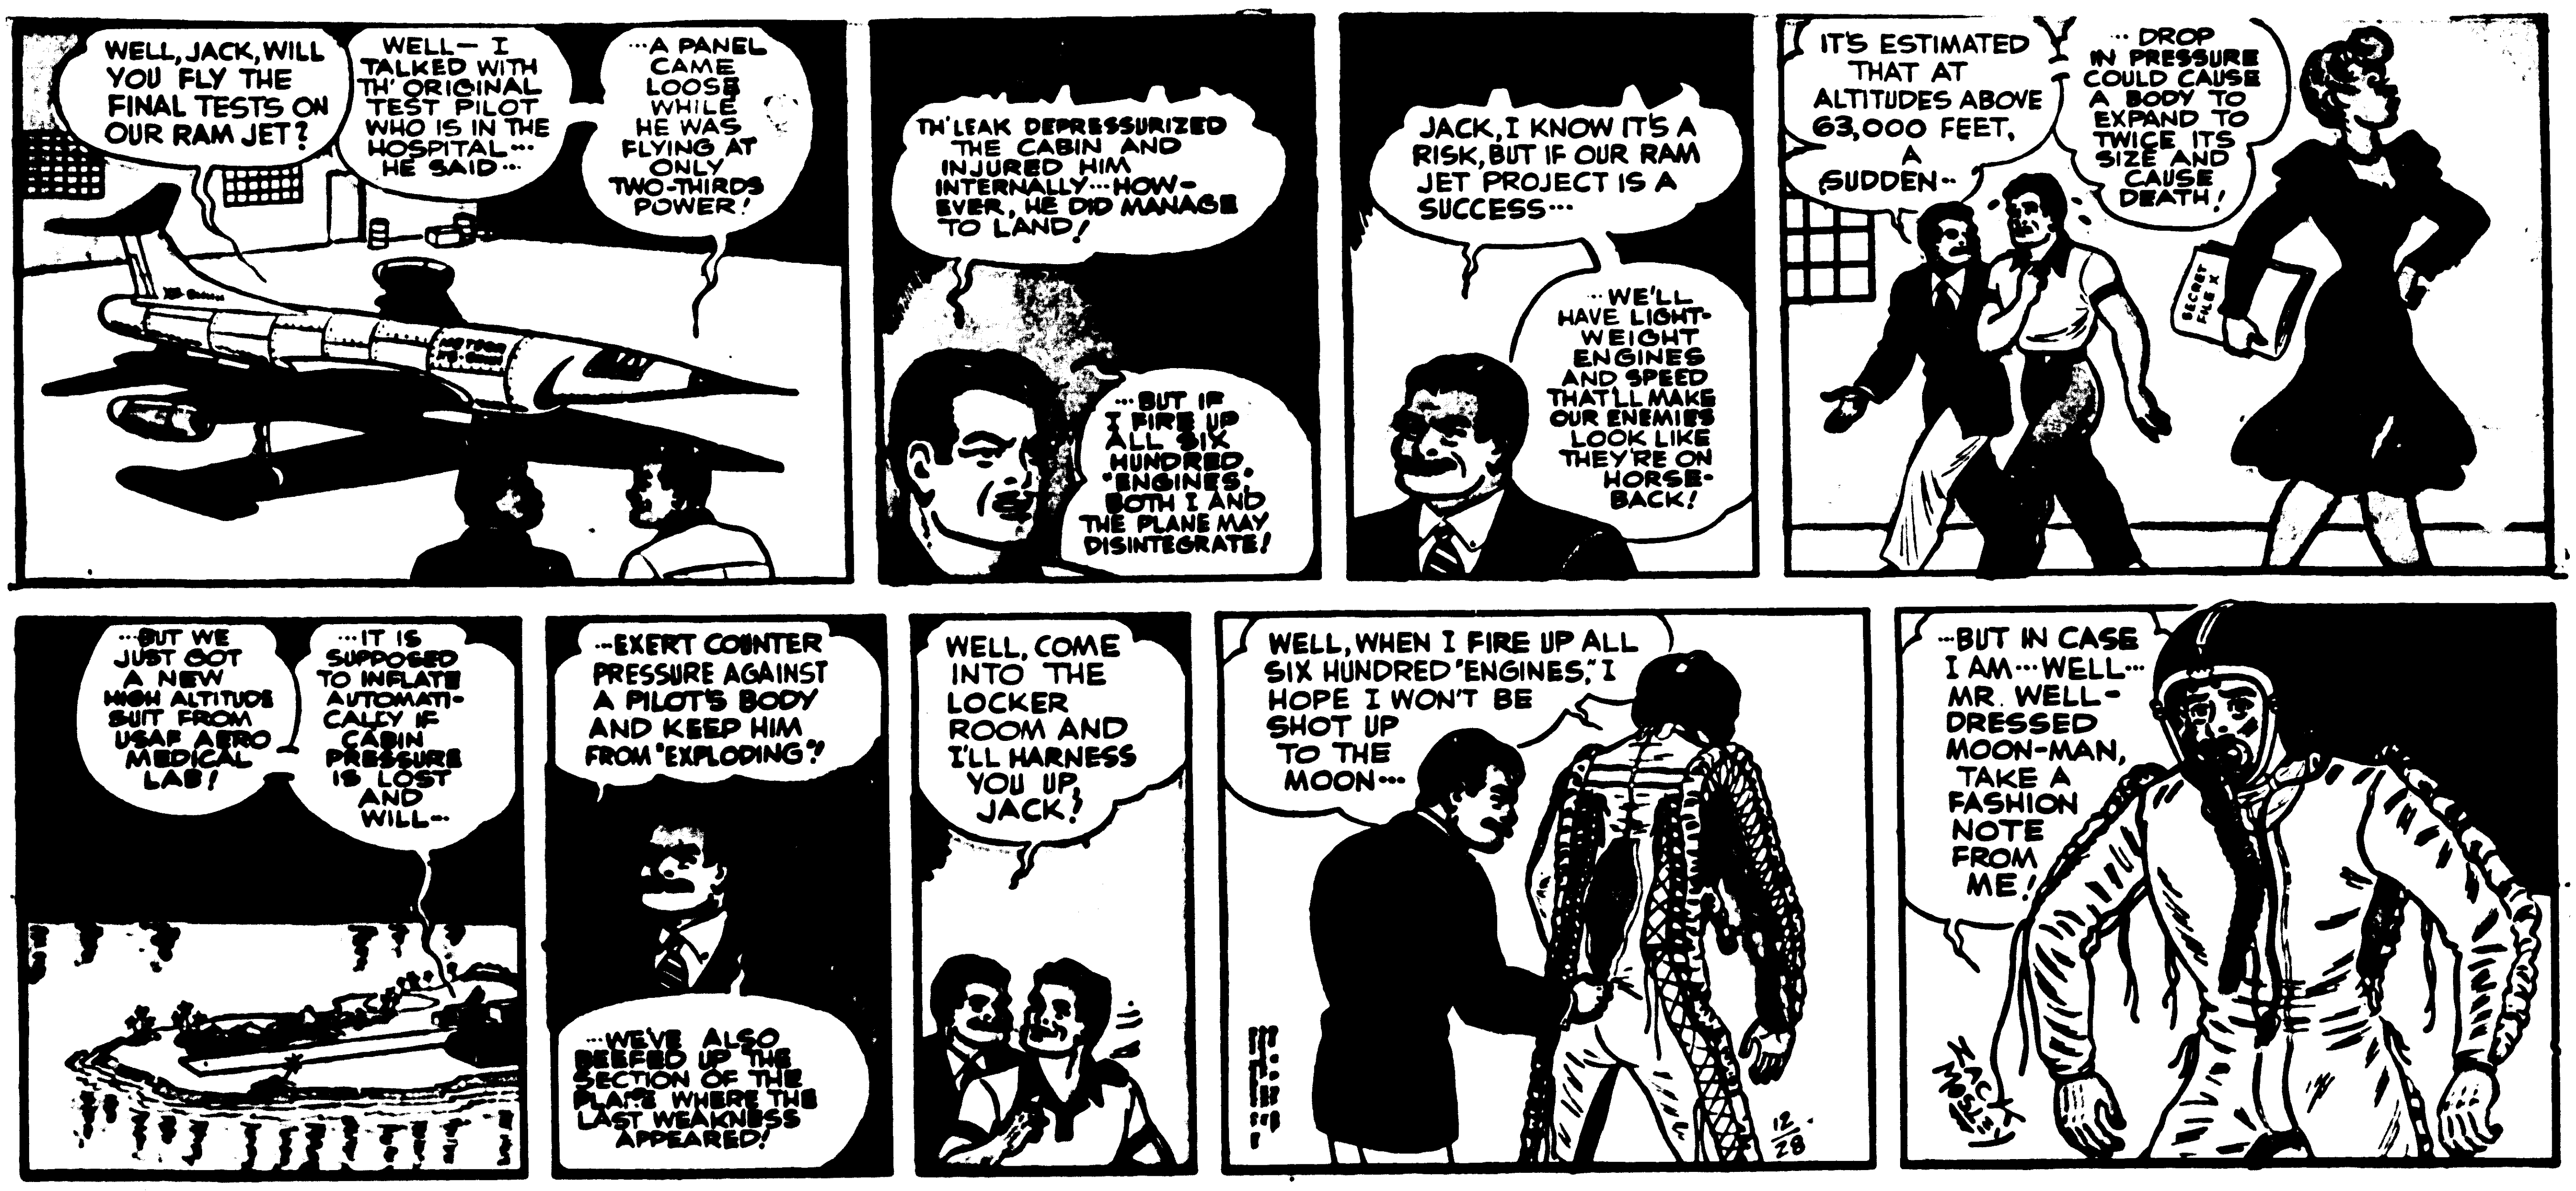
OPEN THAT DOOR!
AND GET MY FACE ALL WET- NIX!
WHAT'S ALL THAT WHOOPIN' AND HOLLERIN' ABOUT UPSTAIRS, KAYO?
AW, I JEST LOCKED OLD LADY PLUSHBOTTOM IN TH' BATHROOM.
WELL, YOU GO BACK AND UNLOCK IT! I'M HAVIN' ENOUGH TROUBLE TRYIN' TO HINT MYSELF INTO THAT FREE MEAL.
GOOD GOSH, MOON! SHE'S GONE!
OH, DEAR! I DO HOPE THE RICHWITCHES DON'T SEE ME.
WHY, LADY PLUSH-BOTTOM!
FER TH' LOVA MIKE! HOW DID YOU GET OUTTA TH' BATHROOM, EMMY?
I CRAWLED DOWN THE DRAINPIPE. THAT'S HOW I GOT OUT.
G'AWN- YOU AIN'T THAT SKINNY, EMMY!
HECK!
YOU GOT NOBODY BUT YERSELF TO BLAME
DOPEY'S DINER



WELL, JACK, WILL YOU FLY THE FINAL TESTS ON OUR RAM JET?
WELL— I TALKED WITH TH' ORIGINAL TEST PILOT WHO IS IN THE HOSPITAL... HE SAID...
...A PANEL CAME LOOSE WHILE HE WAS FLYING AT ONLY TWO-THIRDS POWER!
TH' LEAK DEPRESSURIZED THE CABIN AND INJURED HIM INTERNALLY... HOW-EVER, HE DID MANAGE TO LAND!
...BUT IF I FIRE UP ALL SIX HUNDRED "ENGINES," BOTH I AND THE PLANE MAY DISINTEGRATE!
JACK, I KNOW IT'S A RISK, BUT IF OUR RAM JET PROJECT IS A SUCCESS...
...WE'LL HAVE LIGHT-WEIGHT ENGINES AND SPEED THAT'LL MAKE OUR ENEMIES LOOK LIKE THEY'RE ON HORSE-BACK!
IT'S ESTIMATED THAT AT ALTITUDES ABOVE 63,000 FEET, A SUDDEN...
...DROP IN PRESSURE COULD CAUSE A BODY TO EXPAND TO TWICE ITS SIZE AND CAUSE DEATH!
...BUT WE JUST GOT A NEW HIGH ALTITUDE SUIT FROM USAF AERO MEDICAL LAB!
...IT IS SUPPOSED TO INFLATE AUTOMATI-CALLY IF CABIN PRESSURE IS LOST AND WILL...
...EXERT COUNTER PRESSURE AGAINST A PILOT'S BODY AND KEEP HIM FROM "EXPLODING"!
...WE'VE ALSO BEEFED UP THE SECTION OF THE PLANE WHERE THE LAST WEAKNESS APPEARED!
WELL, COME INTO THE LOCKER ROOM AND I'LL HARNESS YOU UP, JACK!
WELL, WHEN I FIRE UP ALL SIX HUNDRED "ENGINES," I HOPE I WON'T BE SHOT UP TO THE MOON...
12-28
...BUT IN CASE I AM... WELL... MR. WELL-DRESSED MOON-MAN, TAKE A FASHION NOTE FROM ME!

WALT DISNEY
BRR! GOOD DAY TO START A FIRE!
MICKEY MOUSE
BOY... IS THIS GOING TO FEEL GOOD!
WELL... THEY ALL SMOKE A BIT AT FIRST!
COFF! COFF!
SHOULD HAVE CLEANED IT OUT THIS SUMMER!
NOW... TO TRY 'ER AGAIN; MAYBE ALL THE HEAT WON'T GO UP THE CHIMNEY THIS TIME!
!?

THE JUNGLE PATROL IS RIGHT BEHIND US!
CALM DOWN, SCAROLA... THIS CANYON IS A SHORT CUT TO THE PLATEAU, AND IF WE GET THROUGH IT WE'LL HAVE CLAYTON AND BAKER RIGHT WHERE WE WANT THEM!
I DON'T THINK BAKER WILL FOLLOW US INTO THE CANYON, BUT WILL WAIT AT THE ENTRANCE, EXPECTING US TO TURN BACK WHEN WE REACH THE FLYING ROCKS!...
BY THE TIME HE REALIZES WE'RE NOT TURNING BACK, IT WILL BE TOO LATE FOR HIM TO PICK UP OUR TRAIL!
AND WE'LL HAVE TIME TO PICK UP THE JEWELS AND CLEAR OUT OF NADUWA!..
BUT WE MIGHT BE KILLED BY THE FLYING ROCKS!
WE'LL HAVE TO TAKE THAT CHANCE! KEEP CLOSE TO THE WALL AND RIDE HARD! LET'S GO!
LOOK! AN AVALANCHE!
WE'RE ALMOST TO THE FALLS, GENERAL CLAYTON!
LOOK! THERE'S CAPTAIN BAKER!
I SEE HIM, TIM... HEAD FOR THE BANK, SPUD!
HELLO, BAKER... WHERE DID 'OU LEAVE THE PATKOL ?
AT THE ENTRANCE TO GRIM CANYON, SIR, AFTER THE SUSPECTS WENT IN!
THEY'VE OUTSMARTED US, BAKER...TAKE THE PATROL IN AFTER THEM...IF THEY GET THROUGH THE CANYON, THEY'LL REACH THE HIDDEN CACHE OF JEWELS BEFORE WE CAN PICK UP THEIR TRAIL!
WE'VE MADE IT!... THERE'S THE PLATEAU AHEAD OF US! YOU'RE A SMART GIRL, LOLA!
